POSTOFFICE AX TO FALL

Many Heads to Fill Basket

Brown Has Hoover Backing in Plans Under Way for Reorganizing

Jobs Will be Given on Merit; Deficit to be Watched; Courtesy Ordered

WASHINGTON, March 28. (Ex-Postmaster-General Brown has a sweeping reorganization of the Postoffice Department to place it on a more efficient business basis, and many heads will be chopped off in the process, it was learned today.

Mr. Brown is moving slowly, but in conferences with President Hoover on the details of changes to be made the new Postmaster-General has three principal objectives:

First: Raising the standard in both character and ability of the personnel of the postal service. This is in line with President Hoover's eminent outlawing southern practice of spoils appointments from Brown under this administration and the positions will go to men of merit and integrity, with political considerations secondary in the selection.

Second: Economy measures aimed at reducing to a minimum the annually recurring and seemingly unavoidable postal deficit.

Third: Elimination of bureaucratic methods and the arbitrary and unfair attitude assumed in the past by some department officials toward the employes.

HOOVER TO ASSIST

It is learned on good authority that the President is thoroughly in accord with Mr. Brown's program and will assist in putting it into effect. Those who have assumed that Brown, because he is a "political member" of the Cabinet, will function mainly as a patronage dispenser and will operate the Postoffice Department chiefly on a political basis as it has been conducted in the past, are due for disillusionment. Rather, the new Postmaster-General is out to keep pace with President Hoover on introducing efficiency and modern business methods into the conduct of the department.

It became known definitely for the first time today that First Assistant Postmaster-General Bartlett of New Hampshire is to be one of those to go under the reorganization of the postoffice branch. Although an efficient official, he was an active candidate for the Postmaster-Generalship against Brown and naturally cannot be retained. It is believed President Hoover may have some other government post in mind for him.

While it is obviously impossible to keep politics entirely from the control of postmasters and executive officials of the Postoffice Department, under the Brown stewardship politics will be subordinated to efficiency. This, it is declared by persons in position to know, will be

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, March 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] What do you know about Mr. Hoover having to put a telephone in the office of the President at the White House? Mr. Coolidge had been going down to the corner drug store to phone. That's Mr. Coolidge, though. He just figured John Quincy Adams and Dolly Madison did not have any, so the thought of putting one in never entered his mind. Here is another angle, too. Maybe he had one in and took it with him when he left.

Fifteen Congressmen landed here yesterday from a wet port. They only searched one of their baggage and found four quarts. The other fourteen claimed immunity. And they shot a woman for having a half pint of home-made wine.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

STOCKS RISE ONCE MORE

Scores of Issues Record Gains

Spectacular Rally Follows Call-Money Drop on Wall Street

All Ground Lost in Reaction of Early Part of Week Now Regained

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Call money dropped today from 15 to 8 per cent and the stock market, which had passed through one of the most severe reactions in its history when the rate was boosted to 20 per cent on Tuesday, indulged in another spectacular rally which carried scores of issues up $3 to $17.25 a share.

Based on the Associated Press and other leading indices, the market has fully recovered all the ground lost earlier in the week, although the losses of thousands of speculators who sold on the decline run into millions of dollars.

Some selling came into the market early in the session when the call money rate was posted, but this was quickly absorbed. Canadian and out-of-town banks, attracted by the high rates which carry over the week-end, sent fresh supplies of funds here and the rate

PANIC RULES IN NOGALES

Rebel Force Has "Jimmies"

Seized Trucks Filled With Men Rush to Halt Push of Gen. Rodriguez

Bombing of Naco Expected; Hermosillo Rail Line Now Menaced

BY HARRY CARR
"Times" Staff Representative

NOGALES, March 28. (Exclusive) Rebel headquarters in Nogales are enjoying a panic of proportions. They have, in fact, the nervous jimmies. All the trucks on the Mexican side were commandeered this afternoon. Two American trucks that happened to be across the line also were seized.

Somewhere between six and ten trucks were filled with soldiers and are now bumping across the desert to Mesquite, a desert border town which was attacked and captured yesterday. The dispatches state that the place was taken by a cavalry advance guard from the army of Gen. Rodriguez which is en route from Mexicali. Col. Barceas at rebel headquarters said tonight that the place really was taken by guerrillas who are ranging around the desert seeking what they may devour and who are Federals for the moment because it is better picking on that side.

MAY ATTACK

He indicated that part of the expedition which left Nogales tonight might go on to attack Rodriguez's cavalry advance guard at Sonoita.

It is announced that Santa Ana, a Mexican aviator of some celebrity, is expected in Nogales at 1 p.m. tomorrow. He will go at once to Cananea where the rickety plane captured from "Buzz" Morrison is being repaired. From all of which I think the following probabilities are to be relied on.

I think that Rodriguez will not advance immediately to Nogales, but will cut the railroad line between Nogales and Hermosillo. Then he can move back to capture Nogales at his leisure and at the same time cut off the retreat of Manzo, who apparently had been licked at Mazatlan.

It is probably true that Santa Ana intends to bomb Naco. But there is every reason to believe that it will be the means of covering the retreat of Gen. Topete back to Nogales. It would be folly for Topete to make a real attempt to assault the strong intrenchments at Naco with Rodriguez headed for Nogales. Topete has already opened the railroad line between Cananea and Nogales which was one of the purposes of his threat against Naco.

CUT JUGULAR VEIN

The rebels want to bring the business and the graft possibilities of the Cananea Copper Company to Nogales instead of the Federal port of Naco. To capture Naco, even if eventually successful, will require weeks of time for Topete. Meanwhile the jugular vein of the rebel army, which is Nogales, would be cut off.

At the present time Nogales is almost empty of soldiers. I don't believe there are more than 150 at the most. It is at this point that the revolution will be wound up. The rebel generals are particularly alarmed at the prospects of its capture by Rodriguez because they have all taken out passports, ready to leap across the line to escape execution if it comes to the final desperation.

INDIAN SOLDIERS DISAPPEAR IN MYSTERY

AGUA PRIETA (Son.) March 28. (AP)—Sometime between nightfall and 10:30 o'clock tonight Gen. Ramon Yucupicio and his 800 Yaqui and Maya Indian troops silently slipped out of the rebel garrison here. No one saw them leave, apparently, and inquiries as to the direction they left in met with a shrug of the shoulders and the laconic reply, "they're gone."

CHILD STEALING CHARGED

STOCKTON, March 28. (AP)—Accused of inducing Frances De Los Angeles, 15 years of age, of Campo Seco, to run away with him Sunday night, Daniel Farrell is in jail at San Andreas charged with child stealing. They applied for a marriage license at Sacramento and were arrested at Jackson.

GREAT RADIO DEAL MADE

World System in New Hands

R.C.A. Communications Sold to International Telephone and Telegraph

Agreement Signed in France; $100,000,000 Reported to Have Been Paid

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune tomorrow will say that R. C. A. Communications, Inc., the globe-girdling wireless system of Radio Corporation of America, has been sold to the International Telephone and Telegraph Company for approximately $100,000,000.

An agreement to transfer the system to I. T. & T. was signed in a suburb of Paris today by Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of Radio Corporation; David Barnaff, vice-president and general manager of Radio, and Thomas W. Lamont, a partner in the banking concern of J. P. Morgan & Co., for I. T. & T.

The Herald-Tribune will say that it is in a position to say on unimpeachable authority that all that remains to be done is for I. T. & T., to pay the purchase price.

MERGER REPORT GIVES WALL STREET STIR

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—Word flew around Wall street this afternoon that arrangements have been completed for the immediate merger of the Radio Corporation of America and the International Telephone and Telegraph Company in a plan involving ultimate consolidation with the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Mackay company in the near future.

An official announcement concerning the giant deal is expected tomorrow.

No details of the arrangement were given, but sponsors of the story insisted a number of men in the street had "inside knowledge" of the negotiations which are said to have been carried forward in the last few weeks in Paris between Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Owen D. Young, chairman of the Radio Corporation.

STOCK PRICES BOOMED

While efforts to confirm the story at the offices of the corporations involved were fruitless, the rumor was instrumental in causing a heavy demand for the shares of all the companies on the stock market with the result that the prices were boomed anywhere from $8 to $17 a share.

Shares of the International Telephone & Telegraph advanced $19 before the close touching $279, a new high record. Radio's price rose almost $13 a share, going to $109 7-8, also a new high, while Mackay soared $17 and Western Union $8 a share. The demand for Radio assumed tremendous proportions in the last two hours of trading reaching a total of more than 660,000 shares. The turnover in International exceeded 35,000 shares.

It has been the subject of common gossip in the street for some time that the communications companies of this country would eventually get together as they already have in England and during the last six months there have been repeated rumors that negotiations looking to such a consolidation were actually under way.

MANY DENIALS MADE

Each revival of the rumor has brought forth a more or less authoritative denial, officials of the involved companies repeatedly pointing out that Federal laws had been construed as prohibiting such a merger. Only a few weeks ago Gen. James G. Harbord, president of Radio Corporation of America, denied in the most positive language that there were any negotiations looking to a merger of his company with the Western Union. Newton Carlton, president of the Western Union, returning from a six weeks' business trip to Europe, added his denial to that of the Radio Corporation head and then amplified it with the admission that discussions looking to a possible "traffic arrangement" between the two companies had been under way to no end whatever.

"We explored the possibility of what was within the law with a view to finding means of increasing our respective facilities and we completely failed," Mr. Carlton said.

CONGRESSMAN INDICTED

Federal Action in Florida Months Ago Against Illinoisan in Liquor Case Leaks Out

JACKSONVILLE (Fla.) March 28. (AP)—Representative M. Alfred Michaelson of the Seventh Illinois District was indicted on charges of violating the national prohibition act by a Federal grand jury which met here last October, it was learned today.

E. R. Williams, clerk of the District Federal Court here, said the indictment was recorded on his docket and that it had been returned in connection with asserted shipment of liquor into this country from Cuba during 1928.

Williams said it had not been announced because arrest had not been made and bond returned. This was the usual procedure, he said, in Federal indictments.

He did not give any other details and said his office will be closed until Saturday because of the Good Friday holiday tomorrow.

W. T. Day, deputy prohibition administrator, whose department worked up the case, said liquor was seized in a trunk at the railway station here by police, who turned the matter over to the Federal dry agents. A bottle is said to have been broken, leading to detection.

MICHAELSON ABSENT FROM CHICAGO HOME

CHICAGO, March 28. (AP)—Comment on the indictment of Representative Michaelson of Chicago could not be obtained at his home tonight. He was said to be in Springfield, Ill.

FIVE DIE IN EXPLOSION AT MEXICALI

Bomb Maker, His Daughter and Three Soldiers Killed by Ammunition Blast

CALEXICO (Cal.) March 28. (AP)—Three Mexican soldiers, a German bomb maker and the latter's daughter were killed late today by the explosion of nine kegs of explosives and thirty aerial bombs stored in a brick ammunition building at the Mexican Federal garrison at Mexicali, across the border line.

The soldiers killed were Mexican guards posted at the ammunition building, which was located on the Packard ranch of the Colorado River Land Company, five miles east of Mexicali proper. The Mexican Federal government several days ago obtained permission to use the building for storage of war materials. Frans Von Schulenberg was the bomb maker killed in the explosion. His daughter Blanche, 17 years of age, who also was killed, came here from Santa Barbara, Cal., only three days ago.

The blast, which hurled bricks from the demolished building for many hundred feet, was heard and felt in Calexico and on Imperial Valley ranches several miles away. Murua Martinez, Secretary of State for Baja California, stated that the building was valued at $12,000 and that the loss in explosives and bombs would total $800.

MATTHEY'S SECRETARY LOSES FIGHT ON STOCK

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (Exclusive)—Miss Viola Lee, confidential secretary to the late Robert Matthey, local general manager for the Du Pont De Nemours Company, today lost her legal effort to retain possession of $10,000 worth of stock, which she asserted Matthey had given her in lieu of salary, and which Matthey's widow protested. A jury in the court of Superior Judge Griffin found for the widow.

AL SMITH ELECTED DIRECTOR

Life Insurance Company Names New Yorker for Important Position

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—Ex-Gov. Smith has been elected a director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, it was learned today. His election took place at a meeting Tuesday, at which Frederick H. Ecker was named president to succeed the late Haley Fiske.

No announcement was made at the time, presumably because of a desire first to get a formal acceptance from Mr. Smith, who is on vacation at Absecon, N. J.

This is the second directorship of an important financial institution to which Mr. Smith has been elected since he became a private citizen on January 1, last. He was elected a director of the County Trust Company of New York, of which his friend, James J. Riordan, is president, on January 17.

Wind Toys With Army Dirigible; Two Men Hurt

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST (N. J.) March 28. (AP)—Whirled nearly a mile by a high wind, the Army's nonrigid dirigible TC-5 was badly damaged late today in a crash near the Lakehurst railroad station.

Two men were slightly injured, Capt. John McCullough, in command of the ship, and a seaman member of the landing crew at the naval station.

CRIME QUIZ UNDER WAY

Hoover Demands Federal Data

Mitchell Begins Inquiry Into Work of Federal Prosecutors

Investigation Seeks to Fix Cause of Congestion in Untried Cases

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—President Hoover's announced intention for more effective law enforcement during his administration was carried a step further today with the issuance of orders by Atty.-Gen. Mitchell for an investigation of the work of United States attorneys throughout the country.

The order was issued at the request of the President and the inquiry is looked upon as supplemental to the work to be done by the commission to be appointed to investigate law enforcement in general. Mr. Mitchell emphasized that no one District Attorney's office is being given special surveillance and that he hopes to ascertain how effectively the district attorneys are performing their duties.

ADDITIONAL WORK

At the end of the fiscal year 1928 the Justice Department reported a total of 30,778 criminal cases pending. Of this number 10,350 were criminal prohibition cases. During recent years a number of members of Congress have called attention to the additional work the prohibition laws have placed on both the prosecuting officers of the government and the Federal judiciary.

While no mention is made of this in today's announcement, Mr. Mitchell did say that if it is found that more assistant district attorneys are needed, then Congress will be requested to provide funds for additional prosecutors.

The 1928 departmental report disclosed that during the year 58,429 prohibition cases had been handled to decision, while 55,720 new criminal prohibition cases had been instituted. This represented an increase of 15,020 cases over the 1927 fiscal year.

SHOW HUGE TOTAL

At the end of 1928 a total of 147,142 cases was pending on the dockets of the United States courts, a decrease of only 2130 from the preceding year. Of the total number pending, however, 29,000 were cases in which the United States was not interested.

At the start of 1929 it was said that approximately 21,000 prohibition cases were pending, an increase of approximately 3000 in six months. Prohibition officials said that congestion in the courts is delaying trial of many persons charged with violating the prohibition law.

In addition to the criminal prohibition cases the government prosecutors last year handled 9617 civil prohibition cases, in which judgments totaling $382,853 were obtained and other civil cases which benefited the government by $90,590 were settled without court action.

Mr. Mitchell said he wished to know just what is required to bring about an improvement in the handling of the government's law business and just how far behind each prosecutor is in his work. On completion of the survey, he added, a report will be made to President Hoover.

Naval Officer Dies Suddenly

JENSEN BREAKS AIR RECORD

Flyer Exceeds Solo Endurance Mark by Staying Up Almost Thirty-five and One-half Hours

ROOSEVELT FIELD (N. Y.) March 28. (AP)—Martin Jensen set a new solo endurance flight record of 35h. 33m. and 21s. today, beating the time of the late Royal V. Thomas by 8 minutes and 22 seconds.

When he landed at 5:34:35 o'clock this afternoon, his tanks held just one gallon of the high-test automobile gasoline he used during the flight to prove the efficacy of such fuel.

Declaring himself untired by the long grind, Jensen drove away to a Garden City hotel for a short nap and a dinner before telling of his experiences over the air at broadcasting station WOR.

Jensen won the record only by the fact that the National Aeronautic Association does not list solo records, although they supervise and officially time them. To beat a record recognized by the N.A.A. a flyer has to exceed the previous official mark by at least one hour.

Ever since he left the ground at 6:01:34 o'clock yesterday morning Jensen said, the air was exceedingly bumpy, and to this he attributed the rapid exhaustion of his fuel supply. He expressed the belief that if he had had smooth air he could have stayed up for at least forty hours.

Thomas, who was killed in an air accident a week after he established his record last May, came down when he did only because a dump valve in his main fuel tank loosened and let his gasoline, of which he still had a good supply, drain away.

It was Jensen's third attempt at the solo endurance record.

New Closing Hour For

SUNDAY REAL ESTATE WANT ADS

The Sunday Times having incorporated all real estate and kindred want ads in its new and enlarged real estate section, it is necessary to advance the closing hour for such advertising to noon Saturday, instead of 7:30 p.m. This applies to all classes of real estate; hotel and apartment-house leases; money to loan; money wanted; and business opportunities. Copy received later than Saturday noon will appear in the "Too Late to Classify" column in the general want ad section.

Advertisers can materially co-operate by submitting copy well in advance of the final dead line—today if possible.

The closing hour for all other classes of Sunday want ads remains as heretofore—7:30 p.m. Saturday.

RUM SHIP SINKING DEFENDED

Coast Guard Says "Responsible Officials" View Pursuit of I'm Alone as Legal

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The Coast Guard announced today that it has received information from "responsible officials" at New Orleans not belonging to its own service corroborating its original position, that the Canadian rum runner I'm Alone was legally pursued and sunk.

The names of the officials referred to were not disclosed in the Coast Guard statement, which said there is no doubt that the I'm Alone was within twelve miles of the coast and under American statutes the Coast Guard has jurisdiction over these waters. Further, it was added, there is no doubt that a hot and continuous pursuit existed from the time the vessel first was sighted until she was sunk by gun fire.

These are two of the most important points to be determined. The State Department late today forwarded to the Canadian government a copy of the Coast Guard report of the sinking of the I'm Alone.

NEW INQUIRY BEGUN

The Department of Justice today started an independent investigation of the case with a view to the possibility that it might have to prosecute the members of the I'm Alone crew who were landed at New Orleans. The Department of Justice is expected to devote special attention in its investigation to the four points upon which the Canadian case, if pressed to the point of a protest, probably will be predicated:

Whether the I'm Alone was within the one-hour's sailing limit of the shore when first hailed;

Whether pursuit of a suspected vessel is permitted outside of this imaginary line;

Whether the pursuit was "hot, continuous and unbroken" in this case, since the I'm Alone was sunk by another vessel than the one which started the chase, and;

CLASH NEAR IN MEXICO

Decisive Battle Impending

Federal Capture of Escalon and Rebel Moves Shave Gap Between Forces

Revolt Officials at Juarez Declare Escobar Ready to Fight at Jimenez

By the Associated Press

Federal occupation of former Mexican insurgent headquarters at Escalon and rebel troop movements south from Juarez toward the Chihuahua front have narrowed the gap between the contending armies and made imminent a decisive battle.

Federal cavalry occupied Escalon after a fight with rebel rearguard forces in which four rebels were killed and two Federals wounded.

Rebel officials at Juarez declare Gen. Escobar, their chief, is "ready to fight near Jimenez," and vehemently deny that insurgent troops are evacuating the town.

They prophesy that the major battle of the revolution will be fought within the next twenty-four hours.

RETREAT REPORTED

Federal air scouts reported to Gen. Calles that rebel troops are retreating from Jimenez north to Santa Rosalia on the route to Chihuahua City. Gen. Calles believes the Federals will occupy Jimenez without a fight.

Other rebel chiefs indicate that Escobar may move a few miles north of Jimenez to avoid fighting a battle in the town itself.

Strict censorship over all telegraph lines south of Juarez in rebel control hides principal developments in the main revolutionary camp.

Rebel headquarters at Juarez reported the first rebel bombing raid had been made at Bermejillo, Chih., where ex-President Calles is thought to have established headquarters. Two rebel bombers escorted by several pursuit planes left Jimenez early in the afternoon, returning about two hours later. They reported that their bombs had done considerable damage and caused consternation among the Federals.

NEW BOMBING PLANES

New bombing planes are said to have been converted or acquired by the insurgents.

Gen. Almazan's main force was advanced to Jaral Grande, a short distance southeast of Escalon. Almazan expected to be in readiness for an advance on Jimenez yesterday.

Federals were victorious in a short fight across the international line from Sasabe, Ariz., capturing a small rebel post at Mesquite, which is thirty miles west of Nogales, Son. The rebel soldiers were driven across the border, where a United States immigration official interned them.

Rebel Chief Sentenced to Death by Court Martial

Awaiting Firing Squad

The picture shows Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre, Mexican rebel leader, indicated by white cross above his head, surrounded by officers of Federal army who passed death sentence on him. This is the official picture released by the Mexican government. Gen. Aguirre was executed shortly after the picture was made.

(Ceballos, Chihuahua, Mex.) March 28. (AP)—The Federal column under Gen. Juan A. Almazan is stepping into the rebel tracks almost as fast as the rebels step out of them. Late yesterday Gen. Eulogio Ortiz, leading the Federal cavalry, rode into a large rancho in Southern Chihuahua but shortly after a rebel detachment of thirty men had fled from there toward Jimenez.

Before nightfall the rest of the column had come up by truck and made camp for the night. The ranch people said that the insurgents, who had stayed there for several days, had no money and simply helped themselves to what food they could find.

PAY NOT FORTHCOMING

Four officers who had deserted the insurgent forces in Chihuahua walked south and joined this column at Conejos. They said that the rebel soldiers were not paid on either Monday or Tuesday and since the Mexican enlisted man receives his pay daily, and provides his own food with it, a serious blow was struck at the morale by this nonpayment.

Long before daybreak today the cavalry and artillery units resumed their northward trek, the infantry following later in trucks. Gen. Ortiz, called by some of his admirers, "the Roosevelt of Mexico," is a well-educated, hard-riding, hard-campaigning leader who commands the adoration of his troops.

The newspaper correspondents were invited to breakfast with him today and found him seated on the ground, rolling corn meal flour into tortillas, the flat, tough corn-meal cakes which are the chief food of the Mexican soldier in the field. He quickly arranged his camp affairs and dashed off by automobile for the head of the column, where he resumed his saddle.

Federal aviators today set their planes down neatly in a narrow gap in the cactus and mesquite near the ranch house, establishing direct connection with the advance headquarters. Flying new planes made in the United States, they were able to observe the rebel movements all day.

The strain of two sixty-mile desert marches in two days is telling on the cavalrymen heavily.

BORDER-CROSSING TALK MEETS DENIAL

MEXICALI, March 28. (Exclusive)—Denying rumors which have been current for several days, members of Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez's military staff declared this afternoon that the armed forces of Lower California have no intention of crossing American territory when they undertake the offensive against rebel troops in the State of Sonora.

They stated that transportation facilities on the Mexican side of the border are adequate for military purposes and they never have requested authority to enter the United States and do not expect to do so.

Gen. Rodriguez was at San Luis today, personally conducting preparations for the movement of his troops into the territory occupied by Gen. Topete and the revolutionary army. The second of two planes which are to be used for light bombing operations in Sonora arrived in Calexico today and are awaiting permission from the State Department at Washington to enter Mexico.

CATHOLIC ORDER HEAD DENIES BENITES CHARGES

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) March 28. (AP)—Martin F. Carmody, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, today denied that the order is connected with revolutionary movements in Mexico, as charged by Gov. Benites of the State of Durango.

"The Knights of Columbus, as an organization, is taking no part in the Mexican trouble," Carmody said. He stated that since the supreme convention in 1926 the Knights of Columbus had not "even sent a letter into Mexico."

LULL IN WAR AGAINST SMUGGLERS OF ARMS

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) March 28. (AP) The United States government's "war" on asserted smugglers of military materials to rebel forces at Agua Prieta, Son., has lulled here today.

With ten men under arrest, two of whom are known to be Douglas police officials and who are free on $5000 bond, predicted arrests of ten others by United States special agents have failed to develop.

Mayor Haymore, who indignantly denied the inference by the arresting agents yesterday that 37,000 rounds of ammunition and two machine guns belonging to the city had been sold to the rebels, today maintained that his police officials should remain in office until they have been proved guilty of wrong-doing.

KELLOGG COMMENDS CONSUL AT MAZATLAN

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Secretary Kellogg has telegraphed to Consul William P. Blocker at Mazatlan, Mex., hearty commendation for his coolness and judgment during the attack on the city by rebel forces and for his prompt safeguarding of American interests there.

TWO AVIATORS REPORTED KILLED

JUAREZ (Chih.) March 28. (AP)—Official reports received in Juarez tonight said two Federal aviators have been shot down and killed by rebel forces.

Capt. Farrell was shot down at Jimenez when he attempted an air raid on Jimenez, and Capt. Alfredo Ceballos was shot down near Guadalajara on March 24, the report said. "These two deaths have been confirmed by the enemy," the report ended.

PLANES DOMINATE REVOLT

Mexican Federal Air Forces Harass Rebels and Clear Way for Advancing Armies

BY JOHN LLOYD

[Mr. Lloyd has just been released from the field headquarters of Gen. Calles.]

MEXICO CITY, March 28. (AP)—A handful of airmen and a dozen more or less modern airplanes have dominated the Mexican revolutionary campaign in Northern Mexico.

They have been the eyes of the long punitive arms of the Federal armies as horse, foot and guns plodded wearily over deserts and mountains where dynamited bridges and destroyed railway tracks, had they been defended by unseen rebel bands, might have held up the Federal advance for days.

Soaring high over the prairies of Durango and the deserts of Coahuila, the little group of aviators so effectively scouted and bombed the insurgents that ground units of the advancing Federals, save for a skirmish here and there, have had little more to do than repair track age destroyed by retreating rebels.

And now with a long chase across Chihuahua State incumbent on the main army, the aviators are making life miserable for the rebels with unexpected attacks on trains and moving columns.

HARASS REBELS

The air squadrons have been in the thick of the campaign from its very beginning. At Vera Cruz they "bombed" insurgents with handbills and newspapers, reclaiming loyalties of wavering rebel troops for the government and contributing to the collapse of Gen. Aguirre's revolt.

At Durango it was an air raid or so with small bombs which sent the rebels scurrying from the city. Air raiders harassed the rebels at Torreon and occupied the city long before the troops of Gens. Almazan and Calles could come up.

New bombing planes of modern design, rushed from the United States, will make the Federal flying corps henceforth much more valuable as Gen. Almazan's 10,000 fighting men press on past Escalon toward Jimenez. The new planes carry four machine guns each and emplacements for two more, with devices for dropping ten fifty-pound bombs during each flight.

Heretofore, the aviators have been using commercial and antiquated observation planes, together with one or two fast sport machines made for civilian use.

NO CASUALTIES

None of these planes was equipped with machine guns or bombing apparatus. Until a few days ago the only available bombs were small affairs of Mexican manufacture which spread panic among rebel troops and civilian population, but did little material damage. The aviators dropped these bombs from their hands, leaning out of cabin windows or over the sides of the cockpits. Sometimes they carried ordinary machine guns which they poked out of improvised loopholes.

So far there have been few casualties among the aviators. One Federal airman was shot through the leg and another through the foot by rebel antiaircraft snipers, and planes have been plentifully besprinkled with bullets. But not an aviator has been forced down in enemy territory and none crashed while on duty at the front.

Whether there will be any actual aerial battles between Federals and rebels depends on ability of the latter to equip themselves with suitable planes. Hitherto, the insurgents have used only two commercial planes on the northern front, which seldom took the air and then only for reconnoitering.

The only thing approaching an air combat up to now was a kind of skirmish over Mazatlan a few days ago. A Federal aviator, piloting a commercial machine, then forced down his rebel rival in another commercial machine. But the struggle was really a brief series of maneuvers and little in the nature of a fight.

New Oklahoma Charges Made

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (AP) John Head, chairman of the House of Representatives investigating committee, announced today that articles of impeachment are being drawn against Harry B. Cordell, president of the Board of Agriculture; C. C. Childers, chairman, and Fred Capshaw, member of the State Corporation Commission.

SINKING OF RUM SHIP DEFENDED

Whether such cases justify violence to the extent of sinking a ship and causing loss of life.

France, if she presses the case of the drowning of the French seaman on board the I'm Alone, is expected by diplomatic circles to demand moral reparations in addition to material reparations.

The question of moral reparations probably will involve an apology or expression of regret by the American government to France for the loss of life. The matter of material reparations will depend largely, it was said today, upon whether the dead seaman has relatives who desire the matter pressed for settlement and just what type of contract the seaman had with the shipowners.

Both the Canadian Legation and the French Embassy still are without instructions from their governments. It is believed probable, however, that reports from heir own consuls at New Orleans and those from the State Department will be examined and transmitted to Ottawa and Paris before any formal action is taken.

The British Embassy has virtually washed its hands of the entire affair so far as active participation is concerned, but is following the case since it is known that some of the crew, as citizens of the colonies, will fall under the protection of the London government.

BRITISH HONDURAS TENSION RELAXES

BELIZE (British Honduras) March 28. (AP)—The high feeling roused locally over the sinking of the schooner I'm Alone by the United States Coast Guard, which caused special police protection to be given Consul G. Russell Taggart yesterday, was calmer today pending results of the inquiry into the case.

Government authorities declined to discuss the matter.

BRITISH WEEKLIES COMMENT ON SINKING

LONDON, March 28. (AP)—Influential British weeklies today commented on the international problem arising from the sinking of the Canadian schooner I'm Alone by a United States Coast Guard cutter in the Gulf of Mexico.

The New Statesman said editorially: "The American naval victory over an unarmed sloop flying the British flag and carrying rum in her hold must of course be closely investigated. But it is unlikely that it will form the basis of a very serious international incident."

The weekly reviews in general accord the I'm Alone incident the most prominent position in their columns.

"Britain would probably do better to make no protest at all," adds the New Statesman, "and to leave it to the Washington State Department—with the evidently unqualified support of the New York press—to clear up the business and do whatever it can to prevent repetition of any action so extravagantly absurd."

The Saturday Review maintains that a question of grave international importance has been raised by the sinking of the I'm Alone. It thinks that the incident will be settled by arbitration, but considers that a point of fundamental importance has been raised and that British opinion will not take so calmly a repetition of the incident.

The Spectator notes that "if Capt. Randall has told the truth, the act of sinking him far out at sea and in rather bad weather will require much justification to square it with humanity. The impassivity of Capt. Randall who remained quietly on his deck saying no to every suggestion of surrender had an heroic quality which was worthy of a better cause."

Espee Chairman Ends Inspection

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (Exclusive)—Hale Holden, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific Company, today completed his first inspection of the company's west coast properties since he became its executive head. He will leave for Los Angeles tomorrow, accompanied by Edward S. Harkness, a director.

Business of the company, he said, is about 8 per cent better than last year and he expects it to continue throughout the present year.

STOCKS GO ON ANOTHER CLIMB

Scores of Issues Advance in Wall Street Rally

Spectacular Rise Follows Call-Money Drop

dropped successively to 12, 10 and 8 per cent.

ONE BANK HOLDS OUT

One institution, at least, the First National Bank, headed by the veteran capitalist, George F. Baker, stood adamant, renewing loans yesterday and today at 20 per cent, the alternative held out to brokers who might regard this as too high being to pay them off.

With the market closed tomorrow and Saturday many traders took profits in the late trading with the result that scores of issues dropped $1 to $5 a share below their high levels of the day. The New York Federal Reserve Bank made no change in its rediscount rate. The weekly statement on brokers' loans, issued after the close, proved extremely disappointing to the bull forces as it showed a reduction of only $144,000,000, which failed to offset the increase of $168,000,000 the week before. Earlier estimates of the decline ranged all the way from $150,000,000 to $400,000,000.

DOMINATING INFLUENCE

Although the credit situation was the dominating influence in the market, two outside developments stimulated today's recovery in prices—the announcement that leading oil executives had agreed on a curtailment of production program and rumors, unconfirmed but widely regarded as true, that negotiations are in progress whereby R.C.A. Communications, Inc., the new subsidiary of the Radio Corporation, would be taken over by the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, which eventually would merge with the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Such a consolidation now is prohibited by the White Act but it is expected that this will be repealed in order to permit American companies to compete with the huge British wireless combine.

SOARING ISSUES

International Telephone stock soared nearly $19 a share to a new high record at $279 and then eased to $274.50. Mackay Companies, controlled by the International, jumped $17.25 a share. Radio Corporation, transactions in which comprised more than one-tenth of the day's entire volume of business, ran up $12 a share to $109, or within 75 cents of the record high and then slipped back to $106.50. Radio sold as low as $83 a share in Tuesday's break.

Total sales today were 5,096,320 shares as against 5,618,900 shares yesterday and 2,344,740 shares in Tuesday's record-breaking session.

MARKET NOT INCLUDED IN HOOVER DISCUSSIONS

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—It was disclosed at the White House today that President Hoover has not discussed the stock market or credit situation with any member of the Federal Reserve Board. This information was obtained as a result of a question by press correspondents.

In the opinion of Secretary Lamont stock market gyrations are likely to have less effect on business activity now than has been the case in the past.

Nearly all of the indications studied by the government's trade observation service indicate that a maintenance of prosperous conditions is likely, Secretary Lamont said, whatever sort of a prospect might be held out in that field by current market fluctuations.

"Nearly every indicator as to trade that we use shows a favorable outlook today," he said. "There is no reason to believe that the nation will not be as prosperous in 1929 as in 1928. It is a fact that while financial and monetary conditions influence business, modern production and distribution more and more tend to be guided in accurate statistical information related definitely to potential supply and demand for products concerned. This body of tested data nowadays is more valuable in estimating future prospects than the actions of stock exchanges."

And the Queen Saw and Smiled at the Movie Extra

"Once upon a time," as courtly tales should begin, a Queen came to Hollywood. And in the Queen's heart, of course, there was curiosity—"What DO the beauties of Cinema-ville, I've heard so much about, actually look like?"

And, of course, the Queen's longing was to be gratified.

It came to pass that a certain little Movie Extra was selected as one of a cluster of beauties to appear before the Queen.

The beautiful Movie Extra possessed in her wardrobe exactly the gown to wear—trimmed with a certain lace she had heard the Queen especially liked.

Consternation! The lace on the gown had become torn and stained beyond repair. Lace rare indeed!

Over the city trekked the feet of the Movie Extra through the thresholds of the exclusive. High-hat shops. But no lace.

Weary, resigned to failure, there was one place the little feet had not entered . . . Walker's Department Store! They entered reluctantly—the heart of the Movie Extra was so drained of hope.

Io Triumphe! Beauty be praised! Walker's had the identical lace!

And, it is said, when the little Movie Extra flushed, her eyes diamonds, marched past the Queen, that the crowned head of royalty turned to glance a casual, second glance, saw the lace, looked into the wearer's eyes and smiled!

A famous cinema casting director noted the smile, mentally noted the Movie Extra.

And, today, the Movie Extra is a Queen of Talking Cinema!

Devoted daughter tells what she did for 80-year-old mother

80 years young!

YOU find it in almost every family An elderly mother or father living with the young folks. The children doing all they can to make their parents' last years comfortable and contented.

The Robinson Home at 2330 Coral Street, Philadelphia, proved no exception when the reporter called there. Mrs. Robinson had a special health problem to solve.

"My mother, who is 80 years old," she explained, "had a partial stroke of paralysis." It was vitally important to keep her system functioning regularly and easily.

They tried various measures. But they all proved too strong. They upset her in her weakened condition. Then they tried various oils. But she objected to the taste.

Finally, Mrs. Robinson said, "after reading the advertisement of Nujol, we tried that. We find it very soothing, and it gives satisfactory results. My mother can take it easily—a tablespoonful at night—because it's tasteless."

That's the wonderful thing about Nujol. It won't upset or disagree with anybody. You can give it to invalids, very old folks and tiny babies with perfect safety. For Nujol contains absolutely no medicine or drugs. It was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey).

MRS. KENNEDY'S REQUEST DENIED

Wanted to Delay Deposition in Judge Hardy Case

Sewell Here to Confer With Keyes and Dennison

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (AP)—Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, telegraphed members of the Assembly board of managers from Seattle tonight that she does not want them to go north to take her deposition for use in the impeachment trial of Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy until after other witnesses have testified.

William Hornblower and Walter Little, members of the board, declared they will go to Seattle as originally planned.

SEWELL HERE TO CONFER WITH WITNESSES

Assemblyman Harry Sewell, another member of the legislative board of managers prosecuting the impeachment proceedings against Superior Judge Hardy before the California Senate, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, and today will hold a conference with former Dist.-Atty. Keyes and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison.

"I will be one of the prosecutors handling the examination of witnesses before the Senate, and as Keyes and Dennison will be outstanding witnesses, I want to know the nature of their testimony before they take the stand," declared Sewell after his arrival.

Another reason for his visit here, the Assemblyman explained, is to complete arrangements with Undersheriff Biscailuz for the transportation to Sacramento of twenty-three witnesses subpoenaed here for the impeachment hearing. The Senate will eventually pay the bills incurred.

Sewell denied he has been informed that Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, has refused to make a deposition unless Keyes first tells all he knows about the case. The legislator also denied that a deposition will be taken from Keyes in the County Jail here rather than take him north to appear before the Senate. Sewell said he knew of no purported underworld threats against Keyes's life that would make the trip north unsafe until he read them in a newspaper here.

VOTE SUPPORTS SUNDAY PLAY

Minnesota Senate Passes Bill to Legalize Sports on Sabbath

ST. PAUL, March 28. (AP)—Soon, if all goes well with a proposal before the Legislature, it will be perfectly legal in Minnesota to hunt, fish, play ond "hold other public sports and exercises on Sunday."

These things have been going on without any effort to stop them, but there is a "blue law" forbidding such activities, and the Legislature now seeks to amend it. The bill passed the State Senate last night.

SOUTH PASADENA GETS CROSSING AUTHORITY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (AP) The State Railroad Commission today granted authority to the city of South Pasadena to construct a grade crossing over the tracks of the Pacific Electric Railway. The street involved is the north roadway of Huntington Drive in the vicinity of Oneonta Park. Permission to make the grade crossing is conditional, the commission said, on the provision that the city abandon its Spruce-street crossing, which is 350 feet north of the proposed road.

CHIEF OF SMUGGLING RING PLEADS GUILTY

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Morris Landau, jeweler, one of the figures in the asserted international diamond smuggling ring, pleaded guilty in Federal court today to a charge of smuggling. The maximum penalty is six years in prison and a $20,000 fine.

STIMSON TAKES OFFICIAL OATH

Act Completes Cabinet of President Hoover

Taft Shakes Hand as Token of Past Events

Secretary of State to Find Knotty Problems

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The world-wide activities of the State Department were placed late today under the direction of Henry L. Stimson, who after a lapse of almost a score of years, has returned to Washington as a member of the Cabinet circle of a President.

HENRY L. STIMSON.

The former Governor-General of the Philippines was administered the oath of office by the Chief Justice oath of office by the Chief Justice of the United States, William Howard Taft. As the two faced each other in the impressively furnished diplomatic room at the State Department they smiled, apparently recalling other days when both were younger and the one was President and the other his Secretary of War.

SHAKES HAND

After the induction into office, the Chief Justice grasped the hand of his old friend and shook it heartily.

"Old man, I am delighted to be any kind of an humble instrument in putting you in this place," he said.

"Thank you," replied the new Secretary of State.

With the transfer of the reins of State Department authority from the veteran hands of Frank B. Kellogg to Mr. Stimson the official Cabinet circle of President Hoover is completed and the new administration fully manned for the four years of work ahead.

Tomorrow Mr. Kellogg will leave Washington for a vacation trip in Europe before returning to his home in St. Paul, Minn., to practice law, and his successor will take up the thread of international affairs where he left off.

MANY PROBLEMS

Mr. Stimson, who since Tuesday has been going over pressing problems with his predecessor, will be confronted at the outset by a number of matters. The sinking of the Canadian rum runner I'm Alone, the Mexican revolution, the American policy to be pursued at the forthcoming preparatory disarmament commission meeting at Geneva, and numerous minor matters are a few of the questions awaiting solution.

In addition the new Secretary has before him the realignment of the foreign diplomatic service, especially in South America. President Hoover who, as a result of his goodwill trip, obtained much first-hand information on the situation in the Latin-American republics, is particularly anxious to build up good will in that field.

FEW CHANGES

The new Secretary of State has let it be known that he intends to make very few changes in the personnel at the State Department. Undersecretary Clark has asked to be relieved and it is understood he will be succeeded by William R. Castle, at present an Assistant Secretary of State.

For the time being Assistant Secretary of State Johnson will remain in charge of the department's eastern affairs, with Assistant Secretary Carr continuing to supervise consular activities. Francis White will remain in charge of Latin-American affairs. Mr. Stimson has reappointed William H. Beck as assistant to the Secretary of State. Mr. Beck served under Secretaries Lansing, Polk, Colby, Hughes and Kellogg.

AX WILL FALL IN POSTOFFICES

demonstrated when the reorganized department personnel is announced.

MAY BE SURPRISES

On the subject of economy, Postmaster-General Brown holds decided views, and some surprising changes may be made. It may be, indeed, that he will make a determined effort to put an end to, or at least check, the ancient franking evil. The abuse of this free mailing privilege by members of Congress in recent years has been largely responsible for the recurring postal deficits. By previous administrations the system has been accepted as an unavoidable evil. Mr. Brown has a carefully conceived scheme for curbing and perhaps ultimately eradicating the practice. His plan naturally will meet vigorous opposition from Representatives and Senators accustomed to circularizing their constituents regularly with their "canned" speeches and government tips on how to raise babies and the like and probably no attempt at a reform will be undertaken until after the major legislation questions facing the Hoover administration have been dealt with.

Although he has been in office less than a month Brown has encountered several "glaring" examples of departmental bureaucracy and has come to a conclusion they are all too numerous and represent a tendency toward a "public-be-damned" attitude. Some officials and employees, he has found, have assumed authority they do not possess and in other instances employees have been made victims of a tyrannical interdepartmental system. As far as is possible he intends to purge the department of all this.

Fathers and Husbands Due to Pay $2,000,000,000 Bill During 1930

CHICAGO, March 28. (AP)—American fathers and husbands will have a $2,000,000,000 beauty bill to meet in 1930, those with statistical minds estimated today in preparing for the midwest beauty show here next week.

Last year's expenditures for face powder, rouge, special soaps, cosmetics and treatments amounted to $1,825,000,000, and the outgo is increasing about $100,000,000 a year.

FATHER AND DAUGHTERS DIE IN BLAST

Parent Sets Off Dynamite That Sends Self and Two Children to Eternity

SALEM (Or.) March 28. (AP)—Taking his two daughters, Charline, 4 years of age, and Gladys, 6, on his knees in the kitchen of their home at Grassy Pond, three and a half miles northeast of Mt. Angel, Charles Stetter, 33, touched off nine sticks of dynamite he previously had placed beneath the chair in which he sat. All three were killed instantly.

Abraham E. Schierbaum of Mt. Angel said the bodies were terribly mangled. The house was wrecked.

Neighbors attribute Stetter's act to despondency over financial and family matters.

Just before the tragedy Stetter and his wife had quarreled and she had gone to the home of his brother, 200 yards away.

Stetter arose early this morning, went to a near-by store and bought the dynamite.

Dawes Sails to Fix Budget of Santo Domingo

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Former Vice-President Dawes sailed today at the head of a commission of thirteen finance experts to revise the budget of the Republic of Santo Domingo, and the orders of the chairman are that a good job should be done cheaply, "without the help of valets or golf clubs."

The commission expects to spend from a month to six weeks in the republic arranging a budget sw. Budgeting for executive departments are other phases of its task, but despite the permission of Santo Domingo that the commission may fix its own compensation and expense, Mr. Dawes said the entire cost will not exceed $10,000.

An associate said the former Vice-President and more than half the other members of the commission will pay their own expenses.

Houghtons Given Cordial Send-off

LONDON, March 28. (AP)—United States Ambassador Houghton had a cordial send-off when he left Victoria Station this morning with Mrs. Houghton and their daughter for a three weeks' stay at Baden Baden before proceeding to America.

King George sent a special message by Sir Hubert Montgomery, deputy marshal of the Diplomatic Corps, wishing the departing Ambassador bon voyage. Premier Baldwin and Foreign Minister Sir Austen Chamberlain both sent representatives to the station, and the German, French and Turkish ambassadors as well as other members of the Diplomatic Corps were there themselves.

The Marquesa Merry Del Val, wife of the Spanish Ambassador, came to the station, too, while the American colony turned out in force. Floral offerings made the salon in which the Houghtons traveled a bower of flowers.

Ship Officers Put Under Ban

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (Exclusive)—Capt. William C. Moss, commander, and Raymond E. Dobie, second mate of the Dollar liner President Adams, had their licenses suspended for six months by Federal steamboat inspectors today when convicted of inattention to duty which caused the ship to go aground at the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal on January 11, last. Damage caused amounted to $50,000.

Continuation of Canaanite Wall Also Discovered

Well-Preserved Wine Press in One Ancient Dwelling

JERUSALEM, March 28. (AP)—Resumption of excavation at Tel Nasden, north of Jerusalem, by Prof. William F. Bade of the Pacific School of Religion, already has resulted in the unearthing of a dozen Israelite houses built between 1100 and 1200 B. C.

The remains of a continuation of the Canaanite city wall on the north side, eighteen feet broad and showing traces of an old tower which apparently protected the gate, also were discovered. Finding of this part of the wall showed that the wall which was discovered last season on the east side encircled the entire hill.

In the houses was found a wine press excellently preserved and a cistern containing much pottery in several strata. This is expected to give evidence from the Canaanite period to the time of the city's latest occupation.

The pottery includes two excellently preserved Astarite heads showing bobbed hair. Whole baskets of pottery still are awaiting examination. The representation of bobbed hair is not unusual, for Prof. Bade in June, 1926, found indications that that custom was practiced in Israel.

HUNTINGTON PALISADES

"on Santa Monica Bay"

Its Beauty Is Heralded Throughout the Country

When the "All Year Club" wanted a picture to interestingly depict the attractive charm of Southern California, in its advertising, they selected a view from Huntington Palisades. This picture appeared in the leading magazines with a total circulation of many millions.

More than 2,500,000 postcards with views of Huntington Palisades were purchased and mailed world-wide by individuals last year.

To own a home amid such universally recognized natural splendor is a privilege more priceless than a Maharajah's treasure. But you can buy a large homesite here for less than is asked elsewhere for commonplace residential property.

Drive to Huntington Palisades—45 minutes from downtown Los Angeles by way of scenic Beverly Boulevard. Carefully consider its many outstanding advantages. You'll want to own a home-place in this beauty spot.

WILBUR WANTS INDIAN WEANED

Self-Supporting Red Man, Among His Plans

Government "Nursing" Held Thing of Past

New Policy Halts Picking of Bureau Chief

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Secretary Wilbur is looking for a man for Commissioner of Indian Affairs who will be so able in that position he will work himself out of a job.

The new Interior Department head believes that the soution of the Indian problem is the elimination of the guardianship of the government over the Indian and the transformation of the native Americans from wards to independent and self-sufficient citizens. Such a solution of the Indian question as he sees it, necessitates a new direction for the Indian office and a stiff course of "hardening-off" for the Indian.

Secretary Wilbur does not believe that the problem can be solved overnight, but does think that a new program can be started at once. It is understood he has the backing of President Hoover in declaring that this program must be worked out before a Commissioner for Indian Affairs can be selected.

MANY APPLICANTS

There has been no lack of applicants for the job. More than 100 persons, all of whom declared in one way or another that they knew the last word in administration of Indian affairs, have applied for the position. Any number of names have been submitted, both to Secretary Wilbur and to President Hoover, and Secretary Wilbur has consulted with many students of the Indian in making up a list of names which, it is understood, has been sent to the White House.

Secretary Wilbur, a former president of the American Medical Association, who sometimes talks in the homely idiom of the family physician, has remarked that it "is time for the Indian to be weaned."

"It is dangerous for a child to continue nursing too long," the Secretary declared recently in talking about the Indian problem. "It is also just as dangerous for the nurse. The thing to do is to hand it a pickle and let it howl."

The first step in the new Indian program as it has been tentatively worked out, will be to establish in certain sections of the country a group of employment agencies which would take the Indian in hand as soon as he has finished school. Secretary Wilbur believes that a trained and educated Indian should be kept as far away from an Indian reservation and its influences as is possible.

INDIAN APT PUPIL

Those who have investigated Indian tendencies and have been associated with the education of Indians have reported that the Indian is especially apt with his hands, can be trained with ease as an airplane or automobile mechanic, and takes to handicraft work, such as weaving and pottery molding, like a duck takes to water. It is the intention of Secretary Wilbur to see that the Indian schools pay particular attention to this type of training and then have the employment agencies place the trained Indian before the employer of such labor.

It is the belief of the Interior Department that an Indian properly trained and then assisted in obtaining work where this training can be utilized, will no longer present any problem to the government. The economic phases arising from the ownership of Indian land will be dealt with according to the Federal law as they come before the department for discussion.

Bishop Brent May be Buried in Switzerland

LAUSANNE (Switzerland) March 28. (AP)—Services in the cathedral today for Bishop Charles Henry Brent of the diocese of Western New York, were both American and international in character, as befitted Dr. Brent's personality.

At their conclusion a Swiss churchman suggested the appropriateness of burying Bishop Brent in the crypt of the cathedral. It is believed that this fulfills the bishop's desire to be interred where he died and would be a symbol of his international service.

Final decision depends on whether the Episcopal Church in the United States prefers to transport the body to America.

Rev. Gustave Secretan, Swiss bishop, officiated at the service today, assisted by Rev. Dr. Dieneman of the English church of Lausanne, Dr. Smith of Geneva and the president of the synod of churches of the Vaud Canton.

Election Fight Near in Africa

CAPETOWN (South Africa) March 28. (AP)—South Africa faces a general election campaign which promised today to be every bit as stormy as the parliamentary session which ended yesterday.

The dominant issues to be voted on June 12 are the question of franchise for the navy and the trade treaty between South Africa and Germany, both of which were storm centers in the parliamentary session, which was one of the most turbulent in the history of the Union of South Africa.

CANAL ZONE AIR MAIL RATE SCHEDULE FIXED

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The Postoffice Department today fixed a rate of 25 cents a half-ounce for air mail originating in this country for the Canal Zone. On mail destined for South American countries the department has decided to fix a rate of 15 cents a half-ounce from the Canal Zone to Colombia and Ecuador; 30 cents from the Canal Zone to Peru, and 45 cents from the Canal Zone to Chile.

POLLS FIGHT BY UTILITIES DISCLOSED

Witness Says Washington Organization Helped Spend $175,000 Against Measure

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The organization of citizen's committees in the State of Washington to expend a $175,000 fund, contributed by power companies, in opposing, in the 1924 election, legislation designed to aid municipal power plant ownership was related today by Norwood W. Brockett of Seattle, vice-president of the Northwest Electric Light and Power Association, before the Federal Trade Commission.

Appearing at the commission's inquiry into publicity activities of public power utilities, Brockett testified about the program of the Washington State committee on public utility information of which he was secretary during the 1924 campaign in opposition of the Bone bill. The measure, which was defeated in a referendum at that election would have permitted the municipal power companies in the State to extend their service outside their city limits.

The citizen's committees, Brockett said, were organized in the principal cities of the State by the local managers of power companies. The committees in opposing the Bone measure, he testified, signed newspaper advertisements and also circulated letters to the voters. The advertisements and letters were paid for out of the $175,000 fund, he added.

The $175,000 fund, Brockett continued, was contributed by six power companies in Washington State. He said the companies were the Washington Water Power Company, the Puget Sound Light and Power Company, the Pacific Light and Power Company, Gray's Harbor Power and Light Company, Portland Electric Light and Power Company and the Willoughby Harbor Light and Power Company.

Officials Meet on New Schedule for Air Mails

OMAHA, March 28. (AP)—Proposed revision of the entire transcontinental air-mail schedule brought government and commercial aviation officers here today for a two or three-day conference.

Heading the group is Earl B. Wadsworth of Washington, superintendent of the air mail. With him came B. S. Myers of Chicago, assistant superintendent. Officials of the Boeing Aircraft Company, National Air Transport Company, Western Air Express, Robertson Aircraft Corporation, the Varney Lines and the National Parks Airways also are here.

SOUTH EXPECTS G.O.P. REFORMS

Patronage Question Called Vital to Party

Editor Analyzes Result of National Election

Dixie Dry Vote Considered Prohibition Test

WINTER PARK (Fla.) March 28. (AP)—Whether or not "the solid South' is definitely broken depends on the attitude of the Hoover administration toward "patronage outrages" in the South and "the alacrity with which the Democratic party recognizes the fact that national election results last year spelled an emphatic indorsement of prohibition" George Fort Milton, editor of the Chattanooga News told the Institute of Statesmanship today.

Mr. Milton addressed the gathering on "the future of the Democratic party in the United States." He expressed the hope that "in each of the southern States there will grow from sound social and economic foundations, a strong opposition party."

"Nothing could contribute more vitally to the health and strength of the Democratic party," he said, "than the knowledge that when the Democrats nominate a weak, corrupt or inept candidate for office, this man will have the fight of his life to win the plum he seeks."

Turning to the question of patronage in the South, Mr. Milton traced the development of southern grievances against the Republican party from the days of reconstruction.

"Ever since those days," he said, "the Republican party in the South has been little more than an empty office-holding shell . . . the natural result has been the patronage outrages of the Republican party in the southern States . . . there are strong hopes that this rotten mess will be cleared up quickly."

Concerning the outcome of last year's Presidential election, Mr. Milton declared that "by no means do I attribute to the operation of religious prejudices in the South the most substantial share of the determination of the result . . . The Democratic candidate in 1928, although a man of appealing personality, was nurtured by a political organization, the very name of which has been for decades a hissing byword in the South, and was committed to political views which were anathema to probably a majority of the people of the South . . .

"The 1928 campaign led to the national referendum on prohibition which Mr. Raskob had forecast. The American people emphatically disapproved the attempt to overturn prohibition as a national policy."

"Steady Nerves"

That's Reason for Big Tareyton Sales Jump

JUST TAKE A LOOK at these pictures! Can you imagine a set of jumpy nerves on jobs like these?

Suppose you directed a fire stream in the midst of crumbling walls . . . or sat through long watches at a ship radio . . . or handled dangerous chemicals all day . . .

Wouldn't you make sure your nerves were the steadiest set on earth?

People like this watch their smoking.

"We stick to Tareytons" they told investigators. "Smoke no other kind . . . And we find our nerves are always steady, though we smoke a lot!"

You can take a tip from these smokers, too. Even if your work is less strenuous . . . you'll enjoy your smoking more when you know jangled nerves aren't waiting at the end of a heavy day.

So try the recipe these smokers recommend for steady nerves.

Switch to Tareytons . . . smoke them exclusively . . . Smoke all you want . . . but smoke only this brand . . . Do that for a week . . . for just seven days . . .

Then check up on the way you feel. The shape your nerves are in when evening comes. See if you, too, don't feel better. Isn't that fair?

HIGH PRESSURE FOR WOMEN, TOO! Handling delicate mixtures of dangerous chemicals is no job for jangled nerves. "My work in the laboratory," said Miss Mimosa Fejos to interviewer, "is very exacting. That's why I'm particular about the brand of cigarettes I smoke. Tareytons keep my nerves steady."

RADIO OPERATOR HAS HECTIC JOB! This picture was made of Cecil V. Mandsley, Chief Radio Operator on board the palatial trans-Atlantic liner "Aquitania." In this photograph, he's shown smoking his favorite cigarette . . . a Tareyton. "I smoke them because I must keep my nerves steady," he told reporters. "They help me to carry on in emergencies."

CHURCH BURNS TO GROUND. Only outer walls were left when fire gutted this incompleted Riverside Drive cathedral in one of New York's most spectacular fires. Firemen worked for hours on end, and many were brought almost to the point of exhaustion before the flames were finally subdued. "Big fires take a lot of energy," said Fire Lieutenant William A. Walsh, when interviewed. "Day after day, I work under the most difficult conditions ... sometimes in ice, snow, sleet and storm. And it requires nerves under steady control to do it. That's why I smoke Tareyton ... They don't tax my nerves."

CAPITAL SPURNS FARM AID BIDS

Business Leaders Refuse to Meet Committee

House Group Hears Report of Agriculturalists

Canadian Wheat Pool Cited as Proper Pattern

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—An almost unanimous refusal of invitations sent to capitalists and business leaders to appear before the Senate Agricultural Committee to present their views on farm relief was recorded today with the announcement by Chairman McNary that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles M. Schwab and Owen D. Young would not appear. Only Henry Ford remains to be heard from as J. P. Morgan's inability to attend was reported previously.

The House Agriculture Committee, entering its second day of farm-relief hearings, heard a number of witnesses outline a variety of possible methods for aiding agriculture. The Senate committee heard the bill of its chairman indorsed by Hallvard Kloster, who appeared on behalf of a group of farm loan organizations of Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota and Wyoming. Kloster said he had supported the McNary-Haugen bill containing the equalization fee, but that he thought the present McNary bill would give the needed relief.

Anson Marston of Ames, Ia., president of the American Association of Land Grant Colleges, told the House Inquirers he favored Federal aid to continue search for new methods of utilizing farm waste. O. W. Connell, secretary of the Minnesota Wheat Growers' Association, proposed an organization patterned after the Canadian wheat pool to handle the marketing of wheat under a Federal farm board. The Canadian pool, he said, now owns 1200 elevators and twelve terminals.

RUSSIA HONORS LENIN'S WIDOW

Press Pays Tribute On Her Sixtieth Birthday

N. Krupskaya Admired for Social Activities

Forty-Odd Years Spent in Work for Masses

MOSCOW, March 28. (AP)—The Russian press recently paid tribute to Nadiejda Constantinova Krupskaya on the occasion of her sixtieth birthday.

If Nadiejda Krupskaya is known at all in the United States, it is because she was the wife of Lenin. In Russia, however, she is admired and loved by millions, not only because of her matrimonial alliance with Lenin, but because of the forty-odd years she herself devoted to the emancipation of the Russian masses and to the social work following the establishment of soviet rule. She is today one of the outstanding figures in the educational movement of Russia.

FOLLOWER OF MARX

N. Krupskaya was born in St. Petersburg in 1869. From childhood she fostered a dislike for the Czarist regime and by the time she had entered the women's college (at that time newly opened) in St. Petersburg, she was a follower of Karl Marx and a member of the circle of students engaged in underground work. In order to come into closer contact with the working classes she took up the teaching profession and under the pretense of delivering lectures on geography fostered propaganda. For five years she continued her work and attracted to the social-democratic circle in St. Petersburg many who later became leaders in the revolution.

In 1893 Lenin arrived in the capital. Their common interests united their efforts. He, however, soon was arrested.

EXILED TO SIBERIA

But due to Krupskaya's activity the agitation work among the factory men was carried on as persistently as before. In 1896 she was arrested and after three months' solitary confinement was sent for three years to Siberia. It happened that Lenin at that time had also been exiled to Siberia.

The two revolutionists did their best to have their term of imprisonment served in the same place, and finally the military officials permitted them to meet, only on one condition. They must marry. Evidently the comrades had no objections to the proposal and in 1898 they were registered as husband and wife.

At the end of her sentence Krupskaya went to Munich, where she and Lenin participated in the organization of underground circles throughout Russia. After the 1905 revolution they returned to St. Petersburg and commenced circulating revolutionary papers. The reaction caused by the failure of the recent uprising, however, compelled them to leave Russia once more. They settled down in Cracow, it being the nearest city to Russia, and here they continued their work.

ACTIVE DURING WAR

While Europe was in the throes of the World War, Lenin and his comrades started their agitation among the soldiers. They called upon them to turn the imperialistic war into a civil war. Krupskaya, too, lent her voice to the antiwar cause at the international women's conference in 1915. In 1917 she and Lenin were at their posts in Russia and when the October revolution broke out her husband was recognized as the spirit of the movement.

Since the soviet government came into power Krupskaya's work has been of a more peaceful nature. Many of her ideas on education have been put into force. It is she who is leading the "down-with-illiteracy" campaign and at the same time playing a prominent role in the antireligious movement.

Personally she is a very modest and reserved woman. When her birthday approached and she learned that the press was preparing to give her much publicity she protested. But it was of no avail. Buckharin, Lunacharsky, Pokrovsky, Zinoviev and others filled more than ten columns of the Pravda with articles dedicated to her. Likewise her desire to avoid the limelight caused her to stay at home on her birthday after she had been attending the party conference every day previously.

Noted British Minister Dies

BOURNEMOUTH (Eng.) March 28. (AP)—Rev. Frederick B. Meyer, noted Free Church leader, who was widely known in the United States, died shortly after noon today. He was 81 years of age.

The body will be taken to London for funeral services at Christ Church, Westminster, where he was pastor for many years. The body then will be brought back to Bournemouth for interment beside that of his wife.

Mr. Meyer was president of the National Federation of Free Churches in 1904 and 1920, and was president of the Baptist Union in 1906.

Clews to Fire on Ship Fail

HAMBURG (Germany) March 28. (AP)—The Hamburg police, who have been investigating the fire aboard the steamship Europa, have been unable to discover any clews indicating malicious incendiarism, but are continuing their investigation as to whether it was caused through negligence.

First reports that the fire started in several places have proved unfounded, it being definitely established that the fire broke out on "E" deck immediately below the main deck. It spread rapidly that an erroneous impression was created that the fire had started at several points simultaneously.

MORE TEACHERS JOIN FIGHT

Secondary Principals Add Bitter Denunciation of Bill to Legalize Fraternities in High Schools

OAKLAND, March 28. (Ø)—Branding secret fraternities in high schools as subversive to the principles of democracy which they hold should prevail in the public educational system of California, the Association of Secondary School Principals today made public its opposition to a legislative measure legalizing fraternities, under faculty supervision.

The bill is being sponsored by Assemblyman Roy Bishop of Alameda county and now is before the Senate for consideration.

Principals of California heartily are in disagreement with Bishop on the measure, a resolution adopted at a recent convention indicates.

The association, according to leading members, plans a desperate battle to have the bill quashed before it is written into law.

The association's opposition to Bishop's bill is based on the following grounds:

(1.) That principals repeatedly have gone on record against fraternities and sororities in secondary schools.

(2.) That the sponsor plan in the Bishop bill has been tried in California, and the results have been harmful.

(3.) That the preventive plan passed by the association last year is becoming effective.

(4.) That the National Education Association continuously has opposed establishment of fraternities and sororities in the secondary schools.

The opposition of the National Education Association, summed up as follows, is subscribed to by the California organization, the resolution states:

"We condemn these secret organizations, because: They are subversive of the principles of democracy which should prevail in the public schools; they are selfish; they tend to stir up strife and contention, then are snobbish; they dissipate energy and proper ambition; they set wrong standards; rewards are not earned by merit but are based on fraternity vows; they are expensive and foster habits of extravagance; they bring politics into legitimate organization of the schools; they detract interest from study and all legitimate elements for good these societies claim can be accomplished through literary societies of the school.

UNIVERSITY SITE SALE BILL FAILS

Passage Blocked Without Riverside Amendment

Agriculture Station Project Hopes Now Brighter

Woolwine Urges Speed to Aid Bond Issue

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Exclusive)—Prospects of the plan for providing additional buildings for the Riverside agricultural experiment station from funds to be obtained from the sale of the Vermont-avenue site of the University of California in Los Angeles were brighter today following a vote of the Assembly in which it refused final passage to a bill which permits the University regents to sell the site without inclusion of the Riverside amendment.

The bill, in its present shape, quitclaims the right of the State in the land and buildings, turning the property over to the regents, who intend to sell it. The bill provides that all the money received from the sale must be expended in Los Angeles county.

Los Angeles legislators, upon learning that Gov. Young had cut from $125,000 to $35,000 the sum asked by Riverside people for the agricultural station, determined that it would be a graceful gesture for Los Angeles to make up the difference to the sister county from the university funds.

The bill, which was introduced by Senator Duval of Santa Paula, has passed the Senate and was ready for adoption in the Assembly. A vote was called for in the absence of the majority of the Los Angeles delegation and was passed without the Riverside amendment. Assemblyman Lyons of Los Angeles, however, asked for reconsideration, brought it up again and managed to delay final adoption until the amendment could be included.

Assemblyman Woolwine of Los Angeles at first asked that the bill be adopted in its present form, urging speed because the Los Angeles Board of Education planned to submit a bond issue of $2,500,000 at the city primary election to buy the property. He withdrew his opposition with the understanding that the matter shall be thrashed out not later than Monday. He said that a number of the university regents and Robert Sproul, controller of the University of California, opposed any amendments to the present measure.

DELEGATION ASKS PHONE RATES QUIZ

San Francisco Group in Legislature Moves for Federal Inquiry

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Exclusive)—The San Francisco Assembly delegation today attempted to embroil the State Legislature in the telephone rate war by offering a resolution memorializing Congress to approve a United States Senatorial investigation into the rates now charged by the various telephone companies.

The resolution asks Congress to pass the measure of Senator Johnson calling for the Federal Senate to create a committee of five Senators to inquire into the telephone situation. At present San Francisco and other cities are engaged in a controversy over rates with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company before the State Railroad Commission.

The matter was brought before the San Francisco delegation at noon today by Dion Holm, assistant City Attorney of San Francisco, who has been representing the San Francisco Supervisors before the Railroad Commission.

Opinion is divided upon the matter today, some legislators regarding it as an idle gesture even if it passes the Legislature, while others believe that if it fails of adoption it will be a severe setback to the Johnson resolution in Congress. In many quarters it is looked upon as merely a political move to aid the cabe of Senator Johnson.

In spite of the fact that other cities are interested in the telephone rate question, the San Francisco people did not consult other legislators, but rushed their resolution to the desk without feeling out the temper of their colleagues.

The resolution was referred to the Federal Relations Committee. Similar resolutions, it is reported, have been sent to Congress by the Legislature of Oregon.

AUTO ASH-TRAY BILL PASSED

House Votes for Measure Requiring Receptacle for Fag Stubs

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Ø)—It took considerable debating to convince the Assembly today that automobiles should have as a part of their standard equipment receptacles to receive and extinguish cigar and cigarette stubs. The bill, introduced by Dan Williams, was passed by a vote of 46 to 17.

Opponents to the measure declared it was merely an attempt to boost the sales of automobile accessories. Others favoring the bill declared it would greatly aid prevention of field and forest fires.

LEGISLATIVE BILLS PASSED

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Ø)—The Assembly and Senate reversed the order that prevailed yesterday, the lower house to plunge forward and pass twenty-one bills while the Senate retarded the terrific pace it struck this week and passed only sixteen measures.

SEVEN BILLS MADE LAWS BY GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Ø)—Seven bills became California law today when they were signed by Gov. Young. They are:

Senate Bill 22, by Slater, codifying existent provisions relating to public schools.

Senate Bill 183, by Pedrotti, providing for fees for interpreters at court.

Senate Bill 499, by Carter, widening the scope of present arson laws and providing for fixed penalties in petty cases.

Assembly Bill 102, by Mixter, increasing allotments for officers of counties of the eleventh class.

Assembly Bill 198, by Patterson, increasing the salary of Kern county probation officer.

Assembly Bill 573, by Eaesley, defining marine insurance.

Assembly Bill 1052 by Coombs, appropriating $21,000 for furnishing the new barracks at the veterans' home at Yountville.

Bridge District Change Blocked

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Ø)—An attempt to revive and amend a bill by Ingels of Ukiah calling for repeal of the 1923 Bridge District Act failed today because the Assembly Roads and Highways Committee refused to take the measure from the table to which it was consigned two weeks ago.

Ingels introduced his measure aiming at the Golden Gate Bridge District on the ground that Mendocino county is included in the district without consent of the majority of property owners. His amendments are designed to give property owners a voice in future formation of bridge districts.

Bill to Abolish Hanging Beaten

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) March 28. (Ø)—The House of Representatives today killed a bill to abolish capital punishment in Missouri by a vote of 90 to 27.

Rum Runners Go to Prison

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Ø)—Holding five convicted rum runners equally guilty of a "premeditated felony of magnitude," United States District Judge Bourquin today denied the appeal for leniency made by James Sanches and Frank Wilson, who had pleaded guilty.

Sanches and Wilson admitted being the drivers of the liquor truck captured some weeks ago near Santa Rosa with a $10,000 cargo.

All five drew like sentences of fifteen months each at McNeil's Island penitentiary and fines totaling $3000. Judge Bourquin denied motions for appeal from Joe Perris, Frank Finney and Freddie Marino, the three captured on the convoy car.

Murder Verdict in River Death

HARRISBURG (Pa.) March 28. (Ø)—Harry B. Bowman was convicted today of murder in the first degree in the drowning of Verna Klink, confectionery manager, in the Susquehanna River. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

GOV. LONG HITS BACK AT FOES

Legislators Bribed, Says Louisiana Chief

Executive States Standard Oil Bought Votes

Accuser Fails to Give Names on Senate's Demand

BATON ROUGE (La.) March 28. (AP)—Gov. Long struck back today at those who are seeking his impeachment, and added bribery to the charges which have come into the floodlight through activities of the Louisiana Legislature.

While the House was arranging details for the start of hearings on the impeachment Monday night, the 36-year-old Governor today made the charge that legislators had been bribed by the Standard Oil Company to oppose his proposed oil tax, which was defeated.

These fresh charges staggered this capital, already agog with sensation over the charges against their Governor, who is accused in the cold terms of the impeachment resolution of plotting murder and of eighteen official irregularities, large and small.

By unanimous vote the State Senate adopted a resolution demanding that the Governor name the legislators whom he said accepted bribes and name the oil company financial agents charged with paying the bribes. A circular issued by the State Highway Department, entitled "Cross of Gold: Standard Oil Company vs. Huey P. Long," was presented to the Senate and it immediately adopted the resolution. Late today the Governor had not given the names.

Since the battery of impeachment was turned upon him, Gov. Long has not been seen in public. Formerly he was a frequent visitor to the floors of the Legislature, where he would confer with his floor leaders on legislative strategy.

SMOKE RUMOR CREATES HEAT

Legislators Want to Know If It's True Co-eds Use Cigarettes

LANSING (Mich.) March 28. (AP)—A legislative investigation to find out whether there is truth to a rumor that University of Michigan co-eds smoke cigarettes and, if so, whether the company that supplied the cigarettes violated a law, was ordered by the House of Representatives today.

Cartons of a widely known brand were mailed recently to hundreds of university students, co-eds and men alike. Representative Bailey of Grand Rapids introduced a resolution demanding something be done. The resolution was adopted and a committee of three named to do it.

Salary-Fixing Plan Approved

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (AP)—Legislation providing the Legislature can fix the salaries of all State officials save the Governor and Lieutenant-Governor and granting increases to the assistant Attorney-General and chief deputy was passed by the Senate today.

A constitutional amendment by Senator McKinley taking from the Constitution provisions fixing salaries of the Secretary of State, Controller, treasurer, Attorney-General, Surveyor-General and Superintendent of Public Instruction was passed with two dissenting votes by the upper house.

CHANG ASSURES ALIENS SAFETY

Former Shantung War Lord Holding Chefoo

Only 1500 of 20,000 Soldiers Allowed in City

Casualties of Both Armies in Battle 400

CHEFOO (China) March 28. (AP) Marshal Chang Tsung Chang, former Shantung war lord who has captured Chefoo with a force of revolting soldiers, today assured Leroy Webber, United States Consul-General, that he intends to protect foreign life and property.

Of the 20,000 soldiers which Chang Tsung Chang is reported to have in the vicinity of Chefoo, only 1500 have been allowed within the city and the rest are proceeding eastward in pursuit of Gen. Liu Chen-Nien, the loyal Nationalist commander in the region. Renewed fighting was believed imminent.

It was estimated that the combined casualties in the recent battle were 400, Liu Chen-Nien, losing in addition 1000 men who were either captured or who deserted him. He also lost a few field guns, fifty trench mortars, 1000 rifles and 100,000 rounds of ammunition.

It is not believed that Liu Chen-Nien will be able to oppose Chang Tsung Chang for long and it is expected that he will flee to British Weihaiwei.

Telegraph service to Hwanghsien, Tengchowfu and Lungkow has been restored.

Ex-Boxer Slays Animal With One Stroke of Sword as Spaniards Applaud

[Copyright, 1929, Chicago Tribune.]

SEVILLE, March 28. (Exclusive)—Gene Tunney, the late master of the squared arena, today scored a knockout in the best approved Spanish manner by killing a bull in his first attempt as an amateur bull fighter.

The retired heavyweight champion, together with his wife, are the guests of the famous matador Algabano at the latter's Seville estate. Using a snorting bull as his object lesson, Algabano put Tunney through the preliminaries of the game. After watching the lesson closely, Gene called for a fresh bull, and when the animal was brought out he felled it with a single stroke of the sword, while the natives who gathered to watch the spectacle applauded heartily.

JAPAN PACT WITH CHINA ANNOUNCED

Terms of Agreement Over Tsinan Incident Given Out in Nanking Officially

NANKING (China) March 28. (AP) Official announcement of the terms of a Sino-Japanese agreement on the Tsinan incident was made here today. They were as follows:

(1.) Within two months after signature of the agreement the Japanese government shall withdraw all Japanese troops from Shantung. The national government, after their withdrawal, shall bear full responsibility for protecting all Japanese lives and property in China as it has repeatedly declared it holds itself responsible according to international law for the adequate protection of all foreigners.

(2.) A Sino-Japanese joint commission, consisting of an equal number of Chinese and Japanese commissioners, shall be established for investigation and adjudication of the question of losses sustained by both countries, due to the Tsinah incident.

(3.) In view of the existing friendship between the two peoples, the Chinese and Japanese governments deplore extremely the unfortunate incident of May 3, last year. The Chinese and Japanese governments and people sincerely hope for an improvement in Sino-Japanese relations. In order to achieve this end they regard the unhappy feeling resulting from the Tsinan incident as passed and hereby make this declaration.

Huge Amphibian Still Missing

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—After almost a full week since its last flight, a huge twin-motored amphibian airplane with four men aboard tonight is still on the list of aircraft that have mysteriously vanished.

The plane left Norfolk, Va., for New York at 5:45 a.m., last Friday with T. Raymond Finucane, wealthy Rochester sportsman, and three companions. No trace of it has been found by searching parties on the ground, in the air and at sea.

SAN QUENTIN, March 28. (Exclusive)—Four convicts who escaped late last night from prison road camp No. 17 near Oroville, brings the total of escapes from that camp this month to eight. Warden Holohan was notified of the latest breaks today. One of the eight who have fled has been recaptured. The four who got away last night are John R. McCumber, auto theft, Los Angeles; Francis Wooster, burglary, San Diego; Marion Comely, robbery, San Mateo; Floyd Wilkins, auto theft, Alameda.

Conscience Only Port Guard for Congressmen

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Lacking official advices on the reported finding of liquor in the baggage of a member of Congress, who arrived at New York from Panama on Monday, Treasury officials explained today that such travelers are granted the courtesy of the port and that if they bring in liquor, it is a "matter for their own conscience."

Representative William M. Morgan of Ohio, one of the Panama party, has denied that he knew of any intoxicants being found in the party's baggage by customs men.

Assistant Secretary Lowman said that returning members of Congress are granted the freedom of the port and that the practice generally means that their baggage is not examined.

"This does not mean that he can bring in liquor, narcotics or other contraband," he said, "but the chances of detection are remote when he has freedom of the port."

Accused Lawyers Granted Reviews

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (Exclusive)—Harry G. Sadicoff and A. L. Abraham, Los Angeles attorneys who were recommended for six months' suspension from the State Bar because of asserted unethical conduct in connection with the recent Charles Duell-Lillian Gish $5,000,000 breach-of-contract suit, were granted a writ of review today by the State Supreme Court. They attacked the constitutionality of the State Bar.

A. C. Brydonjack, another Los Angeles attorney, also recommended for suspension, was granted a similar writ.

All are scheduled for hearing June 3 in Los Angeles.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX PLAYER EXONERATED

SHREVEPORT (La.) March 28. (AP)—Art Shires of the Chicago White Sox was exonerated today by the Caddo Parish grand jury of any criminal responsibility for the death of a negro hit by a ball thrown by the baseball player. During an exciting moment of a game here last summer Shires threw a baseball into the stands and it struck the negro. Shires said he threw the ball unintentionally.

DUTY WAR WITH JAPAN FORESEEN

Proposed Lumber Tariff Rise Stirs United States

Retaliatory Steps Against Silks May be Taken

Charges on Tea Importation Likewise Considered

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—The possibility of a tariff war between Japan and the United States was foreseen in official circles here today as a result of the action of the Japanese Diet in approving a new tariff act increasing the rates on lumber.

American tariffs on raw silk and tea, the principal Japanese importations in this country, have been suggested by American business interests and this proposal is receiving serious consideration at the Capitol.

JAPANESE SALES LARGE

The new Japanese tariff does not go into effect until the Cabinet promulgates it. Meanwhile, Senators Steiwer and McNary, of Oregon, are urging the State Department to present the complaints of this nation to the Near West government.

Considerable interest is shown in the situation at the State Department. Unless the Japanese Cabinet does promulgate the tariff act by publication in the official gazette it will not become law.

Those considering retaliatory tariffs on silk and tea find themselves in a good position with Congress about to convene for the consideration of a tariff revision measure. Japan sold $634,000,000 worth of raw silk in this country in 1927 and $318,000,000 worth in 1928.

It is contended by American lumbermen that tariff on raw silk will be necessary because they must turn to a market in this country for the prospective loss of trade with the Orient. Such a market is afforded by the production of rayon silk from wood pulp.

DEAL WITH RUSSIANS

It is the further contention of the lumber industry that the increased tariff rates on lumber proposed in Japan result from recent important concessions received by the Japanese from Russia on cedars in the soviet fields and that the new law will discriminate against America in favor of Russia.

Lumber valued at $13,709,945 was shipped to Japan from this country in 1927. The total value of this export was slightly larger last year.

Reports received in Washington indicate a very sympathetic attitude to the American viewpoint by the Japanese trade, particularly those interested in American business, and the prospective tariff war seems to involve the Japanese-Soviet trade interests on the one side and the Japanese-Americans on the other.

JAPAN BALANCE LARGEST

Already, Japan has a considerable trade balance over this nation. In 1928, America bought $304,346,123 worth of materials from Japan while that country's purchases here amounted to $288,034,175.

The provision in the Japanese-American Commercial Treaty of 1911, which the State Department is studying in relation to the proposed lumber tariff, states:

"Neither contracting party shall impose any other or higher duties or charges on the exportation of any article to the territories of the other than are or may be payable on the exportation of the like article to any other foreign country."

TARZAN'S SISTER FOUND IN TREE

Negro Woman Reared by Apes Reported by Hunters in Kamerunu

BERLIN, March 28. (AP)—From an agent of the firm of Kristeller, which has plantations in the Kamerunu, comes an account of a native girl brought up by apes. A hunter fired at a group of apes in trees. The one victim proved to be a negro woman.

From her lack of customary tattoo marks it was concluded she had lived with the apes since childhood.

which is charged with the prosecution of any violation of the anti-trust laws, proposes to study the curtailment program of the institute.

Mr. Wilbur's pronouncement was made late in the day after the close of the first hearing by the Oil Conservation Committee of the Interior Department relative to the new oil-conservation policy laid down by President Hoover.

Appearing for the Texas Production Company before the Conservation Committee, Edward M. Freeman said it had spent $600,000 drilling on government land in Mexico. He contended continuation of that work should be allowed, and that the company should be permitted to work further if oil were found in quantity.

VIEWS WITHELD

Secretary Wilbur said until he has finished a "most minute study" of the petroleum institute plan he does not wish to discuss any of its details.

In announcing the curtailment plan, the institute said it was following the advice of the Federal Oil Conservation Board, which is composed of the War, Navy, Commerce and Interior secretaries.

Mr. Wilbur said that so far as he knows the Federal Oil Conservative Board could act only in an advisory capacity and could not assist enforcement of the private program. There is a possibility, he said, that assistance could be obtained by the institute from certain State legislatures.

In official circles generally the petroleum institute proposal is studied to see if it contains possibilities of price-raising. It is felt that while a rise in crude-oil prices under the program might be expected, there is but faint possibility of gasoline and refined oil prices going up. It is understood here that the program is one of reducing production costs by eliminating storage charges rather than one of raising prices.

STORAGE INCREASES

Members of the oil conservation board have not made any public comment on the subject. The conservation board has said, however, that reports indicate that there are more than 500,000,000 barrels of oil in storage. In January this year the Bureau of Mines reported that more than 6,500,000 barrels were added to storage and preliminary reports indicate that the total for February would run well over 7,550,000 barrels. During the first two months of the year, the bureau found, oil companies stored more than was stored during the entire year of 1928. The present storage is more than double the amount needed as a normal oil reserve.

OIL REDUCTION ORDER OPPOSED

Fresno County Chamber to Study Hoover's Plan

Kern Fields Not Affected Much by Curtailment

Damper on Kettleman Field Hits Kings Area Hard

FRESNO, March 28.—With grave concern expressed in San Joaquin Valley oil fields over the probable result of President Hoover's curtailment of oil development, the industrial committee of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce will conduct a thorough investigation of conditions in the fields in this section with a view to definitely determining the effect of the curtailment program.

The committee will meet Tuesday to discuss the situation, Dr. F. E. Twining, chairman, said today. While expressing dislike of the prospect of the closing down of development in the new Kettleman Hills field, Dr. Twining said that the committee proposes to get complete data on the situation, before making any decision.

The result of the investigation will determine the attitude of the committee with regard to filing of a protest against the suspension of development in Fresno county, Twining said.

KERN COUNTY OUTPUT ALREADY CURTAILED

BAKERSFIELD, March 28.—The proposal of operators to reduce Kern county's oil production by 4000 barrels daily in accordance with the State-wide plan to cut California's total production 142,000 barrels a day will not seriously affect this county from an employment or any other standpoint, prominent oil men declared here today.

Production in the Kern River and West Side regions already is curtailed almost to a minimum and it is generally considered that the further reduction of 4000 barrels a day will have to be made in the North Midway and other West Side fields, oil men said. In that district a cut of this size would make little difference in the situation as a whole.

"In the Kern River fields we are already cut down," L. E. Foust, superintendent of the Associated Oil Company, declared. "We have been holding production down since 1925 and at present have nearly 800 wells shut in, so it would seem that the cut necessarily must be made on the West Side. In any event, it is not a great reduction in comparison with the cuts slated for other fields and will affect the employment situation but little."

KINGS COUNTY BUSINESS GROUPS MAY PROTEST

HANFORD, March 28.—Opposition is heard here to the proposal to limit development of the Kettleman Hills oil field in Kings county pursuant to the decision of the American Petroleum Institute, which is reported to regard the new field as a "menace" to the industry in this State because of its potentialities.

It is pointed out that the production from the discovery Milham well is of a grade of gravity and the oil of paraffine base not produced extensively in any other field in California. The development in this field is regarded as a stimulus to business development in Kings county, which has contracted large expenditures for roads to make the field accessible. Lands held for years that have scarcely produced an income sufficiently to pay taxes have suddenly become very valuable and owners strenuously object to stopping further developments that have given value to lands carried as a dead investment. Formal protest may be made by commercial organizations in Kings county.

Coalinga, in Fresno county, has experienced a boom as the result of opening of the Kettleman oil field.

Indication of the incidental development due to the new field is afforded by the initial issue of the Kettleman Oil News in Kettleman City, a new oil town. Another town site has been plotted on Sec. 2, 22-18, not yet named, or the map recorded. Three water companies have applied for certificates of public necessity and convenience to supply water to the oil fields.

BATTLE ON DARROW TO BE PUSHED

Illinois Senator Says He Will Produce Evidence of Stolen Bond Acceptance

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) March 28. (Exclusive)—State Senator Woods of Chicago served notice today that he will carry on his fight against Clarence S. Darrow until he has put into the records the evidence in support of his charges that the veteran defender accepted a stolen $500 bond as a legal fee.

"When the bill authorizing the Supreme Court to prescribe rules for all courts of record is called up," he said on the floor of the Senate, "I will give the dates and places and names of witnesses in this case."

Asked later why he continues the battle, the Senator said it is not because of any personal feeling against Darrow.

"I never have had the least bit of feeling of hostility toward him," he said, "but when he appears before committees of the Legislature and attacks all the courts of the land and battles against proposed improvements in our criminal procedure, using both misstatement and misrepresentation as his weapons, he becomes a menace that must be exposed."

DOG HALTS WILD ELEPHANT

Circus Performer Breaks from Quarters, Crashes Fences and Runs Till Rover Barks

HOUSTON (Tex.) March 28. (AP)—Love for a dog chum stopped an elephant on a rampage on the Galveston road after the huge animal had torn out the side of an arena at the Christy Brothers Circus winter quarters, broke through a door, crashed through eight wire fences and threatened to enter a farmhouse.

The elephant yesterday was being rehearsed for an act. The act, directed by R. A. Stokes, consisted of a leopard riding the elephant around the arena.

The leopard rebelled and Stokes lashed the cat with his whip. The elephant became excited. At another crack of the whip the giant wheeled, butted through the huge double doors, broke its chains and, waving his trunk wildly, crashed two fences as he crossed the Galveston, Houston and Henderson Railroad, despite the efforts of Slim Walker, "bull man," who was hanging on to a bull hook in the elephant's ear.

Walker hung on grimly, shouting from time to time, but the elephant apparently didn't hear.

Down the Galveston road for nearly a mile motorists were scampering from the highway, stopping automobiles abruptly, some of them crawling through fences. Then the elephant went through the railroad fences again, circled and crossed the tracks a third time, crashing two more fences, with Walker still hanging to the bull hook.

At a farmhouse a dog barked furiously. The elephant hesitated. Then Walker showed his wits.

"Here, Rover; here, Rover!" he called, tugging at the elephant's ear.

The huge animal quieted down, listened to the keeper for a few minutes, and then tamely submitted to being led back to the circus headquarters.

"He thought the dog was his chum, which rode in the car with the elephant for several seasons," Walker explained.

Pedrotti Air Bill Gets Approval

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (AP)—A bill by Senator Pedrotti of Los Angeles providing for the adoption of Federal regulation of aircraft and aeronautics in California, that passed the Senate yesterday, was reported out favorably for passage in the lower house by the Assembly Aviation Committee today. Pedrotti's measure provides that Federal inspection of aircraft, license of planes and pilots by the national government shall be adopted as the law of California and authorizes peace officers to enforce the Federal law.

TRAILS BLAZED ON REPARATIONS

Experts Will Talk Figures After Vacation

Stage Set for Action When Groups Return

Basis for Agreement on Terms Outlined

PARIS, March 28. (AP)—Before adjourning for a seven-day Easter holiday, the reparations experts today completed the foundation of their reparation scheme and will be ready to talk figures when they get back to work next Thursday.

Today's plenary session at which the various delegations each presented their own clear-cut ideas of what should constitute a basis for a discussion looking toward the fixing of exact figures was described as one of the most important single sessions yet held.

During the past week the delegations have been working separately and have occupied themselves with trying to reach a common basis.

Various ideas were presented this morning, after which Owen D. Young, the chairman, reviewed all the work done thus far.

Southward...northward...
southward again

Today this giant winged shuttle weaves a new pattern in the air

PICKWICK—a magic name on a motor coach! Within the memory of high school boys "the stage" meant a rickety puddle-jumping flivver.

Today no form of travel is more luxurious than the swift Pickwick Stages that thread America's highways—no form of travel but one:

Pickwick flies today. With the muffled roar of three great motors the first Pickwick plane rises from the runway of the Grand Central Air Terminal at Glendale. Southward it hurtles, a hundred miles to San Diego.

Ninety minutes later the same plane is headed northward again! Another ninety minutes and the second southward journey is on! So it goes, all day long.

Two pilots at the dual controls, eight lucky passengers in the roomy cabin, baggage stowed "aft"—and three tireless motors that growl defiance at gravity!

Pickwick Airways, Incorporated, inaugurates the first of its air schedules today—three departures daily each way between Los Angeles and San Diego.

The Shell Oil Company supplies the aviation gasoline and lubricants for Pickwick's new Bach Air-Yachts. Shell is happy to have a part in this momentous project.

And every drop of aviation fuel and oil that comes from Shell refineries is doubly dedicated—first to the safety and progress of flying; secondly to the maintenance of Shell's enviable reputation for the finest of petroleum products.

The Story of the World War
71—The "Execution" of Serbia.

by J. CARROLL MANSFI

THE FALL OF 1915 BROUGHT DARK DAYS FOR THE ALLIES. THE ENTRANCE OF BULGARIA INTO THE WAR ON THE SIDE OF THE CENTRAL POWERS (OCTOBER 14, 1915) WAS IMMEDIATELY FOLLOWED BY A GREAT COMBINED OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE SERBS. MIGHTY AUSTRO-GERMAN FORCES CROSSED THE DANUBE, SAVE AND DRINA RIVERS AND THRUST DEEP INTO SERBIA.

AT THE SAME TIME THE BULGARS POURED OVER THE EASTERN FRONTIER AND FELL UPON THE FLANK OF THE SERBIAN ARMY. UNABLE TO WITHSTAND THE PRESSURE, THE SERBS WERE HURLED BACK TO THE SOUTH. THE FLOOD OF INVASION QUICKLY ENGULFED SERBIA AND HER ALLY, MONTENEGRO.

THE WHOLE SERBIAN NATION FLED SOUTHWARD, ENDURING TERRIBLE HARDSHIPS, FACING STARVATION AND EXPOSED TO THE FREEZING WEATHER. SO COMPLETE WAS THE VICTORY OF THE ENEMY THAT WITHIN TWO MONTHS THE SERBIAN FORCES HAD BEEN SWEPT OUT OF THE COUNTRY.

WOMAN HELD IN SHOOTING

Hotel Guest in Hospital Says He Was Accidentally Wounded in Leg by Landlady

BAKERSFIELD, March 28.—Mrs. Verna Brown, operator of a hotel at 1220 Nineteenth street, was in jail today on a technical charge of suspicion of assault with deadly weapon and George Dooley, a roomer at the hotel, is in the Mercy Hospital suffering with a gunshot wound in his leg as the aftermath of a shooting at the hotel shortly after midnight.

Police were notified at 12:30 a.m. that a man had been shot at the hotel and Assistant Chief Webster and Officers Hildreth, Canaday, Hickman and Werner, went to the scene.

Dooley was taken to the hospital for treatment. Mrs. Brown, according to the officers, resisted arrest, "biting and scratching" them. She was placed in the matron's ward of the County Jail pending further investigation of the shooting.

At the hospital, Dooley told attendants he was accidentally shot and sent word to police headquarters that he would not file a complaint against Mrs. Brown.

JERUSALEM MECCA FOR PILGRIMS

Visitors Attend Services and Journey to Places Where Christ Moved

JERUSALEM, March 28. (AP)—Many pilgrims from Europe and the United States have arrived in Jerusalem to spend the Easter holy days attending services here and making journeys to the places where Christ moved almost 2000 years ago.

Among the visitors are Monsignor Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi, Papal delegate at Washington, who traveled incognito with Dr. John Burke, secretary-general of the National Catholic Welfare Conference at Washington.

Tonight there was an evening at Gethsemane and some of the pilgrims planned to spend the night there in the recently erected basilica. On Good Friday they will move in procession through the Via Dolorosa to Calvary, and there services will be conducted at 7 p.m. addressed in seven languages. Easter Sunday will be celebrated in the Holy Sepulcher.

On Monday many of the pilgrims will visit the place where Christ first appeared before his disciples after the resurrection.

New Restraint Order Issued Against Espee

REDWOOD CITY, March 28. (Exclusive)—A second restraining order, temporarily prohibiting the Southern Pacific from building any more railroad lines on the peninsula similar to the so-called orphan track at the San Mateo city limits, was issued by Superior Judge Buck today and set for hearing next Thursday.

In the present instance it is charged that the "orphan track" interferes with the rights of way of three San Mateo sewer lines. A Federal Court injunction previously issued on complaint of the Western Pacific that the Southern Pacific is attempting to embarrass that railroad in a projected peninsula line, is scheduled for hearing in San Francisco Monday.

Missouri River Ice Pack Yields

BISMARCK (N. D.) March 28. (AP) After having defied all efforts of army engineers for nearly a week one of the mightiest ice gorges on record in this section of the Missouri River showed signs of weakening tonight.

Water was pouring through the middle of the ice pack and around its sides, gradually taking out huge floes and relieving flood conditions in the bottom lands between here and Huff, twenty-five miles south, where the gorge formed a week ago.

YOUTH WHO BORROWED TROLLEY GOES FREE

ST. LOUIS, March 28. (AP)—Authorities announced today that there will be no prosecution of Stuart Overlin, 20 years of age, who "borrowed" a street car to go home early yesterday because he became tired of waiting for an owl car. He drove the street car two miles before he was overtaken and arrested by police. Officials of the street-car company declined to prosecute the youth, taking the position there was nothing "vicious" in his act, and that no one was injured and no damage done. He was released.

BRITISH TRADE GROUP ARRIVES IN MOSCOW

MOSCOW, March 28. (AP)—An English delegation representing various industrial and commercial firms arrived in Moscow today and was met at the station by representatives of the Foreign Office and the Trade Commissariat. A number of receptions and special gala performances have been planned for them. During their three weeks' stay the delegation will study economic data, particularly in matters of interest to Russo-British trade.

KANSAS CITY BEER BARON SENTENCED

KANSAS CITY, March 28. (AP)—Joe Tingle, former president of the Tingle Oil Company, once reputed the largest manufacturer of beer in Kansas City, today was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and fined $10,000. A $15,000 appeal bond was posted by Tingle. As he left the courtroom he was arrested on another charge of manufacturing liquor. He gave additional bond of $3500.

WENIG WINS COAST BOUT IN ORATORY

Carries Off First Honor in Moscow (Idaho) Contest; Piper of U.C.L.A. Second

MOSCOW (Idaho) March 28. (AP) Herbert Wenig, representing Stanford University, won first place in the oratorical division of the annual Pacific Coast Forensic League contest here tonight. He spoke on "New Liberalism." Eleven universities and colleges were represented.

Kenneth Piper of the University of California at Los Angeles won second place and Gregson Bautzer of the University of Southern California won third place. Piper spoke on "Education Without a Soul," and Bautzer, "The Challenge of World Citizenship."

Wenig was awarded a $60 prize and Piper, $35.

Representatives of the following institutions competed:

Stanford, University of California at Los Angeles, University of Oregon, University of California, University of Arizona, Pomona College, Oregon State College, University of Southern California, Washington State College, Whitman College and the University of Idaho.

The contest will be continued at Washington State College, Pullman, Wash., tomorrow with the extemporaneous speaking contest billed for tomorrow.

NAVY CALLS FOR BIDS ON CRUISERS

Five of Fifteen Provided for by Last Congress to be Built During Year

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Secretary Adams has asked for bids on two of the fifteen cruisers to be built under provision of the construction bill passed in the last Congress. Offers will be received until May 25.

Under provisions of the cruisers construction bill work on five of the fifteen cruisers provided for must begin during the fiscal year 1929. The two ships on which bids have been ordered are to be built in private yards. The other three are to be constructed in the navy yards. Two hundred thousand dollars is provided under the cruiser construction bill to begin work on the ships.

Subway Urged for Bay City After Survey

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (Exclusive)—Construction of a subway under Market street, this city's principal downtown thoroughfare, to carry the four lines of street-car tracks now operated on the surface, assertedly to the menace of life and limb, was recommended at a joint meeting of the Traffic Survey Committee and the Chamber of Commerce today by Dr. Miller McClintock, author of the traffic codes of several American cities, including Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Market street, because of its gores and tangents, presents a traffic problem different from any other in the country, Dr. McClintock declared, and he believes the subway is the only method of solving it.

Hoover Naval Aide Selected

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Capt. Allen Buchanan, commanding officer of the cruiser Omaha, has been appointed naval aide to President Hoover, and will assume that post on July 15.

Capt. Wilson Brown, President Coolidge's naval aide, will continue as aide to Mr. Hoover until April 15, when he will be relieved by Capt. W. R. Munroe, of the plans section of the Navy Department, who will serve until relieved by Capt. Buchanan.

Grape Standard Changed in Bill

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (AP)—Grape standards and specifications of pack and standard containers for grapes are changed by provisions of a bill by Senator Jones of San Jose passed by the Senate today. The bill caused considerable debate in the Agricultural Committee where it was amended before coming back to the floor for action. The Assembly will receive the measure for consideration tomorrow.

Lindbergh's Day to Wed Denied

MEXICO CITY, March 28. (AP)—A report published in the Boston Traveler yesterday that Col. Lindbergh and his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow, had decided to be married on June 9 at the Morrow summer home in North Haven, Me., was denied today in authoritative quarters.

The date and place of the wedding have not been decided and a formal announcement will be made when they are, it was said.

ILLINOIS TO ACT IN RAID KILLING

Attorney-General Will Take Hand in Aurora Case

Dry Officer in Hospital With Wound Fears Lynching

Partner of Bootleg Suspect Hurls Bitter Charge

AURORA (Ill.) March 28. (AP)—Illinois today took a hand in the case of the killing of Mrs. Lillian De King in her home Monday during a prohibition enforcement raid.

Atty.-Gen. Carlstrom announced he will be present or will send a representative to the inquest into her death after he received a telegram from State's Attorney Carbary asking him to take part in the investigation. The telegram said public feeling in Aurora is such that his office cannot act fairly and impartially in the matter.

DEPUTY FEARS MOB

Two other developments were noted today in the case, which has attracted nation-wide attention and brought hundreds of letters of protest against the actions of the deputy sheriffs who fractured Joseph De King's skull, shot his wife to death, and terrorized his 13-year-old son.

Roy Smith, deputy sheriff, who headed the raiding party and who fired the fatal shots, asked that he be removed from the hospital here to Elgin. It is said he fears mob violence. A posse of deputy sheriffs and friends accompanied him to the near-by city.

Shot in the leg by the De King boy, Smith has been in fear of blood poisoning and today his condition is said to be worse.

NEW ANGLE DEVELOPS

Another new angle in the sworn statement of Joseph De King's partner, George Stafford, that the raiding party was "out to get De King." In an affidavit made out for De King's attorneys, Robert A. Milroy and Albert J. Kelley, Stafford told of meeting the party as it entered the De King premises.

Stafford leased the gasoline filling station in front of the De King home. He was convicted of violation of the prohibition law some time ago and was fined $250.

"I met the deputies as they came into the yard," he said in the affidavit. "I said to them, 'Listen, boys, let's not have any trouble. Joe's okeh, and if you've got anything on him we will go along and post bond.'"

Stafford said the reply of Roy Smith was, "We're out to get this fellow, dead or alive."

Huge Aviation Concern Planned for East Coast

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Plans for the formation of what its sponsors day will be one of the largest aviation companies operating on the Atlantic seaboard were revealed today with the announcement of the organization of the Atlantic Seaboard Airways, Inc. The announcement said that Capt. Ira C. Eaker, pilot of the army plane Question Mark, which holds the record for sustained flight by refueling in the air, will be general manager of operations of the corporation, which will acquire the International Airways, Inc. The latter company owns Hoover Field, Washington, D. C., and the Potomac Flying Service, which operates the field.

Plans call for the use of six fields, with Hoover Field as the center, in a chain of airports east of the Alleghanies.

Nebraska Gas Tax Rise Passes

LINCOLN (Neb.) March 28. (AP)—Conference committees of the Nebraska Senate and House today reached an agreement on the bill raising the tax on gasoline from 2 to 4 cents a gallon. The bill tonight was being enrolled and tomorrow will go to Gov. Weaver for his approval.

The Governor has indicated he will sign it.

PRISONER IDENTIFIED

Man Held on Mann Act Charge Said to Be Escaped Convict

SAN JOSE, March 28. (AP)—John Tollis, 49 years of age, held here for investigation in connection with charges of violating the Mann Act, today was identified by police as Cleo Dewey Allen, war veteran, who escaped from a Chattanooga (Tenn.) hospital ten years ago.

Tollis, police say, came here with Mrs. Mary Sargent, Newark, N. J., and three children. They were held on complaint of Mrs. Sargent's husband in Newark, officers state.

Police learned that Tollis's mother, Mrs. Lilly Allen, 5533 Long Beach Boulevard, Los Angeles, has been hunting for him for eight years.

TEN PERSONS HURT IN STREET-CAR PANIC

NEWARK (N. J.) March 28. (AP)—Ten persons were injured and fifty others became panic-stricken as a Public Service trolley car caught fire tonight and sped for nearly a block out of control. Their escape cut off by flames and in the darkness, many passengers smashed windows and made their way to safety.

LEE'S FERRY BRIDGE OPENING PROTESTED

PHOENIX, March 28. (AP)—Further postponement of the formal dedication of Lee's Ferry bridge over the Colorado River when the State Highway Commission meets next Tuesday is being urged in scores of protests received from Prescott to the effect that the new date, June 8, conflicts with the annual Smoki celebration.

SATURDAY! BE READY! The MAY COMPANY'S 6TH Anniversary Sale

Now the Hour of Action Comes!

An intensive quiet!..a dramatic stillness!....the electric calm that precedes whirlwind action....is in the very air!

—A great merchant once said, "When a store has something really wonderful to offer there seems to be an invisible message which instantly goes out to the public.... they seem to FEEL the sale!"... This must be true ... for days people have been phoning, talking, asking about it!

—The far-reaching plans and preparations of this celebration have so stirred the public's mind that a fine spirit of expectancy and enthusiasm is everywhere!... THE WHOLE CITY IS AROUSED AND WAITING!

—Here in the store is a scene that stirs the imagination. An organization of over 5000 employees on tip-toe with enthusiasm—every one determined to make this celebration an overwhelming expression of thanks for the public's good-will.

—"Six magic years" in Los Angeles!

—Six wonder years of such growth... progress... achievement as to cause nation-wide comment and commendation.

—In six short years The May Company has not only developed admittedly the largest volume of business on the Pacific Coast... not only has it taken a coveted place in the front rank of foremost retail institutions in America ... but it has also won the greatest honor of all... a solid place in the affection and confidence of all Southern California.

—Hence, sentiment, sincere and genuine, is the dominating motive... the whole vitalizing force behind this celebration... a whole-hearted desire to express our appreciation of the public's good-will. And an earnest endeavor to reciprocate that sentiment in the only practical way: with Anniversary values that represent "Dividends of Appreciation."

And Yet More Thrilling News! As There are to be No More "May Days"...We Have Concentrated into this Anniversary Sale...All "May Day" Energy and Enthusiasm...All "May Day" Purchases and Preparations...and All Values, Deliberately Planned to Rival "May Day"

—Now you know what to expect!

—The very thought of a typical May Company Anniversary Sale will sweep the city like wildfire!

—Leading industries, importers and foreign merchandise sources—in appreciation of our large regular business with them—a mighty six-large-store business, totaling annually over one hundred and twenty-five million dollars ($125,000,000)—have contributed—have practically given us first choice of their newest merchandise—to pass along to our customers at prices ordinarily impossible.

—Everything about this sale has been prepared with deliberate care and study. It is our earnest desire to have everyone come... to see with his or her own eyes and to know instantly that these "Values to Rival May Day" are extraordinary!

—People will wonder how it is possible for us to offer this splendid new merchandise at such prices. The explanation is simply that this is more than a sale—it is an Anniversary Celebration, whole-hearted and true. It has won the full co-operation of the country's largest and most reputable manufacturers.

Special Notice!

For obvious reasons some stores may attempt to undersell certain Anniversary items—

REMEMBER!

Should any of our Anniversary items be advertised for less elsewhere, they can be bought STILL LOWER here, regardless of our advertised price.

—BE SURE to get full details in the 20-page Anniversary Circular at your door today.

Special officers to assist with traffic.

Extra street car and bus service.
No goods sold to dealers.
No phone, mail or C.O.D. orders.
Watch for the "Not Advertised" cards on extra specials in all departments —Saturday—Monday.

Everything is Out and Ready, Tomorrow! $3,000,000 Worth of New Summer Merchandise. No Prices Mentioned Here! But Every Price Card Tomorrow Will Prove a Genuine Surprise...a Value to Rival "May Day"

—IMPORTANT NOTE—Every item was selected, tested, and personally examined by an executive committee of merchandising experts... before it was allowed to enter this Anniversary. Every value deliberately planned to rival May Day!

—The multitude of friends who well know The May Company's reputation for straight-forward dealing will quickly recognize the unusual nature of this announcement and be down early, awaiting doors' opening at 9 o'clock tomorrow, Saturday. Thinking, intelligent people... scores who pay no attention to average sales... will come, eager to take quick advantage.

—Other Anniversary Celebrations... with almost unbelievable volume of sales... have come and gone. But in view of the tremendous preparations made... the superb character of merchandise... the enthusiasm and determination of our own efforts... we cannot help but feel that this, our Sixth Anniversary Celebration—will well surpass in scope and daring anything previously attempted.

—Please tell your friends—tell friends to tell friends. It will be an event worth coming miles to see and to attend.

No. 6 in a Series explaining the "Added Values" of Palos Verdes Estates

An Assured Future

...another ADDED VALUE secured by Protective Restrictions and Proper Architectural Control

THE future desirability of Palos Verdes Estates as a homesite is assured beyond all peradventure. It is legally dedicated to the protection of "the single family environment."

What does this mean for you as an investor? It means that both the present and future values of this property will maintain higher levels than other communities less rigidly restricted. Consequently there is a greater security for your investment—either for home-building or for the expectation of future profits.

This is an "Added Value" that accrues to every homesite, regardless of its purchase price!

Architectural Control in Palos Verdes is vested in a permanently endowed Art Jury composed of competent architects and engineers who, while enforcing the Restrictions laid down for the entire community, yet act independent of the management or the individual owner—thereby insuring a continuity of artistic development in strict accordance with the Basic Plan of Construction.

Thus the fine residential areas of Palos Verdes can never be dissipated. No encroachment of business interests, no congestion, no architectural monstrosities nor excessive traffic can ever create those undesirable conditions which might make a home here a burden rather than a pleasure.

An "Added Value" such as this can never deteriorate with the passing of the years!

It will pay you to familiarize yourself with the Basic Plan and the Restrictions in force in Palos Verdes. It may save you from an unwise investment elsewhere.

Visit this unique seaside community soon! Compare its attractions! Study its "Added Values"! Ask our representatives to show you homesites still available for purchase. Remember, too, that the golf course, the club house, the 800-acre Park System, the School District, the playgrounds, the bridle trails and the 4½ miles of private shore line are all yours by right of community ownership if you invest in Palos Verdes NOW.

NEW PLANE TO FLY AT LONG BEACH

Huntington Park Man Completes Craft Having Many New Features

HUNTINGTON PARK, March 28. Another new type of airplane is to be given a test flight, probably the latter part of this week, at the Long Beach Municipal Airport. It has been constructed by Earl E. McClary, ex-City Councilman of Huntington Park, a resident of this city, although he is president of the Chamber of Commerce at South Gate, where he has business interests.

Mr. McClary since the World War has taken a great interest in aviation and has studied its principles to a great extent, with the result that he began the building of an airplane last September, which he has just completed.

The great lifting area of his plane is one of the features, he states, his craft having a computed lifting power of five and one-half pounds to the square foot, while other planes have a lifting rating of three pounds to the square foot. Wing structure of the new plane is also different.

The lifting structure on the McClary machine is nearly pear-shaped, with the wide part at the front and the narrow part tapered back clear to the tail. The usual rudder and lifting devices are attached, including ailerons on either side. The motor, propeller, pilot's cabin and landing structure are under the lifting structure. The propeller cuts the lifting surface so that it extends partially above and partially below.

Within a day or two the machine will be moved to the Long Beach Airport, where it will be tuned preparatory to a flight test.

Bodies Under Wrecked Auto

EL CENTRO, March 28.—Mystery surrounds the death of two Mexicans whose bodies were found beneath their overturned car in a small canal near Mulberry school early this morning. Two sacks of tequila discovered in the canal near the bodies lead officers to believe that the men were engaged in smuggling liquor from Lower California.

The men were identified as Juan Gonzales, 29 years of age, and Plutarco Bera, 38, both from Brawley. A school-teacher saw the wheels of the overturned car protruding above the water in the canal as she passed along the road this morning. Officers were summoned and when they dragged the machine from the ditch the bodies of the men were found in the mud.

HEAR ECHOES OF RECENT RECALL

BEAUMONT, March 28.—A backfire from the recent recall election which failed when an effort was made to recall the City Trustees was heard today when William M. Cross resigned.

Mr. Cross resigned because of the need to devote more time to his work. The fruit season will soon start, which makes an especially heavy demand on the time of Mr. Cross. The vacancy caused by the resignations of Mayor Guy Bogart and Mr. Cross will probably be filled in the next regular council session.

Trustee H. C. Comine is being actively mentioned to succeed Mayor Bogart in the chair. Many names have been suggested for council vacancies. Among those more actively mentioned are Francis Dowling, George O. Lavor and J. O. Grant.

JAPANESE BARBER HAD NO LICENSE

OXNARD, March 28.—R. Yoneda, local Japanese, thought all that was necessary to start a barber shop was a razor, a chair and a cake of soap. Everything went lovely until a distinguished-looking customer came into the shop. Yoneda found out to his sorrow that the cash customer was B. A. Lovett, deputy State inspector for the State board who was in this city for the purpose of inspecting all barber shops. Yoneda was informed that he had overlooked the most important necessity of all, his State license. He was taken before Judge C. J. Elliott and fined $25. A jail sentence which the offense carries with it was suspended by the judge. Yoneda will keep his razor and his shop closed until he is granted a license.

DAMAGE SUIT FOLLOWS WRECK

SANTA ANA, March 28.—Damage claims aggregating more than $125,000 were on file today in Superior Court in two actions brought by D. P. Eldridge and William Purdin, Long Beach oil workers, against Fred Mullens and W. D. Young, also of Long Beach, in connection with an automobile wreck.

Mullens was driving Young's car, with Eldridge and Purdin as passengers, when the machine struck a telephone pole and upset at the intersection of Delhi Road and Bristol street, Santa Ana, on the 3rd inst.

EIGHT CANDIDATES FOR SCHOOL BOARD

COMPTON, March 28.—Compton is in the throes of a red-hot grammar-school election, which will be held here Friday. Three positions are open and there are eight candidates in the field. Those running are Dr. O. L. Dummit, local dentist; W. E. Dean, Compton druggist; Mrs. Belle Parrish, real-estate sales woman; Phil Messerschmidt with the Samson Tire and Rubber Corporation; William Ramsur, Wayne Bowen and Mrs. Janie Abbott.

MONTEREY PARK RECEIVES MEMORIAL

Judge Bruggemeyer Presents Public Library Building

New Civic Structure

Presented to city last night. Inset—Judge Mancha Bruggemeyer, who gave the building in memory of dead wife.

MONTEREY PARK, March 28.—A $40,000 public library building, the gift to the city of Judge Mancha Bruggemeyer in memory of his wife, Berta Pauline Bruggemeyer, who died last August, was formally presented to Monterey Park at impressive dedication ceremonies tonight.

The Bruggemeyer Memorial Library was turned over to the city complete in every detail, from the automatic heating and cooling system to the shelves filled with books, many of the latter being gifts from friends of the donor. The deed to the property and other legal papers were presented by Judge Bruggemeyer to the Mayor, Sam B. Jones, who, in a brief address, expressed the gratitude of the city for the splendid new civic institution.

Among the friends of the late Mrs. Bruggemeyer who gave short talks, paying tribute to her memory, were Rev. James H. Amis, Melvin Strauss, a 13-year-old boy who referred to the benefits children will derive from the gift, and Mrs. Mary Hakeller, who read an original poem written for the occasion.

Others appearing on the dedication program were Helen E. Vogelson, county librarian; C. R. Wardell, builder of the structure; M. Askinasy, Italian artist who painted the portrait of Mrs. Bruggemeyer which hangs in the library's memory room, and Mrs. Thomas A. Berkebile, president of the new library board.

Among the gifts already received for the library are etchings and oil paintings from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deland and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Shearer of Monterey Park; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bruggemeyer of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dundon of Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zimmerman of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. I. Strauss of North Hollywood, and Mrs. Helen Thomas of Monterey Park.

The library board recently appointed by the Mayor consists of Mrs. Berkebile, president; Carel Veenhuysen, secretary; Mrs. Robert Deland, Mrs. H. U. Sherwood and E. N. Wallock. Mrs. Helen Thomas, present librarian of the local county library branch, will be the librarian of the memorial library.

Judge Bruggemeyer was formerly on the Chicago municipal bench. He lived in this city for a number of years but at present resides in Redlands.

VENTURA HOLDS ELECTION

Only Two Contests Appear in Voting to Extend to All School Districts in County

VENTURA, March 28.—With two contests appearing in the county, all the school districts in Ventura county will vote for trustees tomorrow except the Ventura grammar school district. In some places candidates have not filed at all and names will have to be written in.

In Ojai there is a contest looming in the grammar school district, although it does not show in the filings of the candidates. Clark Miller and Fred Linder are closing their terms of office. The former is retiring, but the latter is to run again. Berkeley Brandt has filed to succeed Miller.

In the Ventura Union High School district Mrs. A. L. Moore is a candidate to succeed herself for the next three-year term. Charles Cole is running against her. He has declined to make any statement of his platform except to say that friends who have induced him to run are "dissatisfied with conditions." He has steadfastly refused to disclose the conditions objected to.

CORONER TO INVESTIGATE MAN'S DEATH

Body Taken from Water at Point Magu as Yet Unidentified

VENTURA, March 28.—A Coroner's inquest was held tonight over the body of a man found in the lagoon at Point Magu yesterday afternoon by a Van Nuys fireman named Pope. According to Coroner Oliver Reardon, the body appeared to have been in the water for a month or six weeks.

The body was clothed in a pink shirt and dark, denim pants held by suspenders. There were no shoes. The lower jaw was gone and one hand was gone, apparently eaten by fishes.

A bank book found in a pocket gave no name, but indicated the man was from San Diego. There was $37.27 in cash in the man's clothing. There were several gold fillings in the teeth.

Residents of the district where the body was found told Reardon yesterday they thought the man had been working on threshing machines around the Oxnard district, and that he had appeared to be insane at times. His name, however, was not learned.

New Station for Burbank

BURBANK, March 28.—With the signing of the last quit-claim deed to property on Front street between Olive and Cypress avenues this morning the belief was expressed by city officials here that the proposed new Southern Pacific station was virtually assured the city.

William H. Moses of Roscoe, who has consistently refused to sign the deed granting the Southern Pacific Company property opposite his holdings on Front street, appeared with Charles H. Kline of Burbank at City Manager Patterson's office this morning and in the presence of City Clerk Webster signed the final deed. "All the deeds that we have received will now be sent to the title company for checking and there should be no delay in submitting them to the railroad company in order that construction of the new station can be started in the very near future," City Manager Patterson declared this morning after securing Moses's deed.

DRIVER JAILED AFTER ACCIDENT

POMONA, March 28.—Jose H. Arrellano, 478 Second street, Chino, is in the City Jail in lieu of $500 bail as a result of an automobile crash, which featured a resulting fire and resulted in the injury of four persons at the corner of Fifth and Towne avenues today. The complaint was signed by F. M. Caldwell, Shafer avenue, Chino, charging reckless driving.

Arrellano and his father, Rafael, were suffering from numerous cuts and bruises, while Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell were severely shaken up when Arellano's car, going west on Fifth avenue, is asserted to have struck the Caldwell machine as it was proceeding across Fifth avenue.

Arellano's car overturned, caught fire and the occupants narrowly escaped serious burns. The local fire department saved the car from destruction.

JACK RABBIT HUNTER BRINGS BACK LYNX

CAHUENGA PARK, March 28.—L. A. Green, Robert Clark and W. H. Bischoff have just returned here from a rabbit hunt at Lancaster. In one part of their bag was a full-grown lynx which Green shot while pursuing a jack rabbit. Bischoff reports Antelope Valley overrun with rabbits. Many have been killed within recent weeks following drives instituted by ranchers to get rid of the pest. In some parts of the valley the rabbits are so numerous crops have been damaged.

Bond Buyers Say Securities Are Illegal

VENTURA, March 28.—Filing their complaint as a test case in the Superior Court, the county and the Oxnard school district appeared today as plaintiffs in a controversy with the Elmer J. Kennedy Company, bond buyers who were low bidders for the $76,000, 5 per cent school district bonds recently issued by the Board of Supervisors after an election in the school district.

The statement of controversy shows that the bond buyers say the bonds are illegal on five counts. As follows: The county school superintendent did not in writing recommend the annexation of the Rio and Colonia school districts to the Oxnard school district.

The affidavit of posting notices of the election states only the time of the posting, not that the notices remained posted for ten days; the hearing on the petition for the annexation was not set for a regular board meeting; $76,000 is in excess of the bonding limit of the Oxnard school district as shown on the 1928-29 assessment roll; since the annexation of the Rio and Colonia district was invalid, the $76,000 is in excess of the bonding limit claimed now by the district.

BETTER SERVICE FOR CROWN CITY

PASADENA, March 28.—The replacement of the one-man street cars operating on Colorado street, by the two-man type now operating in Hollywood, and the discontinuance of service on the Oak Knoll car line except during early morning and late night hours, were considered at a conference between Assistant City Manager Eugene Melcher and Oscar Smith, Pacific Electric Railroad traffic manager, today.

The replacement of the one-man cars was advocated several weeks ago by Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley as the best means of speeding up traffic on Colorado street. The proposal to discontinue service on the Oak Knoll line is said to have resulted from lack of patrons.

THIRD DEATH IN TWO DAYS

Woman Dies in San Diego Hospital Victim of Traffic Accident; Twentieth This Year

SAN DIEGO, March 28.—Death in the County Hospital early today of Mrs. Rachel A. McKinley, 85 years of age, injured in a traffic crash last Tuesday brought the traffic death toll to twenty for 1929 and made the third traffic fatality within two days.

Mrs. McKinley was injured at El Cajon avenue and Sixty-third street when the car in which she was riding, driven by J. W. Coomba, 87 years of age, of 751 Eighth street, collided with another driven by Harry L. Halbritter, 18, police said. While the traffic death rate continued to soar, records prepared by police reveal that of the twenty deaths this year no one had been held criminally responsible. Only one man is in jail on a manslaughter charge pending trial. This man was unable to raise bail and is awaiting action on the manslaughter complaint which is issued against him.

Of the total number of deaths, the District Attorney's office issued but four manslaughter complaints, police say. Of these, two were found not guilty and two are pending.

Juveniles, the record discloses, were responsible for four deaths. Punishment to juveniles in these cases, police say, is extremely lax and is usually referred to as a "slap on the wrist."

Of the other twelve, police said, complaints were either refused or were not asked for. One of the drivers who caused the death of a person was charged with reckless driving, which is still pending.

Answering charges by police that the courts were lax in their prosecution of traffic cases, Judge Claud L. Chambers of the city Justice Court said he would be glad to impose heavier sentences if other judges would do likewise. He stoutly refused, however, to impose severe penalties as long as other judges continue their apparent leniency.

WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Victim Was Aiding Husband Remove Tire

Riverside Road is Scene of Accident

Truck Attempted to Avoid Speeding Car

ONTARIO, March 28.—While standing at the side of her husband to assist him in removing a spare tire from the rear of their automobile parked off the pavement of Riverside road near Wineville last night, Mrs. Olive Shirley, 38 years of age, of 502 South Vine avenue, Ontario, was struck by a truck and instantly killed.

Her husband, S. C. Shirley, 51, struck by the same truck, received a fracture of the right leg, and numerous cuts and bruises.

Joe Garat, 40, of 403 East Twelfth street, Riverside, was driver of the truck and trailer.

According to Shirley, their automobile was stopped two feet off the pavement while he started to make a repair to his punctured tire. Suddenly the truck, said to have been clear off the pavement, swooped down upon them, striking Mrs. Shirley in the head and dragging her twenty feet. The body was then hurled farther from the highway. Shirley was thrown considerable distance from his automobile.

Garat, driver of the truck, claimed no lights were visible on the Shirley automobile. Sheriff Clem Sweeters investigated the fatality and did not hold Garat, although he told him to be in readiness to respond to a call for an inquest.

A west-bound motorist who witnessed the accident declared it his opinion the truck driver had moved so far from the pavement in order to avoid another automobile which raced madly along the highway.

Mrs. Leonora Brand of Riverside was in the Shirley automobile, but was not hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Shirley were taking Mrs. Brand to her home in Riverside following her visit to Ontario.

When Shirley was told that his wife had been instantly killed in the crash he became hysterical.

Riverside road was blocked with traffic following the tragedy, and traffic police had difficulty in keeping the columns of autos moving. The body of Mrs. Shirley was removed to a Riverside mortuary pending an inquest to be called by Riverside County Coroner Dickson.

JUDGE'S RULING IS FAR-REACHING

SANTA ANA, March 28.—The recent ruling by Superior Judge Allen that the Jones "five and ten" law is ineffective in California has attracted nation-wide attention and may be cited in a Pennsylvania court, where the same question is shortly to be raised, it was learned here today.

The far-reaching effect of the Orange county decision was disclosed when the law firm of Drumm & Tucker, of Santa Ana, received a telegram from Mortimer Rhone, attorney at Williamsport, Pa., asking for a copy of Judge Allen's opinion.

The same question will be argued before a Pennsylvania court at Williamsport on April 8, the telegram announced. The eastern lawyer was anxious to get Judge Allen's ruling, word of which had been flashed throughout the country in press dispatches.

PURCHASE LAND FOR GLENDALE SCHOOL

GLENDALE, March 28.—The Board of Education last night voted to purchase a tract of land on Glenwood Road, from the heirs of the Pelanconi estate, on which to erect a new elementary school, as authorized by the voters in the recent bond election.

The site purchased includes twenty-nine lots and will cost the board of Education the sum of $40,500. For the past two weeks a deadlock has existed between the board and the representatives of the Pelanconi interests over the price to be paid, and the final figure is $700 higher than the amount originally planned for the site, so that it will be necessary to keep the ultimate building costs down to a minimum, Superintendent Richardson D. White declared. Out of the $725,000 bonds voted in February, $400,000 worth have been sold, bringing a premium of $3040.

CONVICT WOMAN IN LIQUOR CASE

SOUTH GATE, March 28.—Charged with intoxication, Mrs. Edith Wetzel was tried in Judge Neff's court by a jury, and after taking the evidence under consideration a verdict of guilty was returned. The sentence was $50 fine or five days in jail. The defendant, through her attorney, took an appeal from the decision. The asserted offense is said to have occurred February 22. This is the first verdict of guilty returned in a local liquor case in this city in the past three years, according to the court.

FALL INFLICTS SERIOUS INJURY

HAWTHORNE, March 28.—Kenneth Walters, a delivery man for a wholesale grocery house, was treated at the Receiving Hospital yesterday afternoon for concussion of the brain and other injuries sustained in a fall in the doorway of a local market. Walters, who was carrying two heavy pails, stumbled as he stepped to one side to avoid bumping into a small boy near the doorway, striking his head on one of the pails. He was rendered unconscious by the fall and a partial paralysis on the right side of the face and in his right hand resulted.

OLDEST EDITOR LAYS DOWN PEN

Mrs. Nancy M. Hiatt Arnold

WHITTIER, March 28.—Mrs. Nancy M. Hiatt Arnold, 81 years of age, the oldest woman editor in the United States, an accredited Friends minister and an associate of Frances Willard in the early national work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, died at her home here in Earlham Drive yesterday after a short illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the First Friends Church, Whittier, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

She was the wife of B. F. Arnold, who was in the County Assessor's office at Los Angeles for fifteen years.

She was for thirty-seven years editor of a Pacific Coast church paper and founded the Christian Worker, which later was called the Pacific Friend, and was editor of the last-named paper at the time of her death. The Pacific Friend is published in the interest of California Friends, or Quakers, and goes to China, India, South America and wherever the Friends church is interested. It is indorsed by the California yearly meeting of Friends churches and annually carries messages or "epistles," as the Friends prefer to call them, from the churches in England, Ireland, Central America and other countries.

She assisted in founding the Friends Mission in San Francisco in 1898, and it was while on a ministerial tour, visiting the Friends churches in California, that she saw the need of a church paper to unify interests and establish contact between the churches.

She is survived by her husband, B. F. Arnold, a son, J. Clem Arnold, former manager of the Los Angeles Herald and the Oakland Tribune; Miss Jeane L. Arnold, who was her associate on the Pacific Friend, and Mrs. Anna A. Brownell, all of Whittier.

POSTOFFICE TAKES BANK'S LEASE BID

MONTEBELLO, March 29.—Announcement was made today by local Postmaster Fred Darcy that the Security Trust and Savings Bank has been awarded the lease for the Montebello postoffice headquarters, the term of the lease to hold for a period of ten years. Much interest was expressed when the postal authorities advertised for bids and it has been rumored from time to time that the postoffice would be moved to another section of the city.

The postoffice has been in its present quarters for five years. "In that time the business has doubled," said Postmaster Darcy. Five years ago the staff consisted of two mail clerks and no carriers. Now there is a staff of four clerks and three carriers and a substitute. The building will be considerably improved. The room adjoining the postoffice will be added to the present quarters and additional equipment will be provided.

APRICOT GROWERS NEAR TOP IN DRIVE

SANTA PAULA, March 23.—With 1073 acres of bearing apricots already signed up in the Ventura County Apricot Growers' Association, local unit of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association, indications were today that the entire quota of this county, approximately 5280 acres, would be acquired for the new association before April 6, the "deadline" of success or failure for the old association.

A. L. Shively, director for the last seven years in the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association, said late yesterday at a meeting of the county growers' committee, that most of the large ranch companies were favorable to the new co-operative and that if all of them who had promised to join the new association do so, the quota will be nearly reached.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH, SAYS CORONER'S JURY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 28.—Further investigation into the death of Pat Quinn, 50 years of age, who was killed here Sunday night, when he was run down by a car driven by F. P. Warren of La Mesa, revealed that Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Holman of Anaheim were the only actual witnesses of the accident present at the inquest, except Warren and Mrs. Mary H. Perry, a passenger in the car driven by Warren. Holman and his wife presented no official testimony at the local police station Sunday but testified at the inquest Tuesday morning that Warren could easily have stopped his car had he applied the brakes. As the only other person who saw the accident is an Alhambra man, who was not called to the inquest, it is possible that his testimony may be procured to clear up the case.

The Coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental and unavoidable death.

CALVERT GIVEN ROAD CONTRACT

Section of Maricopa Road to Cost $124,506.90

Twenty-four Bids Submitted to Commission

Price Much Cheaper Than Estimated Cost

VENTURA, March 28.—Bert Calvert of Los Angeles was awarded the contract for the Cuyama Valley section of the Maricopa-Ventura highway by the tricounty commission late yesterday. His bid was for $124,506.90. A surety bond of $15,000 accompanied it.

It is possible the actual cost will be $2000 less than that sum, for under an alternate bid redwood can be substituted by the commission for treated wood in the bridges at that much saving. The commission instructed Engineer C. W. Petit to refer the question to the State Highway Department for an opinion as to the advisability of ordering the change.

The engineer's estimate for the job was $157,782. Of the twenty-four bids submitted, the highest was $217,031.12 from J. M. De Luca of Oakland. After awarding the contract, the tricounty board passed motions instructing Engineer Petit to prepare plans and estimates at once for another section of the highway from Ozena, the southern end of the first unit, to the summit of Pine Mountain, about eight miles of difficult construction.

Petit was instructed to make surveys at once for the Casitas section of the route. This will be at a considerable distance from the present Casitas Pass road. It will run from the Santa Ana Valley of Murietta Trail to Rincon Creek at Shepherd's Inn.

At first the board had planned to follow substantially the old route, but recently the members found that many of the landowners were refusing to deed rights of way and were demanding large sums for damages, despite the big benefit each will receive. In view of this fact the decision was reached to survey the other line, which is shorter and which crosses only one summit instead of two.

It is planned to award at least two more contracts, one on this side of the mountains, the other on the San Joaquin Valley side.

Howeth Guilty, Says Jury in San Bernardino

SAN BERNARDINO, March 28. Eugene Howeth, former Los Angeles policeman, was convicted of second-degree murder by a jury in Superior Judge Allison's court, the charge involving the slaying last September of J. K. White, the husband of Howeth's former wife.

The jury deliberated thirty hours before returning its verdict, while away the last few hours by card playing, while deliberation was continued by a few jurors at loggerheads as to Howeth's guilt. Howeth was convicted on the testimony of his former wife, Mrs. White, and his own son, Harold.

Mrs. White said that Howeth entered the White home and with the curt greeting: "Here's where I get even," shot her husband through the spine and then shot her through the left lung. White died three weeks later.

Howeth maintained that White had broken up his home and that he and Mrs. White had secured a legacy which had been left to him and his wife jointly. Howeth pleaded that he was driven insane by the conduct of his former wife. The son, however, testified that Howeth treated his mother cruelly and that he was once forced to knock his father down when Howeth called at the White home and created a disturbance.

"WHITE WAY" PLANNED FOR NEWPORT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, March 28. A movement for a "White Way" in Balboa has been instituted and may be carried out in conjunction with the improvement of Central avenue between Alvarado and B streets, if that project materializes.

The plan, which would confine the Pacific Electric system to one track instead of two between the streets mentioned, was voted on favorably by the City Council some time ago, but the official action must be repeated because of legal technicalities. The cost of the street improvement was to have been $36,000. Electrical engineers say that if the work is done at the same time using the same poles for the co-operative and that if all of them who had promised to join the new association do so, the quota will be nearly reached.

CITY PROFITS BY OIL WELL'S TROUBLES

INGLEWOOD, March 28.—Another proof of the old adage that "it's an ill wind," etc., came to light here today with the announcement by City Engineer Peffer that the municipality is ahead some 600 barrels of prime road oil as the aftermath of the recent fishing job in the Thornton No. 1 well being drilled by John Woodward, Jr.

It took this amount of hot oil, circulated around the "twist-off," to loosen it, and after the hole was cleared up, the oil used for this job was donated to the city. The fishing job had been in progress nearly a week, the trouble starting last Wednesday afternoon and not successfully completed until this morning at 5 o'clock.

BANK PLANS FOR SECURITIES ARM

Union Directorate Starts Move at Meeting

Capital Increase Proposed of 10,000 Shares

Price of New Stock Issue Announced as $250

Organization by the Union Bank and Trust Company of a securities company to be known as the Union Company, with a capital of $1,500,000 was announced yesterday by Ben R. Meyer, president of the bank, following the regular meeting of the board of directors at which it was voted to increase the bank's capital stock from 40,000 to 50,000 shares. This increase in capitalization, the second in the last six months, in addition to providing capital for the Union Company, will raise the Union Bank's $1,000,000 capital to $5,000,000, with a surplus of $2,000,000.

The new issue of stock will be sold at $250 a share under the terms of the capital increase which will be submitted to the stockholders at a special meeting Thursday, April 25, next. In commenting on the action of the directors, Mr. Meyer said:

"It is considered desirable by the directors to make this increase at the present time in order to provide additional capital for the bank, and to provide the initial capital of a new securities company to be owned by the stockholders of the Union Bank and Trust Company.

"The new securities company, which will be known as the Union Company, will serve the investing public by dealing in good bond issues and other corporate securities of a high grade and conservative nature. Practically all of the larger banks in the United States now have such companies and in organizing the Union Company, the Union Bank is taking another step in its plan for keeping abreast of modern trends and developments in the financial world."

On completion of the increase in capitalization, the combined capital and surplus of both the Union Bank and the Union Company will be $8,500,000, setting the Union Bank and Trust Company among the leading independent banking institutions in the Southwest.

Fokker for Oil Unit Due Soon

Charles S. Jones and L. M. Lockhart, vice-presidents of the Rio Grande Oil Company, who are now in the East to accept delivery of a trimotored plane at the Fokker factory, are scheduled to arrive in the new ship in Los Angeles the last of next week, L. E. Lockhart, president of the company, said yesterday.

The oil company has purchased the plane for use of its executives and for geological surveys in California and Texas, Mr. Lockhart stated.

PAINT CONCERN WILL ADD NEW CAPITAL

CLEVELAND, March 28. (Exclusive)—Stockholders of the Glidden Company today approved the proposal to increase the number of shares of common stock from 500,000 to 600,000 shares. Shareholders of record April 4, next, will be given the right to subscribe for one share of the new stock for each five shares then held at a price of $33 a share. Rights expire April 23.

Net Income of International Harvester Up

CHICAGO, March 28. (Exclusive) International Harvester Company reported today consolidated net profits for the year ended December 31, last, of $39,685,350 after all charges, equivalent, after preferred dividends to $8.58 a share on the 4,409,195 shares of common stock outstanding, against $23,359,215 or $4.12 a share on the same common capital in 1927.

Alexander Legge, president of the Harvester Company, in remarks accompanying the annual report took a firm stand in agreement with the policy of the Federal Reserve Board to reduce the volume of speculation.

"This company," he said, "deplores the diversion from normal business channels of such vast sums of money and credit as have been and are now being absorbed by the stock and security markets. This abnormal condition with resultant high interest rates produces and adverse effect on agriculture, the country's greatest industry, as well as upon other industrial and commercial undertakings. The company is, therefore, in hearty accord with the efforts of the Federal Reserve Board and the leading bankers of the country to correct this unbalanced situation."

Power Utility Tells Profits

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—Consolidated net profits of the American Power and Light Company for the year closed December 31, last, totaled $18,633,320 after all charges, equal after preferred dividends to $4.05 a share on 2,211,808 shares of common stock outstanding, it was announced here today.

These earnings include those of the Washington Water Power Company and subsidiaries from March 1, 1928, and Montana Power Company and subsidiaries from May 1, last. Net profits in 1927 were reported at $10,197,070, or $4.56 a share on 1,971,091 shares then outstanding.

Seat Transfers at Record High

Morris Anolik of San Francisco has purchased a seat on the San Diego Stock Exchange for $1625, exclusive of transfer fee, and a new peak, compared with the former high of $1500 and the original sale at $1000, Louis P. Wilton, executive secretary, announced yesterday. The seat was formerly held by John J. McKay.

C. P. Sikes was elected to membership on the exchange, it was also announced. He has been in the investment business in San Diego for a number of years and is head of Sikes & Co. Mr. Anolik will transfer his activities from San Francisco to San Diego.

RICHFIELD EXTENDS ETHYL DISTRIBUTION

Richfield Oil Company of California is today beginning the sale and distribution of Richfield Ethyl gasoline in the States of Oregon and Washington, which will give it distribution of Ethyl products covering the entire Pacific Coast. The distribution of Ethyl by the company in Southern California was started January 1 and 15 days later was started in Northern California, but the erection of additional storage facilities and installation of pumps and other equipment in the Northwest has held up entry into this territory until this time.

SCREW COMPANY INCOME UP

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—Standard Screw Company today reported for the year ended December 31, last, profits of $1,042,448 after depreciation and taxes, equal after preferred dividends to $16.70 a share on 59,500 common shares as compared with $577,750, or $6.88 a share in 1927.

MARKETS CLOSED

Stock exchanges throughout the nation will observe the holiday today and will also remain closed tomorrow. The New York Stock Exchange took the initial action to close Saturday to allow brokers to catch up with the unusually large volume of work that has accumulated, and other exchanges followed suit.

FOREIGN BONDS RETURNING

European Markets Buying Back Dollar Issues, Says Blair Partner; New Issues Fewer

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Not much is said about bonds these days, except by the investment dealers looking for a day of reckoning that will drive investors from the stock market. Nevertheless there are some interesting developments on the constructive side, as was pointed out yesterday by E. Thatcher Feustman of New York, referring particularly to the situation in foreign dollar bonds. Mr. Feustman is vice-president in charge of sales of Blair & Co., Inc., the investment banking house that will shortly merge with the Bancamerica Corporation.

Foreign dollar bonds, as he describes the situation, have acquired a scarcity value in the American market. Banking houses in this country are finding, somewhat to their surprise, that European houses are taking up the new issues themselves, and that European investors, moreover, are steadily buying back the dollar bonds originally sold in the American market.

SUPPLY DECREASED

These two forces, Mr. Feustman explained, are operating to decrease both the supply of new foreign bonds and the floating supply of seasoned issues. Prices have strengthened as a result, and the trend over a five-year period, in his opinion, is plainly in the direction of higher quotations and lower yields.

For some months the large banking houses, like Blair & Co., have been executing orders on foreign dollar bonds in the New York market for the account of Paris, London, Amsterdam, Switzerland. These markets are coming back, and coming fast, according to the Blair partner, and the prospects are that they will soon have repurchased and distributed to private investors and institutions the bulk of the dollar issues sold here in the last several years.

Spain, he remarked, is doing her own financing without outside help. France is absorbing her domestic issues unassisted by American underwriters, and England and her possessions are making it a point to reassert the financial independence of prewar days. This early return in European countries to the former positions of financial strength is unquestionably curtailing the activities of the American banking houses.

Because of political conditions Mr. Feustman believes that German financing will receive a better reception in the American market than in the financial centers of Europe. And the widening sphere of American influence in South America will also give to the bankers in this country an appreciable edge in the underwriting of government and corporation issues. But aside from these two sources the supplies for the American market of new foreign dollar bonds are fast dwindling.

Mr. Feustman is not happy over the investment trust craze in this country. Most of the so-called investment trusts, he said, are actually blind pools depending for their success on a rising stock market, and as such represent a real danger to the whole financial structure. Where they are managed by competent investment analysts who have complete statistical information available and who faithfully practice diversification, the investment trusts are a desirable development, he believes.

About the best thing that could happen for the protection of investment trusts, he declared, would be a wholesale consolidation of fifteen or twenty of these enterprises.

Air Transport to Start New Service Today

Pickwick Airways, Inc., which was organized by the Pickwick Corporation interests less than three months ago, today was scheduled to begin passenger and express service between Los Angeles and San Diego, according to the announcement of officials of the company. The first schedule will consist of two planes each way daily, and as rapidly as planes are received from the Zach Aircraft Company the daily service will be extended to include air transportation from Los Angeles to San Francisco and from Los Angeles to Texas points via Phoenix, it was said.

The Grand Central Air Terminal at Glendale and Lindbergh Field at San Diego have been selected as terminals for passenger service and will be connected with downtown points in both cities by Pickwick motor coaches. Ticket sales will be handled through the ticket agencies of the Pickwick Stages System.

Pickwick Airways is closely identified in ownership and management with the Pickwick Corporation, owners and operators of the Pickwick Stages System.

INSURANCE COMPANY GETS STATE PERMIT

Hamilton National Life Insurance Company, a California corporation, has been authorized in a permit issued by Corporation Commissioner Friedlander to dispose of all of its 6000 shares of capital stock at $100 per share. Funds derived from the sales will be used to create a reserve and as a working capital. Officers of the company include Spencer Thorpe, president; Albert W. Moore, vice-president; F. W. Wombell, secretary and treasurer, and Harold K. Huntsberger, Reape Thorpe, E. I. Foreman, Richard E. Davis, O. Everett Miller, Field Thompson, E. A. Crary, Edwin S. Thomas, Richard S. Chapman, Lee Combe, Jr., H. B. Green, Frank H. Ferguson and S. P. Hartwell, directors.

ELECTED DIRECTOR

P. A. Sumption, assistant vice-president and manager of the foreign department of the Los Angeles First National Trust and Savings Bank, has received a telegram from Paul K. Yost, vice-president and New York representative of the bank, stating that Sumption has been elected a director of the Swedish Chamber of Commerce of New York City.

BORROWINGS OF BROKERS SHOW DROP

Reserve Bank Reports Security Loan Volume Down $144,000,000

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending the 27th inst. were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $3,649,000,000, representing a decrease of $144,000,000, as compared with the preceding week. The loans for the week ending March 28, 1928, were $3,825,000,000.

The detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt with in the board's report was:

For own account—March 27, 1929, $1,971,000,000; March 20, 1929, $2,097,000,000; March 28, 1928, $1,121,000,000.

For account of out of town banks—March 27, 1929, $1,060,000,000; March 20, 1929, $1,784,000,000; March 28, 1928, $1,473,000,000.

For account of others—March 27, 1929, $2,590,000,000; March 20, 1929, $2,934,000,000; March 28, 1928, $1,270,000,000.

Attention was called to the fact that in totaling brokers' loans the Federal Reserve Board adds the 644 thousands which are not included in the figures that make public and therefore the totals do not always agree with the total reached from adding the three divisions of the loans.

Comparative weekly figures of brokers' loans with corresponding periods of last year follow:

United States Ship Line Plans Issue of Stock

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—The extent to which the general public will participate in the ownership of the new United States Lines, Inc., which is now being formed by P. W. Chapman of P. W. Chapman & Co., was disclosed today in prospectuses sent out to brokers. The public offering of stock will consist of 1,000,000 shares of common stock of no-par value of a total issue of 2,000,000 common shares and 600,000 shares of no-par preferred stock.

No prices have been announced for the stock, but inasmuch as the common is to be placed on a $1 annual dividend basis the offering prices will be low.

The United States Lines, Inc., recently acquired from the Shipping Board the fleets now operated by the United States Lines and the American Merchant Line. The date for the offering of the stock has not yet been set.

Cupid Crashes Through Gates of Stock Mart

Frank Ashley, guardian of the portals to the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and one of the most widely known characters in the financial district, was married yesterday to Rose Nelsen, telephone operator at the exchange. Bishop West, who officiated, culminated successfully and happily a romance that has extended over the past two years.

The bride and groom, who sail today for San Francisco on their honeymoon, received a hearty send-off from members of the exchange with a check for $1500.

"Frank," as he is known to the habitues of the market place, performed heroic service in the days of the Julian Petroleum trading when disappointed speculators were attempting to crash the doors of the exchange.

GRAHAM-PAGE MAY INCREASE CAPITAL

DETROIT, March 28. (Exclusive)—Directors of the Graham-Paige Motor Company proposed today an increase in the authorized common stock from 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 shares. Officials cited no special reason for increasing the authorized stock, other than as a provisional measure. Stockholders will vote on the measure at the annual meeting April 15.

COURTENEY JOINS E.A. PIERCE CO.

Stock Exchange Manager Elected Southern Head of Broker House

Norman B. Courteney, secretary of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, yesterday tendered his resignation to become executive manager of the Southern California offices of E. A. Pierce & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange. The announcement was made jointly by John Earle Jardine, president of the exchange, and W. W. Woods, Pacific Coast partner of E. A. Pierce & Co.

NORMAN B. COURTENEY

Mr. Courteney came to Los Angeles in 1927 from the California Development Association to take the post of secretary and manager of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Under his administration the affairs of the exchange have been completely reorganized, the machinery remodeled and expanded and advanced ideas in stock exchange procedure adopted and put into practice.

During the period of Mr. Courteney's managership the Los Angeles Stock Exchange has become the third largest exchange in the country in point of share volume and the fourth in value of transactions. He also sponsored and organized the Los Angeles Curb Exchange, and has taken preliminary steps to organize the Los Angeles Stock Exchange Institute.

E. A. Pierce & Co. maintains a number of offices in Southern California cities which are directed from the Los Angeles headquarters. Its branches throughout the country are connected with the most extensive private-wire system in operation. Mr. Courteney will assume his new duties in the near future.

Houston Heads Engine Works

PHILADELPHIA, March 28. (Exclusive)—George H. Houston, a director of Baldwin Locomotive Works, was today elected president of the company at the organization of the directors. He succeeds Samuel M. Vauclain, who was made chairman of the board. Thomas S. Gates was elected chairman of the executive committee.

The new president was elected a director in the early part of January, last, succeeding Clarence R. Bitting, who resigned.

Milnor Chain Units Expand

Milnor, Inc., chain system of nineteen stores throughout California, Arizona and Hawaii dealing in oriental and European merchandise, has just opened two new stores, one in the Beverly-Wilshire Hotel, Beverly Hills, and the other in the De la Guerra studios, Santa Barbara, it was announced yesterday by Reed, Alder & Co., who recently underwrote 49,000 shares of capital stock of the company.

The management is now planning additional shops at Agua Caliente, Mex.; Havana, Cuba; Paris, France, as well as in hotels of other leading cities of the United States. Net earnings for 1928, before depreciation and Federal taxes, after allowing for a change of policy on contracts, are estimated at $161,456.65 or $1.81 a share which compares with $51,792.98 in 1924 and $106,354.02 in 1927.

TELEPHONE UTILITY REPORTS 1928 PROFIT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (Exclusive)—Associated Telephone Utilities Company today reported net income for 1928 of $1,396,311, with a surplus of $318,585 after dividends and depreciation. Gross earnings amounted to $4,696,841. Total assets as of December 31, last, were listed at $37,110,976, of which $1,763,310 were current.

RATE UNCHANGED

LONDON, March 28. (Exclusive) The Bank of England rediscount rate was unchanged today, holding to 5 1-2 per cent.

LUCIFER MATCH FALL FORECAST

Head of Diamond Company Pessimistic Over Outlook

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP) W. A. Fairburn, president of the Diamond Match Company, the largest company in the match business in this country, predicts match prices will sink to record low levels this year unless some of the smaller match manufacturers which have been losing money steadily get into stronger and more co-operative hands.

Strong competition in matches is attributed to invasion of the American market by foreign match interests. The Diamond management, Mr. Fairburn said, is considering selling 9000 shares of unissued capital stock to certain large customers and interests connected with consumption of matches.

CANADA FOSTERS AVIATION

Air Transportation Development Shows Rapid Gain Under Policy Adopted by Dominion

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, March 28.—Canada's development in aircraft is proceeding at a pace probably exceeding that of the United States. One company alone, the Western Canadian Airways, with headquarters in Winnipeg and branches throughout Canada as far west as Vancouver, has a record for 1928 of having flown 505,000 miles, and 6870 hours during the year, with twenty-eight planes, carrying 1,192,000 pounds of freight and express, 122,170 pounds of mail, and 9647 passengers.

That record exceeds the passenger record of the entire United States two years ago.

The government has interested itself in aviation, and co-operates in the development of flying clubs. Today Canada has sixteen flying clubs, with a total membership of 2400. The Toronto Flying Club leads the Dominion with a membership of more than 250; Winnipeg is second and Montreal third.

The government grants to each of these clubs two machines, when a club has at least thirty members. The members provide a field, an instructor and maintenance, and agree to put up a bond for the equipment given by the government. Each year the government agrees to give one additional plane to the club, if the club itself will agree to provide one from its own membership.

In 1927 there were but forty commercial pilots registered in the entire Dominion. At the end of last year 193 commercial pilots held licenses, but in addition to this can be added fifty who have allowed their licenses to lapse during the winter months.

China, in spite of her revolutions and internal troubles, is using thousands upon thousands of her citizens to build her immense new system of national highways.

Dr. David Z. T. Yui, secretary of the national committee of the Young Men's Christian Association in Shanghai, says: "Road building is going on not only in South China but also in Central China, West China and North China. I am told that in four or five months' time Foochow, Amoy, Swatow and Canton all will be connected by these new roads."

"Read our history of 5000 years of peaceful culture," says William Hung, professor at Harvard, who believes world peace will come through close co-operation of China and the United States. "Look into the faces of our millions—honest, human, good-humored, desiring love, peace and friendship above all other things. You have on your side of the Pacific 120,000,000; we have on the other side of the Pacific 450,000,000; together 570,000,000; in other words, one-third of the world's humanity working together to promote the world's best interests; working together to discourage falsehood conquest, imperialism; working together to promote friendship, co-operation and peace."

Many of China's great leaders today are graduates of American colleges.

Japan has decided to increase her tariff on pine, cedar, spruce and hemlock, imported largely from the United States.

Such an announcement has a familiar sound in the United States. Other nations are following our example. This will give Japan an increased revenue of about $2,880,000, but will have a vital effect on the American - Japanese lumber trade, which now reaches about $40,000,000 annually.

Doubtless other nations will follow the lead of Japan in increasing their tariff against foreign goods. Especially if the United States Congress decides to increase the United States tariff schedule at the special session of Congress, which meets to tackle this problem, as well as farm relief, on April 15.

NEW YORK RATE SAME

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—No change was made today by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in its rediscount rate of 5 per cent.

Owens Bottle to Take Over Illinois Glass

TOLEDO, March 28. (Exclusive)—William H. Boshart, president of the Owens Bottle Company, announced today the acquisition of the Illinois Glass Company of Alton, Ill., and its subsidiaries for approximately $20,000,000, representing the culmination of negotiations which have been going on for thirteen years.

A special meeting of the Owens Bottle stockholders has been called for April 17 to authorize the issuance of $5,000,000 5 per cent ten year debenture bonds, $6,000,000 6 per cent preferred stock and 20,000 shares of $25 par common, to help finance the purchase.

The remainder will be paid in cash to the Levis family, which has held a license from Owens Bottle since 1901. William E. Levis, president of Illinois Glass, will become a director and vice-president of the new concern. The name of the new corporation will be changed to the Owens-Illinois Company and will have combined assets of approximately $56,000,000, of which Owens Bottle will contribute $36,000,000. The present market value of 207,000 shares of Owens Bottle common outstanding aggregates approximately $75,000,000.

British General Electric Terms Slightly Revised

LONDON, March 28. (AP)—American shareholders of the British General Electric Company will have the right to subscribe to the 1,800,000 new £1 shares of the company under a new plan announced today, but will not be entitled to permanent ownership.

At a meeting of stockholders of the General Electric this afternoon, the shareholders amid cheers confirmed by vote a resolution which they adopted on the 13th inst. providing for the issue of new shares, the permanent ownership of which will be confined to British subjects.

To satisfy the American shareholders, however, Sir Hugo Hirst, the chairman, said that the proposed new issue would be offered to all shareholders under certain conditions. All shareholders of the company are now to have the right to subscribe at the rate of 42 shillings a share, the subscription to be limited to two shares for every three now held.

All foreign shareholders, however, must dispose of their rights in the new issue within a given period at a price to be determined by a free market on the London Stock Exchange.

BARNSDALL OIL NET REGISTERS INCREASE

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—Net income of the Barnsdall Corporation for the months of January and February was reported today at $1,191,612, compared with $192,446 in the same period of 1928. The company has no indebtedness other than current bills.

EASE IN MONEY SPURS TRADING

Unexpected Flood for Call Loans on Market

Opening Rate of 15 Per Cent Sags to 8 at Close

Activity of Commission Group Main Feature

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—An unexpected flood of call money from reports of a gigantic consolidations merger facilitated a sharp broad recovery on the stock market today, and the session closed with the losses of earlier in the day more than recovered.

Call money again renewed at 6 per cent, but the prospect of freeing funds at that lucrative rate over the Good Friday and Saturday holidays was sufficient to loosen the most closely held purse strings, and money came into the market in such volume that the rate fell to 8 per cent before the close.

A wave of week-end profit taking was sweeping into the market when in the session, when it was unofficially reported that negotiations were nearing completion for the alignment of Radio Corporation of America and International Telephone and Telegraph, and that Western Union may come into the combination later. This brought a vigorous upturn in the communications stocks, and the list was strengthened all along the line.

LOAN DATA DISAPPOINTS

There had been no expectation of an increase in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate after the liberation of funds in the heavy liquidation Monday and Tuesday. Nor did it the rate was made, but the Federal Reserve's report after the close that brokers' loans decreased only $144,000,000, failing to offset the increase of $166,000,000 the previous week, was distinctly a disappointment. Bankers felt that, after the violent selling had done much to correct the top-heavy credit situation, and that further liquidation would be in order.

While bankers felt that the quarterly interest and dividend payments next week, totaling more than $600,000,000, would cause some relaxation in the credit situation, they failed to see any near prospect of fundamental improvement. The money held firm today, and the commercial paper moved at the high to 6 per cent rates.

The Federal Reserve brokers' loan compilation disclosed the out-of-town banks had been the heaviest callers of loans, withdrawing $[illegible],000,000, while "others" withdrew $36,000,000, and the New York banks but $30,000,000. It was learned to-

AUTO WHEEL UNITS PLAN FOR MERGER

Wire Wheel and Kelsey Hayes Boards Approve Combine Program

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—Directors of the Kelsey Hayes Wheel Corporation and of the Wire Wheel Corporation of America today approved plans to consolidate the two concerns into a new corporation to be known as Kelsey Hayes Wheel Corporation. Under the merger terms, present common and preferred stock of Kelsey Hayes Wheel Corporation will be exchanged share for share for stock in the new company.

Wire Wheel Corporation stockholders will receive one share of new 7 per cent preferred for each share of preferred now held, while for Class "A" stock they will get five-sevenths of a share of new 7 per cent preferred. Wire Wheel common stock will be exchanged on the basis of 50-100ths of one share of new common for each share now held. It is also proposed to offer stockholders of the new company 100,000 shares of new common at $30 a share.

Under the merger plans which will be submitted to stockholders of both companies April 25, next, the new concern will have authorized capital stock of 40,206 shares of 7 per cent cumulative preferred of $100 par value, all of which will be issued, and 1,000,000 shares of no par common stock, of which 742,820 shares will be outstanding, including the 100,000 shares to be sold to stockholders. Consolidation is subject to approval of two-thirds of the outstanding stock of each company.

As a result of this merger, it is expected that litigation over patents for the production of wire wheels will be dropped. G. W. Kennedy, head of the Kelsey Hayes company, will be president of the consolidated concern and the new board will consist of eleven members of the present Kelsey board and four members of the Wire Wheel board.

FEDERAL LIGHT AND TRACTION INCOME UP

NEW YORK, March 28. (Exclusive)—Federal Light and Traction Company reported today 1928 consolidated net profits of $1,966,074 after interest, etc., but before retirement reserve, equal, after preferred dividends, to $2.95 on the average amount of common stock issued, against $1,562,603, or $3.15 a share, in 1927. Earnings of the New Brunswick Power Company are not included.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Marked relaxation in the credit situation, reflected in the drop from 15 to 8 per cent in call money, stimulated the recovery of prices in today's curb market, which more than made up the ground lost earlier in the week. A few soft spots cropped out here and there, but the general list responded to the heavy influx of buying orders, which carried the day's sales above 1,500,000 shares.

Oils continued to respond to the announcement that leading oil executive had agreed upon a curtailment program. International Petroleum ran up more than 6 points, Imperial 5½, Vacuum 3¼ and several others a point or so.

Ford Motors of Canada was the spectacular individual feature, closing 50 points higher at 1125, after having touched 1129. The stock sold as low as 982 on Tuesday.

International Telephone (new) was again heavily bought on reports that the corporation would acquire Radio Communication, the new subsidiary of the Radio Corporation of America. The stock climbed more than 5 points to a new high at 94¾, and then eased to 93 on realizing. Reddie climbed 22½ points, Pittsburgh Oil Stocks Corp. 5¾, Schiff 6¾ and Auburn Auto 5¾.

Revival of speculative activity in the airplane shares carried Aviation Corporation of America up 7 points, United Aircraft advanced nearly 2 points and National Aviation 2¼, but Consolidated Aircraft was heavy.

Mining shares were heavily bought in the face of reports that copper buying was quiet. Phelps Dodge (old stock) jumped 16 points and Noranda Mines 8¾.

Consumption of the advance in Consolidated Laundries was inspired by the announcement that new interests had bought into the company to assist in carrying out of an expansion program. Hiram Walker was another strong spot. Motion pictures advanced in sympathy with the brisk rally in other radio stocks. Photographic Products broke 5 points to a new low at 17. Newton Steel and chain store stocks also were heavy.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and sold buy and close when same as the bid.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Continental Oil featured trading on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday on a transfer of more than 8000 shares and an advance of 3½ points to 26. Lockheed was another strong spot, and acting with eastern buying, moved up 1 3-8 points to 19 3-4. Fokker, on a somewhat smaller turnover, jumped 2 1-4 points to 36.

Practically all other airplane issues showed fractional improvement on the day and a number of oil stocks stood out prominently, including Mexican Seaboard, which advanced 2½ points to 50 3-4. Exeter, Bandini, Universal and Bolsa Chica were strong. Claude Neon Electric Products sold down 1 1-4 points to 55 on light trading.

Sales totaled 143,153 shares valued at $984,766.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (Special)—A definite trend toward higher price levels was in evidence on the San Francisco Stock Exchange today. The petroleum list joined their upward swing, closely followed by other sections of the list.

Shell Union rose to a new high at 30¾ before declining to 29¾, unchanged. Special gains were shown by Ohio Oil at 80¾, Union Associates at 80½, Honolulu Consolidated at 50¾, North American at 38 and Rockwell at 23½. Standard was off ½ at 84, after touching 79 in the morning. Pacific Gas & Electric is in demand. This issue opened at 53¾, rose to 57 and closed back at 53¾, with a total of 7,000 shares. Magnavox was another strong spot, rising 2¼ to 37½.

The industrials showed strength. Pacific Gas & Elec. up 2½ at 41½, and Leslie Salt 1½ at 37. Other issues active and well were Byron Jackson 1½, Caterpillar 1, Dairy Dale "A" at 18½, Foster & Kleiser at 11½, Jantzen Knitting at 43¼, Kilgen Pfd. "A" at 40 and Paraffine at 51½.

In the banking section, Transamerica was up 1¼ at 136. The American Commercial was at 72.

Totals: Stocks, 116,000 shares, $7,040 shares of $3,421,200 market value.

Bullish Operations Again Force Petroleum Issues Upward in Active Local Session

Oil shares prices were carried to still greater heights when the sharp rally which started the previous session was extended to the trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. The highest levels were reached toward the middle of the afternoon following which time some liquidation was encountered, partially due to the closing of the market until next Monday. The selling was readily absorbed, however, and the entire list ended the day substantially higher.

Macmillan Petroleum, following an advance in the dividend rate, and Shell Union featured the session by soaring to new peak levels. The former, selling ex-didivend, shot up 2 5-8 points to 40½ and held high to the close, and the latter jumped 3 1-4 points to a new top at 30. Signal Oil and Gas achieved a high at 44 1-4 and closed at 43 3-4 for a net gain of 1 1-4 points.

Union of California, Union Associates, Rio Grande, Barnsdall and Richfield all showed early advances which, in most cases, exceeded a full point and at the close were 3-8 to 7-8 higher than at the end of the previous day. Lower-priced oil issues advanced in a similar fashion.

Transamerica shot up 3 1-4 points to 137 1-4 and ended at 136 3-4 for a net gain of 2 3-4 points and commanded the chief interest on the miscellaneous board. Pacific Finance, on a light turnover, advanced 2 points to 111, 1 point below the year's high. Los Angeles-First National was the strong spot among the banks with a jump of 2½ points to 153 and the rights soared 30 cents to $2.60. Douglas Aircraft featured the industrial list by advancing 1 7-8 points to a high and close for the day at 31 3-4.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 28. (Special)—Early advances in response to relatively firm cables were followed by reactions in the cotton market today under renewed liquidation. Prices steadied up again later on a comparatively small volume of business, which was supposed to include profit-taking covering and evening-up of commitments.

The midafternoon market was quiet and steady, with prices about 1 to 10 points net higher.

Jenkins Television Corporation

Report — February 28th, 1929

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF JENKINS TELEVISION CORPORATION:
At this time, the president of the company desires to report the progress of the first four months of its corporate existence, as well as future plans and prospects, as follows:

MAIN OFFICE AND PLANT: Exceptionally favorable quarters have been leased in the fireproof loft building at 346-370 Claremont Avenue, in Jersey City, N. J., for the main office and plant. There is ample space for the general office, research laboratory, experimental machine shop, and the actual production plant, with options on additional floor space as production demands. An annex on the roof of this lofty building affords an ideal location for the television transmitter now being installed.

TECHNICAL DEVELOPMENTS: Under the capable direction of Chief Engineer, C. R. Huffman, formerly of the Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co., a large and competent staff of research and development engineers specializing in television and allied problems has been gathered together and the necessary electrical, radio, mechanical and optical equipment has been secured for the research and development engineering laboratory at the main plant in Jersey City quite in addition to the research laboratory maintained in Washington, D. C., under the direction of C. Francis Jenkins, Vice-President in Charge of Research.

Taking the patents, experience and working models of Mr. Jenkins as the basis for their work, the development engineers of the Company have refined and developed the transmitting and receiving apparatus to new high standards of efficiency. A new amplifier, believed to be better than anything heretofore known in the amplifying art, has resulted from these efforts. Better definition is being obtained in television pictures, through numerous refinements and without any basic change in the original Jenkins technique. A solution of the synchronizing problem is being worked out. Better optical systems and shadowbox constructions are being evolved so that television pictures may be enjoyed in any room and at any time, without the darkness hitherto called for. These and other developments have for their object the realization of a really satisfactory television service to the public. Rather than rush into production on purely experimental equipment, the Company's management is seeking the ideal compromise between good engineering and commercial considerations in its initial bow to the public.

PRODUCTION: Although the Company secured the patents and experience of C. Francis Jenkins, the pioneer television worker, together with practical working models of television transmitting and receiving equipment, the engineering staff has found it necessary to develop new, simpler and more efficient designs for everyday use. Notable progress has been made by way of practical development. Sample television receivers are now in production, incorporating the numerous refinements already worked out. These sample television receivers are intended for use out in the field, for checking up television signals, for demonstrations, and for gaining a practical knowledge of home television conditions, as the basis for further practical development. The commercial production is to incorporate the lessons learned from the sample receivers. The necessary machinery, dies, tools, jigs and punchings are now being ordered. Large quantities of special lenses have already been imported from France. Favorable contracts are being arranged for the motors. Volume production will soon be under way on home television receivers, as well as on the necessary Jenkins television transmitters, for use by associated television stations.

TELEVISION BROADCASTING: The technical and commercial facilities and aims of the Company have been duly acknowledged by the Federal Radio Commission, which has granted the necessary operating licenses. Three licenses have been secured by the Company for television or sight broadcasting, as follows:

A license for a 100-kilocycle band from 2100 to 2200 kilocycles, or 140 meters, with maximum power of 5 kilowatts and with unlimited time provided there is no undue interference with other services, for the transmitter at the main plant in Jersey City.

A license for a 100-kilocycle band, from 2850 to 2950 kilocycles, or 103 meters, with maximum power of 5 kilowatts and with unlimited time provided there is no undue interference with other services, for the transmitter to be installed in Montgomery County, Maryland.

A license calling for a 100-kilocycle band, from 2000 to 2100 kilocycles, or 147 meters, with maximum power of 5 kilowatts and without time limit, provided there is no undue interference with other services, for the transmitter at Washington, D. C.

It is evident, then, that the Company has the necessary places on the air for the inauguration and maintenance of ample television service to the American public. Two transmitters are being constructed now, one for Jersey City and one for Montgomery County, Md. The Jersey City transmitter will be on the air with experimental television signals by May 1st, 1929, while the latter will follow a week or two later.

AN APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE: Meanwhile, the experimental television transmitters, operating on two wavelengths at the Jenkins Laboratories in Washington, D. C., have been transmitting television programs regularly on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, from 8 to 9 P. M., Eastern Standard Time. It is estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 radio amateurs, with home-made apparatus, are receiving these programs. Many broadcast listeners have displayed keen interest in these programs and requested suitable and simplified receiving sets. The television audience is certain to grow rapidly with the introduction of practical rather than experimental receiving equipment.

PROGRAM PLANS: A scenario writer is now engaged in producing playlets suitable for our present television technique. These playlets are to be recorded on motion picture film and employed by the Jenkins television transmitter pickups for television broadcasting at various points. For the present, the film pickup technique, or so-called radio movies, is being employed, but rapid progress is being made on the direct pick-up of persons, objects, scenes, and events. Further information of television broadcasting may be obtained by addressing Jenkins Television Corporation, Jersey City, N. J.

STOCK ACTIVELY TRADED: The Jenkins Television Corporation is now quoted on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, and is being actively traded. The stock is also quoted on the New York Produce Exchange and traded. An application to list the stock on the Chicago Curb is to be made in the immediate future. EASE IN MONEY SPURS TRADING at least one large New York bank had not taken part in the movement to keep call loans from going above 15 per cent yesterday. The First National Bank, of which George F. Baker is chairman, commanded a 20 per cent rate for renewals yesterday and today.

PHONE ISSUE UP.

Outside of the credit situation and communications merger reports there was little in the day's news to influence the market. After the close it was announced that a representative of the Cutten-Fisher interests had been elected to the presidency of Baldwin Locomotive. In anticipation of this the stock was rushed up 16 points to a new high. Oil shares were again accumulated on the production curtailment developments. At the close the Associated Press price indices stood approximately where they were at the close last Friday. Trading fell off from recent sessions, the turnover aggregating 5,006,320 shares.

International Telephone Company led the communications with a jump of nearly 19 points to a new peak at 279. It fell off to 268 in profit taking, but rebounded to 274½ on the merger report. Radio sold up 12 points to 169, practically duplicating its peak, and closed at 166½. Western Union sold up 9 points to 208 and closed at 204½. Mackay Company thumped 17 points to a new top and American Telephone rose nearly 7 points to 224, a record price.

Burroughs Adding Machine, Crosley Radio, American and Foreign Power, Advance Rumely preferred, Green Cananea, Houston Oil, International Nickel, Midland Steel Products preferred, Stromberg Carburetor, Wright Aero and Youngstown Sheet and Tube were other strong points, mounting from 5 to nearly 15 points. United States Steel sold up 4 points and Standard of New Jersey and Pan American issues gained new highs.

Commodities were rather quiet but firm. Cotton closed higher on better Liverpool cables, and wheat and corn improved about a cent a bushel.

Foreign exchanges were quiet, with sterling holding steady.

Transcontinental Air

At the time we first offered the purchase of this stock was selling at $10; recently it has sold at $20.

We have urged the purchase of Transcontinental Air Transport stock at $20. We believe it will reap a splendid profit.

Principal stockholders in the Transcontinental Air Transport are said to be the Santa Fe, Pennsylvania Railroad, Wright and Curtiss Aeronautical Companies. The company's executive personnel includes the illustrious Col. Chas. A. Lindbergh.

It is said that some time between 1st and May 15th the company will inaugurate, in connection with the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe Railroads, a forty-eight hour passenger service between New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. It is planned to use—traveling rail by day and passenger transport planes by night.

This evening will no doubt be the occasion of numerous predictions as to what we believe should be a substantial advance in the price of this stock.

OIL NEWS

BY EDWARD C. KEGLEY

News from the Kettleman Hills district that the General Petroleum Corporation has an excellent prospect and expects to complete the second producer in that field within the next ten days, and perhaps sooner, is taken to indicate that the well was showing considerable pressure at 6823 feet, and was drilling in good oil sand at 6830 feet down, the cores showing a cut of practically pure oil. The hole is six and one-quarter inches in diameter.

Reports are to the effect that the Shell Company, although seven miles distant from the Milham Exploration Company's Elliott No. 1 gusher, has encountered oil sand on the north dome, which is almost identical with that encountered in the Elliott No. 1 on a formation about seven feet, indicating that the structure, which is now being penetrated, is identical with that from which the Elliott No. 1 is producing, and that the formation is decidedly flat, running for many miles along the big dome.

Reports locally say it is reported that the Shell Company will get a production of 1000 barrels within the next 200 feet, and from the prospect of at least one high-gravity well before drilling programs in that district are pushed down to conform with the spacing rules of the Department of the Interior.

Plans are now being made for the drilling of the Franklin No. 1 well of the Continental Oil Company in the Carpinteria field has been completed to a depth of ninety-two feet, according to reports received by the Exeter Chamber of Commerce. Activities in the same area. Experienced oil men are watching with interest the outcome of efforts to control a strong gas pressure of the Franklin No. 1 well.

Drilling will be started at Carpinteria No. 2 well, it is reported, no matter whether the Continental No. 1 well is completed.

Drilling on Richfield No. 1 well of the Exeter Oil Company on Rex Duncan's property, west of Santa Barbara, is reported to have reached a depth of 2200 feet. The company announced that a second well will be located soon in the Exeter-Lindsay-Strathmore-Lindsay-Strathmore-Lindsay-Strathmore

OLD SHIP BURNS AT MOBILE DOCK

MOBILE (Ala.) March 28. (AP)—The steamer Bay Queen of the Eastern Shore Transportation Company, laid up here for the winter, burned to the water's edge early today with a loss of $65,000. The vessel formerly operated around Long Island, New York, and was built thirty-five years ago. She was engaged in the coast trade during the summer months. The fire started in the engine room from an undetermined cause.

PRUNE AND APRICOT MEN URGED TO SIGN

ASSOCIATION MAY DISBAND IF QUOTAS FALL DOWN ON CROP TONNAGE

SAN JOSE, March 28. (AP)—C. D. Cavallero, president of the California Prune and Apricot Association, announced today that he has not yet admitted defeat in an attempt to obtain sufficient fruit tonnage signed in the association to permit continuance of operations.

"Many growers have told us they are ready to sign at the very last minute," he said, "provided a crisis arises."

The crisis is at hand, he pointed out, stating that a total of 68,706,000 pounds of prunes have been signed for the association out of a quota of 100,000,000 pounds, while the apricot tonnage signed is far below the quota.

The association, for seven years one of the largest co-operatives in California, will liquidate unless the quotas are reached, Cavallero said. April 6 is the date the quotas must be reached, as grower contracts expire on that date, he said. Properties of the association are valued at approximately $5,000,000. It is estimated.

DUKE WILL DELIVER ORDER TO EMPEROR

LONDON, March 28. (AP)—The Duke of Gloucester, third son of King George, left for Japan today to present the Order of the Garter to the Japanese Emperor on behalf of King George. The Prince of Wales and Prince George bid their brother farewell at Victoria Station, where were gathered the Japanese Ambassador, representatives of the Foreign Office and the Japan Society.

FIGHT NEAR ON WIDENING OF BEVERLY

Property Owners Ready for Protest Hearing by City Council Today

Property owners in an assessment district formed for the purpose of widening Beverly Boulevard through the acquisition of sidewalk stripe from Alexandria avenue to Western avenue will oppose vigorously the move at the final protest hearing before the City Council today at 10 a.m.

Plans for presenting opposition to the proposed proceedings were completed yesterday and a large number of the property owners are expected to attend the hearing, where they will be represented by attorneys in an effort to obtain abandonment of the proceedings by the Council.

At previous hearings, according to members of the committee representing the protestants, several hundred persons were in attendance, all urging that the proceedings be abandoned in accordance with the original petition filed. They charge that there are three classes of property owners affected by the proceedings, which cover a distance of approximately ten blocks, and that the plan is unfair, unequitable and unjust to the majority of the property holders.

Chief of Police Rakes Officers

Faster and better shooting was demanded by Police Chief Davis in an address to the city's automobile cruising policemen and the division commanders assembled at Central Station. The Chief told the cruising policemen to smarten up their marksmanship and practice on the department range oftener.

He also took the policemen severely to task for not making enough arrests, and for not turning in complete reports on investigations. Chief Davis especially criticised the men regarding their handling of flagrant traffic violations, and ordered them to be more strict in their night surveillance of suspected automobilists.

LINDBERGH CALTECH GUEST

Colonel and Harry Guggenheims Visit Institute and Peep Through Mt. Wilson Telescope

PASADENA, March 28. (Exclusive)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today spent an afternoon and evening with Dr. Robert A. Millikan of the California Institute of Technology and was given a peep into the scientific research going on at the institute for the further perfection of airplanes, and later into the billions of miles of the universe through the Mt. Wilson telescope, largest in the world.

Tonight Col. Lindbergh heard Dr. Millikan point out the peculiarities and characteristics of stars and the moon as their reflections passed into the giant lens from a distance which reduced the greatest flying achievements of men to minute fractions on the light year scale of space used by the scientist.

"It is all very interesting," Col. Lindbergh declared, "and I am greatly pleased with this opportunity to witness first hand how science is advancing in bringing our world closer to others."

ARRIVE IN PLANE

The flyer started his scientific day when he landed in a Lockheed-Vega monoplane from Santa Barbara at Vail Field with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Guggenheim and their daughter, Nancy, as passengers and was taken to California Institute of Technology for an inspection of the Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratory.

There, under the direction of Dr. Millikan, he was shown the use of the newly-constructed wind tunnel, a tunnel in which new airplane wing designs are tested under a rush of air so great that if an arm should be placed in the draught its owner would receive a sprained wrist.

Following the inspection, Col. Lindbergh was the guest of Dr. Millikan at an informal luncheon at the Valley Hunt Club.

Four automobiles took Dr. Millikan's party to the Mt. Wilson summit and during the afternoon Col. Lindbergh was introduced to the intricacies of the Carnegie Institute's Hooker 100-inch telescope by Dr. Walter S. Adams, in preparation for the evening's display.

The flyer showed great interest in the method of photographing and developing prints of the moon, and after more than an hour's explanation walked back across the mountain.

HUGE SUMS LEFT IN 1928 BY TOURISTS

All-Year Club's Survey Shows $208,087,109 Was Spent in Southland

Officials of the All Year Club announced yesterday that a complete and authentic survey shows the 1928 tourist cash expenditures in Southern California reached a total of $208,087,109.

It is stated by A. Frank, chairman of the business executive committee of the All Year Club, that all figures were checked with sources of net income in Southern California and there is no reasonable doubt as to their accuracy.

"The tourists' cash expenditures of $208,087,109 almost equaled the total value of all new building construction in the entire ten Southern California counties during 1928, which was $211,361,471," said Mr. Frank.

"The survey shows tourists' expenditures for the year to be: Food, $47,606,808; housing, $30,402,726; men's and boys' wearing apparel, $9,973,451; women's and girls' wearing apparel, $14,353,856; fuel and light, $1,331,668; transportation, $47,975,399; groups of medical and domestic services, $7,610,877; amusements and athletic activities, $27,314,581; cleaning supplies and services, $3,968,412; various classes of incidentals, $16,981,831."

CARPENTERS WILL DANCE

Motion-picture studio carpenters will give an Easter Monday ball at El Patio Ballroom for the benefit of the home for disabled carpenters. This will be the third annual ball to be given by the carpenters from every motion-picture studio in the city.

DEADLINE FINDS MANY IN RACES

Total of 151 Candidates File Petitions

Checking of Signers Will be Made at Once

Fifteen Remain in Running for Mayor's Seat

The deadline for filing nominating petitions to run for office at the coming municipal elections was midnight last night and when City Clerk Demingues had accepted the last petition within the legal time limit it was found that 151 out of the 175 persons who had originally taken out petitions were still in the race for the various positions to be voted on.

One more formality remains before an official list of candidates at the primary election can be issued and that is the checking of the petitions to determine whether they meet all the legal requirements as to number of signers, qualifications of signers, and so on. This check generally results in the striking of a number of names from the petitions.

MORE TIME TO BE GIVEN

Those candidates whose petitions, after the check, are found to have an insufficient number of names probably will all be notified today by the City Clerk and, as required by law, they will be given five days within which to file additional signatures.

Those candidates who have filed their petitions included fifteen of the tention of running for Mayor, six of the seven announced aspirants for the office of City Attorney, two of the three who had come out for Controller, nineteen of the twenty candidates for municipal judge, fifteen of the nineteen who entered in the race for membership in the Board of Education, and ninety-four of the 190 original aspirants for Councilmanic seats.

CANDIDATES IN RACE

The candidates for the various offices who had turned in their petitions at midnight are th efollowing, the order of listing being the order in which they took out their petitions:

MAYOR

Carlin G. Smith, 1301 Ogden Drive; Lloyd Shaw, 1281 Sixteenth street, San Pedro; Hugh J. McGuire, 1536 South Bonnie Brae street; William L. Evans, 746 South Kingsley avenue; Ralph J. REAL CITY GOVERNMENT PROMISED BY QUINN

Suppress Crime, Enforce Dry Law, Protect Homes and Develop Water, His Program

HIGHLIGHTS IN QUINN PLATFORM

I promise to maintain efficient, honest and economical administration of the municipal government and to keep the expenses of government well within the means of the people.

I promise a vigorous and courageous treatment of the crime problem and to effect, without fear or favor, such changes and improvements in the police department as shall serve the best interests of the city.

I promise to the best of my ability to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment of the Federal Constitution and all other laws.

I promise to secure and conserve the city's water supply from every available source that can be efficiently and economically utilized, to maintain the city's water supply as a municipal enterprise and to protect the rights of the city in the development of light and power.

I promise to correct the present special assessment evil and protect the homes of our citizens from confiscation.

I promise to protect and upbuild the Los Angeles Harbor as a municipal enterprise, encourage consolidation of Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors on a basis of fairness to both cities and to provide representation of the Bay District on the Harbor Commission.

I promise to encourage railroad unification at the Los Angeles Harbor.

I favor the protection of restrictive residential districts from industrialization.

Guaranteeing an aggressive war on crime and criminals, the elimination of special assessment evils, improvement of the police department and the application of honest, efficient, economical methods in the general administrative function of the city, John R. Quinn, local bank executive and chairman of the California Veterans' Welfare Board, yesterday announced the platform upon which he is seeking election as Mayor of Los Angeles.

Suppression of crime, in the opinion of the mayoralty aspirant, can best be obtained through greater co-operation between Federal, State, county and municipal law-enforcement agencies, and to this end, in order that "this community be made unhealthy for the criminal of every type," he pledges his vigorous efforts if elected.

Streaming water supply as the city's basic need, Quinn pledges himself to do all in his power to "secure and conserve every water resource, including the Colorado River." He draws attention to the fact that he has been a consistent and energetic supporter of Boulder dam legislation from its inception.

Development and expansion of the harbor as a municipal enterprise will receive the earnest support of the candidate, who discusses various other aspects of municipal affairs.

PLATFORM IN FULL

His platform follows:

In order that my candidacy for Mayor may be fully understood by all citizens and none misled, either by the contentions of political opponents or by the unauthorized assertions of others, I am making the following announcement concerning my views and the policies I shall follow.

First: There is one thing upon which all are agreed. Los Angeles needs an efficient, honest, economical administration of its municipal government.

Second: I will make it my first duty to protect property against unfair and duplicating assessments. I will endeavor to correct the present special assessment evil and thus protect the homes of our citizens from confiscation; and I will see that such special assessments are not forced upon the people against their will.

I favor the protection of restrictive residential districts from industrialization.

CRIME PROBLEM

Third: Los Angeles has a crime problem which demands vigorous and courageous treatment. This community must be made unhealthy for the criminal of every type. The prevention and suppression of crime will be materially aided through the greater co-operation of Federal, State, county and

HOLLYWOOD JEWRY WILL GET TEMPLE

Drive to Raise $100,000 for New Synagogue Starts With $40,000 Pledged

A movement to raise $100,000 for construction of a temple and community center building for Congregation Temple Israel was started last night at a membership meeting of the congregation. Sol Wurtzel, president of the congregation, announced that a lot on the southeast corner DeLongpre and June avenues, has been decided on and that construction of the temple will begin within the next sixty days, so as to have it ready for the high holy days which begin in October.

More than $40,000 was raised last night. The manager of the campaign and chairman of the board of trustees, I. E. Chadwick, appointed captains to lead in the campaign, which is to last until June 15. The captains are Sam Kress, A. Kleindordinger, Jack Stone, Nathan Libott, N. W. Aronson, Ben Englander, J. P. Fox, Gene Friedman and Mark Feller.

Temple Israel is only two years old but it has become a factor in the life of the Jewish community in Hollywood and Los Angeles. Rabbi Isadore Isaacson is spiritual leader of the congregation.

Several entertainments are to be arranged during the campaign under supervision of A. Kleinordlinger and Gene Friedman. This evening Dr. Isaacson will speak on "Are the Jews responsible for the Crucifixion of Christ?" dealing with historical and theological facts concerning the death of Jesus. Cantor Morris Shrager will lead the musical program which will be conducted at the church at Vine and Lexington streets.

BISBEE (Ariz.)—From this time onward I intend to put all the family tin cans in the safety deposit box.

Down here in Arizona they are buying up all the tin cans of Los Angeles and converting them into copper.

WEALTH FROM CANS

This is done by a process that has been used in Spain for centuries, but has only lately been used in America.

They run acidulated water through the dump heaps of low-grade copper ore. This water is poured into vats into which the tin cans are dumped. The metal of the cans takes the place of the copper in solution and leaves the copper behind in metallic form as the liquid flows away.

Every month 800 tons of old cans are brought from Los Angeles and crushed into bales. With these they extract about 1,000,000 pounds of copper a month.

It is estimated that the mines of Bisbee have lost $100,000,000 by not getting this hunch earlier. The reason the cans are used is, of course, that they cost next to nothing.

BASEBALL NURSERY

The Los Angeles baseball club has become the loving mother of the Bisbee team of the Arizona League. The green young Angel players are to be sent here to be dry-nursed. I don't know much about baseball, but I feel in some way this is an event of international importance.

WOMEN IN THE TRENCHES

There are two women who live in the battle trenches at Naco. One is a young mother with a 9-months-old baby. The other is a Juno-eyed Magdalen.

She is about 16 years of age. She lives in a dugout next door neighbor to a machine-gun nest. It has a roof of corrugated iron that her soldier friends wrenched off a hut in the railroad yards.

She is a beautiful little creature with eyes that burn out of a satin skin. She pats tortillas for the men and helps them dig trenches and sometimes washes their clothes for them when she washes her own. Her wardrobe consists of a very short gray and white skirt and a soldier shirt.

WHERE ARE THE WIVES

Unlike most Mexican garrisons, there are few wives along with this contingent. They were all interned by the rebels below Nogales when the war began.

Ventura Street Strip Ordered

In accordance with a recommendation of its Public Works Committee, the City Council yesterday instructed the City Engineer to present as soon as possible, an ordinance under the act of 1911 for the improvement of Ventura Boulevard between Sepulveda Boulevard and the west city limits, the improvement to consist of a strip of pavement fifteen feet wide on each side of the present twenty-foot pavement. Recently two municipal improvement districts approved bond issues for a similar improvement of about seven miles of Ventura Boulevard east of Sepulveda Boulevard.

Part of the improvement authorized by the Council yesterday will be paid for by the State Highway Commission and the City Engineer was instructed to prepare an estimate of the cost of that portion. The Public Works Committee recommended that the Council appropriate the amount of this estimate at once in order to get the work under way at the earliest possible date and then bill the State Highway Commission for the amount when the work is done.

FILM AFFILIATION PLANNED

United Artist-Warner Brothers Association Program Announced by Schenck

Immediate consolidation of all of the United Artists activities into one big corporation and possibility of its alliance with Warner Brothers in a $30,000,000 deal is the message brought to Hollywood yesterday by Joseph M. Schenck, vice-president and chairman of the board of directors of United Artists. Schenck returned to his desk with a group of other important motion-picture executives following conferences in the East, which resulted in one of the most important film deals in recent months.

Prior to any deal with Warner Brothers, which, if negotiated, will result in that company acquiring for a cash consideration of $20,000,000 half the common stock of United Artists, Schenck declared a new corporation, to be known as United Artists Consolidated, Inc., will be organized, joining all subsidiary corporations now existing, as well as individual holdings of the various members.

SUBSIDIARIES

The subsidiary corporations and holdings to be consolidated include the United Artists Studios, Inc., the Art Cinema Company, which in reality is the financial company of United Artists; Schenck's holdings, known as Feature Productions, Inc.; Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin, D. W. Griffith, Gloria Swanson and Samuel Goldwyn.

Even if the Warner Brothers-United Artists deal does not go through, Schenck said, the holding members of United Artists already have voted for the consolidation as an economical measure to prevent duplication of effort under the present separate unit organization.

The motive behind this alliance, he said, is the fact that it will give United Artists a ready-made circuit of theaters to play in in addition to the twenty-four theaters in which his corporation is interested.

None of the stock to be issued, Schenck said, will be placed on the open market.

In discussing the plans for what he insisted is an "alliance," Schenck pointed out that last year United Artists earned $5,400,000 in film production in addition to $540,000 through operation of its theaters.

"There will be absolutely no change of policy in production at United Artists except that we will make fewer pictures this season than the past," Schenck declared. "The

Nevada Senator Here Says He Will Give Help to President in Administering Liquor Laws

"As a legislator I am going to give President Hoover my undivided support in his problem of settling the prohibition question in the United States. It is a question that must be settled and settled effectively during the next four years, and if he needs the Army and the Navy or any other extraordinary power of government to back him up in enforcement of the law, I shall be in favor of giving them to him."

This was the attitude toward prohibition enforcement expressed here yesterday by Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, Democratic leader, when he discussed the issue at the Biltmore. "Personally I believe prohibition has been a failure so far but I am also frank to admit that I don't think prohibition enforcement has had a fair trial. I do not know to what point the taxpayers will go in the matter of providing money for the huge job. Friends of prohibition claim they have never had enough help in making the law effective. That is why I voted to give them that extra $24,000,000. Just why they didn't want it is beyond me," the Nevada Senator said.

SENATOR PITTMAN

MUST BE SETTLED

"The question must be settled during this administration. I am sure that it will take a bitter cup away from the lips of the administration if they can convince the country that it will take ten years to test out the theory of prohibition enforcement. BELT LINE PERMIT GRANTED

Commerce Commission Approves Unifying of Harbor Roads, But Cuts Agreement to Five Years

Permission for Los Angeles and the four railroads terminating at the port to operate jointly under a friendly agreement as the Harbor Belt Line Railway to reduce switching charges, relieve congestion and aid in expansion of harbor shipping, was granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday, according to telegraphic dispatches from Washington.

The permit limits the unification agreement to five years to give Long Beach or any other party an opportunity to intervene in order to present a claim for inclusion in the unified operation plan. The decision paves the way for immediate unified operation of the Harbor Belt Line Railway upon the expiration of ninety days, the period required for publishing the tariffs on switching charges.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE

President Allen and other members of the Harbor Commission, President Bonelli of the City Council and railway members of the Board of Control of the belt line under unified operation expressed gratification yesterday over the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission. A copy of the permit is expected to arrive from Washington tomorrow. It is expected that the Board of Control will hold a meeting Monday to pass on the permit and if it meets with their approval to arrange for starting operations.

George P. Squires, general manager of the unified Harbor Belt Line railroad, stated yesterday that all arrangements for starting the new system of operation had been completed some time ago.

Whether the modification of the permit to five years will meet with the approval of the Board of Control is a matter which is expected to be settled at its meeting.

The railroads interested are the Southern Pacific, Pacific Electric, Union Pacific and the Santa Fe lines.

The duration of the agreement for unified operation by the city and the railroads of the belt line provide that it may be terminated by mutual consent of all parties at any time after the expiration of the first three years, or, after five years any member may give two years' written notice and withdraw at the end of that period. Should the city be alone in its desire to

Father of Jacobson Case Witness Murdered in His Home

PARK WORKER SHOT TO DEATH

Wife and Sons Present at Mystery Killing

Bootleg Feud Suggested as Possibility

Bearing on Grimes Trial Doubt Expressed

Police investigators last night were attempting to unravel a tangled skein of circumstances surrounding the slayi ; of Jack Crawford, 45-year-old care-keeper of Rose Hill Park, who was shot to death in his home at 1178 McKenzie street shortly after 7 p.m.

Crawford's son, Donald, is expected to be an important witness for the State in the Councilman Jacobson "frame-up" case now being heard in Judge Wood's court.

Two bullet wounds were found in Crawford's body. One had struck him just over the right side of the mouth, while the fatal shot had pierced his heart. Crawford and his wife, Bessie L. Crawford, were alone in the home at the time of the murder, according to the police, while two sons, Donald and Jack, were talking with two friends, Tom Dill and Aubrey Trammell, in the open space in front of the residence which faces the entrance to the park.

FIVE QUESTIONED

All four men and Mrs. Crawford were taken to Central Station for questioning, following the preliminary investigation at the isolated frame house, and after three possible motives for the murder were disclosed by a search of the residence and surrounding grounds.

Following the questioning of Mrs. Crawford, the two sons, Herbert Wilson, a brother of Mrs. Crawford, and other witnesses, Chief of Detectives Kline ordered an immediate autopsy in an effort to discover the caliber of the bullet that caused

Mrs. Crawford told Detective Lieutenants Stevens and Condaffer, who are conducting the investigation for the police, that a .22-caliber rifle found in the house was the only weapon around the dwelling. She said that other guns were taken from the residence by vice squad raiders, who searched the home for liquor during February.

INTIMIDATION THEORY

Possibility that the slaying was the result of an attempt to take the life of a witness in the Grimes-Jacobson case was advanced when it became known that Donald, 18-year-old son of the murdered man, was to appear on the stand today at the trial. Councilman Jacobson was called to the scene of the shooting, but declined to admit that he saw in the killing a connection with the conspiracy case. The Councilman said he was well acquainted with the members of the family, but that he could hardly believe it possible that his enemies would stoop to such a murder in intimidating witnesses. He pointed out that the dead man was not connected with the case in any way, except through being the father of a witness.

The police learned from Mrs. Crawford that the slain father did not wish his son to appear in the case as a witness for the prosecution.

BOOTLEG ANGLE

Another angle under investigation is based on the belief that the killing might have been committed by bootleggers, as some of those questioned intimated to the investigating officers that Crawford might have gained the hatred of a gang of rum sellers who are said to be operating in that section.

Mrs. Crawford gave some credence to this theory, the police said, as she told them that the last words she heard her husband utter were "They've got me!"

The third line of the investigation is covering the police belief that the killing followed a death struggle in the residence. The police investigators found blood scattered throughout four rooms of the dwelling, with stains leading to the back porch, and heavy splotches on the walls in the hallway between the kitchen and living-room. Broken dishes, upset chairs and a general scene of disorder in the kitchen as well as in the living-room were pointed to by the police as strong circumstances substantiating the theory that Crawford was killed by someone within the house.

VICTIM AT PHONE

When questioned by the police Mrs. Crawford said her husband was at the telephone, which is in the hallway near the front door between the kitchen and living-room. She says she heard him talking with some one, but did not hear what was said. At about this time she started to the ice-box on the back porch and heard a shot. She turned and saw her husband standing just inside the kitchen door, with blood gushing from his face and breast.

After saying: "They've got me," Mrs. Crawford said her husband staggered across the hallway, and fell face downward just inside the doorway of the living-room.

Donald Crawford told the police that he and his friends heard a muffled sound from inside the house and three shots. He said that they rushed up the steps into the dwelling and found the father lying on the living-room floor. He gasped once or twice, the son said, after he reached him.

CLEANING UP BLOOD

Young Crawford notified the police at Lincoln Heights station and Policeman Oliver responded to the call. When Oliver reached the house he said that he found the four boys and Mrs. Crawford in the front room, and that the wife was attempting to clean up some of the blood and straighten the furniture in the living-room, as well as in the kitchen. He found Crawford dead on arrival.

Oliver, as well as the four youths, also said they heard an additional shot while they were in the house, and that they believe it was fired by some one running up a path that leads from the residence over the hill into a street leading to the main part of the city.

The body was taken to the City Morgue, where it will be held pending the investigation.

PROCEEDINGS FAVORED FOR LIGHT SYSTEMS

The City Council yesterday authorized the institution of proceedings for the installation of ornamental lighting systems on the following thoroughfares: Victory Boulevard between Lankershim Boulevard and Whitsett avenue, Hudson street between Bellflower and Tujunga avenues, Morrison street between Bellflower and Tujunga avenues, Bakman street from Magnolia avenue to a point 150 feet north of Morrison street, Manchester avenue between Figueroa and Wall streets, Dunn Drive between Tabor street and Venice Boulevard, Empire Drive between Tabor and Regent streets, and Regent street between Hughes avenue and Jasmine avenue.

TWO CITED OVER THREATS CHARGED IN GRIMES CASE

Detective and Woman Accused at End of Hectic Day in Trial; Jacobson Under Fire

A citation ordering a police officer and a woman into court Monday at 10:30 a.m. to show cause why they should not be punished for intimidating a prosecution witness at the trial of Mrs. Callie Grimes, five police officers and others on an asserted conspiracy to "frame" the morals arrest of Councilman Jacobson, was issued by Superior Judge Wood on adjournment of court yesterday.

The citation was issued near the close of the most hectic day of the trial, and after Mrs. Fern Carlin, a witness for the State, testified two officers came to her home and warned her that "it don't pay to go against the police."

Dep. Dist.-Attys. Dennison and Bush introduced the testimony on the asserted intimidation of the witness after a number of defense attorneys has accused the prosecution of giving "unwarranted interviews to the newspapers." In refutation of the charge Dennison and Bush called Mrs. Carlin to the witness stand. A hush fell over the courtroom as Judge Wood conducted the examination.

QUIZZED BY JUDGE

"It has been suggested here that you have been approached on your testimony," Judge Wood said. "Is that true?"

"Yes," she replied. "I have."

Then Mrs. Carlin testified that Mrs. Pauline Yale, who was a guest at her home, invited two officers to the Carlin residence last Monday. She said they talked to her about the "Jacobson case," and that the names of the men were McBride and Terry Hahn who, she declared, were plain-clothes detectives.

"They told me I had better be careful," Mrs. Carlin testified, "be-it doesn't pay to go against the police." After more examination by the court Bush questioned her.

"Did Mrs. Yale talk to you?" he asked.

"Yes. She said: 'Here you are subpoenaed for this Jacobson case and I know more about it than you do.' She said I should be careful about identifying police officers and not recognize these people. I told her I already had made a statement and she said, 'Tell them you don't remember.'"

THEN JUDGE ACTS

"I told him," Mrs. Carlin said, referring to McBride, "that I'd tell the truth and he couldn't talk me out of it." The court promptly issued the citation at the instance of the prosecution.

Either Mrs. Carlin or Donald Crawford, both of whom live in the vicinity of Beagle street, where Jacobson was arrested eighteen months ago with Mrs. Grimes in a morals raid, will be called as the first witness today.

Councilman Jacobson was on the witness stand most of the day yesterday under a hot fire of cross, redirect or re-cross-examination, and the procedure produced the greatest number of sensations during the seven days of the trial.

In addition to the charges, counter-charges and charges by the prosecution that its witnesses were being subjected to asserted intimidation, one of the women jurors fainted in the jury box, and a rift appeared in the defense ranks.

Shortly before noon, Mrs. C. W. Brown of Montrose, the youngest member of the jury panel, collapsed and was assisted to the jury room by Juror Thomas J. Gilroy of Long Beach. Dr. H. E. Sterner, a County Jail interne, was called and Mrs. Brown was able to resume her seat in the afternoon session.

QUESTION JACOBSON

It was during the cross-examination of Jacobson by Attorney Cooper, appearing for Capt. Bert Wallis, one of the defendants, that Mrs. Brown became ill.

Cooper cross-examined Jacobson to some length on an asserted meeting of the Councilman and Mrs. Grimes near the Evergreen Cemetery last October, shortly before the woman made a purported affidavit, confessing the "frame-up" as charged. The witness had said the Grimes woman wanted to discuss the asserted confession with him.

After Cooper handled the questioning, Dennison, on redirect examination, demanded the story in its entirety come from Jacobson.

Cooper leaped to his feet and tried to explain his position, offering citations for his bulwark, but the court overruled him. Dennison held firmly that because Cooper opened the matter the State was entitled to bring out all the testimony, and the court sustained him.

"What happened at the cemetery?" was the simple question Dennison asked, as the spectators in the crowded courtroom strained to catch every word, and the flood gates of testimony burst open.

"She came out there," Jacobson began, "and I had a six-shooter in the car. I warned her there would be no more monkey work around there or there would be more funerals than one.

SHE WAS ASHAMED

"She said she was ashamed to look me in the face, and asked for forgiveness, and asked if I thought Mrs. Jacobson would ever forgive her.

"Then she named Cox, Wallis, Lucas, Raymond, Crawford (four defendants at trial) and Guy McAfee. She then asked me what I thought about a confession, and I told her that if that was the way she felt about it that was a matter for her to decide. We agreed to meet the following night.

"I took Mrs. Jacobson with me to Temple street and Berendo, where Mrs. Grimes was waiting in a drug store, and she came out and got into the machine. Again she said she was ashamed to look us in the face, and said, 'It will be a happy moment for me when this is all over with.'"

"We went on out to Mrs. Jacobson's sister's place on Finley avenue in Hollywood. On the way she asked Mrs. Jacobson if she objected if she (Mrs. Grimes) talked to me alone. Mrs. Jacobson said she did not object.

"After we parked out there Mrs. Jacobson went into the house and Mrs. Grimes spoke of the danger she was in if she made a confession. I told her I would have nothing to do with it and for her to get an attorney. She said she was broke and I said she had nothing on me, they had broken me, too."

COOPER INTERRUPTS

While Jacobson was detailing the asserted conversation, Cooper interrupted the court wheeled about and charged that Mrs. Jacobson, sitting alone, was nodding to her husband and acquiescing to his statements as he proceeded.

Mrs. Jacobson only smiled at the protest, while the court interrupted to say:

"Just a minute, Mr. Cooper. I wish you'd stop waving your hands so much. Proceed with the trial."

During the examination of the witnesses by Cooper earlier, it became more and more apparent that a definite split has occured in the ranks of the eight defense attorneys. Cooper, before the court, repeatedly was the object of objections from many of the defense counsel throughout the day.

The lawyer announced to the court that he was not in accord with some plans of the associate counsel, declared that he was interested only in the defense of Wallis and cared for no other defendant.

On further redirect examination of Jacobson Dennison found Attorney White, counsel for Albert Marco, convicted vice ruler, in a position similar to that of Cooper, when the statement of Jacobson on the cemetery meeting came into the record under protest.

SHOW ILL FEELING

White had cross-examined Jacobson on the asserted activities of Marco and inquired why he had not taken the matter before the grand jury.

Dennison demanded and was granted by the court right to show the existence of ill-feeling between Marco and Jacobson because of the latter's antivice attacks to provide a motive for the asserted "framed arrest" of the Councilman.

The prosecutor gained his point when he succeeded in obtaining a stipulation from the defense that Jacobson had been in possession of a purported affidavit from one Lillian Gossett, said to have formerly been employed by Marco in an underworld enterprise. The affidavit is asserted to have detailed much of Marco's activities. With the stipulation in his favor, Dennison then produced the document for the court.

In preliminary redirect examination the prosecution had Jacobson say that he knew Robert Allan, a former member of the City Council, and Alexander Williams, a member of the 1925 grand jury. Both are expected to be called as witnesses, Dennison and Bush say.

When counsel for Mrs. Grimes had Jacobson for inquiry again it was determined that the meeting at the cemetery was arranged over the telephone by Mrs. Russell, a sister of Mrs. Grimes, who told the Councilman that the latter wished to talk to him. He agreed to the meeting across the street from the Evergreen Cemetery and they sat in his car for the conversation, he said.

BIT OF HUMOR

A bit of humor was injected in the trial on point of the examination. Previously one of counsel by illustration of his point referred to nationalities and called Jacobson a Swede. The Councilman sputtered, but did not say anything at that time.

"Now you say you met in 'he cemetery?'" another lawyer asked, some time later.

"'Twas not in the cemetery," Jacobson blurted out, "—and don't call me a Swede." He explained he is a Norwegian.

Court had hardly convened on the morning session when a tempest arose. The defense criticised the prosecution for giving out what they termed "unwarranted" interviews to the newspapers on the witness tampering. Cooper challenged the prosecution to "get up on their hind legs" and deny or affirm their charge. The court reminded him that the expression "hind legs" was not the best language for the occasion.

APPEALS TRIBUNAL DENIES REHEARING IN MARCO'S CASE

Marco Albori, alias Albert Marco, so-called vice baron of Los Angeles, was one step nearer San Quentin yesterday, where he has been sentenced to serve a maximum of twenty years for shooting two persons in a cafe brawl at Venice, when Justice Works of the District Court of Appeals, with Associate Justices Craig and Thompson assenting, denied Marco's petition for a rehearing.

Marco's next step in his so far unsuccessful fight to escape State prison will be the filing in the State Supreme Court of a petition for a hearing of his assertions that his trial had not been legal. Such a petition must be filed before April 5 and a decision by the Supreme Court on whether or not the hearing should be granted must be handed down not later than April 14 in order for the proceeding to be of any assistance to the one-time underworld leader, it is explained.

Marco, now a co-defendant with Callie Grimes and six others in the Jacobson case, still is in the County Jail.

ILLINOIS PICNIC TOMORROW

All roads will lead to Sycamore Grove Park for Illinoisans tomorrow, when the Illinois Society of Southern California will hold its annual picnic and reunion. Each county will have its own headquarters. Following the basket dinner, a program of short talks and vocal selections will be given, beginning at 2 o'clock.

It shall be my duty as Mayor to secure and conserve every drop of water from every available source that can be utilized. My support of the Boulder dam project does not arise from my candidacy for office. I have been a consistent and energetic supporter of the Boulder dam project since its inception, and I shall aid by every possible means the earliest construction of the dam and the necessary facilities for transporting Colorado River water to Los Angeles and the other communities of Southern California.

WATER DEPARTMENT

Fifth: Los Angeles is definitely committed to the policy of public ownership of its water department and to the development of electrical energy incidental thereto. The Department of Water and Power is one of the vital links in the city's chain of existence. This department must be given the wholehearted, loyal support of its citizenry and of the municipal government.

Sixth: I promise to protect and upbuild the Los Angeles Harbor as a municipal enterprise; to bring about consolidation of the Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors on the basis of fairness to both cities; to provide adequate ferry facilities; and to encourage railroad unification.

Seventh: Los Angeles has an unrivaled public school system. I will co-operate with and support this great institution.

Eighth: The youth of our community is our greatest asset. Its proper development is our most serious problem. The Olympic Games to be held here in 1932 can be made the vehicle, not alone for advancing our city in the eyes of the world, but in the organization of the youth of our community for the fine things these games represent. To this end I pledge myself to support all clean, character-building and wholesome community activities.

tain ridge to the Mt. Wilson Hotel for dinner in company with Dr. Millikan, Mr. Guggenheim, Herbert Hoover, Jr., and several others who attended the club luncheon.

After the afternoon inspection of the giant telescope, Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the President and a member of the party, put a dime in the slot of a little telescope in front of the hotel for a look at two tame deer eating oats out of a trough twenty feet away.

The party got a laugh out of this and the deer bounded away down the mountainside.

HASN'T HEARD IT

The colonel declined to confirm or deny the report that his marriage to Anne Morrow will take place this summer at the Morrow home in Maine.

When he was asked to comment on the report that he has taken an option on a residence site in San Marino, he said, smilingly:

"Well, I haven't heard anything about it."

The guests at the Valley Hunt Club luncheon were Col. Lindbergh, Harry Guggenheim, Harris M. Hanshue, Herbert C. Hoover, Jr.; Russell H. Ballard, president of the Southern California Edison Company, Harry Bateman, R. C. Copley, J. B. Dabney, Frank M. Hixon, Fred Keeler, Dr. A. L. Kline, George H. Maxwell, Ben Meyer, Prof. William B. Munro, Henry W. O'Melveny, James Page, L. P. Simpson, J. A. Talbot, A. B. Ruddock, Gurdon Wattles and Dr. C. B. Millikan, son of the host.

The wives of some of the visitors were entertained at a luncheon at her home by Mrs. Millikan. In this group were Mrs. Harry Guggenheim and Miss Guggenheim, Mrs. Hanshue, Mrs. Keeler, Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr., and Mrs. Henry M. Robinson.

Lindbergh's visit to the California Institute campus was clothed in secrecy, so much so that the students were unaware of his presence until nearly half an hour after his arrival. News of his presence spread rapidly, however, when Prof. Royal W. Sorenson gave a demonstration in the high tension laboratory, and before the visitors left a large group of students gathered to get a glimpse of the flyer.

CITY OF COLUMBUS DEPARTS FOR EAST

The huge trimotored flying office of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., the City of Columbus, left the Grand Central Air Depot yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, carrying a group of passengers comprising J. Cheever Cowdin, Malcolm Stevenson and Misses Mary Hunter Marston and Ollie Schrieber. John Collins, who brought the plane out from New York, was at the controls.

Mr. Cowdin, who is a partner of Blair & Co., is a director of the Transcontinental Air Transport, the Douglas Company, Curtiss Flying Service and numerous other leading aircraft concerns.

The trip will be somewhat in the nature of an inspection of the Transcontinental Air Transport's air-rail route, which is to be opened this spring. Mr. Cowdin expected to stop at Albuquerque, Kansas City and Chicago, making the trip in easy stages.

Lively Traffic in Bodies Laid to Employee of Los Angeles County Coroner's Office

UNDERTAKERS FORCED TO BID

Mortuary Attendant Said to Have Taken "Split"

Startling Charges Follow Death of Embalmer

Chief Promises Complete Investigation

Charges that a mortuary attendant in the Coroner's office for several months has engaged in turning over the bodies of accident and homicide victims to various Los Angeles undertakers for a percentage of their fees, yesterday became the subject of a wholesale investigation instigated by Coroner Frank Nance.

The startling inquiry came as an aftermath to the shooting of Hunter Albritton, embalmer, a week ago when he sought to escape from deputy sheriffs who had arrested him in a funeral parlor where he was employed.

Further investigation by Capt. Frank Dewar, chief of the Sheriff's homicide investigation detail, revealed that Albritton had a close friend, Richard Harris, who had been acting as agent for the Coroner's mortuary attendant auctioning of the "cases" to the highest bidder. Harris, who also is wanted as a fugitive from justice by the Sheriff's office, fled from the city when he heard that Albritton had been shot.

NEW RACKET WAS WORKED

According to Capt. Dewar, the mortuary attendant in question would obtain the signature of a close relative to an accident victim when calling for the body in the name of the Coroner, to an order blank requesting the Coroner to deliver the body at the close of his investigation to a certain undertaker. The name of the undertaker, however, was left blank and inserted after the undertaker had been found who was willing to share his fee with the attendant, it is charged.

In this manner the mortuary attendant collected several hundred dollars in "split fees" during the past three months, Dewar asserts. As soon as the facts were obtained by Dewar's investigators, the information was placed in the hands of Coroner Nance, who ordered an immediate investigation.

CORONER TO TAKE ACTION

"If these charges are substantiated," Coroner Nance said, "the attendant will be dismissed from the service at once. I absolutely will not tolerate such actions by any member of my department.

"I intend to go to the bottom of the matter and question everyone who may have had any connection with these asserted acts. We also have taken every precaution to prevent this type of traffic and my employes have been advised from time to time that any such action would result in their immediate dismissal.

"This is the first affair of this kind that has come to my attention since I took office as Coroner, although I am shocked to hear that any of my employees may have committed such an offense. It in no way deter me from pursuing the investigation to a close and punishing the offender if his guilt is proved."

SHUT-INS WILL HEAR SERVICES

Salvation Army to Give Easter Sunrise Program at General Hospital

Easter sunrise services to be conducted at General Hospital by the Salvation Army were announced yesterday by Brigadier James C. Bell. Adjutant Higgins, leader of the senior band, has arranged a program to be played in the big courtyard where it can be heard throughout the hospital. Trumpeters are to herald the dawn and choristers will sing "Christ is Risen." A song service follows.

ADJUTANT A. HIGGINS

Mother Bowyer, Salvation Army officer who visits the hospital daily, has arranged the program and will be assisted by Salvationists in distributing cards and flowers to adult patients and bunnies and eggs to all in the children's wards. The Easter sunrise service at the hospital was arranged as a result of many requests by patients shut in and unable to atend the outdoor services.

Morning and evening services are to be held in the Eleventh Corps headquarters. At No. 2, barracks the cantata "The Visit to the Tomb" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Brigadier Bell has invited the public to attend.

Staff Captain Maude Lee, will distribute flowers and Easter gifts to young mothers at the Maternity Hospital who have applied to the Salvation Army for comfort. Commandant Nungesser has charted two big busses to transport the girls at the Salvation boarding house to the Hollywood Bowl sunrise service.

PETITION GRANTED FOR CLYBOURN AVENUE JOB

On recommendation of its Public Works Committee, the City Council yesterday granted the petition for the improvement of Clybourn avenue between Victory Boulevard and Burbank Boulevard and instructed the City Engineer to obtain the consent of the city of Burbank, since a portion of the proposed assessment district lies within that city. The Council also approved a recommendation of the Public Works Committee that the improvement of Clybourn avenue between San Fernando Road and Vanowen street be combined with the opening and improvement of the same avenue from Vanowen street to Victory Boulevard and also with the opening and improvement of Wheatland avenue between San Fernando Road and Clybourn avenue and of Cahuenga avenue between Victory Boulevard and Clybourn avenue.

program at present calls for twelve all-talking pictures with silent versions, as compared to eighteen last year."

The details of the Warner Brothers—United Artists alliance which Schenck said, cannot be considered as a merger in view of the fact the two corporations are in no sense consolidating, were discussed in New York between himself, Harry Warner, president of Warner Brothers, and legal and banking representatives.

At the present time the Warners hold no actual options and the deal will not be gone into fully until Warner returns from a trip abroad and until United Artists members unanimously approve the transaction. Schenck said he does not know the attitude of the other members of the United Artists group and will not until he can present details of the deal to them at an early meeting. Unless their action is unanimous, he indicated, the deal will not be negotiated.

VALUATION SOUGHT

The present plan now is to determine the valuation of the holdings of each of the units of United Artists, then to issue $20,000,000 of preferred stock to these members on the basis of the valuation. In event the Warner alliance goes through, he said, $40,000,000 common stock will be issued, half of which will be purchased by Warner Brothers for cash.

Each corporation will keep its identity, Schenck said, with Schenck as the president of United Artists Consolidated, Inc., under long term contract, and Warner Brothers having representation on the board of directors.

The party with which Schenck arrived yesterday included his brother, Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and Mrs. Schenck; Irving Berlin, noted composer; Dennis O'Brien, chief counsel for United Artists, and Bertram Nayfact, another member of the legal staff.

Nicholas Schenck had no statement to make as to the future policy at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and it was indicated such a statement will not be issued until William Fox and Winfield Sheehan, vice-president and general manager of Fox, arrive on Sunday.

Norma Talmadge, wife of Joseph Schenck, was among the many film notables who welcomed the party yesterday.

SUSPECT IN BURGLARIES ARRAIGNED

Film Players and Others Appear as Witnesses at Campbell Hearing

Hollywood film players and housewives, headed by Rita Carewe, yesterday appeared in Municipal Judge McDill's court to testify against Ralph Campbell, 1506 Fifth avenue, who is charged with a long list of burglaries. Pajamas, cocktail shakers, dresses, ivory elephants and other asserted stolen articles were identified by a procession of witnesses called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman during the course of the preliminary hearing. Judge McDill ordered Campbell held for trial under $30,000 bail on nine counts of burglary.

Miss Carewe identified property taken from her apartment at 1473 3-4 North Havenhurst street, where she resided at the time of the burglary. Rita Darnell, also of the films, told of a missing picture of her which police later found in Campbell's home. Mary McIntire and Marjorie Hoffman identified clothing taken from their apartment at 5843 Gregory avenue.

Mrs. E. H. Klamroth, 1336 South Westlake avenue, identified silverware and clothing.

Stahlman said Campbell will be charged with other burglaries when plunder valued at more than $20,000 is identified.

SUIT OVER DANCER NOT TO BE TRIED

Plaintiff Drops $20,000 Action as Film Director Settles for $500

Dismissal of a $20,000 suit against William Nigh, motion-picture director, was moved yesterday in the Superior Court at Riverside by counsel for the plaintiff, Leonard Benedict. Counsel's motion disclosed that Benedict, who is employed at Soboba Hot Springs, settled for $500. In his complaint he had asked $10,000 damages for humiliation and $10,000 punitive damages, asserting that Nigh kidnaped him, berated him and landed him in an auto wreck.

Benedict's complaint recited that Nigh forced his way into the plaintiff's room on the night of September 31, 1927, and while representing himself as an officer demanded to know of his relations with Jean Jarvis, a Hollywood dancer. Benedict states that he denied all knowledge of her, whereupon Nigh forced him into an automobile and drove him away in it, upbraiding him continually until the drive ended in a wreck near Hemet. Benedict says he was abandoned in the wreckage, where officers found him and locked him in the Hemet jail for eight hours.

PROTESTS DENIED

Protests against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of streets in the Lookout Mountain Road and Wonderland Avenue Improvement District were denied by the City Council yesterday, opening the way for adoption of the final ordinance.

PORT BELT LINE PERMIT ISSUED

withdraw, the agreement provides such action in a minimum of seven years.

Other than permitting the belt line the use of city rails, which has been given to the individual railroads since 1912, the city surrenders none of its rights or privileges, but on the other hand, places itself in a position to have a voice in the rail development of the harbor such as it has not had in the past.

The city specifically reserves the right to construct or install such additional railroad facilities on land owned by the city as it may deem necessary, and the belt line is required to operate and maintain them, with the exception that such facilities shall not unnecessarily parallel or duplicate present facilities.

The operation represents about fifty-seven miles of city-owned tracks, with a combined sixty-eight miles of privately owned rails, a total of 125 miles having an aggregate valuation of $56,000,000, and obviating the necessity of a bond issue of $40,000,000 for the completion of the city belt line.

WILL SPEED FREIGHT

The belt line will be operated independently from the privately owned railroads under the name of the Harbor Belt Line Railroad. The advantages, as presented by the proponents of the plan, on which it has taken five years to reach an agreement with the railroads, are as follows:

It will greatly facilitate the handling of rail shipments at the harbor. In many instances it will reduce by twenty-four hours the time required to handle cars between the docks and the Los Angeles metropolitan district.

It will secure to every shipper the absolute freedom to direct cars to or from the harbor by any railroad he may choose, giving full freedom in routing.

Greater convenience will be provided shippers within the harbor area because a Harbor Belt Line freight agent at any station south of Anaheim street will accept freight to any point over any of the competing lines.

It is desirable to the railroads because the operation will be handled more efficiently and economically.

BOARD IN CONTROL

As operated for a number of years, the city has had no control over its rail properties other than to terminate its operating agreements with the railroads for use of its belt line tracks at one year's notice. Under the unification agreement the city grants permission to use the city's rail for freight purposes on the condition that this is only through the agency of the Harbor Belt line; that passenger service shall not unreasonably interfere with freight service and that such service on city wharves shall be agreed upon by the passenger carrier, the belt line and the city.

The control of the belt line is vested in a board of control and board of operation.

The employment of the technical superintendent, and auditor down to the day laborer is in the hands of the operating board, so that politics in the operating personnel of the railroad is eliminated. Present employees of the belt line are given preference in employment under the new plan.

The agreement provides that the city will receive $1 for each line haul revenue freight car switched by the belt line and a like amount for each revenue line haul car switched by the belt line for one of the member companies within the unification zone. As rental for their properties, the railroads jointly receive a like amount and apportion it among themselves as they see fit.

ROADS PROVIDE POWER

The city has no liability for any operating deficits or expense of the belt line. While under present conditions the city has no more voice in switching charges, rates and tariffs than a private citizen, under the unification agreement the city's four members of the board of control have an equal voice with the railroads in approving or disapproving these matters.

Upon commencement of the unification operation, switching charges between San Pedro and East San Pedro, which are now 80 cents a ton with a $14.40 per car minimum, will be reduced to 60 cents a ton and $10 per car minimum. The new system of operation will provide other minor charges, but for the first year rates will be on a zonal basis.

The railroads agree among themselves to provide the belt line motive power, cars and equipment. The agreement provides for the entry of new railroads to the harbor and their connection with the belt line.

PITTMAN BACKS ENFORCEMENT

supply of liquor the question will be settled in a hurry.

Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate for President in the last election, is through, so far as seeking office is concerned, Senator Pittman declared. "There is no question but what he will lead the New York delegation at the next national convention and will be a powerful factor in the convention, but he is in business now and he will stay there."

Senator Pittman attempted to explain the defeat of the Democratic party at the polls by saying that, while the questions of prohibition and religion were both strong factors, the fear of the voters was that a change in parties would affect their pocketbooks through the stock market.

"We have become a stock-market-playing nation these last few years. Everybody is in it and everybody is making money out of it. Voters were led to believe that unless the Republican party was returned to power their ventures into the land of stocks and bonds would cease," Senator Pittman said.

"ARIZONA TO RATIFY"

The Nevada Senator expressed confidence that Arizona will ratify the Boulder Dam pact. "Of course, it doesn't make any difference, one way or another, now that six States have ratified," he said. "Nevertheless I feel sure that Arizona will ratify.

"Arizona has had nothing to kick about in regard to the Boulder Dam proposition, so far as I can see," he continued. "Everything that she demanded was incorporated in the bill adopted by Congress. Congress could have gone ahead and built the dam without seeking ratifications from any State. The law giving the United States control over all navigable waters would have provided for that. Arizona charged that the waters are not navigable and that, therefore, the government had no direct authority. But the answer to that is that a boat was run up and down that river for years, hauling mining machinery and passengers. That, the courts have held, is sufficient proof of the river's navigability, so far as Federal rights are concerned.

"President Hoover is deeply interested in the West and its problems, and I feel sure that great benefit will accrue out here from his regime," Senator Pittman declared.

The Nevadan came here on a business trip and left last night for Las Vegas, where he wil spend a few days before going to Washington.

JUDGE DELAYS WEDDING WITH SENTENCE TO JAIL

There will be no wedding bells today for Ileta Montague, 19-year-old Santa Monica waitress. Instead she will begin serving a sentence of nine months in the County Jail, imposed yesterday by Judge Wilson of Superior Court.

Miss Montague was before the court for hearing on her application for probation on a charge of driving while intoxicated. It developed she was driving the car of George Denton, 26-year-old radio dealer, after imbibing highballs of alcohol and orange juice.

The girl's attorney pointed out that she and Denton had taken out an application for a marriage license and that they would be married today if the court would grant probation.

Judge Wilson, however, could not see his way clear to dispose of the matter in this manner. He learned that Miss Montague had known Denton only two weeks at the time she drove his car into another automobile.

"I don't think you know Denton well enough to decide whether you want to marry him now," said the judge. "I think you should deliberate on the matter for a few months, then if you still are inclined to marry him I will permit you to do so."

Judge Wilson made an order granting the girl probation for three years, with the condition that the first nine months be spent in the County Jail. If, at the end of that period, her flame of love for Denton still is burning, the court will grant her liberty and permit a marriage license to issue.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. David Clark presented the case for the State.

Best Will Have Military Rites

Military funeral services will be conducted for Vester Lloyd Best, former police officer in Hawthorne and war veteran of the antiaircraft division, tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the J. E. Dunaway chapel, 193 North Hawthorne Boulevard. A cortege of motorcycle police officers will attend the procession to the grave in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

Mr. Best died last Saturday. He was 39 years of age. He was in France for a year during the World War. The Hawthorne American Legion has taken charge of funeral arrangments. He was a resident of California twenty-two years, seventeen of which were spent in Hawthorne. He was born in Lincoln, Neb. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Best, with whom he residd at 796 Gail avenue, Hawthorne.

NEW P.E. FARE WAR IMPENDS

include intermediate points between the present designated zones.

At present passes to Long Beach sell at $13 monthly, while those to Venice, Ocean Park, Santa Monica and Pasadena cost $9 monthly.

Shortly after the war the company instituted a system in the city, raising the fare from 5 cents to 6 cents between zones, and on December 26, 1921, initiated the 10-cent fare for the two-zone ride. Interurban fares also were increased, most of which prevailed until January 11, 1927, when an application for a rise of from 9 to 25 per cent was requested of the Railroad Commission.

When the plan was sanctioned three 5-cent zones on the Hollywood line were created, which caused considerable opposition among Hollywood riders. Those who live only one or two stops over the line, who do not want to walk the distance, pay the extra 5 cents for the few blocks.

It is announced that bus fares will not be affected.

Judgment for Balm Set Aside

When Mrs. Mary A. Dollarhide sued Mrs. Lina B. Slawson for $50,000, asserting alienation of affections of Lloyd Dollarhide, Dollarhide came to her, the latter explained, and said the suit could be dismissed for $2500.

What was Mrs. Slawson's discomfiture, she told Superior Judge McComb yesterday, to find that instead of the suit being dismissed, a default judgment had been taken against her. She asked in a petition, that the default judgment be set aside, and the matter be put in shape for trial.

The court granted Mrs. Slawson's petition.

TRUSTY GIVEN FOLSOM TERM

Tony Miller Found Guilty of Robbing Chinese

Burglary Committed While on Jail Errand

Police Department Criticised for Carelessness

Convicted of committing burglary while he was out on an errand as a jail trusty, Tony Miller yesterday was sentenced by Judge Fricke to serve from seven years to life in Folsom Penitentiary.

In sentencing Miller, Judge Fricke severely criticised the police department for having permitted Miller to stray from the City Jail, where he was serving a ten-day sentence for drunkenness.

It developed Miller had gone to the room of Yong Yot, a Chinese residing at 411½ North Los Angeles street, and there helped himself to a ring and watch. According to testimony in the case, Yong surprised Miller in his room and a number of Chinese participated in a chase that resulted in Miller's capture.

As a defense, Miller offered the story that he had gone to the room to purchase some morphine, but fearing that the man who had his money would not return, he appropriated the watch and ring as collateral for his money.

Judge Fricke expressed doubt as to this story and found Miller guilty. The court voiced disapproval of the police department's action in making Miller a trusty, pointing out that Miller was known as a "two-time" loser who had already served time in a penitentiary.

Date Fixed for Sadie Brown's Arraignment

Miss Sadie Brown, 40 years of age, will face preliminary hearing on April 2, next, on charges of assault with intent to commit murder, following her asserted attempt to shoot her 83-year-old mother, Mrs. Sarah Brown, to death with a revolver following a family quarrel. Municipal Judge Ambrose fixed the date yesterday when Miss Brown was brought before him for arraignment. Bail was set at $10,000.

The shooting, according to Detective Lieutenant Lyons, occurred in the apartment-house home of the Browns at 6216 South Figueroa street on the 26th inst. Lyons was unable to determine the motives which actuated the daughter in her attempt to shoot her mother. Miss Brown told him that she shot "because she enraged me so that I couldn't help myself." The bullet penetrated the aged woman's back near the right shoulder. She is expected to recover.

Gossip says that Charles Evans Hughes is the unofficial adviser of the administration. A corporation would be glad to pay $100,000 a year to the same gentleman for the same service. The country is lucky.

OUT OF THE WEST

Northcutt Ely, one of the two executive assistants to Secretary Wilbur of the Department of the Interior, has been a member of a New York law firm for a long time, but the funny thing is that he was born in Arizona. Usually the drift has been the other way. Anyhow, let's see what he does with the Colorado River.

DRY LILLBOARDS

When clubs and societies are seeking to put the kibosh on billboard advertising the drys are urging a billboard campaign in the interest of prohibition. Thirst is not to be quenched with posters, but it is still possible to preach temperance through roadside literature. Whether the plan is effective is another problem.

NO MARKET

The forgers who turned out documents to show that Senator Borah was in cahoots with the soviet leaders of Russia are being driven from Prussia and will be locked up if they try to return. No country wants them. In view of various things the market for forged diplomatic documents is rather rotten just now.

LOOKING BACKWARD

A German paleontologist—or whatever it is that scrapes the breastbone of the universe—asserts that there were men on this earth before the glacial period. He says, in fact, that there were men before the monkeys arrived. Maybe this evolution business has been working backward and the leading chimpansees in Africa had grandfathers who were aldermen in Atlantis.

MORE EFFICIENCY

Presidents Wilson, Harding and Coolidge delivered their first messages to Congress in person and by the medium of the spoken word. It is said to be the purpose of President Hoover to revert to the usual custom and send his communication to both branches of Congress by messenger. There are plenty of messengers and what are they for but to bear messages? This would be efficiency. Also instead of addressing the statesmen for a couple of hours the President can be checking over lists of patriots who have been commended for office.

FLYING LOW

The zooming of these big planes flying low over the studios where talking pictures are being made is inspiring heart failure in some of the directors. The studios are presumed to be sound-proof and even whispering is forbidden during periods of dramatic action, but the droning of the motors is a strong and persistent sound which manages to seep through any and everything. Something will have to be done about it. We can't have the sound effects of an aviation meet in every picture. Either the flye. will have to be trained to keep away from the movie zone or else we must go back to the silent drama.

THE PROHIBITION PROGRAM

Representative newspapers the country over, outside such unreconstructed areas as New York, Chicago and Boston, show a disposition to support President Hoover's prohibition enforcement plans and approve heartily his proposed commission on the reorganization of the courts, which is expected to favor changes in court procedure to expedite justice. The President's plea for popular co-operation, made in his inaugural address, has not fallen upon deaf ears, and it is generally declared, even by papers inclined to doubt the wisdom of prohibition, that he is entitled to full support in his enforcement program. Even the very wet New York World finds space to say:

"We do not regret the fact that the country is now about to witness a test of prohibition in a new mood and on an entirely new scale. For since the American people are not ready to modify the law, the best alternative is a real effort to enforce it."

The St. Paul Pioneer Press, Indianapolis News, Kansas City Star, Philadelphia Enquirer, Detroit News, Minneapolis Journal, New Orleans Times-Picayune, Louisville Courier-Journal, and others promise full support of any efforts of the President's at law enforcement.

That such support is important, even necessary, can hardly be denied. The press creates, molds and reflects public opinion to a very great degree and it would be virtually impossible for any great national movement to succeed without it. To support President Hoover in an effort which unmistakably is intended for the public welfare is a patriotic duty, and that it is viewed in this light by the majority of American papers is apparent. At the present time only the Hearst chain is indulging in an effort to thwart and frustrate the administration in carrying out the mandate of the Constitution and of the last national election.

The President asked in his address for better "concurrent action" by the various States, and if the opinion of County Counsel Mattoon is correct, this will be given in California by the automatic adoption of the Jones law provisions, providing maximum punishment of five years in jail and $10,000 fine. In some portions of the country this law is being criticised as unnecessarily severe; most of the critics, however, are the same that have been hammering at the authorities for failure to deal adequately with the liquor situation.

The severest penalties are not intended to apply to minor and casual offenders; the court is merely given power to apply to professional bootleggers punishment commensurate with their offense, and sufficient to act as a deterrent even to the largest and most impudent defiers of the law. It is certain that any violator sentenced under the Jones law cannot complain of not having received due notice, since the new provision has been given extensive advertising. The courts can be relied upon to use the maximum penalty only for aggravated cases.

Since the Wright Act, the State enforcement act of California, contains a clause adopting all amendments to the Volstead Act, it is the opinion of the County Counsel that the Jones law is now part of the law of California, enforceable in State as well as Federal courts. This means that bootlegging can be made so expensive that few will care to engage in it. If the local courts will impose these penalties upon those who deserve them, there will be a noticeable drying up and prohibition will become really effective.

Such co-operation on the part of the courts and enforcement officers is expected by President Hoover, and should be given him.

EMPLOYMENT IMPROVES

"All in all," says a recent report of the Department of Labor, "employment conditions in 1929 are better than usual." This important and reassuring statement is based upon the results of a survey made by the Secretary of Labor upon the order of the national Senate. The report is for the month of February. An increase in industrial employment has been shown each February since 1922, but the increase of last February is far greater than in any of the six Februarys preceding.

Radical Americans who profess to have the interests of "the masses" at heart have been fond of spouting about "unemployment," which has been said to be depressingly prevalent all over the country. Congress itself, or the undiscerning and irresponsible portion of it, became much worked up over the matter a year ago. One ill-informed Senator went so far as to say that there were then "at least 4,000,000 individuals out of work." It was largely because of the loose talk of such people that the Senate ordered the survey, which was readily undertaken by Secretary Davis, although he assured the Senators that the shrinkage in employment was less than 2,000,000.

Secretary Davis's estimate was borne out by the survey, the shrinkage being only about 6 per cent in 1928, while in February of this year the report shows an increase of 4.7 per cent over the same month in last year. Moreover, February, 1929, showed an increase of nearly 2 per cent over January, with a pay roll increase of 6.9 per cent.

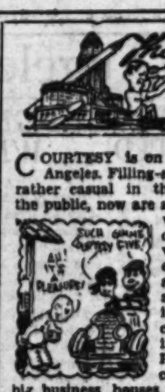
It is true, as the Washington Post points out, that there is no reason to expect anything but continued increase in employment. Activity in the building trades has been resumed, the automobile industry plans increased production schedules and general trade and industry report increased sales and consumption. This is particularly true of the Pacific Coast, where many new industrial plants are being planned or erected. Unemployment croakers are politely requested to go away back and sit down.

MARKED DOWN

Naturally women will continue to be admitted free to the ball park, but the league has made a rate to the boss of three for a dime for those he has to pay for. This sounds as much like charity as recognition. The ladies should feel at home at the bargain counter.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey



COURTESY is on the wax in Los Angeles. Filling-station men, once rather casual in their handling of the public, now are as polite as Swiss waiters. Drug clerks meet you with a studied deference. Chain-store employees are rounded up in night-school classes in meeting the public. Public service corporations and big business houses are instructing their employees that the public is always right, or the customer is always right—they must not argue or deny. In fact, it's getting so that half the citizens of Los Angeles can't afford to grouch, grumble, or be unpleasant until they get safely within their own homes.

And yesterday we heard of a courteous traffic cop!

When Every Horn Grows Helpful

Arthur Dodge, the artist, grew absent-minded as he drove down First-street hill. It's hard to keep one's mind on mundane things when one's an artist, and it's spring, and against the scintillant blue sky, the tinted after-rain clouds gather round City Hall Dome as around a mountain peak. For a moment Arthur forgot just where he was—and that was the moment he ran into the traffic jam at Figueroa.

For the first time in years of driving experience, he lost his head. He stopped and then couldn't start again. He created a jam. Horns to right of him, horns to left of him, horns behind him honked vehemently, but even that didn't help him any. A sort of panic captured him. He'd killed his engine, and was in high, and didn't know it. Encouraged by about 200 honkers, he yanked at everything till the car started with a jump—and smashed into another car.

The Miracle

And then a motorcycle cop rode up. If he hadn't had on his insignia, nobody would have known he was a motor cop, for he didn't yell, "Hey, there!" or "Wotinhell ya thinkya doin'?" He did not yell at all. Nor sneer. Nor scowl. Nor tell Arthur he ought to be driving a baby buggy instead of a motor car. He didn't use a single cutting wisecrack. Instead, he acted friendly and helpful. He made his way quietly to where Arthur was earnestly doing the wrong things and took in the situation.

"You're just a little flustered," he said. "Let me get in and get you out of this."

Hard to Believe

He got in, took the wheel—graciously—drove the car out of the jam, cleared up the rest of the tangle with a few well-chosen waves of his hand, and then said to Arthur:

"Now let's go back and see what damage you've done this other fellow."

They went back. The officer took the names of both men, the numbers of both cars, and had them exchange cards. Arthur also produced Automobile Club credentials.

"You see, you are quite sure of protection," the cop said to the owner of the damaged car. "Eve-ything's quite all right."

So everybody smiled at everybody else and the party broke up.

No Ulterior Motive

"Where are you going?" the officer asked Arthur.

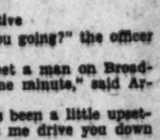
"I have to meet a man on Broadway in about one minute," said Arthur.

"Well, this has been a little upsetting. Better let me drive you down there, too."

So he hopped in again, drove Arthur till he saw he was quite composed again, then got out, waved farewell with a pleasant smile and went his way without even giving his name.

May His Tribe Increase!

But Arthur thinks the name of such a cop should be blazoned on the skies. And we think a monument should be erected to him. For when the Age of Courtesy has become golden the whole land will want to give honor to the man who was the pioneer, the Columbus, the Lindbergh of his profession, the man who first imported the London Bobby manner to the Pacific Coast, and improved on it. So we went to the Traffic Bureau and looked him up. He is W. O. Mellon, Motorcycle Officer No. 30.



No Bull About This

"Gored by his own ox" is an old expression. So of course the directory editors didn't have that in mind when, W. A. S. points out, they printed, on page 237 of the new phone book, the line:

Gore, J. G.....OX 5456

But they did show a certain sense of fitness when they assigned these numbers:

Adohr Creamery.....OX 7011
Houck's Farm Creamery...MU 0572
Sanitary Gold Seal Dairy....OX 1011

Now we suppose somebody will turn over to the Real Estate section of the Buyer's Guide to see which ones are keyed BU.

OUTDOOR EASTER

The church of the great outdoors is always open for men to come and rest and pray. It holds special exercises twice a year in Southern California—Easter and Christmas. Saints feel at home in it and sinners fly there for sanctuary. No ritual excludes the untutored. No holy of holies forbids from its oracles and blessings. Sex is no barrier to its offices and benefits.

The great sun floods it with light by day and the stars glisten in its multiple candelabra by night. Rosy fingers loop back the cloud curtains from the altar at dawn and mocking birds and meadow larks are among the choristers that throng its choir loft.

Great redwoods pillar its nave and pines and peppers arch transept and cloister. Its Easter aisles are carpeted with green in which is a delicate tracery of flowers. Even the rugs of the desert are tacked down by verbenas and buttercups driven in by the raindrop hammers.

The temple of the great outdoors was built by Deity ages before the worshiper appeared. The mountain was the first altar and pulpit. Here every man is priest and every bit of sagebrush in the desert is a burning bush. Every spot of earth is holy ground.

When man becomes gnarled and twisted in his thinking, he needs to go out and touch Nature to be restored to normality. Ancient air befogs theology. Drawn blinds and closed shutters hide and breed ancient wrongs. Parasites flourish down in the dark and damp. The weak alone need walls and leaning walls need stays.

Youth grows cramped and stunted in the windowless slums. Life and religion were made for the light and light was made for life and religion. Light and fresh air are antiseptic for both person and piety.

Deity may be found in the cloister; but he cannot be cribbed and cabined there forever. Closed doors and stained glass stifle and hamper his finest functions. The eternal quietude oppresses him. He is life. Even the harsh, grating riveter and the motorman's offerings become music high up in the air. The very stars are tuned and sing together. He is the God of the open air.

He who first climbed Mt. Rubidoux on an Easter morning was more than a tavern keeper; he was a priest and poet. Some thought it was just a breakfast bell; but he called the world to worship. He started a contagion. Nor was it iconoclastic; for even the churches have been filled, not emptied. The peril of today lies in the mistaken ardor of some devotee who would build a temple and house the idea there. A tabernacle on Mt. Rubidoux would be crass profanation.

Then over to the Coliseum, across to Hollywood Bowl, out to Eagle Rock, up to Mt. Wilson, down to Rubidoux! Hie even to some pinnacle in the desert and tangle the morning with your worship!

CONFESSION

By James J. Montague

If a kid is intrigued, the psychiatrists say,
By the plots of the popular thrillers,
If he gets a big kick from a book or a play
Which deals with detectives and killers,
If he's fond of the films in which villains are base
And their victims are game and defiant,
He is likely to lag far behind in the race,
For he's no intellectual giant.

The very best minds are not readily stirred
By deeds that are overtly evil;
Their brain cells will function without being spurred
By a violent mental upheaval.
If a child is aroused by the commonplace lure
Of piracy, pillage and plunder
His parents, alas, may be perfectly sure
That he never will be any wonder.

It is sad to reflect that the millions who find
Their principal evening enjoyment
In pictures or tales of the blood-curdling kind
Which make crime an exciting employment.
Can never achieve the approval and praise
Of judicious, unprejudiced teachers,
But though steeped in excitement, must live out their days
As conventional, average creatures.

As for me, having long lost the yearning or fame,
I am never so gay and light hearted
As when the base villain has erred in his aim
And the real bitter shooting is started.
I hear with delight the wild outcries of rage
From the gangsters the hero makes war on;
I like my stuff rough on the screen and the stage
Although it may prove I'm a moron.

Sun Worship

GLENDALE, March 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Apropos of the query in today's Times, by I. W. N. as to why so many ill-bred people attend the sunrise services on Easter morning, I would like to ask why any well-informed Christian attends this service. All anyone has to do to discover that Easter is beyond any question a festival surviving from the old pagan system of sun worship, is to go to the reference room of the Los Angeles Public Library and look up what the encyclopedias and other authorities say on the subject of Easter. The chief hour of pagan worship, he will find, was at sunrise; and it is a perfectly logical development that has made the Easter sunrise service, unknown when I was a boy, the chief service of the day.

LEON A. SMITH.

Or Were They Cranes?

MONROVIA, March 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Times of March 19, contained an item from Ontario entitled "Geese Heed Call Northward."

Your correspondent mentions Ontario as a "mobilization point" and tells how the geese came singly, by pairs, by threes and in sets of fours, and after sweeping over the city in wide circles to gain altitude, the flock of about twenty-five headed straight for the mountains.

In migrating northward in the spring from the Imperial Valley and points farther south, the wild geese in flocks of a hundred or more, come mostly into the San Gorgonio Pass, flying at an altitude of 1000 to 2000 feet. Coming on down the San Gabriel Valley they follow the coast range, maintaining an altitude of 4000 to 5000 feet and then veer to the north.

The birds your correspondent saw were Sandhill cranes. His description of their maneuvers fits them perfectly. They are quite often mistaken for geese.

Easter Gifts

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As a humane officer of the Los Angeles Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals I write this letter of protest against the practice of parents giving small children baby chickens and small rabbits for Easter presents for this reason.

The average small child while not inherently cruel, causes the death of at least 80 per cent of these animals and birds through the ignorance of the proper way in which they should be cared for and handled.

Hoping that you will give this wide publicity, I remain,

CHARLES B. CRAIG.

Minimum Temperatures

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It might be well to call attention of the Weather Bureau to the fact that we had a white frost, covering the roofs of buildings in the vicinity of Vermont and Adams streets on the mornings of March 24 and 25, where the thermometer registered below 32 deg.

The Weather Bureau, on the days following gave the minimum temperatures in Los Angeles at 40 and 41 deg., respectively.

I presume the difference of 8 to 10 degrees is due to the fact that the Bureau's instruments are on top of a building, corner Main and Sixth streets, near the center of an artificially heated area of the city.

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Garment Alterations?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address: Louise L. Temple, care of The Times. All public school classes are suspended for the week of March 25-29, for the Easter vacation, reopening April 1.]

Salaries for a good finishing woman in alteration work run from $16 to $22 per week, with a minimum of $16. Not every woman can succeed at this work, for it requires steady nerves and swift movements, to keep within the time limit which is written on a card and attached to every garment.

The Frank Wiggins Trade Evening High School, on Venice Boulevard, between Hill street and Grand avenue, offers a four-months course, of two evenings a week in alterations. Only people in the trade, or those previously engaged in it are admitted to the class. Students work on their own garments and on those of friends; and occasionally, when there is time, outside patrons are accommodated at a small charge.

This course teaches the shortest and easiest methods in adjusting standard-sized garments to fit and suit the individual, and in finishing and making decorative parts. Both machine work and finishing work is included in the course. Workroom pressing is also taught, and students are drilled in the chief difficulties to avoid.

The instructor is Ethel Foster, who has had years of experience in the alteration departments of large Los Angeles stores.

The class meets Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7 to 9 p.m. Instruction is free, and there is no expense except an enrollment fee of $1 a year.

FLOOD CURE IS HARD PROBLEM

BY ARTHUR L. MacKAYE

Two years ago, in the spring of 1927, the entire country was startled as well as shocked by news of the devastation and loss of life caused by the almost unprecedented floods of the Mississippi River, during which the relief work accomplished by the American Red Cross organization, as well as the outstanding humanitarian work under the direction of Herbert Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, was notable. The expenditure of untold millions of dollars to control future floods from the "Father of Waters," has been decided upon by the seventieth Congress.

But now there is a recurrence of flood disaster in the South. This time the States of Alabama, Florida and Georgia are the principal sufferers. In the southern and western parts of these States there is a network of rivers separated by low-lying ridges. In these fertile river lands the present floods are wiping out, not only millions of dollars' worth of property values, but what is more important, scores of lives and the homes of an agricultural yeomanry which has been planted on the soil there for generations, while the negro tenant farmer has practically been reduced to destitution, according to the latest accounts.

In Alabama the centers of the flooded districts, for there are a number of detached centers to this comprehensive flood, are found in Escambia, Covington, Coffee, Geneva, Dale, Henry and Houston counties.

The western counties of Florida, including Santa Rosa, Walton, Holmes and Washington counties, are the greatest sufferers in this State, where the Chattahoochee and Choctawhatchee rivers, with their scores of small tributaries, flow through a rich land, well settled.

In Georgia it is principally along the Chattahoochee River, which is the boundary between that State and Alabama, that the flood is at its worst, with the most disastrous effects in Clay, Early and Decatur counties, through which almost innumerable small rivers and creeks flow into and swell the flooded waters of the Chattahoochee.

In all of this flooded district, with thousands of fertile acres under water, the crop loss will be tremendous, though as yet unestimated. At one time the principal, if not the only crop, was cotton, but in the past few years a much more diversified planting has taken place, so that a final estimate of damage will take longer to determine. Meanwhile these farmers who have lost their all will have to be cared for.

Undoubtedly President Hoover will bring his great knowledge of general flood conditions to bear upon the present problem, or problems, in the South, for it is almost certain that Congress will be asked to take some action toward flood control in these districts as in the Mississippi Valley, with the result that President Hoover will probably be called upon to appoint a commission of engineers and army officers to determine upon a plan of action to curb these unruly rivers with Indian names, which so often go on the war path.

But the problem of curing the flood disease which has always more or less affected these low-lying lands is entirely different from that of the Mississippi Valley. There one immense artery must be harnessed, but in Alabama, Georgia and Florida, three if not four great waterways must be controlled.

What is the cure for these sudden floods? This is a question asked thousands of times and answered in many ways. One of the most effective ways would be to so deepen the main channels of the Escambia, Yellow, Choctawhatchee and Chattahoochee rivers that they would be able to receive the flood waters of their hundreds of minor tributaries without overflowing their banks, or causing floods in their branches by backwater.

Such action to deepen these main channels would, naturally, be expensive. However, a score of suction dredges would, in a comparatively short time, not only deepen, but straighten these channels and at the same time fill in thousands of acres of low lands with a rich silt comparable with the deposit from the annual Nile floods of Egypt, thus rehabilitating this part of the country, which is now always under the threat of disaster every time there is an unusually heavy rainy season.

A YELLOW IRIS

Its yellow petals honey-sweet with dew
Lift arrogantly in the southern sun;
And well they may for did not such an one
The smile of Beatrice in summer woo?
Did not the richness of its golden hue
Win praise from Dante, who with rhetoric spun
Melodious words, whose fame has yet to run
The course of many unborn centuries through?

So fair a thing as this can only be
Divine expression molded in a flower,
Giving its substance that the seed may live,
Breath born of breath of life itself the key;
Even as great emotions of an hour
An inspiration to the race can give.

PEN POINTS

The old songs glorified some particular state of locality, but jazz songs seem to express nothing but a general mental state.

If all were sensible, think how many who now cater to it would be thrown out of work.

Why is yellow the paint of cowardice? The first flowers to risk spring frosts are the yellow ones.

Crime isn't necessary, but the world contains millions who will grab at anything offered "free."

Another ice age is predicted in about 30,000 years, so it may be a good idea to keep away from Florida lots.

USELESS ADVICE

The old gray man, he lit his pipe and handed counsel out and ripe to all the lads about his view; "Don't smoke," he said, "and do not chew. Tobacco uses up your wealth and undermines your health; it is the source of nicotine, which poison stains your vitals green and turns your joints and bones to lime, and cuts you off before your time. The graveyards they are jammed, indeed, with men who used the filthy weed who might today be making good at cutting grass or splitting wood. Tobacco stains the human teeth, which should be white as snow; wreath; it gives the user such a scent as to offend a cultured gent; it is a nuisance and a pest, a thing good boys should detest. You think my counsel is a joke because while thus I talk I smoke. It is because I smoke I talk just why tobacco causes cancer. I've smoked my pipe for many years, and it's too late to quit, my dears. But while I smoke I realize that any youth who is truly wise will roundly loathe my rede and vow he'll never touch the weed." The wise old fellow merely bore who follow what they deplore. The delegate who lighted up in vain declares he's brimming cup a rank delusion and a snare—he gets the hook, the laugh everywhere. The man who likes a poker game will say that gambling is a shame and warn the young, but he'll just grin at Beelzebub relax his sin. And so the old man sat his pipe hears all the youngsters crying, "Tripe," when he explains that smoking leads to early graves and widows' weeds.

LOUGHRAN WINS DECISION OVER MICKEY WALKER

LIGHT-HEAVY CHAMPION OUT-BOXES RING RIVAL

Title-holder Wins as He Pleases in All but Sixth Round When Foe Almost Scores Knockout

BY CHARLES W. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, March 28. (AP)—The age-old adage that a good big man can beat a good little man still holds good insofar as Tommy Loughran, world's light-heavyweight champion, is concerned.

Loughran, the master boxer, successfully resisted the assaults of [illegible] Mickey Walker to win his third world boxing title tonight by decisively defeating him in a ten-round battle opening Paddy Harmon's $7,000,000 Chicago stadium.

The verdict, however, was not unanimous, as Davey Miller, the referee, cast his ballot for Walker, the middleweight titleholder, with the two judges, Eddie [illegible] and Phil Collins, one of the [illegible] of Chicago's referees, voting for Loughran. The score sheets shown [illegible] give six rounds to Loughran with Klein giving him eight. [illegible] gave Walker two rounds and called the other two even. Klein [illegible] Walker one round, and called [illegible] other one even. Referee Miller gave five rounds to Walker, one to Loughran and the rest square.

Harris Asks for Waivers on Heilmann

PHOENIX, March 28. (AP) — The Arizona Republican said today that Manager Stanley Harris of the Detroit Tigers, agitated at the showing of his team in practice games here and at Los Angeles, has delivered an ultimatum to his players on training rules, and has asked for waivers on Harry Heilmann, famous ball player.

HARRY HEILMANN

Harris, the paper said, "laid down the law" to his players following the game with the Pittsburgh Pirates here, and then outlined his system of training, which provides for the utmost freedom, but demands his players to be in the "proper condition."

Heilmann, four times leading hitter of the American League, and regarded as the club's outstanding player, was described by the paper as the "principal offender with a total disregard

OUT TO SPEAR TROJAN TRACK TITLE HOPES

Coach Walter Christie, veteran California track-and-field coach, hopes to do just that in the Coliseum tomorrow, and he is depending on Capt. Curtice, adept javelin thrower, to do as much as anybody else, to turn the trick. Curtice rates among the best toothpick-tossers on the Coast, and along with Baxter and Churchill, has high hopes of shutting out the local athletes in that particular event. The Golden Bears are due to arrive here this morning at 9:45 aboard Mr. Espee's well-known Padre.

TROJAN COACH CONFIDENT

Predicts Southern California Athletes Will Win Over California in Coliseum Tomorrow

BY RALPH HUSTON

Radiating acute optimism, Dean B. Cromwell, veteran Trojan track-and-field coach, yesterday predicted that his Southern California athletes would thump the University of California in the Coliseum in their annual track meet Saturday. The margin of victory was mentioned as 71-60, and Cromwell proceeded to prove his point, with pencil and paper.

"Without Pogolotti, they haven't a chance. With the star hurdler running, they might prove a surprise, but as he is out with an injured ankle, they can't win." Thus spake the Trojan mentor.

The biggest surprise in Cromwell's predictions came in the shot put, when he gave Clarence Schleimer and Sam Kline, his two varsity hopefuls, first and second places. "All of the dopesters have been sadly wrong here," Cromwell said. "We have been so poorly supplied with weight men the past few years, that it has become a habit to give us a possible third against almost any opposition. But I consider eight points for us in the shot put the biggest cinch of the entire meet."

SEATTLE (Wash.) March 28.—The breaking of one world's indoor record and the establishment of four other indoor records featured Stanford's 73-to-58 victory over Washington in an indoor track meet here tonight. It was a contest featured with thrills from beginning to end and every race was a battle from start to finish. The Washington Huskies upheld their prestige as a great track aggregation and outscored the Stanford intercollegiates on the cinder path, but the power of the Cardinals in the field events decided the meet in their favor.

Tommy Says Mickey Walker Great Little Fighter But Thinks He Won Battle Easily

BY TOMMY LOUGHRAN
Light-heavyweight Champion of the World

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

CHICAGO, March 28. (Exclusive)—I repulsed the vicious attack of Mickey Walker on my light-heavyweight championship at the new Chicago Stadium, before 20,000 people tonight.

Mickey is a great little fighter, a bulldog scrapper if there ever was one. There never was a minute that he did not keep trying. He was rushing in continually.

MICKEY WALKER

However, the old theory that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points was pretty well proved. Mickey hooked most of punches, while my jab kept his off, and made him miss. He's tough, though, as tough a fellow as I've ever met. Several times I stopped boxing, and went in to slug with him but neither of us was particularly hurt by the exchanges.

There is one thing I know, getting down to weight was an arduous task. I didn't realize how fast I was growing into a heavyweight. It was a job to come in under the limit of my class, and I left something in the gymnasium. I wasn't as strong as I have been while fighting the bigger fellows, not by a long shot.

It seemed to me that I won rather easily in spite of Walker's fine efforts. I kept him missing all the time and when he came in under the jab I ripped him with a right to the body that took some of the steam out of him. Fighting out of a crouch against a man who had considerable advantage in height he had to loop his blows and that

HANK SEVEREID IS HERO AS SOLONS DOWN STARS

SACRAMENTO, March 28. (Exclusive)—"Hank" Severeid took his big black bat in hand again today in the ninth inning and poled a line-drive home run over the left-field wall to give Sacramento its third straight victory over the Hollywood Stars, 3 to 2.

HANK SEVEREID

Frank Shellenback, whom the Solons have not beaten twice on their home grounds in the last two seasons, was on the mound for the Stars and apparently had the game in hand until the eighth inning. But Joe Harris delivered a timely single with two out and two strikes on him, to drive home Johnny Monroe with the tying tally and then came Severeid in the next frame with his home-run blow.

The pitching of Shellenback, although he lost, and of Ed Ryan, who made his first start for the Senators, and the fielding of Camilli at first base were the outstanding features of an exciting ball game.

The Stars chased over a run in the first inning on base hits by Lee and Rollings, and a field out by Alberts. The score was tied up by Sacramento in the second frame when Harris drove a single through Maloney. Rohwer sacrificed and Severeid and Burke followed with one-base blows.

With Shellenback hurling almost unhittable baseball the one tally which the Stars chalked up in the first half of the fifth inning looked monumental for three innings. That run came about as the result of a walk issued to Bassler, Shellenback's infield out and a two-base drive by Dudley Lee.

Bryan launched the tying eighth-inning rally with a single and took third on Monroe's double. It was Monroe's first hit of the season. Bryan was thrown out at the plate on Camilli's tap to Shellenback, but Harris came through with a single that scored Monroe.

The Stars looked better today than in any of the two previous

Winston Fuller Defeats Buddie Thompson, 3 and 2, in Pasadena Invitation

SECOND-ROUND MATCHES TODAY

Extra-Hole Battles Feature First Day's Play

Rucker Upsets Mackey After Close Clash, 1 Up

Consolation Round Set for Tomorrow Morning

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Russell "Buddie" Thompson of the Oakmont Country Club, medalist, dropped a 3-to-2 match to Winston Fuller of the Los Angeles Country Club yesterday in a first-round match of the Pasadena Golf Club invitation tournament.

Thompson's defeat was not exactly an upset, as Fuller has been playing excellent golf and was runner-up in the San Gabriel invitational. Both, by the way, are attending the University of Southern California. Thompson won the Southern California intercollegiate championship last year as a freshman.

The only other match in the championship flight that can be called an upset was the defeat of Jack Mackey, Los Angeles Country Club golfer, at the hands of Monte Rucker of Pasadena, 1 up.

Defeated sixteen of the championship flight will make up the first flight today.

A number of high-powered second-round matches are scheduled today in the championship flight. Milo M. Marchetti and George Lanee, both of Rancho, are expected to put up quite a battle. Lanee reached the peak of his game a short time ago to win the A. K. Bourne Gold Ball, and is a favorite to win the Pasadena tournament.

Fuller tackles Paul R. Jones of Rancho in another good match. Denny Sangster and W. W. Beckwith, Paul Lavelle and H. A. Greene, E. B. Chambers and E. F. Combs, Jr., should also furnish close matches.

Bill Spaulding, U.C.L.A. football coach, had a bad day, but still managed to give L. B. Harbour a good match before admitting defeat, 1 down.

A consolation round is scheduled tomorrow morning for nonqualifiers and those defeated in first-round matches.

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT, 1:15 P.M.

Winston Fuller defeated Buddy Thompson, 3 and 2; Paul R. Jones defeated R. Schuyler, 3 and 2; W. F. Rucker defeated Jack Mackey, 1 up; Dick Thompson defeated Dr. Bruce Bellis, 3 and 2; Dan Sangster defeated F. C. Stevens, 2 up; Denny Sangster defeated Ralph Lloyd, 4 and 3; Morris S. and C. M. Forward Press Aids Relaxing

SLIDE OF HIPS ALSO PLUNGES LEFT ARM AROUND BENEATH BODY
GRIPPER
THE INITIAL HIP MOVEMENT DOES ALL THIS

BY SOL METZGER

Abe Mitchell does not believe in beginning the backswing in golf without a preparatory movement. This movement, which tends to relieve any tightness one may assume with his muscles, is a slight forward press toward the ball of the right hip. Then he immediately starts the backswing.

The initial movement of his backswing proper is to slide the hips straight on their line to the right. This lowers the left shoulder and hip, as one can readily see by assuming his golf stance and trying it without using a club.

Now this lowering of the left shoulder by means of a lateral glide to the right of the hips places one, as the larger sketch shows, in position to let the left arm move around and beneath the body, which is just what the long driver must do if this arm is to take the club back and remain straight.

When you fail to do that—place the body in position to let the left arm swing around and beneath it—you have to bend this arm to take back the club. That means poor form and loss of power. Tomorrow—how Mitchell starts the club back.

Sol Metzger has prepared a leaflet on some vital points to remember in putting. He will send this to any reader sending him a stamped, addressed envelope. Address this paper.

Oilers Picked to Take Title

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 28.—Huntington Beach High School will be host to 900 athletes here Saturday afternoon when nine schools compete for honors in the annual Orange League track and field meet. With eight athletes qualified in the 100, 220 and 440-yard dash and the high and low hurdles, Coach Harry Sheue's Huntington Beach "Oilers" hold a decided advantage over the other Orange county schools.

Anaheim and Orange were close behind the Oilers with seven men each entered in the finals. Fullerton qualified five, Brea-Olinda, four; Tustin three, and Garden Grove one.

It is expected that Anaheim will furnish most of the competition for the beach city, while Orange, Trustin and Fullerton are conceded outside chances.

Alvin Koenig, flashy Huntington Beach sprinter, who ran the 100-yard dash in the snappy time of 9 4-5s, and the 220-yard dash in 22 seconds flat, recently, is expected to come through for a first place in both events. Darnley, Anaheim ace, is given an excellent chance to cop both the hurdles for the Garland school.

100-yard dash, first heat—Bluett (Anaheim) first, McVeigh (Fullerton) second. Time, 10 1-5s.
Second heat—Koenig (Huntington Beach) first, Kind (Tustin) second. Time, 10s.
Third heat—Shoemaker (Anaheim) first, Burns (Fullerton) second. Time, 10 2-5s.
220-yard dash, first heat—Kind (Tustin) first, Rohrs (Orange) second. Time, 22s.
Second heat—Bluett (Anaheim) first, Koenig (Huntington Beach) second. Time, 23s.
Third heat—Shoemaker (Anaheim) first, Todd (Orange) second. Time, 23 4-5s.
440-yard dash, first heat—Greenwald (Huntington Beach) first, McVeigh (Fullerton) second, Welty (Orange) third. Time, 54 4-5s.
Second heat—Schuh (Anaheim) first, Bush (Huntington Beach) second, Wagner (Orange) third. Time, 56 3-5s.
120-yard high hurdles, first heat—Darnley (Anaheim) first, Ratcliff (Huntington Beach) second, Fairbairn (Orange) third. Time, 19s.
Second heat—Williams (Fullerton) first, Oliver (Huntington Beach) second, Miles (Orange) third. Time, 17 3-5s.
220-yard low hurdles, first heat—Darnley (Anaheim) first, Sommers (Huntington Beach) second, Seacord (Tustin) third. Time, 27s.
Second heat—Garroway (Orange) first, Vidal (Huntington Beach) second, Koger (Fullerton) third. Time, 27 4-5s.

TROJAN SWIMMERS ENTER JUNIOR MEET

University of Southern California will enter teams in the national junior championships in swimming and water polo at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tomorrow, it was announced today by Willis O. Hunter, director of athletics at S.C.

The Trojan water polo team, which recently defeated the University of Oregon and U.C.L.A. paddlers, will line up in the championship meet as follows: Ed Bittke, right forward; Bud Pessler, left forward; Capt. Carlos Schuessler, right guard; Jack Saulk, left guard; Oscar Simmons, sprint; Bela Kendall, center back, and Jim Reinhard, goal.

WALKER BOWS TO LOUGHRAN

Light-heavy Champion in Ring Victory

indoor sports palace in the world, held less than 20,000, with the gate receipts estimated at $175,000. The upper balconies, holding the occupants of the cheaper seats, were packed to capacity but the main floor of the arena and the mezzanine section had yawning gaps of empty space.

If the gate receipts did hit the $175,000 mark, Loughran will receive approximately $96,000 or 55 per cent, out of this he must pay Walker $50,000. He had agreed to pay the challenger only $16,000 if he had lost his prized light-heavyweight championship title. In addition to handing Mickey $50,000, Loughran also must pay part of the purse that went to Leo Lomski and Tuffy Griffith. They fought a terrific ten-round battle in the semi-wind-up with the decision going to Griffith.

Various reasons were offered for the failure of the battle to draw a capacity crowd.

First of all was the prices for the arena and mezzanine seats, which cost the customers $21.60 and $19.80. The boys who pay the freight failed to go for them with the result that thousands were turned away because cheaper seats were not available.

In addition, just before the show opened, a fire broke out in the roof of the huge grey stone building and the gathering of clanging fire engines apparently frightened customers, who had the panic attending the Jackie Fields-Young Jack Thompson fight in the Coliseum Monday night fresh in their minds. One terrifying experience in a week was enough for them.

The fight, if it can be called that, was a contest between an upstanding skillful boxer in Loughran, and a rushing, dogged fighter in Walker. Mickey continually bored in trying to sneak over a punch that might finish the lanky champion and win for him his third world's title, a performance achieved by only one fighter—Bob Fitzsimmons.

Loughran fought his customary defensive battle, poking long lefts into Mickey's face and bringing across an occasional right cross to teach Walker not to get so fresh. Several times Loughran assumed the offensive, flashing a spurt of viciousness, but most of the time he was a defensive battler, piling up points with his long left and causing Mickey to miss with his rasping left hooks and wicked right crosses.

MAKES BIG EFFORT

Walker's big effort was in the fifth round, when he trapped Tommy on the ropes, belting him with a left to the jaw and then crossed his right to the other side of the chin, causing the Philadelphian to buckle a bit and grab on and hold. The punches may have dazed Loughran momentarily, but he was in good shape when he went to his corner.

After this furious assault Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, sent the Jersey bulldog out in the sixth to do or die. Walker yielded to the pleadings of his handlers and set out to annihilate his taller foe, but found every effort tied up with Loughran's defensive tactics.

Whenever the middleweight champion, almost a foot shorter than Loughran, opened up with his wild assault, Tommy Coolly and deliberately smothered him. His long left would shoot out, blocking Mickey's right, or he would stab Walker in the face with his left, keeping him out of range or off balance. Mickey always endeavored to crowd in close to inflict body punishment, but he found that Loughran was well able to take care of himself and do a little inside walloping on his own account.

Gerald Ambrose Griffith, the tough one from Sioux City, Iowa, won the right to meet the winner of the Loughran-Walker bout by getting the verdict over Leo Lomski, the Aberdeen (Wash.) assassin, in the ten-round semifinal. Griffith, by a heavy two-fisted attack, had Lomski in retreat most of the time. By his victory, Griffith wiped out the questionable decision Lomski scored over him a few weeks ago.

Lomski scaled 174 1-2, Griffith 174 3-4.

SETS FAST PACE

Griffith set a bristling pace for Lomski in the first three rounds, capturing the honors in the second and third after dropping the first to the Aberdeen Assassin. Griffith got the range in the third round with heavy right smashes to the jaw, forcing Lomski to retreat to escape. Twice he nailed him with rights in the third, compelling him to grab and hold on.

Griffith continued to score effectively with rights to the head and body in the fourth and fifth with Lomski dancing around, spearing out with long lefts. The bout was stopped fi.. a few seconds in the fifth round because the glove on Lomski's right hand burst open. It had to be replaced.

Griffith suffered a cut over the right eye, which Lomski opened with a rasping left hook. In the sixth he piled in with a pair of right crosses to the head with Lomski switching his attack to the body.

Lomski walked right into a sharp right cross to the chin that all but upset him in the eighth, but he quickly shook it off and came back with long lefts. Lomski opened up furiously in the tenth with Griffith trading punch for punch.

KERWIN WINS

George Kerwin, 133-pounder from Chicago, outpointed Jackie London, Chicago, in the inaugural six-round bout. Jack Gross, Philadelphia heavyweight, won the decision over Big Boy Peterson of New Orleans, after six slugging rounds.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

The judges were Phil Collins, regarded as one of the sects of the Illinois Athletic Commission staff of referees, and Ed Klein, Chicago sixpaper man. Darcy Miller was the referee. Paddy Harmon was introduced and drew a bye hand.

ROUND ONE

They shook hands in the middle of the ring and came out fighting. Walker sneared two lefts to the head. Loughran hooked two lefts to the body. Out in the open they traded lefts to the chin and clinched. Loughran stuck two long lefts to the face. Mickey scored with a left to the body as they clinched. Walker crossed a right to the chin, with Tommy throwing both fists to the body in close. Walker reached Tom's chin with a left hook and caught four punches to the body in return. Walker blocked lefts to the head as the round ended.

ROUND THREE

They clinched in mirding. Mickey hooked two lefts to the head and ducked Tom's left lead. Walker hooked a left to the belt line and then drove two rights to the body. Tom nodded away with long lefts and driving rights to the body as Walker came charging in. Walker scored with a left to the jaw and then missed another to the same spot. Walker mixed a right uppercut. Loughran landed three lefts to the face without a return. Loughran landed two right uppercuts and blocked Walker's right. They missed rights but both inflicted body punishment as they came together. Loughran stabbed two lefts to the face and Mickey hooked his left to the chin.

ROUND FOUR

ROUND SIX

ROUND SEVEN

Loughran banged two rights to the body. Walker hooked a left to the chin and a right to the jaw. He threw another right and they clinched. Walker landed two rights to the jaw. They traded lefts to the face and shoved at close quarters. Both missed rights. Loughran creped a right to the jaw. Mickey put his left to the body and took a left to the body. Loughran planted a right to the jaw. Loughran missed a right to the head. They traded lefts to the head, with Loughran slamming two rights to the body as they tangled. Walker hooked a left to the head and took a right to the jaw. Tommy was bleeding from a cut under his right eye. They traded lefts to the head.

ROUND EIGHT

ROUND NINE

Loughran got busy at once, but missed a right and left to the head. He backed away from two lefts. Mickey missed a left hook, with Loughran nailing him with a right as he came in. Loughran jabbed two lefts to the head. Loughran was making Mickey miss. They traded rights to the head. Tom stabbed four lefts to the face and a right to the jaw. Mickey threw a left to the body. Loughran nailed Walker with a right and left to the chin and then stabbed him with his left. They traded rights to the head on the ropes and clinched. Loughran blocked a left to the jaw. YANKEES TAKE WALLOPING FROM CARDINALS, 10-2

ST. PETERSBURG (Fla.) March 28. (AP)—The Cardinals made it two straight over the Yankees by walloping the champions here today by a score of 10 to 2. Grover Alexander held the Yankees scoreless for six innings while giving three hits. Willie Sherdel was reached for two hits, including Osborn's triple and two runs in the closing frames, partly because of poor fielding. The Cardinals fourteen hits included four triples and a double.

U.C.L.A.-Sagehen Meet Toss-up

BRUIN DASHMEN MAY BEAT BEAR

Hill, Brown, Watson Carry Hopes of Victory

Harry Trotter's Outfit Shows Improvement

Half-Milers May Nose Out Claremont Runners

With the track team of the University of California at Los Angeles greatly improved individually and coll lectively over its showing earlier in the track and field season, the dual meet tomorrow afternoon between the Bruin cinderpath artists and the Pomona College Sagehens looks now to be a toss-up with the final victory going to whichever team gets the breaks. Earlier reckonings gave the advance verdict to the Pomona tracksters, but the improvement in the performance of several Bruin star athletes in doubtful events has evened up the odds.

ROTHERT SETS WORLD RECORD

Olympic Games by John Kuck, still stands.

Eric Krenz took second in this event with a put of 50ft. 1in., while Jessup of the Huskies nosed out Forster of the Cardinals by two inches with a put of 47ft. 10in.

ANDERSON WINS

The feature race of the evening, the eighty-yard high hurdles, was won by Steve Anderson, Washington Olympic Games star, who nosed out Nichols of Stanford by less than a foot in a newly established indoor record for this event in 9 3-5s.

The race was neck and neck from start to finish, with Edmunds making it an even trio, but the Stanford vaulter hit the last barrier and was passed by Smith, his teammate.

Eric Krenz, throwing the discus in the afternoon, failed in his attempt to knock the bricks out of the wall at a distance of 166ft. and his winning toss was 153ft. 11 3-4in.

The discus has never been thrown indoors, so this is the establishment of a new world's indoor record.

Ward Edmonds came through in his pole vault exhibition with Fred Sturdy of Yale and cleared 13ft. 9in. on his second jump, with plenty to spare. He missed three times, when the bar was raised to the world's record height of 14ft. 2in., but was given a great hand by the crowd.

Sturdy was in poor form and looked bad on 13-6, never coming close to getting his body over the bar.

Steve Anderson, Washington's great hurdler, established his second world's indoor record of the evening, when he raced through a beautiful flight of 180-yard low hurdles in 20.5s.

Edmonds, Stanford's coming great hurdle star, demonstrated that he has the makings of a great low hurdler, when running the second low hurdle race of his career, came within a foot of beating the husky Olympic star.

SHOVE VICTOR

The 440, two laps, around sharp curves, resulted in a surprise win by Maynor Shove, Cardinal star over Morrison of Stanford and Hartley of Washington.

Running in the outside lane Shove moved his short legs to a great advantage around the curves and came into the final stretch a few yards in the lead, but Hartley closed up to within a yard at the finish. Morrison, the favorite, was never in it, and could not find himself trying to move his lanky legs around the quick turns.

Rufus Kiser, Washington's highly touted miler, ran a wonderful race in the mile run. He negotiated the eight laps in 4:27 1-5 and won from McKinnon of Stanford by ten yards with one of the fastest finishes ever seen in a western mile race. McKinnon came into the straight-away a yard behind Cram, of the Huskies and started to pass but the Washington man evidently didn't like the idea and made a spread eagle of his arms, but McKinnon ran around and took second by two yards.

Bob Brown, plucky Stanford sophomore, was forced to drop from the race in the two-mile, suffering from pains in the stomach after running a mile and a quarter. He looked good up to this time and indicated that he had a chance for second, but this little malady, while only temporary, gave the Huskies nine points in this event.

Gordon French, lone Cardinal entry in the half-mile, took the lead for the first half of this race, but the superior speed of the three Washington stars, Genung, Dodds and Davies, was too much for him and they easily outsprinted him to make the Purple's second clean sweep of the evening on the track.

DYER DOUBLE WINNER

Hector Dyer, Stanford sprinter, was in particularly good form and outclassed the field in both the dashes. He won the 75-yard race by a yard with his powerful strides, and was never headed. This race resulted in a close battle for second between Lauritzen of the Cardinals and Shelly of the Purple with the latter being judged the winner by only a matter of inches.

In the 220, the curves were quite to the liking of Dyer and his lanky legs made monkeys out of the rest of the field, winning easily by three yards from Pendleton, Husky representative. Lauritzen annexed the third place, a yard behind Pendleton.

The relay brought the spectators to their feet at the start and kept them shouting from the start to finish. Shove, gained a yard on Bales of Washington and McDermott, kept Kiser, the Husky distance runner running on the outside but could not gain. Dyer held his own against Genung's challenge in the spurt, but in the exchange of batons Morrison lost five yards.

There was never a chance when Hartley got the baton, because this Husky 440 man can run curves like a straightaway, and with Morrison going into tail-spins at every bend, the Washington relay team annexed a victory to close the evening.

Johnny Morrison seemed to be the only Stanford man badly affected by the unfamiliarity of running around sharp curves.

75-yard dash—Won by Dyer, Stanford; second, Shelley, Washington; third, Lauritzen, Stanford. Time, :07 8-10s.

Mile run—Won by Kiser, Washington; second, McKinnon, Stanford; third, Cram, Washington. Time, 4m. 27 1-10s.

75-yard dash—Won by Dyer, Stanford; second, Hartley, Washington; third, Lauritzen, Stanford. Time, :07 8-10s.

Shot put—Won by Rother, Stanford, 51ft. 4in.; second, Kreutz, Stanford, 50ft. 10 1-4in.; third, Jessup, Washington, 50ft. 1 1-4in.

120-yard high hurdle—Won by Anderson, Washington; second, Nichols, Stanford; third, Smith, Stanford. Time, 9 3-10s. Anderson broke existing world's record for the distance.

220-yard dash—Won by Dyer, Stanford; second, Pendleton, Washington; third, Lauritzen, Stanford. Time, 22 2-10s.

880-yard dash—Won by Genung, Washington; second, Dodds, Washington; third, Davies, Washington. Time, 2m. 4 4-10s.

High jump—Won by Krenz, Washington, Frank and Madison, both of Stanford, tied at 6ft. 1in.

Pole vault—Won by Edmunds, Stanford; second, Hulsman, Stanford; third, Rose, Washington. Height, 12ft. 9in.

Two-mile run—Won by Sellers, Washington; second, Brown, Stanford; third, Owen, Washington. Time, 9m. 47 4-10s.

Brown, Stanford, dropped out after fifth lap.

Discus—Won by Krenz, Stanford; second, Jessup, Washington; third, Monnett, Stanford. Distance, 153ft. 11 3-4in.

Broad jump—Won by Dowell, Stanford; second, Bales, Washington; third, Wood, Stanford. Distance, 22ft. 9¼in.

180-yard low hurdles—Won by Anderson, Washington; second, Edmunds, Stanford; third, Shelley, Washington. Time, 20 5-10s.

Javelin—Won by Kibby, Stanford; second, Soarling, Stanford; third, Minetti, Stanford. Distance, 164ft. 11 1-4in.

Mile relay—Won by Washington (Genung, Kiser, Hartley, Dyer). Time, 3m. 29.5s.

WATER POLOISTS PLAY

Ten of the Coast's leading water polo teams will clash for the junior national A.A.U. championship beginning at 3 p.m. today at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tank, and continuing until the finals tomorrow night.

Elimination matches will be held this afternoon and tonight, while the final clashes will take place tomorrow at 3 p.m. and tomorrow night.

WALKER GETS NICE BOOST

made it comparatively easy to get under them.

I found out in the first two rounds just what Mickey had. He is fast on his feet, and hits fast, too, but he had no jab to speak of—and matching a jab with a man who has much longer arms wouldn't have been much good anyway. So he rushed all the time, and in coming to me that way was just what I wanted.

At no time, either in training or during the fight itself did I underrate the middleweight champion. That boy can punch. He jarred me with one right-hander in the face near the end of the fourth round that had plenty of dynamite behind. One or two of his left hooks to the stomach were the sort, too, that no one would want to take all evening, but he landed very few of them.

My fight was carefully planned, through the earlier rounds I used the jab to keep Mickey off balance, but later I mixed it with him and found that the mixing was quite as effective. At no time did he make me break ground.

CLEANS UP DIVISION

It seems to me that this victory cleans up my division well enough to let me go unhampered in my quest after heavyweight honors for the next few months. They've given me every type of boxer to meet, and since this is my thirty-sixth straight win there isn't much argument about my right to go against any one, I think. There also isn't any doubt in my mind concerning the fact that I can do more effective work at a higher poundage.

Let me pay a final tribute to the sportsmanship of the entire Walker side. Doc Kearns, Teddy Haves and the rest were as sportsmanslike as anyone could ask, and Mickey as aggressive and courageous as I had been led to expect. But, it's a tough job trying to win three championships. Two was the limit of the Rumson bulldog's ability.

CALLAHAN IN WIN OVER CARR

Carr's midsection and put him on the floor for the count with a series of blows to the stomach.

Charley Kaiser outpointed Clayton Gouyd in the six-round semi-wind-up. It was a good fast fight all the way with Kaiser outboxing the rushing Gouyd.

In the six-round special event Wallie Fraser took the nod over Art Pedilla. Fraser had Pedilla on the floor twice in the third round. Bert Sampson earned the decision over Tony Bevo in one of the four-round preliminaries, while Henry Celayo defeated Harry Wallander in the opener.

Three Local Stars Enter Ring Tourney

Three Los Angeles amateur boxers will be represented in the national championship tourney at Boston on April 8, 9, 10. Clayton Frye, boxing instructor of the Los Angeles A. C. will start Martin Zuniga in the featherweight class, the last of the Mercury club to ever box in a national amateur tournament. Augie Curtis and Abie Miller, two Los Angeles newsboys, will compete in the national show unattached. Curtis and Miller leave today. Zuniga and Frye left early in the week.

Oilers Defeat Seals, 4 to 0, in Ice Battle

With Goalkeeper Murray playing the hero role, the Los Angeles Richfield ice hockey team defeated the San Francisco pucks, 4 to 0, at the Winter Garden rink last night. One goal was scored in the second period by Jake Lawrence, who took a pass from Guy Poole. In the third period, goals were scored by Wilson, Irving and Coupes.

The work of Murray was outstanding throughout the entire game. His goal guarding was impregnable, every San Francisco shot for the net being stopped five yards away. The work of Lawrence, Wilson and Irving was exceptionally good also.

The final game of the ice hockey season will be played on Monday night at the Winter Garden between the Los Angeles Richfields and Hollywood.

UNION OILERS BOW TO LA NATIVIDADS

The La Natividad pucks defeated the Union Oil ice hockey team last night in a tight struggle on the ice rink of the Palais de Glace by a score of 3 to 2. La Natividad's victory last night gave them a one-game lead over the Oilers in their five-game series, La Natividad now having won two games to Union Oil's one.

Miles was the outstanding player on the ice last night as he has been throughout the series, making two goals for the La Natividad team. Gilchrist scored the other goal for the victors. Goals for the Union Oil were made by Crouch and by H. Heyden, who received a pass from his brother, A. Heyden.

The next game of the series will be played next Monday night on the Palais de Glace rink.

Stanford Net Squad Trims Tennis Club

Stanford's powerful tennis team scored another victory yesterday in a nonconference engagement with the Los Angeles tennis club at Hollywood. The collegians won by a score of 4-2.

The Cardinals tangle with the U.S.C. Trojans at the Los Angeles Club this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the second of the Coast Conference dual meets. The Trojans tied the Bears of Berkeley while the Cardinals whipped the Bruins of Los Angeles 4-2 in the opening meets staged last Wednesday.

Capt. John Wheatley, Redshirt leader, rather upset the dope in trimming Clifton Herd, of the club aggregation, in two easy sets of 6-4, 6-4. Ted Easton took a victory from Clarence Barker in the third singles 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, but the collegians were downed in the remaining two singles which were lost by Larry Driscoll and Lawrence Hall. The Reds took both doubles.

The summary:

SINGLES

Warren (L.A.) defeated Hall (S.) 6-2, 6-1; Berry (L.A.) defeated Driscoll (S.) 6-4, 6-3; Easton (L.) defeated Barker (L.A.) 6-3, 3-6, 7-5; Wheatley (S.) defeated Herd (L.A.) 6-4, 6-4.

DOUBLES

Easton-Driscoll (S.) defeated Barker-Berry (L.A.) 6-1, 6-3; Wheatley-Hall (S.) defeated Herd-Warren (L.A.) 4-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Speedy Shaw Wins Sprint

TIA JUANA, March 28.—Toting the colors of the Canyon stable, owned by George and Johnny Colburn in partnership with Jack Dempsey, Speedy Shaw, three-year-old gelding, captured the Oceanside $1000 handicap, five-furlong feature on today's program. Mike Syufy's Proctor Hug was second and Simony, owned by Mrs. C. C. Emmert, was third.

Satin Spar, an extreme outsider annexed the race for maiden two-year-old colts and geldings. Jockey Bobby Jones was up. Results:

First race, four and one-half furlongs—Satin Spar, 108 (Young), won; Jacona, 113 (Philbot), second; Foreign Club, 119 (Trivett), third. Time, 0:54 4-5.

Second race, one mile—Long Joe, 111 (Garlitz), won; Darius, 111 (Adams), second; Zelot, 106 (May), third. Time, 1:42 2-5.

Third race, five furlongs—Crispie Seth, 121 (Trivett), won; Betty Bowman, 113 (D. Lyons), second; Bayer M., 123 (Belfield), third. Time, 1:00 2-5.

Fourth race, six furlongs—Mister Joan, 106 (C. Lyons), won; Woodlips, 103 (Loften), second; Shorty O., 102 (Garlitz), third. Time, 1:13 4-5.

Sixth race, one and one-eighth miles—Blue Fish, 108 (Barrett), won; Hands up, 110 (Woolf), second; Coy, 103 (Trivett), third. Time, 1:53 2-5.

Sixth race, five furlongs—Speedy Shaw, 99 (Trivett), won; Proctor Hug, 111 (Jones), second; Simony, 116 (D. Lyons), third. Time, 0:58 1-5.

Seventh race, one mile—Dapper, 109 (Stefen), won; Virginia Lightning, 99 (Trivett), second; Sufficiency, 110 (D. Lyons,) third. Time, 1:40.

Eighth race, one and one-eighth miles—Chickuan, 108 (Critchfield), won; Ravellion, 110 (Woolf), second; Portola, 106 (Trivett), third. Time, 1:52 2-5.

Esther Curtis Upsets Foe in Court Tourney

Esther Curtis, municipal tennis star, played havoc with the dopesters of the ninth annual spring tennis tournament of Santa Monica yesterday when she eliminated Helen Marlowe, Southland high school champion, after three hectic sets 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

Jay Cohen, mythical Coast boys' champion, had little difficulty in trouncing Leanord Patterson, a team mate, 6-3, 6-1, to gain the boys' singles final. He meets Ernie Mace for the championship, Mace having beaten George Trask, 6-8, 5-7, 6-1.

Jack Tidball of Hollywood advanced to the semis of the men's singles, eliminating John Barr, 6-3 and 7-5. Tidball will face Yasu Maeno of Redondo, for the right to play in the finals on Sunday against Ben Gorchakoff.

The only match scheduled this morning and all day is the mixed doubles semifinal between Ben Gorchakoff-Helen Marlowe and Esther Curtis-Gerald Bartosh. The events are all in the semifinal and final brackets. Semis contests are on for Saturday and finals on Sunday.

Cohen defeated Patterson, 6-3, 6-1; Mace defeated Trask, 6-8, 5-7, 6-1; Marlowe defeated Dennison, 7-5, 6-4; Barr defeated Harder by default, and Tidball defeated Mahoney by default; Tidball defeated Barr, 6-3, 6-4; Curtis defeated Marlowe, 6-3, 3-6, 6-2.

NEW HONOR DUE FOR LINER YALE

Lasco Craft to Become Unit of Naval Reserve

Flag Presentation Ceremony Takes Place April 4

Similar Recognition Coming to Harvard Shortly

BY WALDO DRAKE

Further honors will be bestowed upon the Lasco coastwise liner Yale on April 4, next, when she will be warranted as a unit of the new Merchant Marine Naval Reserve and her master, Capt. Frank A. Johnson, presented with the Naval Reserve flag by Capt. W. Pitt Scott, assistant commandant of the Eleventh Naval District.

The Navy Department has also designated the Yale as "suitable for service as a naval auxiliary," chiefly in recognition of her splendid service during the World War, when she and her sister ship, the Harvard, then the U.S.S. Charles, transported 400,000 troops safely across the English Channel. This honor is unusual, in that the Yale has a cruising radius of only 1200 miles, far short of the cruising endurance required by the Navy Department of naval auxiliaries.

She became eligible as a unit of the Merchant Marine Naval Reserve when Capt. Johnson and the majority of his officers won commissions recently in that branch of the naval establishment. The Harvard will also be warranted, it was announced, when Capt. George Zeh and his officers are commissioned.

The Yale and Harvard possess an operating record unequaled by any merchantmen under the American flag. The first turbine ships built in the United States, they were commissioned at the Chester (Pa.) plant of the Delaware River Iron Shipbuilding Company in 1906 and 1907, respectively, and have since operated continuously except during the war in arduous service on the Pacific and North Atlantic. They are still driven at twenty-two-knot speeds by their original 10,000-horsepower turbines, built by the W. & A. Fletcher Company.

MANY NEW SHIPS ON WAYS TO PLY ON COAST

A major portion of the $400,000,000 shipbuilding program now under way or contemplated for American owners will be for operation in Pacific waters, according to a study of the projects.

Predominant are the fifteen naval cruisers, costing $17,000,000 each, of which fully half will be assigned to the battle fleet, basing at Los Angeles Harbor.

Panama Pacific Line is building a third $7,000,000 liner like the new California and Virginia, and is definitely committed to construct three more. Of equal costliness will be four for the Dollar Steamship Company, while the Matson Navigation Company contemplates two costing around $6,000,000 each, with others tentatively programed.

Other ships projected, costing $1,000,000 and up, and to ply here include a tanker for Atlantic Refining Company, two tankers for Gulf Refining Company, one tanker for Union Oil Company and three old gelding, captured the Oceanside for Standard Oil Company of California, three cargo carriers for Hammond Lumber Company, two for Isthmian Lines and four for Calmar Corporation's intercoastal fleet.

Local shipping interests yesterday were surprised by announcement of the Panama Mail Steamship Company that Capt. Robert E. Judson has been relieved as commander of the company's intercoastal liner Colombia by Capt. Theodore Oaks, formerly commanding the motorship City of San Francisco. Capt. Judson, one of the most popular and widely known masters in the American merchant marine, was ranking commander in the Panama Mail coastto-coast service. The Colombia will depart here tomorrow night for New York, via Central American ports and the canal.

A capacity list of 433 passengers will be brought in from Hawaii this morning aboard the Lasco liner City of Honolulu, in addition to shipments of pineapples, sugar, coffee and honey. Her commander, Capt. Arthur Self, was last week appointed a bar pilot at San Francisco.

Capt. E. G. Franks, veteran skipper of the Standard Oil tanker Tecumseh, was yesterday taken ashore for an appendicitis operation, being relieved by Capt. A. Chalmers, master of the Tecumseh's sister ship, Tamaha, who in turn has been succeeded by his chief officer, J. Doyle. The Tecumseh sailed yesterday for the Orient via Richmond after general overhaul at the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation. The Tamaha will complete similar overhaul at the Los Angeles yards today and load fuel oil for China.

GUARDIAN NAMED FOR ACTRESS

Attorney Will Pull Girl Out of Debt

Laying Down the Law

Roger Marchetti, guardian, admonishing Sally Phipps. Mrs. Emma Day looking on.

BECAUSE Sally Phipps, 17-year-old motion-picture actress, couldn't keep books, she appeared in Superior Judge Guerin's court yesterday and had an attorney appointed her guardian.

Although Miss Phipps is paid a salary of $300 a week, she is $1000 in debt, and said she just didn't see how she could pay off. Because of a disagreement with her step-father, Miss Phipps declared her domestic affairs have become tangled, and she said she wanted the attorney, Roger Marchetti, to handle her affairs rather than her parents.

So Judge Guerin ordered Attorney Marchetti to collect her pay check, give her $125 a week and apply the other $75 to her creditors' claims and her attorney's fee.

RICHARDS RITES TO BE TOMORROW

Burial of Pioneer Banker's Daughter and Architect's Wife Will be Private

Last rites for Mrs. Mary Belle Elliott Richards, who died early yesterday morning after a brief illness following several years of invalidism, will be conducted from St. Paul's Cathedral, 615 South Figueroa street, at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow. Interment, which will be private, will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mrs. Richards, who was the wife of William Richards, an architect, died at the residence of her father, John M. Elliott of 914 West Twenty-eighth street, where she and her husband had made their home for the past few years. She had been a resident of Los Angeles during her lifetime.

Her father is the honorary chairman of the board of directors of the Los Angeles-First National Trust and Savings Bank and has spent more than forty-four years of active service with the former First National Bank of this city, during which time he was president from 1892 until 1917, and chairman of the board following that period.

Besides her husband and father Mrs. Richards leaves a brother, Robert P. Elliott of Los Angeles, and a daughter, Margaret Mackay Richards, who is attending school in France at present. The daughter will return home at once.

Poison Quest Futile, Suicide Uses Revolver

Some years ago Charles Kraemer, an elderly janitor, inherited a sizable fortune. Instead of using it to ease his declining years he devoted it to chemical research in an effort to discover an insidious poison with which he peacefully might end his life. But at this he failed.

So yesterday he decided to employ other means. But rather than cause disturbance at 116½ East Fifth street, where he had been a roomer, he engaged a room at 1540 Court street, and there shot himself with a revolver. Hearing the shot, the landlord found the lifeless body, and beside it a note, in which the suicide told of hisfutile quest and the squandering of the inheritance.

Police being unable to find any relatives, the body was sent to the morgue.

NEW SANATORIUM AND TREATING ROOM OPEN

Announcement was made today by H. C. Hawk, Jr., general manager of the Battle Creek Health Appliance Company, of the opening of a branch sanatorium and treatment rooms at Hollywood Boulevard and Vermont avenue. According to Mr. Hawk, Los Angeles was chosen as their main office on the Pacific Coast from which their products will be marketed in the seven Western States. Sales will be in charge of M. M. Stack, general sales manager, and H. E. Caygill, divisional manager for Southern California district.

Early Alaska Gold Pioneer Passes Away

Death yesterday ended the career of one of the original Alaskan gold-prospectors, when Samuel J. Heron, 73 years of age, died at his home, 1825 North Gramercy Place. A native of Danville, Ky., he went early to the Klondike during the gold rush and is said to have been the first man to take horses into the historic fields.

He amassed and lost several large fortunes, retiring some years ago to divide his time between Danville and Portland, Or. Later he settled in Los Angeles. He leaves two daughters, Miss Julia Heron and Mrs. Nan Glennon.

Funeral service wil be conducted from his residence tomorrow under auspices of the Knights Templar. Interment will be in Hollywood Cemetery.

UNIVERSITY TEAMS WILL DEBATE TONIGHT

Arguing on the question, "Resolved: That the Plea of Temporary Insanity as a Defense for Crime Should Be Abolished," the debate teams of Stanford University and the University of California at Los Angeles will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in Millspaugh Hall Auditorium on the U.C.L.A. campus. The local debaters will uphold the affirmative side of the question.

BORDER BARRIER HALTS ROMANCE

Two Polish Brides Stranded at Nogales

Husbands Languish in Jail in This City

All Await Decision on Deportation

As the result of an ill-fated romance that ran afoul of the United States Immigration Bureau, two young Polish women are practically without funds at Nogales, Mex., and their husbands are being held in the County Jail awaiting deportation proceedings.

The story goes back to Poland, where Zdzislow Swadowski, recently known in Oakland as Joseph Hubner, had a sweetheart by the name of Marja Dzwigalski, a young and comely woman. Swadowski made a name for himself as an automotive designer and was prospering. He is said to have communicated with Leon Dzwigalski, a cousin of the young woman, and the latter, his wife, and the young woman, spent their savings, amounting to about $1600, to take them as far as Nogales, Mex.

On February 4, last, Swadowski went to Nogales and there married the young woman. It was then learned that none of the three could enter the United States and it is charged by immigration inspectors that Swadowski spirited Leon Dzwigalski across the line. They were captured in Imperial Valley on the way to Los Angeles. The two women were left in Nogales. Dzwigalski previously had been in the United States, having attended an automotive school in Chicago. He is being held for deportation. Swadowski likewise is being held. Under the act of March 4, last, making it a misdemeanor to aid in the illegal entry of another alien, he may be subject to permanent deportation.

Back-Seat Pair Blame Woman for Auto Death

Mrs. Blanche M. Pickarts, 42 years of age, of 3227½ South Figueroa street, this morning will make her defense before Municipal Judge McDill to an accusation of manslaughter growing out of the death of Mrs. Mary H. Pring, 151 South Griffin avenue.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman yesterday concluded the State's case, using as his chief witnesses Eleanor Guy, 943 Magnolia street, and Mary Barbour, 2021 South Arlington street, both of whom were riding in the rear seat of the car which Mrs. Pickarts was driving when Mrs. Pring was struck.

Police Officers Broady and Kriewall testified that they measured the skid marks, which were ninety-six feet in length, at the point of the accident.

The case was continued by Judge McDill until this morning for defense testimony.

AIRPORT SOON WILL HAVE NEW HANGAR

Announcement was made yesterday by Waldo D. Waterman, general manager, that work was started Wednesday on a new $20,000 masonry and steel hangar at the Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport. The contract was let to George A. Chapman of Van Nuys, who plans to have the hangar completed in forty-five days. The hangar will include offices, clubrooms and ladies' quarters, and will cover an area of 130x175 feet. This makes the third hangar for the Metropolitan Airport, and the building of a fourth is under consideration.

NEW DOLLAR BILL GIVEN HARD RUN FOR ITS MONEY

New and dynamic dollars flow to the tills of business men who support community advertising, according to C. L. McFaul, assistant passenger traffic manager for Southern Pacific Railway, who says that tourist travel contributes much to the prosperity of the West.

"The dollar spent by the tourist," McFaul said, "is a most dynamic dollar. Quickly passing into circulation, it has a greater stimulus for business than the hometown dollar which has been traveling the round of the city's cash registers and purses for a period of years.

"Recently, to show the work a dollar does, a new greenback was put into circulation attached to which was a note asking each spender to record thereon the transaction in which it played a part. The result showed that in fourteen days the dollar changed hands twenty-seven times, five times each for salary, tobacco, cigarettes; three times for candy, twice each for men's furnishings and shaves, and once each for automobile accessories, bacon, garters and tooth paste.

"The Southern Pacific is doing much to advertise the communities it serves. Each year we spend approximately $1,200,000 in advertising the regions served by our lines and the fine modern transportation service which carries tourists to these regions.

"The community which backs up this advertising with its own well-planned advertising of local scenic and recreational attractions is bound to profit as a result."

FETE WILL LAUNCH NEW AIR SERVICE

Talks, Music, Christening and Ship Departure Will Mark Pickwick Trip Today

A celebration in honor of the first Pickwick scheduled flight to San Diego beginning regular passenger service will be held at the Grand Central Air Terminal today at 11 a.m.

Screen and aviation celebrities, city and county officials from Los Angeles and Glendale, representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, from Metropolitan and Grand Central Air Fields as well as Pickwick officials will participate in the dedicatory program.

The program includes the christening of the ship, dedicatory speeches, music, and the dispatching of the first ship. A fleet of planes from the Metropolitan Field and from the Pickwick hangars will escort the passenger transport to the southern Los Angeles city limits, and planes from the Lindbergh Field in San Diego will meet it outside that city escorting it to its destination.

A schedule of three round trips daily will be maintained between Los Angeles and San Diego, and it is so aranged that an entire business day can be spent in either city.

According to Thomas E. Morgan, vice-president of the Pickwick Airways, this Los Angeles to San Diego flight will mark the beginning of a service which soon will extend to San Francisco, and Pacific Coast points as well as to Phoenix, El Paso, Dallas, and the East, the scope of operations being increased as rapidly as planes now under construction can be delivered.

Judge Lenient With Wielder of Gas Pipe

Although Arvid Swenson was convicted by a jury in Superior Judge Barnard's court yesterday of a technical assault with a deadly weapon, the court released him on his previous bail, and set April 10 for the date of his probation and sentence.

"I do not think the defendant should go to the penitentiary for this offense," said Judge Barnard. "There is plenty of testimony to the effect that he had considerable provocation for his act."

Swenson hit John Leo Moses on the nose with a gas pipe when Swenson went to Moses's home to see Mrs. Swenson, from whom he was separated. The defendant accused Moses of being overfamiliar with Mrs. Swenson.

City social workers said they would recommend that Swenson be granted probation, because Mrs. Swenson violated her promise not to associate with Moses after the fight.

WOMEN'S AVIATION GROUP ENTERTAINED

Members of the flying squadron of the Women's Aeronautical Association, wearing their new outfits for the first time in public, were the guests of honor yesterday at the March meeting of the Women's Breakfast Club at the Breakfast Club on Riverside Drive. They were led by their captain, Mrs. Herman Edward Hertz, and introduced by Mrs. Hasela Freeman, president of the club, who presided. Mrs. Freeman also introduced Dr. Ernest Holmes and Mab Copeland Lineman, attorney, who spoke on "Friendship." Mrs. J. K. Nickerson, founder of the Cincinnati Young Women's Christian Association, and Tudor Williams, baritone. Then Mike Kirk, Indian trader from New Mexico, introduced Jules V. Allen, the singing cowboy, who closed the program with a series of cowboy songs.

Hearing Date Set for Mae Murray

Mae Murray, motion-picture actress, will not be called upon to defend the suit brought against her by Rose Klein over a promissory note for $2358 until April 29, news for that is the date set yesterday by Superior Judge Burnell when the action was called for trial.

The action is one wherein Miss Murray is asked to pay $2358 to the plaintiff on a note transferred to her by Stanley R. Rice, who got it from Paul Albert. The note was executed at New York on December 27, 1927, according to the complaint.

Miss Murray asserts the note was obtained from her by fraud, growing out of a pledge she made for a life-insurance policy which she says she later canceled.

THREE ROADS WILL MERGE

L. F. Loree, Road President, Southland Visitor

Kansas, Missouri, St. Louis Lines to Combine, He Says

Financier Interested in Air Transportation Problems

PASADENA, March 28. (Exclusive)—One of the next great railway mergers in the United States will be the consolidation of the Kansas City Southern, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and the St. Louis Southwestern lines into a combination that will control 6000 miles of track in the south, it was revealed today by Leonor Fresnel Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad and former member of the National War Labor Board.

LEONOR F. LOREE

Mr. Loree, who is a director in more than forty financial and business concerns, arrived in Los Angeles in his private car, accompanied by his wife and his daughter, Mrs. D. M. Collins. The party will remain at the Hotel Huntington until Wednesday and on the return trip to New York City will stop off at Tucson and New Orleans.

FOG FOE OF PLANE

"There still are difficulties to be ironed out in connection with the merger of the three southern roads," said the railroad magnate, "but I feel confident that the consolidation will be consumated."

As a president of the Delaware and Hudson, and chairman of the board of the Kansas City Southern lines, Mr. Loree is interested in the movement to combine rail and air transportation, but he intimated that his own roads will not inaugurate any form of air service for some years to come.

"Fog appears to be the aviator's greatest enemy at the present time, particularly in mountainous regions, and, I understand, where arrangements between railroads and air lines have been effected, it will be the policy to carry the passengers over the Allegheny and Rocky Mountains by train," he said.

UNWORRIED BY STOCKS

Mr. Loree is not worried by the recent slump in stock prices. Asked whether he thought the days when railroad securities were "buys" had passed as the result of automobile and airplane transportation, the New Yorker stated that there are many railroad securities that are on a sound dividend paying basis and possess possibilities for future profits.

Mr. Loree's son, Robert Loree, is vice-president of the Guarantee Trust Company of New York, and his son-in-law, D. M. Collins, is a member of the New York investment house, Collins, Hall & Peckham.

SHARED IN MERGER

Railroad management is but one of Mr. Loree's many-sided interests. He has been active recently in merging the Ansco Film Company with the German Agfa organization.

As a director of the Chase National Bank, Mr. Loree is closely in touch with the financial development of the country. He was graduated from Rutgers College as a chemical engineer and is now a member of his alma mater's board of trustees. He is also a member of the board of the New Jersey College for Women and recently erected there a building for student theatricals.

PATRIARCH SUED IN LOVE THEFT

Septuagenarian Must Pay Balm to Husband of Young Matron

Vincente Piro, 76 years of age, stole the love of Angelina, the 26-year-old wife of Thomas Arevalo.

In some countries, and maybe even in Los Angeles in other days, this matter might have led to serious trouble, perhaps bloodshed. But Arevalo, a modern of the moderns, hired two attorneys, S. S. Hahn and Thomas Heyfron, and started suit for $20,000 heart-balm.

A jury in Superior Judge Hahn's court yesterday weighed the hesitant words of Angelina, who said of Piro: "He make love to me and I like him," and gave Arevalo $1000 damages.

RETIRED ARMY MAN'S RITES WILL BE TODAY

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 o'clock this morning from the chapel in Hollywood Cemetery for Maj. C. A. Donaldson, United States Army, retired, who died Tuesday at his home, 10702 Moorpark avenue, North Hollywood, after an illness of a week. He was 49 years of age and a native of Cleveland, O. He leaves a widow, Mabel Roth Donaldson, and a brother, A. T. Donaldson of Pasadena.

BEAUTY TO BE FETED AT REUNION

"Miss Canada" Scheduled to Receive Crown at Picnic of Dominion Tourists

Miss Zedna May Farley from Toronto, who was elected Miss Canada at the recent eighteenth Canadian annual beauty contest, will be crowned Queen of 1929, at the picnic reunion of the Canadian Tourists' Society and its nine affiliated clubs at Brookside Park, Pasadena, on Sunday, April 7, next.

In a bower of roses Miss Canada and the nine officially elected princesses from the nine provinces of the Dominion, will be the center of a flag ceremony with elaborate musical adjuncts. Beside other honors Miss Canada is to be installed as the first president of the Native Daughters of Canada, an auxiliary of the Dominion Old Boys' and Girls' Association.

Donald McCormick is chairman of the Winnipeg Club section of the society's picnic and reunion. He formerly was president of the McCormick Lumber Company and owner of the Winnipeg sash and door factory. Spending the last seven winters in California he has been a prominent officer of the Canadian Tourists' Society. He expects to return here to take up permanent residence next fall.

NAMESAKE SEIZED ON POSTAL CHARGE

Two young men by the name of Roy Jones live in Los Angeles and one of them, known as Roy C. Jones, is under arrest, having been taken into custody yesterday by postoffice inspectors on a charge of signing for a registered letter addressed to the other Roy Jones.

Roy C. Jones recently arrived here from Chicago. He learned that his namesake received regular remittances from his parents at Earlimont, and, according to the inspectors, was arrested when he signed for a registered letter, sent out by the inspectors, but addressed to Roy Jones. Roy C. Jones is said to have made a statement to the inspectors.

OFFICERS ASKED TO HUNT FOR ACTRESS

GIRL LEAVES NOTE SAYING SHE IS RUNNING AWAY WITH MAN IN TROUBLE

Police of the University Station were asked yesterday to search for Jacqueline Stevens, 17-year-old film actress who lived with her grandmother, Mrs. L. Bradley, at 825 West Fifty-third street. Mrs. Bradley told Detective-Lieutenant Ledbetter the girl was married when she was 14 but the marriage never was annulled. Recently she separated from her husband and went to make her home at the grandmother's residence.

Yesterday, Mrs. Bradley found a note, left at the house by Jacqueline. In it the girl notified the grandmother she was running away with "another man who is in trouble" and begged forgiveness of her act. She left no clew to her destination.

NEW CLASSES TO BEGIN

Concrete plans for the promotion of community co-operation will be discussed in a Monday evening class for men and women interested in social welfare and community organization, which is to meet April 1 at University College, Seventh and Los Angeles streets, at 7 o'clock. DIRECTORS UNDERTAKE NEW JOB

Jack Ford's Next for Fox to Be Annapolis Feature; Ralph Ince Directs Lytell's Columbia in East; Mary Brian Plays Opposite Buddy Rogers

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Two well-known directors are going into the production business, and, incidentally, are undertaking a unique enterprise, an off-shoot of the craze for talking pictures.

These directors are Chester Franklin and Ward Lascelle, who have taken studio space at Universal City, and who, besides producing new talking pictures, are also putting sound and dialogue, according to a process recently developed and owned exclusively by them, into important silent pictures made just before the talking-picture craze hit the industry.

Franklin and Lascelle are to produce the old play, "Stranglers of Paris," as a talker, and they also have a story called "Stealable Wives," published recently in a popular magazine, which they will adapt to the audible screen.

The two have likewise no less than fourteen silent pictures into which they are preparing to put sound and dialogue. The first one is a picture made, I believe, by First National, and called "Playing With Souls." The cast is an all-star one, and includes Clive Brook, Belle Bennett, Jacqueline Logan, William Collier, Jr., and Mary Astor.

TRAINING FOR NAVY THEME OF PICTURE

So engrossed is Jack Ford at the present time in the making of "King of the Khyber Rifles" for Fox, and so elated are Fox officials over the picture, which promises to be the greatest Ford has ever directed and one of the best that Fox has put out, that nobody over there has much time to talk about Ford's next effort.

JOHN FORD

However, it has leaked out that it is likely to be a story of Annapolis, and that Ford will take his company to the Naval Academy in June for the commencement period, to film scenes for the production.

Mary Brian With Buddy

When Buddy Rogers starts work in "Magnolia," to be made by Paramount as a talking picture adapted from Booth Tarkington's play of the same name, he will have as his director Richard Wallace, it was announced yesterday.

MARY BRIAN

Buddy's leading lady and three principal supporting players were also announced. Mary Brian is the happy lady, while the other featured players are Walter McGrail, Lucille Powers and Anderson Lawlor.

Purchase of rights for the filming of the Tarkington play have just been negotiated. The leading role, that of the timid Tom Rumford, was created on the stage by Leo Carrillo. It is a romance of the Mississippi of pre-Civil War days, and the production will be enhanced by music and native songs throughout.

Ralph Ince Goes East

One title that will not be changed is "Acquittal," a Columbia production, 100 per cent talkie, which Ralph Ince will direct.

Ralph Ince.

It seems that the title has already been sold to exhibitors, while the story itself is still to be decided upon.

Bert Lytell will be the star, but as he cannot leave Broadway in New York, due to the fact that he is making a success of his new play, "Brothers," Ince will go East to make the picture. Indeed the director left yesterday, to direct the film at either the DeForrest or Photofilm studios.

Ince, who is a writer as well as a director, is working on the story as he hastens East.

Incidentally the director will have a chance to see his wife, Lucille Mendez, who is playing the title role of the current Broadway success, "My Girl Friday."

Mrs. Mix Joins Tom

Mrs. Tom Mix left Hollywood on Saturday bound for Philadelphia, where she is joining her husband, and whence she will proceed to New York and back to Europe, where her little girl is in school.

TOM MIX

Little Thomasina finishes her term in June, and Mrs. Mix expects to return to this country, with the expectation, say her friends, of remaining here with her husband, who will by that time have finished his vaudeville tour. It is possible that he may go to France to get his wife and child provided his vaudeville engagement is completed in time.

M.-G.-M. Revue Annual Affair

Such a very fine production indeed do Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials feel that they have in their "M.-G.-M. Revue," that they are planning to make a similar production each year, it was learned yesterday.

The officials are indeed to christen each production "Hollywood Follies" or some such name—at least it is to have the word Hollywood included—and will place in it all the very best talent obtainable, just as they are doing in the current one.

In the meantime the musical picture is nearing completion, with a tremendous line-up of talent, including noted composers, writers and stars.

Ben Lyon With Columbia

All the time that you have been thinking Ben Lyon was flying just for fun, he has been fooling you. I met him the other day over at the California Aircraft Company's flying field on Pico street, and found that he was working in a picture for Columbia.

There is no title for the picture as yet, but it is known that the picture will be an important one. Al Rogell is directing.

Shirley Mason is playing opposite Lyon, and Jason Robards has an important supporting role.

Wallace Beery With R.-K.-O.

Well authenticated rumor has it that Wallace Beery and R.-K.-O. are busy negotiating a contract for the comedian, but with no definite settlement yet arrived at. Beery was formerly a highly successful star with Paramount.

Council to Hear Appeals Today

Appeals against the confirmation of assessments for the widening of Beverly Boulevard between Alexandria avenue and Western avenue are scheduled again to be heard by the City Council today. An unusually large number of protests has been lodged against these assessments and there is a possibility of the Council voting to abandon the project if the protestants pay the costs of the proceedings to date.

The Council today also will hear protests against the confirmation of assessments for the improvement of Rothdell Trail between Tavern Trail and Laurel Canyon Road and for the widening of Los Feliz Boulevard between Brunswick avenue and the east city boundary line.

Wife Says Mate Tossed Jewels

Nathan Schwartz, wealthy diamond broker, got so he was throwing diamonds around like they were pieces of broken glass, his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Schwartz, and her daughter, Irene Schwartz, asserted in a guardianship petition filed in Superior Judge Archbald's court yesterday.

Schwartz, who is now confined in the psychopathic ward, according to Mrs. Schwartz, was "brought low" by the excessive consumption of liquor. He also had become very profligate with his diamonds and other property, according to the petition, and Mrs. Schwartz's community property, worth $50,000, was being dissipated, she said. Judge Archbald took the matter under advisement.

ACADEMY WILL HEAR ATTORNEYS DISCUSSED

"The Attorney—Friend or Enemy of Society" was the subject announced yesterday by the Southern California Academy of Criminology for discussion at its dinner at 6:15 p.m. next Tuesday. The dinner will be served at the Newman Club, Willowbrook avenue and Berendo street. Justice Thompson of the District Court of Appeals will be the principal speaker, giving a judicial discussion of the lawyer's position with respect to community interests. Frank W. Stafford, chairman of the Los Angeles section on criminal law and procedure of the State Bar Association, will speak from the lawyer's viewpoint. Walter V. Woehlke, editor and writer, will voice the layman's side of the question. Justin Miller, dean of the University of Southern California law school, is president of the academy.

TROJAN PROFESSOR GOES TO AIR SESSION

Los Angeles will be represented today at the first meeting of the recently formed State advisory committee of aeronautical education in Berkeley by Prof. Earl W. Hill of the University of Southern California, it was stated yesterday. He will be accompanied by Walter Peck, a graduate student of aviation. Establishment of regular aeronautical courses in the high schools and colleges of the State is said to be the object of the committee, which was appointed by William John Cooper when he was State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Can You Imagine Yourself Popping BUSHELS OF CORN AT A TIME—What Would it Taste Like?

By roasting coffee continuously, a few pounds at a time instead of in bulk, Hills Bros roast every berry evenly

A little at a time is the best way to pop corn. Otherwise burnt and unpopped kernels are inevitable.

A little at a time is the best way to roast coffee too. And how perfectly Hills Bros. do it by their patented, continuous process! No bulk-roasting method could ever produce such a full-bodied uniform flavor as you'll find in Hills Bros. Coffee.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Then you will get the genuine. Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum—all the wonderful aroma and flavor is waiting for you.

STORY-BOOK MELODRAMA UNFOLDED

"Wolf Song" Screened at Paramount; Organist Hit in "Dual Role"

BY MARQUIS BUSBY

Somehow "The Wolf Song," at the Paramount Theater this week, makes me think of the man who "jacked up" his auto horn and ran a new car under it. "The Wolf Song" is a good title and it might be "jacked up" for a new story, another cast, and a little more thought in the making.

It is just another motion picture. Not bad, and certainly not good. It recalls the western melodramas of days gone by, only it lacks the action of the good, old-fashioned horse operas. Pictorially "The Wolf Song" is deserving of high approbation. There are exquisite vistas of mountain country, placid lakes and towering peaks. There is considerable native color, too, in the little town of Taos, where much of the action occurs.

I am not familiar with Harvey Ferguson's novel, "Wolf Song." Certainly it brings nothing startlingly new to the screen. It is the story of a "lone wolf" of the western mountains who rides into the placid Spanish settlement and wins the love of an aristocratic senorita. Marriage does not agree with the wild, untrammeled spirit of the gentleman, and he leaves her to return to the trails. He finds, however, that he cannot be free without her love. Wounded in a skirmish with Indians he drags himself back to his wife.

There is no conversation in the picture, but the characters break into song at any and every old time. Lupe Velez, as the senorita, for a lady whose voice records very shrilly in this instance, is allowed far too many solos. Miss Velez is decidedly attractive, however, in the graceful costumes of years ago.

Gary Cooper, eminently satisfactory in most roles, is obviously miscast as Sam Lash, the hero. Gary's hair was given a permanent wave for the occasion—not a particularly attractive job.

Others in the cast are Louis Wolheim, if you look hard you'll find him; Constantine Romanoff, Michael Vavitch, Ann Brody and Russell Colombo.

Victor Fleming's direction is highly pictorial, but his characters are not living and breathing human beings—just story-book folk.

Among the numerous songs introduced in the picture are "Yo Te Amo," the theme song; "The Wolf Song" and "Mi Amado."

One noticeable error in the picture shows Cooper entering his house, his face streaked with dirt. He discovers the place deserted and walks out with his face immaculately clean. If it were that easy in life.

If theaters awarded medals to the most indispensable man, as do football teams, Milton Charles would get the prize. He presents his usual organ number and then steps to the stage and is master of ceremonies for the "Bubbles" revue. And he does a good job of it.

Gene Sheldon is a clever comedian, recalling the whimsical eccentricities of Harry Langdon. Ross and Edwards amuse with their patter, and the Gatanos vary their adagio routine with a clever burlesque of the Apache dance. The Dave Coulet girls appear in some excellent chorus numbers. "Bubbles" is a sprightly revue.

A noteworthy feature of the current show is the appearance of the Stanford University Glee Club. The boys open their diversified program with the lively varsity battle song, "Stanford Red."

Kay Hammond Wins Lead in Duffy Comedy

Kay Hammond, the popular leading woman, will return to the stage to act the chief feminine role in "This Thing Called Love," which the Henry Duffy Players will present at the Hollywood Playhouse, starting April 7. Miss Hammond recently returned from a trip to Europe and has not been seen here since last spring, when she was the leading woman of the stock company at the Morosco, now the President.

M.-G.-M. Comic Will Officiate

George K. Arthur will be master of ceremonies, and star guests will include Pat Rooney, Joan Crawford, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and George Sidney at tomorrow's midnight matinee of "The Broadway Melody" at Grauman's Chinese, according to an announcement just made by Sid Grauman.

New York Talkie Follows "Abie"

"Abie's Irish Rose" ends its run at the Fox-Criterion Theater today. Tomorrow, "Speakeasy," Fox 100 per cent talking picture of New York life comes to succeed "Abie."

W. R. Sheehan, general manager of the Fox studios and other interests, arrives in Los Angeles today and will attend the premiere of "Speakeasy," tomorrow, it is stated.

SCREEN KIDDIES' SHOW

The screen kiddies' premiere of Richard Dix's new starring picture, "Redskin," Paramount's sound and technicolor picture of the Navajo Indians, will be held at Lazarus's Million Dollar tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, with youthful favorites of filmland in attendance. Laon Ramon, juvenile star of "Abie's Irish Rose," will act as master of ceremonies and will introduce the screen youngsters.

RABBI DISCUSSES DRAMA

Once again, this evening at 8 o'clock, "Strange Interlude" will be the subject of a sermon from the pulpit. At tonight's religious service in Temple Emanu-El Manhattan and Wilshire Boulevard, Rabbi Herman Lissauer will undertake a discussion of the nine-act O'Neill play now being given here by the Theater Guild of New York.

Talent Fills Amusement Marts

"The Swan" and "The Iron Mask"

Respectively introduce to theatergoers Lois Wilson and William Bakewell. "The Swan" is the Molnar comedy which shortly is to be replaced at the Majestic by "The Hottentot." And "The Iron Mask," of course, is the redoubtable Mr. Fairbanks's film of high emprise at the Fox Carthay Circle.

"GREYHOUND LIMITED" ARRIVES

With a little adjustment "The Greyhound Limited" might be turned into one of the best of melodramas. As it stands, this Warner Brothers' Vitaphone picture misses fire by too much story dissipation. Side-tracked as it is into minor climaxes and three or four plots, much of the final suspense is lost. The element of novelty is also considerably lacking, the crucial moments of a dozen different films having been gathered together to form the story material. Even so, a bit of deft handling by Howard Bretherton coupled with the sincerity and quality evinced by Monte Blue, Grant Withers and Edna Murphy serve to make this production at the Boulevard something of interest.

With each new talkie the necessity for satisfactory dialogue becames more apparent. In the effort to make Monte and Grant Withers speak humanly a manual of wisecracks and snappy comebacks has been given them to memorize.

Even Baby gets the habit. When Grant comes to collect Edna for the firemen's ball, Baby answers the door. "Where is Edna?" he asks. "Ha, ha, ha," chortles Baby. "She went out with another egg and doubled-crossed you." "The other" is Monte, who has taken little Edna to get her out of Grant's way. For several reels Grant has explained that he is wild and fatally attractive. After Baby's speech he hikes to the dance hall and severs diplomatic relations with Monte.

Henceforth, completely ga-ga, he is shown loping around with a couple of toughs. Monte tells Edna he has gone to the dogs. "Ain't it a shame?" says she. But more's the shame when he is found wielding a baseball bat over a gentleman's dead body.

He hadn't used the bat, the gang had. Nevertheless, he is convicted of murder.

Leaving him in his cell, saddened now in his last hour of life, the narrative goes back to Monte, Edna and Mother. Mother, in her grief, is pounding her head with a baby shoe. Monte having found one of the real criminals is hastening him to justice, and Edna is trying to stop the rest of the gang from wrecking the train. She doesn't—quite, but after the excitement they are caught. Thus Grant, having gone through all the last agonies, is saved a second before hanging time.

News events and a humorous, unusual comedy follow, while Lynn Cowan completes the railroad atmosphere with his prologue: "Toot! Toot! All Aboard."

CONDUCTOR AGAIN TAKES BATON HERE

Eichheim's "Burma" Goal of Modernists; Spalding Exalts Brahms

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The Philharmonic Orchestra concert audience last night welcomed home Conductor Schneevoigt after his trip to Detroit, greeted the eminent composer-conductor, Henry Eichheim, and Albert Spalding, foremost American violinist. The program was of exceptional interest, embracing an Oriental suite of exotic music, a violin concerto by Brahms in his most classical mood, and the first symphony by Sibelius, nature-music of great beauty.

The symphony was conducted by Schneevoigt with that satisfying understanding which he gives to the composers of the North. One feels the racial power of Finland when Schneevoigt plays Sibelius. The broad sweep, the gayety of a wild country and the rich simplicity of deep feeling are all there.

Henry Eichheim's "Burma" is absorbing. It is filled with delightful materials, many of which are merely suggested, and I am sure the entire audience hopes for a sequel. The strangely alluring gongs and drums which were brought from Java by the composer were fascinating, and the whole score was like a gorgeous Chinese hanging done in gold and brilliantly colored silks, and telling an infinite number of remarkable stories about a prince and princess and troup of Burmese clowns, with the most diverting fancies.

This oriental music of Eichheim's reveals the goal which the modernists are seeking. Undoubtedly the inspiration of modernism comes from the Orient and if we would understand the music of tomorrow we would do well to sit at the feet of this master and learn. "Burma" is much more than travel music; it is a prophecy written upon a supporting background of authentic orchestration that gives it the ring of truth. The work has been done in Philadelphia and Boston and it is to be hoped that it will be heard here on other occasions.

Mr. Spalding essayed the tremendously difficult Brahms concerto and thereby increased his prestige, which was already of large dimensions. The concerto is not often played and with good reason, for few can do it justice. Spalding's mature musicianship was equal to the task. Impeccable taste, warmth, poetry, virtuoso technic, were all a part of his performance, and both the orchestra and the audience applauded long at its finish. The soloist and the conductor seemed particularly en rapport.

The program will be repeated this afternoon.

THE PUBLIC ...E PLEASED

The all-talking policy inaugurated recently at the Alhambra has proven so popular that Simon Lazarus, managing director, has booked "Interference," Paramount 100 per cent dialogue drama, for a week's engagement at this theater beginning today.

Dumas Source of New Comedy

Walker Whiteside opens his engagement at the Mason Theater on Monday evening. The star is presenting a comedy, "The Royal Box," an adaptation of the Alexandre Dumas play "Kean." The stellar character of James Clarence is far removed from the oriental characters in which he appeared last season in "The Hindu" and "Sakura."

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Miss Anne Waldron, whose marriage to David Donald Herron of San Francisco is to be an event of April 6, is being much entertained with many lovely prenuptial affairs. Miss Caroline Mitchell Smith, who is to be one of the bridesmaids, entertained yesterday afternoon with a bridge luncheon and shower at her home in Hillcrest Road. A motif of spring flowers in the delicate shades of sweet peas, jonquils, narcissus and stock were used in the decorations of the luncheon table and the same motif was carried out in all the appointments.

The guests included Miss Waldron, Miss Hallie Joyce Keating, Miss Clara Frost, Miss Evelyn Sledge, Mrs. Cleland Stone Van Dresser, Miss Nancy Hill and Miss Margaret Scott.

Tomorrow afternoon Miss Cecily Beatrice Fox, also one of the bridal entourage, will give a luncheon at the Women's Athletic Club followed by a matinee party. The centerpiece will be of orchid sweet peas, bright-hued peonies, narcissus and stock and the place cards, baskets of flowers in spring colors, will mark the covers for Miss Caroline Mitchell Smith, Miss Anne Waldron, Miss Hallie Joyce, Keating, Mrs. Cleland Stone Van Dresser, Miss Mignonne Martin, Miss Nora Banga, Miss Elizabeth Allen, Miss Emily Allen and the hostess.

Miss Keating, who is to be maid of honor came down from her home in Los Altos last Friday morning and is the house guest of Miss Waldron.

Change of Address

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Ward, who recently purchased a home at 1265 Berkshire avenue, after a few weeks of needed remodeling will be at home there to their friends.

Pre-Easter Wedding

With a pretty pre-Easter ceremony, Miss Winifred Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Walker, 580 North Gordon street, Pomona, became the bride of Archie Nisbet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nisbet, 157 West Seventh street, Claremont. The ceremony was read at the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Pomona last Monday evening by Dr. Luther Freeman.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white chiffon and lace, made with close fitting waist and long skirt. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms and pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses.

Miss Mary Alice Walker, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Hawley and Miss Hazel Reeves. Irving Montgomery, Santa Monica, a fraternity brother of Mr. Nisbet, was best man. Don Nichols, Loren Haskin, Robert Hays of Pasadena, and Mlle Mitchel of Los Angeles ushered.

Miss Ruth Paine sang "I Love Thee," and "A Birthday," and Prof. Walter Hartley of Occidental College gave an organ recital and also played the wedding marches.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Nisbet will make their home in Pomona. Mrs. Nisbet was graduated from Pomona High School, and attended Pomona College, where she was active in musical circles, having been accompanist for the women's glee club.

Mr. Nisbet, an alumnus of Pomona High School, was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley, where he is affiliated with Theta Delta Chi Fraternity. He is now athletic coach at Pomona High School.

Shakespearean Evening

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., will essay his first Shakespearean role when he plays Romeo opposite Miss Enid Bennett as the winsome Juliet in the immortal love story of "Romeo and Juliet," which will be presented by R. D. MacLean (R. D. Shephierd)' and Thomas G. Patten in the music room of the Biltmore next Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock as the sixth of their fortnightly meetings with Shakespeare. Mr. MacLean as Mercutio and Peter Richmond as the Friar will round out the cast. Mr. Patten will set the scene with his usual delightful Shakespearean travelogue.

This little band of enthusiastic Shakespearean artists has come a long distance since it gave Romeo and Juliet in William Clarke, Jr's., home two years ago. This modern-clothed Shakespeare is making friends on every side and ought to culminate in something big. As the high light of this present season of tabloid Shakespeare, Mr. MacLean's performance of Shylock stands out a beacon of Shakespearean glory and, though it is sans costuming, offers the same opportunity for expressionistic production as though clothed in satin and brocade and hemmed in by scenic magic. Thomas G. Patten always enlivens the entertainment with his sincerely conceived record of Shakespearean times and plays. They have found that the public taste has not changed so greatly in thirty years, when Booth, Barrett, Mojeska and others "walked the boards" and it is still possible to bring it back from idle laughter to thoughtful laughter.

Hostesses for Tuesday evening include Mrs. Eli P. Clarke, Mrs. Robert Ladd Gifford, Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt, Mrs. Force Parker, Mrs. William Anderson, Mrs. Gurdon Wattles, Mrs. George Leslie Smith, Mrs. Edward Dixon, Mrs. W. E. Hollingsworth Mrs. Thomas G. Patten and Mrs. R. D. Shepherd.

Wintering Here

Mrs. William D. McJunkin of Chicago and her son Bill, who with Mr. McJunkin are passing the season in Southern California, are being much entertained by their many friends in the Southland and have been enjoying many motor trips to different points of interest around Los Angeles.

They motored by way of the southern route from Chicago and found the trip most enjoyable and the roads excellent.

Visiting Parents

Mrs. Donald MacDonald of New York and Mrs. Raymond W. Frohman of Portland are visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Hammond, enjoying a reunion with their family and renewing old acquaintances and friendships here.

Distinguished Guest

Col. Isaac Newell of Tien-tsin, China, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Beverly Scott at their home in Beverly Hills.

Col. Newell was military attaché at the American Embassy in Peking, but was recently appointed chief of staff at San Francisco.

Easter Festivities

The approach of Easter and end of the Lenten season in Pasadena brings various announcements of early beginnings of spring activities in the Pasadena hotel colonies as well as in the various local circles.

Easter Sunday at the Hotel Vista del Arroyo, this year, will have its usual special observance beginning with the Easter carols which will be sung on the grounds, at 6 o'clock in the morning, by the choir of the Lake-avenue Congregational Church.

At 9:30 o'clock, there will be an Easter-egg hunt on the lawn for the children of the hotel and their friends. The Easter bunny has left word that a gold and silver egg will be hidden on the lawn, that morning, and that the lucky finder will receive a special prize. The monkey, Bobee, will be on hand to entertain the youngsters.

Easter Sunday dinner will be served from 1 to 2 o'clock and a special Easter concert has been arranged for the evening following supper at 8:15 o'clock. Charles King, tenor, featured singer at the Mission Play, and a harpist will assist the Vista del Arroyo Concert Orchestra, Edmond Foerstel, director.

Thursday evening of Easter week, April 4, the hotel's next dinner dance, entertainment and ball, American Indian night, will be featured. The entertainment, with Hopi and Navajo Indians in their tribal dances and songs will be full of color and most entertaining. A special stage setting will be arranged for the entertainment, which will be followed by many dinner parties.

Luncheon-Bridge

Honoring Mrs. Gertrude Wills of Seattle, Mrs. Allison Gaw entertained Wednesday with an attractively appointed luncheon followed by bridge. Spring flowers and the Easter motif were carried out in the decorations of the living-room and at the table where covers were laid for twelve. The guests were Mmes. Hart, Malcolmson, Sewell, Ferguson, Young, Weston, Shearer and the Misses Moissant, Gibbs, Weston and Williamson.

Archery Contest

El Verde Lodge in Bouquet Canyon was the setting recently of an attractive gathering of women who met as the guests of Miss Katherine Fletcher to try their skill at archery preparatory to a contest which will be held later this spring. The morning was spent under the guidance of an instructor in practice, a charming luncheon being served at high noon. Present were Mrs. Thorwald Swenson, Mrs. T. K. G. Merritt, Mrs. Robert Church, Miss Helene Hurst, Miss Ruth King, Miss Dorothea Ellsworth and Miss Annette Thurston.

Smart Affair

Miss Miriam Winternitz of Chicago, who is passing the spring in Southern California entertained with a smartly appointed luncheon and bridge Saturday afternoon at the Mary Louise. A large bouquet of pastel shaded flowers with nut cups and candles in shades blending with the centerpiece made a charming table decoration.

Those included were Mrs. Paul Arons, Mrs. Peter Kahn, Miss Irma Kaufmann, Miss Hortense Jackson, Miss Elaine Osterman, Miss Ruth Gumpert, Miss Helen Gumpert, Miss Jeanette Glogan, Miss Ruth Gagan, Miss Patricia Tauber, Miss Patricia Shaak, Miss Jean Goldsmith, Miss Ethel Rubens and Miss Carrie Long.

HONEYMOONERS GO TO HAWAII

Couple Later Will Take Motor Tour

[C. Elmore Grove studios]

Mrs. Alvin Van Loan Gaines

MR. AND MRS. ALVIN VAN LOAN GAINES, whose wedding was a charming event of last Saturday morning, are on their way to Honolulu where they will pass a three weeks' honeymoon. After returning to Southern California Mr. and Mrs. Gaines will motor for some time and afterward go East for a visit. They will make their future home here.

Mrs. Gaines formerly was Miss Aileen Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Wilson of Fremont Place, while Mr. Gaines is the son of the late Alvin Dimit Gaines and Mrs. Gaines of Minnesota and North Dakota.

Former "Times" Man's Rites to Be Tomorrow

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the McIntosh & Mater funeral parlors, North Broadway and Sichel street, for Charles Talbot Stewart, 80 years of age, for many years employed in the pressroom of The Times.

Mr. Stewart died following an attack of heart disease at the home of his sister, Mrs. Isabella A. Van Cauteren, 559 East Avenue 28, Tuesday morning. He had attended to business up until the latter part of last week, but declined rapidly when the fatal illness developed. Mrs. Van Cauteren is the only near relative left.

Mr. Stewart was born in New York City and for years was connected with R. Hoe & Co., press builders. He came to Los Angeles almost forty years ago for the Hoe concern to erect the first rotary press installed by The Times. He remained with the newspaper until his retirement some years ago.

IMPROVEMENT FAVORED

An ordinance of intention for the improvement of the south roadway of Burton Way between La Cienega Boulevard and Robertson Boulevard was adopted by the City Council yesterday and May 3 was set as the date for hearing protests against it.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers helpful on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, colitis for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, sacroiliac strip, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped, envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

CHILD SHOWING READINESS TO BE WEANED

For more than ten years we have been reading letters from mothers on the problems of children. During that time we have read the following question over and over again—in fact, so often that it has become almost stereotyped: "My baby is seven months old (or six or eight or ten) and though he has been sleeping all night long, now he wakens four and five times and demands to be nursed. What shall I do to make him sleep through the night?" I wonder how many of my readers have this problem at the present and I wonder likewise, how many of them have felt that in some way the baby has lost his ability to sleep, and are not connecting it with its rightful cause—inadequate nutrition?

The mothers, despite what would seem to me overwhelming evidence, do not dream that the baby's daytime feedings are no longer satisfying, and so he makes up for them by perfect orgies at night.

If she suggests the subject of weaning, she gives the usual reasons for putting it off. "The baby has no teeth, he ought to be nursed through the second summer (heaven forbid,) he can't sit up," all commonplace reasons which are all the most excellent reasons for weaning, instead of continued nursing. If a baby hasn't developed in the normal manner, teething, sitting up, ability to sleep as can be expected, then obviously continuing the same type of nourishment that is failing to bring these desirable things about is practically the most illogical thing anyone can do. If the breast milk hasn't proven adequate up to the seventh month, what can the mother expect of it after that?

The sensible procedure, then, would be to make some change, and the change is to introduce supplementary foods, if they have not already been brought into the diet, and cow's milk, which is the beverage baby will be taking for many years to come.

Going back to our initial question: The 7-months-old baby who is well nourished sleeps from six to six without waking, though he may have a feeding at ten or two, if he has only four feedings in the daytime. It is the badly nourished baby who is fretful and cross, failing to gain, and is demanding to be nursed all night long, who needs a change and improvement in his diet and at seven months this change and improvement is in the direction of weaning

During the recent cold spell in Europe no airplanes were allowed to leave Le Bourget, France, for twenty-four hours at a time.

In Keeping

If you have a definite color scheme in your kitchen, why not enamel the alarm clock to match the shade? Usually this clock is a little rusted or thoroughly shabby and a little enamel would perk it up wonderfully.

Wilted Parsley

When parsley becomes to wilted for attractive use, place it in ice water for one hour. Shake thoroughly and place in a glass jar. Cover with a thin cloth and place in the ice box. This will rejuvenate it.

Cudahy's
Puritan Ham

"First in the Land - The Taste Tells"

For the festive Easter dinner and for every meal and season, there is nothing more satisfying and nutritious than Cudahy's Puritan Ham.

A FAMOUS PURITAN BAKED HAM RECIPE:

Select a twelve-pound Puritan ham. Scrub well with cold water, rinse and place in kettle with cold water to cover. Simmer four hours. Seasoning such as bay leaf, celery, carrot, and parsley gives added flavor. Remove ham from liquor and peel off skin, except from shank. Place ham in roaster with cup each of vinegar and hot water and bake slowly for one hour, basting frequently. Score the fat surface evenly and spread with brown sugar and bread crumbs, placing cloves at intervals. Bake until brown, uncovered and without further basting.

Puritan Ham is excellent in any serving. Boil or bake whole or half ham; fry or broil center slices. Your dealer has a freshly cured stock of Puritan Ham in the special Easter wrappers. Ask for Puritan.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy
Author of "The Finger Post to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday:

Sunday

Breakfast — Poached eggs on toast, stewed raisins.
Lunch — Sweet potato fluff (re-mains from last Friday.) cooked let-tuce, salad of chopped raw cab-bage.
Dinner — Tomato and celery veg-etable soup, baked chicken, squash, potatoes, Jello or Jell-Well with whipped cream.

Monday

Breakfast — Poached omelet, ce-real cereal biscuit, stewed fruit.
Lunch — Eight-ounce glass of milk.
Dinner — Minced chicken in to-mato jelly (chicken left from yes-terday), steamed carrots, tomatoes, salad of raw celery, junket.

Tuesday

Breakfast — Wholewheat mush, cream or cream, no sugar, stewed fruit.
Lunch — Baked ground beets, cooked asparagus, ripe olives.
Dinner — Roast pork, mashed potatoes, salad of shredded raw cabbage and parsley, baked apple.

Wednesday

Breakfast — Coddled eggs, Mel-ba toast, stewed figs.
Lunch — Raw apples, pecan nuts.
Dinner — Olive and cheese salad, (This is protein part of meal.) baked potatoes, spinach, ice cream.

Thursday

Breakfast — Crisp waffle, small piece of broiled ham, applesauce.
Lunch — Cooked oyster plant, with celery.
Dinner — Celery soup, broiled lamb chops, string beans, salad of chopped raw cabbage and carrots, stewed apricots.

Friday

Breakfast — Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple, Melba toast.
Lunch — Cooked carrots and peas, raw celery.
Dinner — Jellied tomato bouillon, served in cubes, broiled filet of sole, spinach, baked parsnips, sliced to-matoes, plain Jello or Jell-Well, no cream.

Saturday

Breakfast — Waffle, browned all the way through, with a little but-ter and maple syrup, crisp bacon.
Lunch — Baked potato, combina-tion salad of chopped celery, peas and cabbage.
Dinner — Broiled steak, baked ground beets, cooked lettuce, salad of cold cooked asparagus, minced prunes in gelatin, whipped cream.

Minced chicken in tomato jelly: Drain, but do not strain, two cup-fuls of juice from a large can of tomatoes. Pour into a saucepan and heat to almost boiling point. Have ready one envelope of plain gelatin which has been softened with a little cold water. Dip up some of the tomato juice and stir into the gelatin until thoroughly dissolved, then mix all together and set in a cool place until the juice begins to thicken. Now, mix in one cupful of minced chicken, one-third cupful of chopped celery, par-sley and ripe olives. Pour into wet molds and place in the refrigerator until ready to serve. Serve un-molded on crisp lettuce. The amount is sufficient for four persons, and forms the protein part of the meal. Any leftover roast, such as beef, pork or mutton may be pre-pared in the same manner and found very appetizing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Yellow Eyes

Question: Lora R. asks: "Will you please tell me what would cause the whites of the eyes to become yellow?"

Answer: When the whites of the eyes become yellow it is usually due to a retention of bile in the blood. This means that the whole system is poisoned and indicates the need for a diet which will relieve the encumbered liver and gall bladder. Bile should only be in the liver, gall bladder and intestines, and should not appear in the blood. When it does it becomes one of the toxins responsible for many dis-eases more serious than the dis-coloration of the eyes, which is merely a symptom of the bile poison in the system.

Chewing-Gum

Q.: Mrs. J. H. asks: "Can you tell me something about chewing-gum? What is its effect upon di-gestion, and of what is it com-posed?"

A.: Chewing-gum was originally made from spruce gum or refined paraffin-wax variously flavored, but chewing-gum at the present time is made from chicle, a gum obtained from the milky juice secreted by the bark of the sapodilla tree which also bears one of the most delicious of the tropical fruits. This gum was used by the Indians for chew-ing many years before it was known commercially. It makes a very good substitute for rubber, but brings a better price from the chew-ing-gum industry, and is practically exclusively used for this purpose. In the chewing-gum factory blocks of the dried chicle are thoroughly re-fined and sterilized, and mixed with the sweetening and various flavors. Chewing-gum stimulates the secre-tion of saliva and various other digestive fluids and for this rea-son may be used after a meal, often taking the place of a dessert to an advantage. Its use assists in de-veloping the muscles of the jaw and probably assists in preserving the teeth and keeping them clean. It is best not to use the chewing-gum immediately preceding a meal or simply from habit.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 1:30 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

LAMB HASH

Mix two cupfuls of chopped, cooked lamb with two cupfuls of chopped cold, boiled potatoes, melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saute pan, add one finely chopped green pepper, one chopped medium-sized onion, stir and cook until a light brown, add the lamb and po-tatoes, one-half a cupful of gravy or hot water, two tablespoonfuls of to-mato paste, two-thirds of a tea-spoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of paprika, and a quarter of a tea-spoonful of nutmeg; stir and cook for ten minutes; then place in the oven until brown.

BANANA PUDDING

Peel four bananas, remove the strings and rub through a sieve, cream two tablespoonfuls of but-ter with four tablespoonfuls of sugar, add to it one teaspoonful of lemon juice, a half a teaspoonful of grated lemon rind, beat one whole egg and one egg yolk, add to them a half a cupful of milk, stir in the butter mixture, then add the banana pulp, mix well, butter a bak-ing dish, dust with powdered sugar, set the dish in a pan of hot water, and bake until firm in the center. Cover with a meringue made with the white of an egg, place in the oven and allow to brown.

CREAM OF CELERY SOUP

Melt four tablespoonfuls of but-ter in a saucepan, add four table-spoonfuls of flour, and blend well; stir in two cupfuls of milk, stir and cook until thick and smooth, take one medium-sized head of celery, wash well and cut in one-inch pieces, cover with boiling water, and cook until soft. Rub the celery through a sieve, add enough of the celery water to make two cupfuls pour all into the thickened milk, blend well, season with salt and pepper, boil up once and serve with croutons.

ASPARAGUS SALAD

Soak two tablespoonfuls of gela-tine, in one-half a cupful of cold water, heat three cupfuls of con-somme, or dissolve four bouillon cubes in three cupfuls of hot wa-ter, add one stalk of celery, chopped fine, one teaspoonful of parsley chopped, one sliced carrot, two slices of onion, one clove and three pepper corns; simmer until the vegetables are tender, strain, add the soaked gelatine and stir until dissolved. Pour into a ring mold, place in the ice box until firm. Mix together one-half a cupful of whipped cream, one cupful of may-onnaise, take tips of asparagus, cut in one-half inch lengths, mix with the mayonnaise, unmold the aspic jelly, on a lettuce-covered dish, and fill the center with the aspara-gus mixture.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Tuesday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

NEWS OF THE CAFES

The new Pollyana Tea Room, si-tuated in West Seventh street, op-posite Westlake Park is the scene of many delightful affairs each week. Last Tuesday the Wilshire Optimists held a banquet for fifty-three guests and this evening W. R. Hucks will be host to sixty friends at dinner. The Pollyana Tea Room is under the personal supervision of Mrs. Ann Beardsly.

GRID STAR HONOR GUEST

One of the most brilliant events of the series of collegiate nights held at the Montmartre will take place this evening when Frank An-thony, popular football star of the University of Southern California, will be guest of honor. Moving-pic-ture players are planning to attend the event, and will compete in the dancing contest with the college students. Mr. Anthony will act as judge and award the Montmartre trophy.

SPECIAL BREAKFAST PLANNED

Richard W. Coura, chef brought here recently from the Waldorf As-toria of New York City, is arrang-ing a special Easter breakfast at the Roosevelt Hotel following the sun-rise service in the Hollywood Bowl next Sunday. Eugene Stark, man-aging director of the screen colony hostelry states that advance reser-vations indicate an overflow break-fast crowd.

NEW CAFE POPULAR

Springing into almost instant pop-ularity the Golden State Inn on Beverly Boulevard, just east of Fairfax, is enjoying a high repu-tation among cafe patrons of the city. Chicken, squab and steak dinners are featured nightly amid pleasant surroundings. A complete electric refrigeration system has been installed and every effort is used to maintain spotless cleanli-ness throughout.

GUEST ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Grace Winslow was enter-tained by Mrs. Evelyn May Krause Tuesday evening for dinner at the Nikabob Cafe as a farewell courtesy prior to the departure of Mrs. Winslow for her home in Evanston, Ill. Among the guests were Mrs. Blanche Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Don Adams, Miss Virginia Brown and Mr. Arthur Winslow. A beautiful bouquet of lilies adorned the table.

WAMPAS STAR HONOR GUEST

Mme. Helene's Paramount Tea Room at the entrance to the Lasky studios will be the setting for a brilliant event this noon when Doris Dawson, First National leading wom-an and 1929 Wampas baby star, will be the guest of honor at lunch-eon. Miss Dawson will be accom-panied by prominent film players and several of her co-Wampas baby stars.

FASHION SHOW TONIGHT

William Meiklejohn will present an elaborate fashion fur show at the Pom Pom, Hollywood, tonight, presenting groups of imported mod-els by special arrangement with Al-bert Silver, local fur stylist, who has returned here from his annual trip to Paris.

This display will be shown as an added attraction, between perform-ances of "Tropical Nights," current musical revue, and will forecast Easter fashions and modes in furs for the forthcoming summer.

EASTER SPECIALS PLANNED

Believing that many people will dine away from home next Sunday, the management of the Harmony Cafeteria, located in Hollywood Boulevard near Vine street, an-nounces that several Easter specials will be featured, including roast chicken and chicken fricassee. Be-cause of the recent announcement of a new Pantages Theater to be erected directly opposite the cafe-teria, activity in that vicinity has already increased to such propor-tions as to warrant the manage-ment installing new and extremely efficient kitchen equipment.

Night Clerk at Hotel Held on Theft Charge

John C. Arneson, 27 years of age, was arrested by Detective-Lieuten-ants Chitwood and Long yesterday and booked on a charge of sus-picion of grand theft, following the complaint of Dave Pickett, a roomer in a hotel at 339 South Figueroa street, where the accused man is employed as night clerk.

Pickett, who said he is an ex-jockey, was visited Wednesday night, according to the story he told the detectives, by Miss Grace Lewis and other friends and while a party was in progress, Pickett invited Arneson to join them. Later Arneson and another man disappeared and, ac-cording to Pickett, $140 belonging to him and a $1500 ring belonging to Miss Lewis disappeared with them.

Arneson made a sweeping denial of the charges.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

HIS BROKEN TOYS

By Mrs. Agnes Lynn

The toy box has an unhappy tendency to fill up with the debris of broken playthings. To the adult who looks down into the miscellane-ous collection it is a "just "junk." Usually it is allowed to accumulate until it becomes an eyesore to the housewife. Then a mighty clean-in, is ordained, and it is all thrown out.

This method of dealing with the child's broken toys is neither imag-inative nor educational. It ignores the possible value which the broken playthings may have in his eyes, and it teaches a disrespect of prop-erty rights at the same time that it sets an example of wastefulness.

There is a fine distinction among broken toys. There is the toy which, once broken, ceases to have mean-ing or use, and there is the toy which, having been broken, achieves a new significance. In its youth it may have been a beautiful but un-lovable limousine; now having lost its shiny body, it has become an extremely useful and companionable truck. This kind of broken toy is not broken at all; it simply is some-thing other than it seems.

When he breaks a plaything the child's first thought should be to take it to mother to be mended, and happily render such assistance as he can. In order that the child may learn to be careful of his pos-sessions, it is wise to let an im-pressive interval elapse before re-placing the broken toy with a new one.

When a plaything is beyond re-pair, it is the child who must dis-pose of it. He must decide when it has passed the period of its use-fulness, and understand from the first that the toy box is for toys, not for junk.

TEX GUINAN TRIAL FIXED FOR MAY 3

Vaudeville Dispute With Theater Company Delayed by Her Illness

Tex Guinan, New York night club hostess, will not come to Los Angeles until May 3, next, in her endeavor to collect $25,000 from the West Coast Theaters, that being the date to which her case was continued yesterday when called for trial by Superior Judge Hazlett.

The lit girl, her counsel, Milton Golden, explained, is just getting out of the hospital in New York.

Miss Guinan in her complaint as-serts the West Coast Theaters owes her $25,000 for a vaudeville appear-ance at Loew's State Theater. She contends this amount was received by the theater company because of her vaudeville performances given between October 11, 1928, and Oc-tober 20.

In answer the theater folk assert that Texas entered into a written agreement to appear at the theater for a period of one week, that she appeared at all performances on the first day but failed the other days of the week of her contract. They contend that instead of them owing Tex anything she owes them $1500 for which they ask judgment in their cross-complaint.

Depositions are being taken in the East and in Hollywood by Texas's attorneys in preparation for the trial.

Obsequies for Alhambra Man Set for Monday

Services will be conducted at Pierce Brothers' funeral chapel, 720 West Washington Boulevard, Mon-day afternoon at 2 o'clock for Minor A. Odenthal, 55 years of age, who passed away yesterday at his home in Alhambra after a three months' illness. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

At one time Mr. Odenthal was president of the Retail Merchants' Association of Los Angeles. For the past few years he has been inter-ested in the development of Alham-bra.

Before coming to California Mr. Odenthal was vice-president of the Majestic Life Insurance Company of Indianapolis. He was a great lover of music and was president of many musical organizations in Indiana and Kentucky.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Augusta Odenthal; a son, Hubert A. Oden-than; a brother, Hubert Odenthal of Alhambra, and a sister, Mrs. Her-man Goergens of Los Angeles, and two brothers, William and Henry of Illinois.

Dog-Poisoning Charge Reduced

Placing poisoned meat where a neighbor's dog may eat it is not a felony, Municipal Judge Bullock ruled yesterday in reducing the charge against Ellis E. Shull of 12839 Sherman Way, North Hol-lywood, to a misdemeanor. This substitute charge is one of putting out poison without a permit. Shull was arraigned yesterday in Van Nuys on the felony charge on com-plaint by humane officers that he caused the death of a police dog owned by C. E. Bucklin of 12822 Sherman Way. Shull was released in $200 bail for pleading today.

Shull was annoyed by dogs which wandered on his property. He put up a sign which proclaimed:

Keep Your Dogs and Cats at Home. Poison Out.

CONTROL-DAM WORK SPEEDED

Electric Shovels Dig Into San Gabriel Bed

Blasting of Foundation Continuing

Commissary Contract Suit May be Dropped

Building of the $35,000,000 flood-control dam across the San Gabriel River has progressed to the stage where the work has assumed spectacular aspects, it was announced by Flood Control Engineer Eaton yesterday, simultaneously with the report from Sacramento that the firm of contractors doing the work has been reorganized.

The new firm bears the same name, Fisher, Ross McDonald & Kahn, Inc., but Claude Fisher is reported to have sold his interest to Alan McDonald and Felix Kahn, although remaining president of the corporation, and drawing a salary as such.

The work at the dam is under the complete supervision of Andrew Cassell, formerly field superintendent for the contracting firm of McDonald & Kahn. His field superintendent is Harvey Slocum, considered one of the ablest dam engineers in California.

BLASTING CONTINUES

Blasting continued at the dam site yesterday, with five electric shovels scooping the decomposed granite from the bedrock which will serve as foundation. The largest shovels lift two cubic yards of dirt at once, fifteen shovelfuls being the capacity of the dump cars, which are operated, for safety's sake, with compressed air.

Power for these shovels, and other mechanical operations of the contractors is furnished by the Southern California Edison's twelve-mile transmission line, which has a capacity of 6000 horsepower transmitted at 30,000 volts.

Extreme care in supervising the blasting operations is enforced by Engineer Eaton, under whose personal attention, and that of E. B. Davey, assistant engineer, the mantle of decomposed rock is being loosened.

CARE EMPLOYED

Although from one to two tons of black powder is exploded at each detonation, the charges are so carefully spaced that only three-fourths of a pound to a pound of powder is used to loosen each cubic yard of rock, and engineers say these charges are unusually light. It is necessary to use light charges, as heavy blasts of dynamite would crack the foundation, possibly making it leak. Natural seams in the bedrock will be plugged by liquid cement forced into grouting holes under immense pressure.

Three months' work will be required to clear the west mountain side of the loose rock that must be moved before the concrete walls of the dam can be placed, Engineer Eaton said. Blasting operations will then be transferred to the east side, while excavating machinery will be put to work on the loose gravel and sand of the stream bed. This material will be used for the concrete of the dam structure. It is particularly well adapted to this purpose, engineers say, because only the hardest of the country rock has survived in the form of gravel. The soft material has been ground up in its passage down the rocky bed of the stream.

SUIT MAY BE QUASHED

The commissary department run by the Anderson Boarding & Supply Company of Hollywood is functioning perfectly, according to county officials. A suit was brought by taxpayers to protest against the contract between this company and the Supervisors, but, according to county officials concerned, the suit is not being pressed with great vigor, and the possibility that it will be withdrawn was suggested.

Actor Arrives to Perform in Cinema Gambol

Frank Fay, comedian, arrived here yesterday from New York to act as master of ceremonies for the Screen Stars' Gambol at the Shrine Auditorium next Monday evening. The affair is being given by the motion-picture industry to finance construction of an arts building at Loyola University.

Fay's appearance will be his first on the Pacific Coast in many years, his last appearance having been made here with the vaudeville team of Dyer and Fay.

Tickets for the benefit are selling rapidly, according to those in charge.

APPROVAL GIVEN TO FIRE BUDGET

Commissioners Send Figures to Mayor Cryer

Fund for Coming Year Shows $1,629,395 Increase

Costs of Five New Stations Included in Request

Containing an increase over the current year of $1,629,395 to provide for new stations, equipment and 274 more firemen to meet the rapidly growing needs of Los Angeles, the fire department budget estimate for the fiscal year 1929-1930 was approved by the Board of Fire Commissioners yesterday and sent to Mayor Cryer for his consideration.

The budget total requested by Fire Chief Scott provides for $6,435,102 for the new fiscal year, compared to $4,805,707 for the current year. It includes expenses for the completion of five new fire stations now under construction as well as for more stations to be constructed next year, and provision for their operation and maintenance.

At the request of Commissioner William N. Wenning, the budget estimate includes provision for a modern and well-equipped new fire station at Twentieth and McGarry streets, which will be manned by twenty-eight colored officers and men.

It also includes provision for a four-story addition to the main station at 217 South Hill street and remodeling the third floor of the present structure at a cost of $239,000.

Other stations proposed are for a two-story building at East Forty-eighth and San Pedro streets, a storage building at Second and Hewitt streets, a station at Reseda, one at Ninth and Boyle streets, one on Marengo street near Soto street and another at Hollywood Way and Cahuenga avenue. Provision also is asked for reconditioning stations Nos. 10, 5 and 13 and the purchase of the necessary sites for new structures.

The budget carries provision for $4,054,201 for salaries of the men in the department under the present ordinance, $684,680 for new buildings, $356,300 for expenses, $560,807 for new equipment, $581,334 for maintenance of present structures, repairs and completion of work now under way, and $198,000 for the acquisition of sites for new structures.

LAW PARTNER HONORED

Associates Give Banquet for Edward L. Leighton

Honoring their associate in the law practice, R. Lee Heath and Ray E. Nimmo gave a dinner at the Elks' Club last night to their partner, Edward E. Leighton, who has been prominent for many years as special counsel for California State boards and departments. Twenty-five guests were present. The occasion had a dual aspect in that Mr. Leighton's son, Everett W. Leighton, who is to be married tomorrow night to Miss Marguerite Riesen, of Burbank, was one of the guests.

Edward E. Leighton and his wife, Kathryn W. Leighton, expect to sail for France during April where Mrs. Leighton, who is known throughout America as a painter of Indian subjects and an artist of great skill and expression, will execute several commissions extended to her because of h opportunity while abroad to find the subjects desired.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY CANADIAN CLUB

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Club of Southern California yesterday in the Stowell Hotel, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year's term: Sir Herbert Ames, Honorable Patron; Gen. M. Grant, president and chairman of board; John Hooper, honorable president; Dr. W. J. Boyd, first vice-president; Hon. A. P. Gillies, second vice-president; L. M. Brassard, third vice-president; J. W. Jermyn, secretary-treasurer; executive board and directors: W. D. MacIntyre, N. P. Bisonette, John A. Hooper, Jr., Elmer Brant and above executive officers. The club will take part in the annual picnic and reunion of the Canadian Tourists' Society, Sunday, April 7, at Brookside Park, Pasadena.

It is estimated that aircraft manufactures in the United States this year will amount to about 10,000 planes, as compared with only 2000 in 1927.

WELLS AIRS RAILROADS' PROBLEMS

Santa Fe Official Talks on Competitive Difficulties During Visit to City

Some of the problems confronting the railroads of the country were touched on yesterday by A. G. Wells, vice-president in charge of operations of the Santa Fe Railroad, who is on a business visit in Los Angeles.

The airplane will not be a real competitor of the railroads in long-distance hauls for some time to come, in the opinion of Mr. Wells.

The Santa Fe, in co-operation with the Pennsylvania, is working out a combined train and airplane service from New York to the Coast, carrying a passenger that distance in about forty-eight hours. The railroad time for this journey is about eighty hours. In this combination the passenger leaves New York on the Pennsylvania in the evening, arriving at Columbus, O., the following morning. There he gets into a plane and travels that day to Waynoka, Okla. At the latter place he boards the Santa Fe in the evening to Clovis, N. M., and from Clovis the next morning he flies to Los Angeles, arriving that evening.

One thing that impresses the eastern railroad executive when he visits the Pacific Coast is the great amount of business being done by trucks on the public highways. While the total volume done by trucks in the East and Middle West no doubt exceeds that done out here by the trucks, the percentage there very likely is far below that out here. This is due to favorable weather conditions here, Mr. Wells believes, and particularly to the great development of the highway systems in California.

"But the railways feel that they are being taken advantage of when trucks are being permitted to compete with them without being required to meet the obligations the railroads have to meet in the way of taxes," said Mr. Wells. "The railroads in California have to pay a tax of 7 per cent annually on their income. They have to pay for and maintain their own rights of way. The truck does not have to pay for its right of way. It rides the highways built and paid for by the taxpayers—among whom the railroads are prominent members.

"In addition, the taxpayer has to pay for the maintenance of the highways, which the heavy trucks pound to pieces. The railroad is heavily pounded too, but the railroad has to pay its own repair bills. These are just some of the phases of the problem which we feel the public will keenly become alive to in due time, and will take steps to remedy."

Inland waterways also are a phase of transportation development which the railroads must regard as competitors, Mr. Wells said. He expressed the same confidence that when the taxpayers analyze the problem as a whole and determine just who is going to get the benefits from these projects the railroads will have nothing to fear.

Mrs. Wells is with her husband on his short visit here. They return to Chicago in a few days.

REVIEW TO BE GIVEN

Mrs. Botsford Will Talk Tomorrow on Life of Galsworthy

Mrs. Alice G. Botsford, in her monthly play review tomorrow at 10:30 a.m., will take John Galsworthy as a man of letters, fiction and as a playwright, reviewing his life leading up to his writing of "Escape."

Mrs. Botsford also will give a short resume of the new plays of the month in New York.

PURPORTED JANITOR TAKEN AS FUGITIVE

Guiseppi Vittorio, 52 years of age, who says he is a janitor in the Chicago Federal Building was arrested last night at 1817 Sunset Boulevard on a fugitive warrant from Illinois. The warrant charges bigamy and forgery. Detective Lieutenants Houston and Jones who lodged Vittorio in the County Jail said that he had two handsome women companions with him when found. Vittorio displayed a Federal employee's badge to support his description of himself.

STATE BUILDING SITES WEIGHED

Supervisors Expected to Pick Location Monday

First and Spring Street Has Edge for Selection

Architect Wants Block Set Aside for Park

Action on the purchase of a site for the State's proposed $1,250,000 office building, deferred because members of the Board of Supervisors believe they have not yet been offered a "rock bottom" price on any of the four sites available, is expected at a meeting of the board Monday.

With two supervisors inclining toward the location at First and Spring streets, and a third indicating he favors that site as his second choice, it appears likely that that site will be chosen.

GRAVES FOR HILL STREET

Supervisor Graves, however, still is holding out for a site outside the Civic Center, on the west side of Hill street, north of First street, and Supervisor Shaw pointed out a free site, also outside the Civic Center, and further south on Hill street at Washington street.

Supervisor McClellan has always favored the site across from the old city police headquarters building, at First and Hill streets, adjoining the Tajo Building on the west. Most of the Civic Center plans call for a huge courthouse building in the block bounded by First, Temple, Hill and Broadway, however.

WRIGHT FOR TEMPLE STREET

Supervisor Wright said last night that his first choice is the northwest corner of Temple street and Broadway, but his second choice is First and Spring streets, where most Civic Center plans have located a State office building. Supervisor Beaty, it is believed, will vote for the Spring-street site.

A. C. Martin, architect who designed the new City Hall, called on the Board of Supervisors yesterday to object to the Spring-street site, which he said will interfere with the "architectural balance" of the Civic Center. He proposed instead that the county make a park of the entire block between Spring street and Broadway, north of First street, which he said, is the only landscape effect that will do justice to his handiwork, the City Hall.

CAR DRIVER IMPALED ON AUTO CRANK

Truck Driver Killed as Machine Driven by Girl Crashes Into Machine

Ed Barnes, 38 years of age, of 220 West Avenue 26, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident on Central avenue near Redondo-Riverside Boulevard, according to Sheriff's office reports.

Barnes was cranking his truck when another machine driven by Miss Ester Floyd, 15, struck the truck in the rear with such force that Barnes was impaled on the crank. He died before medical aid could be summoned.

Miss Floyd, who lives with her parents at 1137 East Seventy-fourth street, was requested to appear at the Sheriff's office today to make a complete report of the accident.

Barnes's body was removed to the Neal & Towne funeral parlors in Compton pending funeral arrangements.

Knute Hansen, longshoreman, 464 Santa Cruz street, San Pedro, struck by a Pacific Electric car at Broad avenue, Wilmington, early yesterday, was alive at San Pedro General Hospital last night, but in critical condition. He and his auto were hurled 100 feet by the impact. Hansen sustaining a fractured skull and a broken leg.

Actress Asks Hairdresser for Damages

How a permanent-wave treatment is said to have deprived Erene Duna of the long blond locks that brought her a good income in motion pictures is recited in a suit for $51,000 damages filed in Superior Court by the 17-year-old actress against Ben Verschleiser.

According to the complaint, Miss Duna, who says she was known in pictures as the "little long-haired Hungarian girl," went to Verschleiser's establishment June 25, 1928, for a permanent wave and the attendants were admonished that her hair was a source of income and had never been cut.

Miss Duna declares the operator was negligent with the result that her hair was burned off close to the scalp, which also was burned and scarred.

As a result of her experience, the girl declares, she has nothing left on top of her head but a "shaggy, map-like thatch" and consequently she now is unable to obtain any but inferior parts in pictures.

Film and Man Captured in Raid

High life on Main street came in for attention of the police last night when Officers Schubert and Peterson of the central vice squad raided the Wonderland Theater and confiscated a three-reel film titled as "Bare Legs."

The film was banned at the personal request of Chief Davis who declared it is unfit for the public gaze. Frank L. Titus, 59 years of age, said to be manager of the theater, was booked for operating an indecent show.

Titus gave his address as 5166 North Townsend avenue.

SPECIAL MUSIC WILL BE ON AIR

Annual KFI Good Friday Bill to be Given Today

Other Observances to be on Chain Stations

Solemn Tre Ore Services for Middle West Area

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

In celebration of the festival of Good Friday, many special broadcasts have been arranged for today. The number seems to be a trifle smaller than in previous years, but perhaps the lack of quantity will be made up in quality for the arrangements seem to be adequate and thorough.

Local broadcasters have announced no special provision for the occasion, with the single exception of KFI. Most of the Good Friday events will be from chain systems.

Good Friday at KFI would be incomplete without the presentation of Charles Rand Kennedy's "The Terrible Meek," which the station staff gives each year.

ANNUAL EVENT

The personnel remains practically the same as in the past three years, with the addition of one or two new names. There will be Pryor Moore's concert orchestra; Virginia Flohri, soprano; Robert Hurd, tenor; Carl Haverlin, Harry Hall and Dorothy Wood.

Good Friday music from "Parsifal" with Richard Crooks, tenor, as guest artist, is scheduled to arrive here at 7 p.m., from New York via KMTR, Hollywood.

Other programs of particular intrest will include some which only those with extra sensitive sets can hear.

The Lenten Choir, especially assembled and directed by F. Channon Coolings, will give Dubois's 'Seven Last Words' at 5 p.m., Pacific time, over a chain.

CHAIN AFFAIRS

The nearest scheduled stations for the feature are WCCO, Minneapolis, 10,000 watts at 810 kilocycles and KOIL, Council Bluffs, 1000 watts at 1,260 kilocycles.

An especially fine rendition by the salon singers and a concert orchestra, presenting Bach's version of "The Passion," according to St. Matthew, and directed by George Dilworth, will be on the air at 7 p.m., and may be head over WOC, Davenport, 5000 watts on 1000 kilocycles; KSD, St. Louis, 500 watts, 550 kilocycles; or WWJ, Detroit, 1000 watts on 920 kilocycles.

This will be followed at 7:30 o'clock with the "Passion Service" of Alfred Robert Gaul, reverently depicting the principal events which gave to the world the festivals of Good Friday and Easter. It will be given by the mixed octet in six scenes.

DEVOUT WILL PRAY TODAY

Special Good Friday Services Planned in Many Churches to Commemorate Crucifixion

Good Friday, throughout Christendom, is a day of prayer and fasting and services of interest will be conducted in many churches of Los Angeles today in commemoration of the anniversary of the day of the crucifixion. Services will be conducted at noon at the First Methodist Church, with Dr. Oswald McCall as the principal speaker. Lutherans of Los Angeles will gather at noon at Philharmonic Auditorium to listen to a sermon by Dr. Walter A. Maier and to join in hymns and meditations appropriate to the day.

Bishop Stevens will preside at the three-hour service to be conducted at St. Paul's Cathedral, beginning at noon. Another three-hour service, commemorating the three hours of darkness during which Jesus hung on the cross, will be observed at Hollywood Lutheran Church. The observance of Holy Communion will feature the program.

Stainer's famous cantata, "The Crucifixion," will be sung this evening at Hollywood Lutheran Church, St. James Episcopal Church and the First Baptist Church of Hollywood.

Dean Harry Beal of St. Paul's Cathedral announces the following special services at the cathedral today, in addition to the three-hour service: Holy Communion, 7:30 a.m.; prayer and music, 10 a.m.; prayer service, 3:30 p.m.; sermon by Rev. C. F. Chapman, 7:30 p.m.

A devotional three-hour service will be conducted at the Salvation Army Temple Corps, 832 West Ninth street. The service will begin at noon. Col. Blanche Cox, one of the most eloquent speakers in the army, will conduct the meeting, assisted by Brig. J. C. Bell, the divisional staff and other speakers.

ROACH FILMS NOT AFFECTED BY DEAL

The purchase by Fox Films of the control of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will in no way affect the manner of releasing Hal Roach comedies, it was announced yesterday when Roach returned from New York. The short all-talking comedies will be released as in the past through the usual channels, he said. At the same time Roach also announced a program of twelve all-talking two-reelers with Our Gang, Laurel and Hardy, Charley Chase and all-star casts. Each of the four units will make three talkers for the program.

BOOK DESTRUCTION AT ISSUE

Presbytery Expected to Consider Action of Bible Institute in Dr. MacInnis Affair

Opinion of Presbyterian ministers throughout the city on the recent action of the board of directors of the Bible Institute in destroying copies and type forms of a book on Christian philosophy written by Dr. John Murdoch MacInnis, former dean of the institute, probably will find expression at a meeting of the Presbytery of Los Angeles, scheduled to be held in the First Presbyterian Church of Glendale on April 9, it was learned yesterday.

The book in question, entitled "Peter, the Fisherman Philosopher," was written last year while Dr. MacInnis was dean of the institute. A majority of the board of directors, although they at first commended the volume, last December accepted the dean's resignation because of asserted criticism by doctrinal fundamentalists.

ACTION THREATENED

Dr. MacInnis's resignation led eleven other members of the institute organization to resign and the Los Angeles Presbytery called a special meeting that indorsed the dean. There the matter rested until the board of directors published the fact, in the April issue of the institute's magazine, that remaining copies of the book had been destroyed. Dr. MacInnis issued a statement Wednesday declaring the destruction of the book the "worst act of religious intolerance the country has seen in 200 years," and threatening action against the board of directors.

Although the Presbytery of Los Angeles has no direct connection with the institute, it was pointed out by various ministers, when the organization acted in the case before, that many of their congregation had given funds to the institute, which, though undenominational, is supported largely by Presbyterians.

HAS MANY FRIENDS

While none of the ministers connected with the presbytery cared to be quoted yesterday, it was admitted that Dr. MacInnis has many friends among them, and that the acts of the board of directors no doubt will come up for consideration at the April meeting.

Members of the board of directors again yesterday refused to make any comment on Dr. MacInnis's strong denunciation of the destruction of copies of his book.

More than 1,000,000 pounds of velvet cloth were imported into this country last year.

ALLEN GOES TO SENATE

Publisher Gets Curtis Seat

Kansas ex-Governor Friend to Hoover But Foe of Vice-President

Gov. Reed Announces He'll Name Wichita Man to Washington

WASHINGTON, March 29. (Exclusive)—Following a conference with President Hoover, Gov. Reed of Kansas announced here tonight that he will appoint Henry J. Allen, former Governor of the Sunflower State and widely known newspaper publisher, as United States Senator from Kansas to occupy the seat vacated by Vice-President Curtis.

Gov. Reed's statement said that while President Hoover made no suggestion, mention of Allen's name was pleasing to him.

Allen supported Hoover for the Republican Presidential nomination last fall and in the campaign served as national publicity director for the Republican National Committee.

Gov. Reed's statement follows:

"I had a very pleasant visit with the President, in the course of which we discussed the inland waterways, farm relief and judicial appointments in the Kansas judicial district.

"During our visit the appointment of a United States Senator to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Curtis's election to the Vice-Presidency came up.

"When I stated that among those being considered was former Gov. Henry J. Allen the President expressed himself as being gratified. He stated, of course, that he could not even suggest the appointment of any United States Senator.

"He assured me, however, that Mr. Allen had long been his friend and he held him in high esteem and that if the former Governor could be appointed he would be of great help to the administration in carrying out its program and especially in working out the problems vitally affecting Kansas and the entire West.

"Immediately upon my return to Topeka I shall appoint Allen to the Senatorship."

Allen has been identified with the "left wing" of Kansas Republicanism, and for years has been a bitter political foe of Vice-President Curtis. The latter, after being elected Vice-President, planned to resign from the Senate in time for his friend, former Gov. Paulen, to appoint his successor before leaving office early in January. However, Curtis, who was Senate leader, was induced by former President Coolidge to stick to his post until the inauguration.

The elevation of his enemy to his old place in the upper branch undoubtedly will be a bitter pill for Curtis to swallow.

ANOTHER LESSON IN AIR COURSE

How to Build "Times"-National Perfection Glider— Observance of Performance Will Help

By the Faculty of the National Automotive and Electrical School, Aeronautical Division, Los Angeles

The Los Angeles Times-National Perfection Glider is similar in many respects to the sling-shot glider. We use identically the same dimensions but different materials.

The greatest difficulty experienced with our first glider was the fact that after the power of the sling shot had exhausted itself in the upward or forward travel of the glider, it failed to assume a normal glide to earth and in many cases took a sudden nose dive and all of our good work and patience was smashed on the ground. This was due chiefly to the weight of the materials used and in some cases to the wings and rudder pushed out of line when launching the glider.

But we all gained a great deal of interesting data from our first experiments. We at least realized that accurate workmanship brings the best results.

Our second experiment, or the construction of the perfection glider, calls for the greatest skill in the construction of its wings.

The construction of this wing is similar in every respect to models that have broken endurance records. The reason for building a wing of this type so early in our lessons, is to become thoroughly acquainted with the method of construction so that later on we shall become skilled enough to construct the more delicate and intricate designs.

Weight is a determining factor in the success or failure of a flying model, particularly in this our first gliding experiment.

We are now going to construct our glider as skillfully we know now, using the lightest materials for that purpose.

After the model is completed we will glide it without a slingshot and from the experiences gained we shall learn how to adjust our wings and tail surfaces for maximum lift and stability.

We would advise all students who are building models and experimenting at home to construct a great number of perfection gliders with various sized wings and tail surfaces, place these surfaces of various angles of attack and figure out for yourselves by the action of its performance, the center of pressure travel, the lift over drift and the resultant of these forces. These experiments will be invaluable on later work.

The materials needed for the Los Angeles Times-National Perfection Glider follow:

(1.) One piece of Balsa 11x1-4x 1-8 inches.
(2.) One piece of Balsa 2x1-4x 1-4 inches.
(3.) One piece of Balsa 2 1-8x 1 1-4x1-16 inches.
(4.) Two pieces of Balsa 6x3-32x 1-16 inches.
(5.) Four pieces of Balsa 1 15-16 x 3-32x1-16 inches.
(6.) Two pieces of Balsa 3 3-4x 3-32x1-16 inches.
(7.) Three pieces of Balsa 1 9-16x 3-32x1-16 inches.
(8.) One short strip of bamboo.
(9.) Two rubber bands.
(10.) Ambroid cement.
(11.) Banana oil.
(12.) Japanese imperial tissue.

The tools needed are the same as for The Los Angeles Times National Glider in Lesson I, with addition of a small alcohol lamp for bending bamboo. This will complete all of the tools necessary for the construction of all our models.

BUILDING PERFECTION GLIDER

You will notice by careful examination of our drawings the dimensions of the perfection glider are the same as our first glider, but that the details of construction are different and we use different materials. We eliminate the landing gear and slingshot hook to cut down excess weight using a built-up wing for the same purpose.

Before you start actual construction, study the drawings Figures Nos. 1, 2, and3, on page 4. Many of you will be able to build your planes from the drawings alone, without the help of the text. The drawings show the assembled plane and its major parts, including the front and rear wing construction. Whenever you get stuck on any part, study its diagram.

Figures Nos. 2 and 3 show two views each of the front and rear wings; one view from the top and one from the side. Notice that it has a span of eight and one-fourth inches and a chord two and one-eighth inches. Note that it has spars and ribs of Balsa and wing tips of bamboo, and wing surfaces of Japanese imperial tissue.

CONSTRUCTION OF REAR WING

You will first make the two spars from a piece of Balsa one-sixteenth by five eighths by six inches. This piece when split down the middle, gives you the two spars. Be careful not to attempt to split the piece in one stroke, make several cuts, increasing the depth each time. Finish them exactly to one-sixteenth by three-thirty-seconds by six inches. Try to keep the dimensions even throughout, so as to insure perfect balance. Now undercut, or half-lap, the ends to receive the bamboo tips as shown in the upper-left hand corner of Figure No. 3.

EDITORIAL

WHAT IS IT WORTH?

By Helen Wade Siebenthal, Age 18 Years, Bisbee (Ariz.) High School

What is it really worth, after all—this come-and-go popularity? Is it worth what we give too often to get it? Is it worth envying, wanting? I don't think so.

So much time is being wasted, so much energy spent on frivolity that could be put to doing something really beneficial in the world. Many, many girls that would add something to the list of names of talent, names to be remembered and prided, are failing to develop their talent, and, instead, chasing a rainbow, which modernists term, popularity.

It's nice to be popular. We like to feel that we have hoards and hoards of friends, but there is a misconception abroad as to what this really is. Is popularity, doing the "modern" things that are so often condemned by modern people? That is the popularity that is a bar to progress, the kind that hinders, rather than helps. So often it involves deceit, and hate, jealousy and lying, and it is then we give all we have in a vain search for—popularity. I say "vain" because it really is so. Of course, I cannot begin to analyze a boy, but I know that a girl may be amused by modern sophistication, and show, but she will soon tire of it, become bored, and just "hang on." A true-blue pal is still what a girl wants. A person who enjoys sports, loves a good time, and yet is willing to take his share of work in the world. Truthfulness and ideals cannot be wiped out by a few of the people we meet in the vast world of ours. If you chance to be in a place where it is not apparently valued, just remember that there are other places.

The Camp Fire Girl organization has a beautiful phrase, "To be true to the truth that is in me," a promise to yourself. If the whole world were "true to the truth that is in them," what a wonderful place it would be!

For your wing tips, finish two five-inch bamboo strips to exactly one-thirty-second of an inch thickness and one-sixteenth of an inch width. Take care to finish the strips to exactly the same dimensions throughout, to avoid unsightly bends at the weaker places.

Bend your strip, shiny part to the outside, over the flame of your alcohol lamp. Your wing tips should be bent in to graceful curve with the ends two and one-eighth inches apart, outside measurement. Cut them down to the right size and they are ready to be glued to the spars.

Next make your four Balsa ribs one-sixteenth by three-thirty-seconds by one and fifteensixteenths inches. Glue them to the spars with Ambroid cement as shown in Figure 3.

Now glue the bamboo wing tips to the lapped ends of the spars, as shown in the same drawing. Make sure, when you glue on the tips to keep the tips on the same plane with the spars. Do this by holding the ends of the spars flat upon a table when drying.

The frame, now completed, should be coated with banana oil and allowed to dry. This strengthens it.

COVERING THE WING

Your next job is to cover the wing with Japanese imperial tissue. Cut a piece of Japanese tissue about one-half of an inch larger than the frame of the wing. When the piece is cut out coat the center rib with banana oil and place the paper in position upon it. When the oil has dried, paint the frame and the next rib, and with your fingers stretch the paper and hold it in position until dry. Continue in this manner until the wing is covered, taking care to avoid wrinkles. Trim the paper close to the frame by rubbing the edges with sand paper. After trimming, coat the rough edges with banana oil.

The front wing is now built up in the same manner following dimensions given in Figure No. 2.

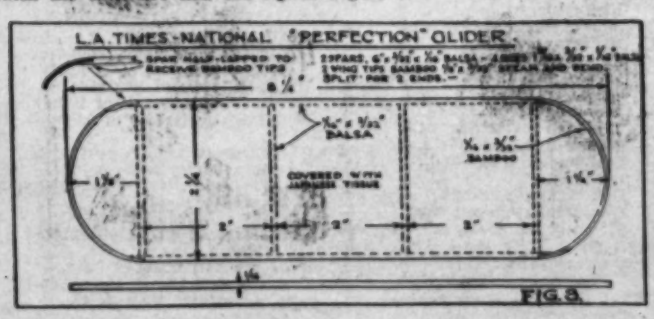
The rudder is made from a strip of Balsa rubbed down with a file or sand paper to one-sixteenth of an inch thick.

The fusilage is made in the same manner as in our first glider, using Balsa rubbed down to exactly the right size instead of white pine.

We now assemble our glider in the same manner as given in Lesson No. 1 and the model is then ready to fly.

and the model is then ready to fly.

Great care must be taken in handling and flying this model and careful observation should be made in its performance.



PLANE FACTS

By Vernon Miller, Vancouver, B. C.

In 1903, Wilbur Wright, an American inventor, made the first real airplane. The following table shows what progress has been made in flying since those days:

Speed in mileage per hour, 1903, 30; 1928, 285.

Distance, nonstop, 1903, 850 feet; 1928, 3923 miles.

Record height, 1903, fifteen feet; 1928, 39,000 feet.

An airman in Savannah had a remarkable escape recently. His plane developed engine trouble, and he leaped from it, clutching his parachute. His parachute failed to open. But he wasn't killed. He fell on the top of a circus tent, and escaped with minor injuries.

Deadwood Dick, alias Richard W. Clark, who is a cowboy, recently celebrated his birthday by taking a ride in an airplane. "It's a lot faster than a horse," said Deadwood Dick.

This is the story of a man who fell three miles one day, and two weeks later fell six miles. He is Maj. Schroeder, one of the world's greatest airmen. Some years ago he tried to break the world's record for high flying. His clothing was fitted with electric wires for keeping him warm in the freezing heights. A special tank of oxygen had been put in his plane for him to breathe in the thin air of 40,000 feet up. It was the oxygen supply that caused the disaster. At 30,000 feet up, it failed. Schroeder, with the breath of life cut off, became unconscious. The plane fell in a spin. One, two, three miles it fell like a stone. Then the airman recovered consciousness miraculously, got his machine under control again and made a safe landing. Two weeks later he was up again in his plane, in another attempt at records. This time he climbed over six miles into the air. The cold was intense, but he was protected by his electrically warmed clothing.

Suddenly he felt ill. The oxygen had failed again. He tried to right it, but could not see, for a sheet of ice covered his goggles. Without thinking, he lifted his goggles up to his brow in order to see. At once a terrific pain shot through his eyes. He was blinded. His eyes had frozen solid! The airman was helpless. The machine fell straight down, rolling over and over. In three minutes he fell six miles. Still blind, he managed to grip the controls, and righted the machine. Then he fainted. The plane came down perfectly. Schroeder was unhurt, save for his eyes. Later they became better. The whole thing was a miracle of luck.

PHANTOM FINGERS

By Lyon Mearson

THE Grand Theater is one of the oldest in New York. It is peopled by the ghosts of thirty, forty and fifty years ago. This theater is a ramshackle and tremendous place with two balconies, as they used to build them then. It was opened by a play in which the great Constance Daly, now forgotten by everyone but the real old-timers, was starred. She was then at the height of her fame, and it was said that Ambrose Benedict had built his theater expressly for her. There was much more gossip at the time, of course, but it is well not to go too heavily into that at this time. It may come up again, however.

Occasionally a feature film goes into it now, but otherwise its seats are covered with dust and its stage is dark. In the far corners of the very large stage, against the exposed brick of the black walls, lean rickety sets, painted walls for hovels and gilded walls for living-rooms, drops with street scenes painted on them in which the men wear tight pants and the women long skirts and hair, a canvas forest in which the tremendous numbers of William Shakespeare have resounded, some red plush furniture that no one has ever claimed; all dirty, all covered with the dust of years, and all forgotten.

Two or three years ago, however, the Humberts had a play called "The Leopard's Spots" rehearsing there preparatory to opening in that same theater. It was a good season in New York and every theater was occupied. There seemed no reason not to use the Grand, and indeed there was none. The acoustics were very nearly the best in New York, the lobby was spacious in the old manner, the house was very large and in case of a real success, would return much profit, and the only objection to it seemed to be that it was below Forty-second street.

This lengthy preamble is necessary because I want you to have a pretty fair conception of the place where all this happened that you may the better understand the subsequent events.

The rehearsals for "The Leopard's Spots" went very well indeed. It was the first play in which Betty Sargent, a beautiful and talented young actress, was to be featured. The star was Augustin Arnold, one of the finest young romantic actors in the country, and the second act of the play was distinguished by as impassioned a love scene between the two as has ever been played on our stage. I know, because I saw it in rehearsal. The reason it was never given in full on the opening of the play, or thereafter, constitutes one of the jumping-off places for this curious chronicle.

Four days before the play was to open the management of the piece received a curious note. It was written on an ordinary sheet of typewriting paper, such as every stenographer is familiar with, and which is usually used for second sheets. The typewriting was a trifle inexpert, but otherwise undistinguished. It read:

> Do not try to continue with your play, "The Leopard's Spots," or it will be the worse for you. It will be well if you heed this warning.
> PRO BONO PUBLICO.

No particular attention was paid to this message, of course, for every office that is much in the public eye is in receipt of crank letters. The next day, however, the office received another one from the same source, and in the same typewriting. This one read:

> Cease rehearsals of "The Leopard's Spots" on receipt of this friendly warning, if you wish to avert a tragedy. You will never be allowed to continue with the play. If you wish to save trouble, disband the cast and abandon the play.
> CONSTANT READER.

It was puzzling, but nothing particular was done about it, for they were busy with a thousand and one details and had no time to bother with a half-wit who was taking this safe way of amusing himself. The signature on the letters was peculiar, of course, but even that was explainable. The letters must have been written, some one in the office decided, by one of the cranks who writes anonymous letters to the newspapers, for he had retained even the usual signatures of the anonymous newspaper letter writers.

On the third day, the day of the dress rehearsal, they received another warning—or rather Augustin Arnold, the star, received it. It was obviously from the same source, being on the same kind of paper and in the same typewriting. He did not know about the two previous letters, and would have paid no attention to it, for a well-known star receives many anonymous communications, but he happened to mention the matter, quite casually, to Ike Humbert, and as Ike was in possession of the other two letters, he naturally put two and one together and got no answer. The note this time read:

> Do not play in "The Leopard's Spots" tomorrow night if you wish to continue in the land of the living. This is a serious warning, and it will be fatal to you to disregard it.
> A WELL WISHER.

This is where I came into the thing. I am on the force. There is a little more to it, but let that come later. Let it be enough to say that, having a little more money than is quite good form, I decided that the detective force of a large city was a good place to satisfy my lust for excitement and change, and that, with a little carefully placed influence, I managed to get myself appointed.

Well, anyway, Humbert called up the Chief and told him about it, and the Chief promised to send a man around at once. That

New Gladiolus Forest Fire

A dazzling scarlet, so bright that it appears to emit a shimmering radiance of golden flame. It, at once, calls to mind the scene of an intense fire. The spikes are of medium height and the flowers are well formed, several being open at one time. Excellent either for bedding or cutting purposes.

Forest Fire is a Howard & Smith production and we are offering it to you this season for the first time.

Price, Each 50c; $5.00 for 12.

BARON HULOT

A blue Gladiolus of great merit. This variety has come into prominence during the past few years, due to the fact that it is a very strong growing variety, producing fine spikes of deep violet blue flowers. We recommend this as the best blue garden variety. Baron Hulot can always be depended upon to give strong spikes with perfect bloom. Price, each, 15c; $1.50 for 12; $10.00 per 100.

LOS ANGELES

One of the later introductions. A variety that has taken precedence over all others in its particular color field. The color combination is very difficult to describe. To keep it in the proper color range, it might be termed shrimp pink, tinted gold. The throat of the flower is deep crimson. Los Angeles cannot be surpassed as a cut flower. Price, each 15c; $1.50 for 12; $10.00 per 100.

Prices quoted include postage.

SPECIAL OFFER: 4 Forest Fire, 4 Baron Hulot, 4 Los Angeles, $2.25 post paid.

Personal Movies at Home

We'll show you how to make them

Imagine the thrill you'd get if tonight, in your own home, you could see yourself and your family on an outing you took several years ago—not in still pictures, but in movies that showed every smile and gesture. How exciting it would be!

That's exactly the pleasure you can provide for yourself, if you begin making movies now.

There's no reason why you should wait another day. Here at Kodak Headquarters we have complete Cine-Kodak home movie making outfits for surprisingly little. What's more, we'll be glad to demonstrate them any time you wish. Just ask any of our salesmen. Our demonstrations obligate you not at all.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

CAKE WAFFLES

1 cup Globe "A1" Flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
⅓ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs, separated
½ cup milk
⅓ cup melted butter

SIFT the flour, measure and sift again with the sugar and baking powder. Beat the egg yolks, add the milk and vanilla, then fold in the flour mixture, add the melted butter and beat until the batter is smooth. Fold in the stiff-beaten egg whites and bake in a moderately hot waffle iron.

HOMINY SALMON SCALLOP

1 cup Globe "A1" Large Hominy
1 small onions, sliced
1 dozen large ripe olives
Salt, pepper and paprika
1 lb. can red salmon
1 can peas
1½ cups hot white sauce
Butter

Cover hominy with cold water and soak for several hours, drain, cover with hot water and cook slowly until soft, adding 1 teaspoon salt while cooking. Cook onions in a little butter until they turn yellow, then spread them in the bottom of a large well-buttered baking dish. Cover with half the hominy, over this spread the peas with liquid from the can, cover with the salmon, broken into pieces, using liquid from salmon also. Press olives into salmon, cover with remaining hominy and pour over all the hot white sauce, well seasoned with salt, pepper and paprika. Bake in hot oven for about 45 minutes. To make the white sauce, blend 4 tablespoons butter with 4 tablespoons flour, slowly add 1½ cups hot milk, stir and cook for 3 minutes and add seasoning.

A DEFLATED BLUFF

An Episode in the Married Life of Helen and Warren

By Mabel Herbert Urner

Creator of the "Helen and Warren" Characters

"NOW don't start snitching things off the table," grumbled Warren, shaking out the monogrammed napkin. "I can put away a good feed—even if they didn't show up."

"Oh, don't use that," giving him an every-day napkin. "And wait, let me put something under your plate. I don't want any spots on this cloth."

"Huh, all this stage-settin' for the Martins," he scoffed. "Now shiftin' the scenery when they don't turn up!"

"But, dear, my best Italian set—the laundry's so hard on it. And we don't need these," Helen blew out the bayberry candles.

"Well, speed on the dinner. I want some nourishment!" his appetite and his grouch both sharpened by the long wait.

What had happened to the Martins? Expected at seven—now almost eight. She had called their Westchester home—but no answer.

"Even if they had an accident—you'd think they'd phone."

"Maybe got the dates mixed," Warren dispatching his caviar canape. "By George, there they are now!" starting up to answer the telephone.

Helen waiting—tense, expectant. Ready to put back the extras—

"Hello? . . . Why, how are you, Winship? When did you get in? . . . Had your dinner? . . . No, don't do that—taxi right up here . . . No, we've just started . . . Good!"

"Winship?" fluttered Helen. "Not Everett Winship from Boston?"

"Yes, just got in. Wanted to know if I'd be home this evening. Coming right up—you can work off your company frills on him."

"Oh, I'm so glad," starting to replace the extra accessories. "It'd be a shame to waste this dinner."

"Have to tell him that!" with a grin.

"Warren, don't you dare!" rearranging the table for three. "Don't say we were expecting anyone."

"Huh, what's the bluff this time? Want him to think we get all togged out and have a spread like this every night?"

"It's not so much of a spread—and lots of people always dress for dinner."

"Well, I don't!" capturing the last bead of caviar. "And Winship knows it."

"You ought to! You're wonderful in a dinner coat," an admiring glance across the table. "Most men look like waiters. Anna, don't serve the soup yet—a gentleman'll be here in a minute."

"Only one of 'em?" picking up the hors d'oeuvres plates.

"No, not the Martins—another gentleman. Keep basting that guinea hen—I'm afraid it'll be all dried up."

Registering martyrdom, Anna flounced out. Her habitual disapproval augmented by the long-delayed dinner.

Helen restoring the monogrammed napkins. Taking the protecting tray cloth from under Warren's plate.

Lighting the candles again. Rearranging the roses in the jade bowl. Getting out the mints and toasted almonds, just put away in the sideboard.

"Now dear, you needn't even mention the Martins—"

"Why not?" munching an olive. "Great guns, why always a false front?"

"It isn't that at all!" flushing. "But when you start explaining it sounds as if we never have anything when we're alone."

"Well, we don't have such a heluva lot!"

"Why, you wouldn't want a heavy dinner like this every night. Oh, that candle!" straightening the wick with a fork. "We all eat too much, anyway."

"No danger of that around here," he snorted. "Need a company dinner now and then to stoke up on."

"That's just what you said when the Raus were here! Warren, if you ever say that again—"

"Huh, can't you ever take a joke?" sampling a mint.

"There's nothing funny about it! You always say something like that—about 'company trimmings!' You make people think we never have anything decent for ourselves."

"Show up your bluff, eh?" he grinned, reaching for another mint.

"It's not a bluff—everybody fixes up for company! They'll spoil your dinner," pushing the mints out of his reach. "That Sunday the Daltons were here—What was it you said? Something awful."

"Couldn't have been much if you don't remember it," starting on the almonds.

"Oh, yes, when Anna passed the brandied peaches you said 'I'll nail three—only get 'em when we have company.' such a cheap joke—There he is now!" as the doorbell buzzed.

The next moment the maid ushering in Mr. Winship.

"Just in time!" Warren's hearty greeting. "Come right in. I don't think you've met Mrs. Curtis."

"I haven't had that pleasure," a Bostonian voice. "I hope you'll forgive me, Mrs. Curtis, for dropping in like this."

"Why, we're very glad to have you, Helen consciously gracious. "You phoned just in time—we were just having our caviar."

"Well, this is certainly delightful after that tiresome trip," settling down at the festive candle-lit table.

Helen glowingly conscious of his admiring glances around the attractive dining-room—and at her. This more than made up for the Martins' defection.

Everett Winship of the Boston Winships! She had heard of their wonderful Back Bay home and their place at Lenox.

How fortunate he had come tonight! If he had been expected, not half so effective. But to drop in and find this flawless setting—A perfect situation!

"I'm afraid you were going out this evening," a significant glance at Warren's tuxedo. "Don't let me keep you—I'll run along after dinner."

"No, we weren't going anywhere. As a matter of fact—"

"Won't you have some celery, Mr. Winship?" Helen hastily passing the iced dish.

The threatened remark about the Martins safely checked!

The dinner progressing with exceptional smoothness.

Helen sparkling under the stimulus of success. Usually Warren's business friends ignored her, but Mr. Winship noticeably attentive.

Glimpsing herself in the mirror over the sideboard. That coral chiffon most flattering—just her color. Yes, that new shampoo made her hair fluffier.

And the dinner wonderful. Miraculously not spoiled by the wait. The savory roast guinea-hen. Broccoli with Hollandaise sauce. Hearts of artichoke salad. Real Munster cheese from Alsace.

"I've certainly enjoyed this, Mrs. Curtis—after bacheloring in clubs and restaurants. Mrs. Winship's in Europe—but she'll be home in a few weeks. Next time you're in Boston I hope you'll dine with us."

"I'd love to. But Warren goes off in such a rush—we never know in advance."

"Well, just call us from the station—as I did," he laughed. "But I can't promise you a dinner like this—not without notice."

"Well, you're in luck tonight," began Warren. "We were—"

"Oh, do have some of these cassava wafers," with another don't-mention-the-Martins glance. "I love them with this cheese."

Safely steering the conversation to Mrs. Winship's trip. A chance to talk of Europe—travel and antiques. Her favorite subjects. Airing her knowledge.

"We'll have coffee in the library," when they finally rose.

The library, too, dressed up for company. Purple asters in the antique vase. A precious bottle of Flowers-of-the-Alps cordial on the silver tray. All the lamps glowing. The sheen of old mahogany. Even Pussy Purr-Mew languidly effective on the Sheraton couch.

The men settling down for a smoke. Beaming after-dinner content.

Helen posing in a big armchair—under the most becoming light. Fairly purring over the successful evening. Mr. Winship really impressed—with her, their home, her management. Warren should be proud of her tonight.

A strident ring from the telephone. A swift premonition—

"Wait, dear, you needn't bother," she started up.

But the receiver at Warren's elbow—already off the hook.

"Oh, hello there! . . . Yes, we were worried . . . That's funny—here all evening . . . No, we didn't wait long—figured something like that had happened. But you missed a corking dinner. . . . No, wasn't all wasted—friend from Boston dropped in . . . All right, see you at the club tomorrow."

Warren turning from the phone, radiating relief.

"The Martins. Tire blew out, then pinched for speeding. Said they tried to get us three times—must've called the wrong number."

Helen's face aflame. Oh, why hadn't she answered? She could have managed—not given it away. But he had to blurt out everything!

Trying to hide her confusion by playing with Pussy Purr-Mew, perched on her chair arm.

Poignantly conscious of a subtle change. A let-down! Mr. Winship no longer flattering, admiring. Now an undertone of amused condescension.

Warren still talking shop—unperturbed by the exposure of her pretense. But Helen abjectly silent. Her sparkling vivacity crushed.

Why—oh, why had she done it? Her deception indirect—but deliberate. The atmosphere of affluence she had tried to suggest—

Why couldn't she be honest—not always maneuver to impress people? Always got her in wrong—made a worse impression.

Relieved at Mr. Winship's early departure. His polite parting thanks. Imagining a note of irony in his repeated invitation to "drop in."

"Oh, how could you?" she anguished, when Warren came back from the elevator. "You didn't have to give it away like that! You might've—"

"Forgot all about it," he shrugged. "Don't count on me to back up your bluffs!"

"It wasn't a bluff!" tearfully. "It just wasn't necessary to make explanations."

"One of your indirect lies, eh?" getting out his before-bed pipe. "Huh, nothing looks so cheap as a show-off! Never fools anybody, anyway."

"Oh, dear, I—I'm perfectly wretched!"

"Well, you needn't be," relenting. "Winship's a good sport—took it as a joke."

by the average osteopath or chiropractor.

Unfortunately, the average medical man does not know osteopathic or chiropractic technique. Many of them refuse to recognize such a lesion, and, instead of attempting to correct it, give the patient dope.

Generally two to six treatments by a skilled manipulator will be quite sufficient to correct a sacro iliac lesion.

Paralytic Strokes

Q.: What may cause a paralytic stroke?

A.: The main elements of susceptibility are high blood pressure, arteriosclerosis and leaky valves of the heart. The stroke itself is built upon this background when we produce the immediate or exciting cause.

The high blood pressure, heart disease and arteriosclerosis come from many, many years of dietetic, alcoholic, tobacco and sexual dissipation, coupled with a comparatively sedentary existence. Then comes the acute, immediate, predisposing cause—an emotional crisis of some kind, a huge feast, some undue excitement or some such similar event.

Any one of these elements will immediately raise the blood pressure. For instance, one's blood pressure is from five to twenty-five points higher following a big meal than before.

Emotionally, one can raise the blood pressure the same number of points when one becomes angry, depressed or violently excited.

The mechanics are simple, indeed.

Imagine a rubber hose in your back yard already weak from age. It can stand just so much pressure from the spigot. We turn it on a "wee bit more" and the hose bursts.

In the brain, that is the simple cause of a paralytic stroke—a hemorrhage—the bursting of the hose where the blood cannot escape.

Sometimes the hemorrhage occurs in some other part of the body. It is not so bad then—only a form of localized congestion. Then it is a partial paralysis, usually of a temporary nature.

The serious stroke is when a hemorrhage occurs in the brain.

This should be a warning to all with high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis. The tension inside the arteries must be reduced.

Unforunately, a stroke gives no warning. It literally strikes "from the blue." There are no premonitory symptoms. Death may be instantaneous or there may be a lingering paralysis which may result in death.

On the other hand, if there has already been a stroke and a slight recovery from the paralysis is taking place, there is no necessity for a second stroke. The second is invariably fatal. Those few who survive the second are scarcely, without an exception, destroyed by the third. Stroke will follow stroke until death occurs unless the predisposing causes are removed.

One has no business having high blood pressure. If one has, it should be reduced by the only known safe, sensible means—dietetic and hygienic control—and before it is too late.

Great Chicago Health Institution Lauds Amazing Flaxolyn Discovery

Many Liver, Kidney, Stomach Sufferers Here Now Have Keener Appetites, Enjoy Sound Restful Sleep; Bowel Action Regular—Noted Specialist Tells Exact Formula of Flaxolyn

Dr. Victor Hugo Lindlahr and his associates who operate the remarkable Lindlahr Sanitarium, and the Lindlahr College of Natural Therapeutics in Chicago, Ill., have given to Dr. Luntz's Herbal Flaxolyn the highest possible approval by recommending and endorsing it throughout their famous health organizations.

In the Lindlahr Magazine, "Radiant Health," the following statements by doctors have appeared, showing what Flaxolyn, which is only nature's roots and herbs compounded with sunbaked flaxseed, has done in all sorts of cases.

High Blood Pressure

Dr. Woodruff of Port Angeles, Wash.: "Flaxolyn successful in this condition."

Constipation!

Dr. B. Lust, editor of the "Nature Path": "Flaxolyn is a natural Food-Laxative, and priceless in all digestive ills."

Nervousness!

Dr. L. McMillan, Chicago: "Flaxolyn has no equal or duplicate anywhere."

In addition to the above the London Health Centre, Dr. George Starr White, the famous Pacific Coast medical author, and other authorities have highly endorsed Dr. Luntz's Herbal Flaxolyn because

IT IS A TONIC-LAXATIVE

Hundreds of other doctors, who have used Flaxolyn in the treatment of such symptoms as dizzy spells, liver disorders, indigestion, sleepless nights, kidney and bladder troubles have already written in praise of Herbal Flaxolyn. Dr. L. Dupre, Orange, Texas, says: "Every box that I have distributed has given the best of satisfaction."

Dr. J. M. Gardner, Idaho Falls, Idaho, states: "My patients demand Flaxolyn and are asking for more. They do not consider it as a medicine but as an herb tonic which, of course, it is, and a good one."

Since taking Flaxolyn, hundreds of local folks no longer suffer from weakened, run-down condition—constant headaches—and above all poor appetite, muddy blood and sluggish bowels.

Don't wait. Start taking Flaxolyn. It does not gripe because it is a natural food. You will feel the tonic change at once. You will enjoy renewed vigor, a new grip on life. Large box of many treatments, $1.

Dr. Luntz's Rules of Health free with Flaxolyn purchases. Flaxolyn is dispensed to health-seekers here by: All Health Food Stores and reliable Drug Stores.

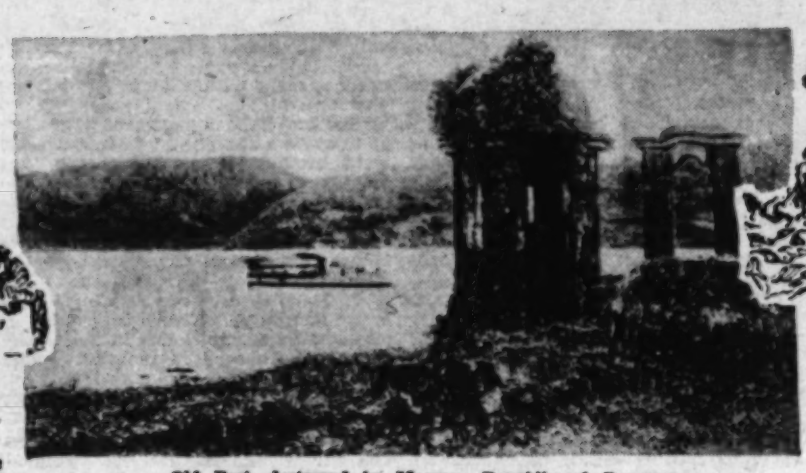
The Once Famous WALLED CITY

Heroic monument of Balboa at Panama City.



Old Fort, destroyed by Morgan, Republic of Panama.

Cathedral Tower, part of the ruins of old Panama, which was destroyed by the pirate Morgan over 300 years ago.

By Fred Hogue

JUST a ruined square tower with the surf of the Pacific at its base and the jungle at its back—the tower of the demolished church of San Antasio—and the crumbling arched bridge that crossed the moat to the old fortress—this is all that remains of the once famous walled city of Panama.

Tradition has it that the bishop left his curse on the spot when he departed before the advance of Morgan and his terrible raiders, during the wars between England and Spain almost three hundred years ago.

Panama was then the naval base of the Spanish ships in the Pacific. It was from here that the treasures pillaged in Peru and on the western coast of Mexico were assembled, carried over the "gold trail" now converted into a waterway—the Panama Canal—and reshipped in argosies to Spain.

Spanish pirates looted Mexico and Peru—a piracy legitimized by royal decree. Their treasure ships were laden with gold gathered by bloody hands. English pirates lurked behind the islands that dot the Spanish Main through the Caribbean Sea—piracy also legalized by royal decree—and fought with the successful looters for possession of the bloodstained spoils. So embittered were these duels of the sea that often both the treasure ship and the attacking craft went down to the bottom.

Old houses clinging to the city wall, which was built in 1673 after the Morgan raid. This wall completely incloses the city.

Sketches by Charles H. Owens

Other centuries, other morals and manners. The one sailed under the flag of Spain; the other under the Union Jack. Government and Church approved. Whilst a priest on the deck of the Spanish argosy held a cross aloft and prayed for God to aid in the destruction of the piratical heretics, a clergyman of the Church of England stood on the deck of the other and implored the same God to destroy his arch-enemies on the Spanish vessel.

But whatever the cause, the effect was the same. The walled city which Morgan destroyed was never rebuilded. It is now a ruin swallowed up by the jungle on the shore of a restless sea.

I motored out to this spot. Ivy and other tropical vines climbed to the summit of the tower. With their garments of green, they covered the scars of the wounds inflicted by cannon balls and fire. And other pirates sat at the base, a spot where once the priests rested under the shade of towering pines as twilight descended and the cool breezes from the ocean dried the perspiration on their foreheads and breasts. These modern pirates were selling machine-made panama hats and spurious necklaces made in Germany and Italy to credulous tourists at about three times the price asked for them at home.

For two days we sailed from Trinidad to Colon, over the route that once was the Spanish Main, on whose shores a civilization flourished and faded three hundred years ago. Columbus, Balboa, Drake, Raleigh, Morgan and a score of others hardly less famous sailed these seas. The treasures plundered from the Indian palaces and temples in the new world were carried over this route to enrich the old. With this treasure Phillip of Spain builded his palace, his cathedral and his armada; and with the gold taken from the captured argosies Elizabeth laid the beginning of England's naval power.

The English called the Spanish pirates; the Spanish called the English pirates, and perhaps both were right. But it is a form of piracy that still exists—plundering and sinking privately owned vessels on the high seas when two governments are at war. The submarine is the modern development of the pirate sailing craft.

No one sails the Caribbean without hearing of the daring, bloody exploits of the "Pirate Morgan." But, if he were a pirate, the crews of all our vessels that preyed on English commerce during the war of 1812 were pirates, and Paul Jones was one of the greatest pirates of them all. Patriot or pirate, it depends upon the flag under which he sailed.

The ruins of the church and fortress, that Morgan and his men razed after a march across the isthmus with a daring and fortitude that conquered alike the jungle and Spanish arms, still stand, mute witness of a deed of derring do that still lives in song and story on the shores and islands of the Caribbean Sea.

Modern Panama, builded on the Pacific entrance to the canal about seven miles from the site of the old, is colorful, populous, noisy and wicked. In general appearance it resembles a bit of old Spain. I refer to the streets and structures, not the population. The restraining moral influences of the Catholic Church seem to have fled from Panama. Its population comes from a melting pot of the white, black and yellow races, a melting pot in which illegitimacy seems to be the rule rather than the exception.

Panama City is delightfully picturesque. Shops, cathedrals, dance halls, bull rings, race tracks and plazas are so intermingled that it reminds one of scrambled eggs. Some of the structures are of Spanish architecture, with barred windows, iron balconies and gabled roofs—hundreds of years old. Others are modern, but none of them are new. What a contrast it forms to the scrupulously neat and orderly Ancon, just across the street.

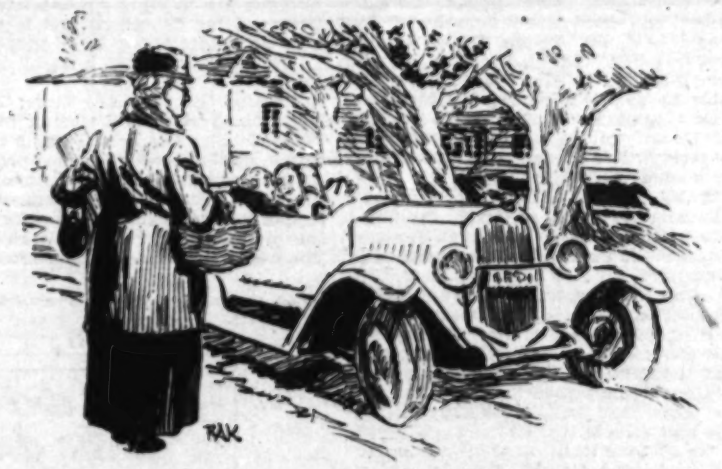
"The Way to Stop the Epidemic o'Pettin' is to Let Whiskers Grow Again."



"A body would think this generation o' flappers an' boy friends invented kissin'."

"THE way old folks carry on about pettin', a body would think this generation o' flappers and boy friends invented kissin', but its been goin' on purty much the same ever since I was old enough to take a natural interest in gossip.

"Kissin' in the old days was just as frequent as it is now, but it was briefer. Most o' the men folks had whiskers, an' if they showed any symptoms o' paralysis, the girls broke away. Bein' crushed to a manly bosom an' havin' whiskers pushed against your face ain't no more blissful than bein' hit with a cow's tail while you're milkin'.

"The girls didn't co-operate much in them days, an' some fellers couldn't never get a kiss without stealin' it, but the reason was mostly whiskers—whiskers an' chewin' tobacco.

"Pa hadn't growed a beard yet when he was settin' up to me, but he chawed some.

"The first time he tried to kiss me was on the way home from Friday night choir practice. I seen what was comin', but I wasn't goin' to encourage him none an' didn't pucker.

"It didn't make no difference, though, because the horse shied an' spoiled Pa's aim. He aimed for my mouth, but it hit just under my ear an' skidded on down to my chin.

"That was the way all men kissed in them days. They just hauled off an' smacked you an' that was the end of it.

"This modern kissin' like you see in the movies, where they just fasten together an' shut their eyes for a nap, is more like vulcanizin' a patch on a inner tube.

"It don't look decent to me. Folks that like to kiss that way ain't got no right to, an' the ones that has a right to wouldn't like it.

"The wickedness in kissin' depends on how it makes you feel, an' my notion is plain kissin' don't give these here modern younguns no more thrill than we got a-holdin' hands.

"But I don't like to see a girl kissin' a man she ain't goin' to marry. If she don't kiss but one man, she thinks he's the only one she could enjoy kissin'.

"A girl kissed too much is like a used car. A good paint job makes her look fresh, but the man that gets her always wishes he knowed her history."

Ruth's mother could take it from you as I had instructed her."

"And—Beldridge's suit?" faltered the boy.

"It was another girl he was suing," the old lawyer explained. "I had the papers copied, and Ruth's name substituted. It was those I gave to you."

"But—how did you dare?" Felton demanded, incredulously. "How did you know I wouldn't go to her and discover your—deception."

"I knew you too well, Dan," the other told him. "And I had already carefully sown the poison of doubt in your mind. Moreover, when she was ill I myself had her sent away. I knew what the effect of it all would be on you—that you'd go, too, before she returned. Hadn't I myself once passed through the same horror?"

"But why—why didn't she answer my letter?" the boy cried, in an agony of despair. "Why didn't she explain?"

Trask drew himself up.

"Explain!" he retorted. "After the accusing, terrible note you wrote her? What of her pride, Dan? Could any girl explain after those words of yours?"

"God!" breathed the boy. "Of course not! But how I must have made her suffer."

"It was I who did it all, Dan," the other confessed. "But, thank God, I was able to tell you! Last night I was afraid I couldn't do it. Now you see why you must go to her." He rose unsteadily and stood before the unhappy boy, his wrinkled old face radiant with a new light.

"How can I go to her," Felton groaned, "after what I have done? How can she ever forgive me?"

"She will forgive you, Dan," the old man told him. "She loves you—and she will understand."

"But why did she refuse my love weeks ago?" the boy persisted, fearing to accept too fully the wonder of this new and unexpected revelation.

"She didn't reject it," the other answered. "She knew how young you were and she wanted you to be sure—so that you would never suffer. It was the unselfishness of her love."

"How can you—know about—these things?" Felton breathed, wonderingly.

"I know many things tonight, Dan, that I never knew before," the other answered. "That's why I had to come—to tell you the truth—to atone." He moved toward the door. "Come, Dan," he urged, gently.

Felton no longer hesitated. His sense of bewildered amazement now turned into nervous eagerness. A great longing for the girl took hold of him. Hurriedly crossing the room he held the door open for Trask to pass out and followed him down the stairs, his heart beating violently.

On reaching the pavement the old lawyer paused. "Try to forgive me, Dan," he said, and with a last appealing look at the boy he turned and walked away down the shadowy street.

When Felton reached the arbor he found the girl with her head bowed in her arms. She heard him approach and looked up in startled and incredulous wonder. He moved toward her, trying to speak, but no words would come, and he fell on his knees, hiding his face in her lap and sobbing like a child.

"Ruth—forgive me!" he whispered, looking up at her through a mist of tears. "I know the truth—at last. And, oh, try to love me—to forget the wrong I have done you."

The girl drew him up beside her, and the silence that followed was pregnant with the tenderness of love and forgiveness.

They walked home in silence, and even when she lifted her lips to his for a last good night kiss, no word was spoken. Yet each knew the things which the other's heart was saying.

The following morning Felton returned to the office.

Approaching Henderson, the chief clerk, he inquired casually if Trask had come in yet.

"You—haven't heard?" the other asked, in a slightly incredulous tone. "Mr. Trask is dead. I thought, of course, you knew. It was his heart." He hesitated a moment. "Then perhaps you don't knew, either, that he left you everything he had."

"I—didn't know," Felton stammered. "Thank you, Henderson." And he at once hastened out of the office.

He stood in the street for several minutes trying to adjust his mind to this unexpected and tragic turn of events. Then he hailed a taxicab and drove at once to Trask's residence.

He was admitted by the old butler, who, without a word, solemnly led him upstairs. In the upper hallway he was met by a nurse; and a moment later he was standing with her beside the old-fashioned canopied bed whereon lay the man who had so long been his enemy. Trask appeared merely to have fallen into a peaceful slumber.

Felton stood for a moment looking down at him. Then he remarked softly to the nurse: "It's hard to believe he is dead when I saw him only last night, apparently well."

"You are mistaken about seeing him last night," the nurse rejoined. "He was stricken at the office two days ago and has been confined to bed ever since."

A chill ran over Felton. "But—I thought—I saw him—late last night."

"Mr. Trask lapsed into a coma early last evening," the nurse informed him in a matter-of-fact tone. "I was here at the time. He died without regaining consciousness."

Felton did not move, and it was several moments before he could speak.

"Just—what time," he asked, "did Mr. Trask die?"

He was trembling as the nurse picked up the chart from the small table at the head of the bed and ran her eye down the entries.

"He died," she announced, "at exactly twelve-twenty this morning."

Several minutes of silence followed Dr. Saville's story. At length Coberly turned toward the doctor.

"I don't just understand about the will," he said. "How did Trask happen to change it before—before he—found out?"

"That was the crux of the whole affair," Dr. Saville answered. "When I arrived that last evening about eight. I should say—Trask beckoned me to him. He was sinking pretty fast. It was an aneurism; and he had already entered a little way into the shadows—perhaps just far enough to see and understand certain things.

" 'Doctor,' he said, 'I've got something I must straighten out before it's too late. I've done a great wrong and I must set it right.'

"Then he made me send for Henderson, and he drew up a new will. The effort tired him, and he lay for a while barely breathing. I thought it was the final coma, but his lips began to move slightly and I bent over him.

" 'The will was only part of—my atonement,' he murmured, faintly. 'The rest—you must do for me . . . I—can't go myself—and the boy must know—the truth. Go to him, doctor—tell him I sent you—and explain to him—'

"But he never finished, telling me what it was he wanted me to do. The shadows had come too quickly, and he dropped into unconsciousness."

Dr. Saville paused a moment and then added:

"As I see it, Trask passed out of this life, without being able to tell me just how I could help him right this great wrong he had done. And so he had to do it himself—somehow."

FAMOUS BEAUTIES

Marcia Burns, the Foster Mother of the Nation's Capitol

By Joseph Kaye

Marcia Burns, from a miniature by James Peale

THE story of Marcia Burns is practically the story of early Washington, for it was her father, Davy Burns, who deeded the property to the government upon which the capital was built. The present site of the original Burns cottage is the land bounded by G and H streets and Ninth and Tenth streets.

Marcia Burns was one of our first belles. Very beautiful, noble in character and possessing an intelligent mind, she had a personality that inspired both love and admiration.

In those days America was not ready for any salons of beauty, wit and fashion. Washington's streets were too muddy and bare to bring out an elaborate society. But there was one magnet in Washington that attracted everybody who had something to do or say and could accomplish either with distinction. That attraction was Marcia Burns. To her father's humble home came such men as Hamilton, Webster, Clay, Burr, Monroe, and when a noted visitor arrived in town he was sure to pay his respects at once to Miss Burns. Thomas Moore, the poet, was so entranced with the charms of this young woman that, when he was touring this country, he spent many days with the Burnses.

Marcia was educated in Georgetown, in the home of Martin Luther, a noted lawyer of the period, and when she returned to her home she found a new town springing all around her. In place of the meadows and woods she had known as a child there were slushy roadways designed for streets; everywhere there was the clatter of workmen erecting homes and official buildings. Burns had made it a condition of his transfer of the property that in the erection of the city his cottage should remain untouched. This wish was respected and the antiquated structure was preserved in the midst of oncoming modernity. Presided over by Marcia it became the center of the political and social life of the city.

In addition to her personal charms Marcia was wealthy and competition for her hand was keen. As a journalist of the period observed in his paper, "Almost every person had heard of the rich heiress and many men were desirous of making her acquaintance, but most of them lacked the courage. Some few who were in good circumstances made an attempt to gain the prize but without success."

The one who did gain the prize was John Peter Van Ness, a very handsome and clever young lawyer from New York. After their marriage Van Ness built a magnificent mansion in the capital designed by Latrobe, which cost $60,000 an enormous sum for those days. It was a most luxurious home and with its carved marble mantels imported from Italy it became the show-place of Washington and the hub around which the social life of the capital rotated.

Except for the fact that she was a leader of Washington, and one of the few notable "salon" women of America, Marcia Van Ness's life was not marked by any striking events. But she suffered a great sorrow. Her daughter Anna, as much of a belle as she had been, married a southern gentleman named Middleton, a son of the Signers. The marriage was celebrated by the greatest social gayeties Washington had known but this bright prelude was only one that led to tragedy. Anna died a year after her marriage and her mother was so stricken with grief that she withdrew from all social activities. She shunned her mansion and lived in the seclusion of a room in her father's old cottage. She gave herself over to charity and welfare and so passed her life until her end came.

She died in 1832 and was the only woman to be honored by a public funeral in Washington up to that time.

Oh, tell me sage whence comes the rage
That though a soul be timid
He'll boldly scale a canyon wall,
By deadly peril rimmed,
In eager zest, upon a quest
For dove or hare or fallow;
Or a brook will whip, sunk to the hip,
By sedge or cress or sallow,
For a little trout, when rheum or gout,
Around his family embers,
Will hold him pat, hors de combat,
And as stiff as bleak Decembers?

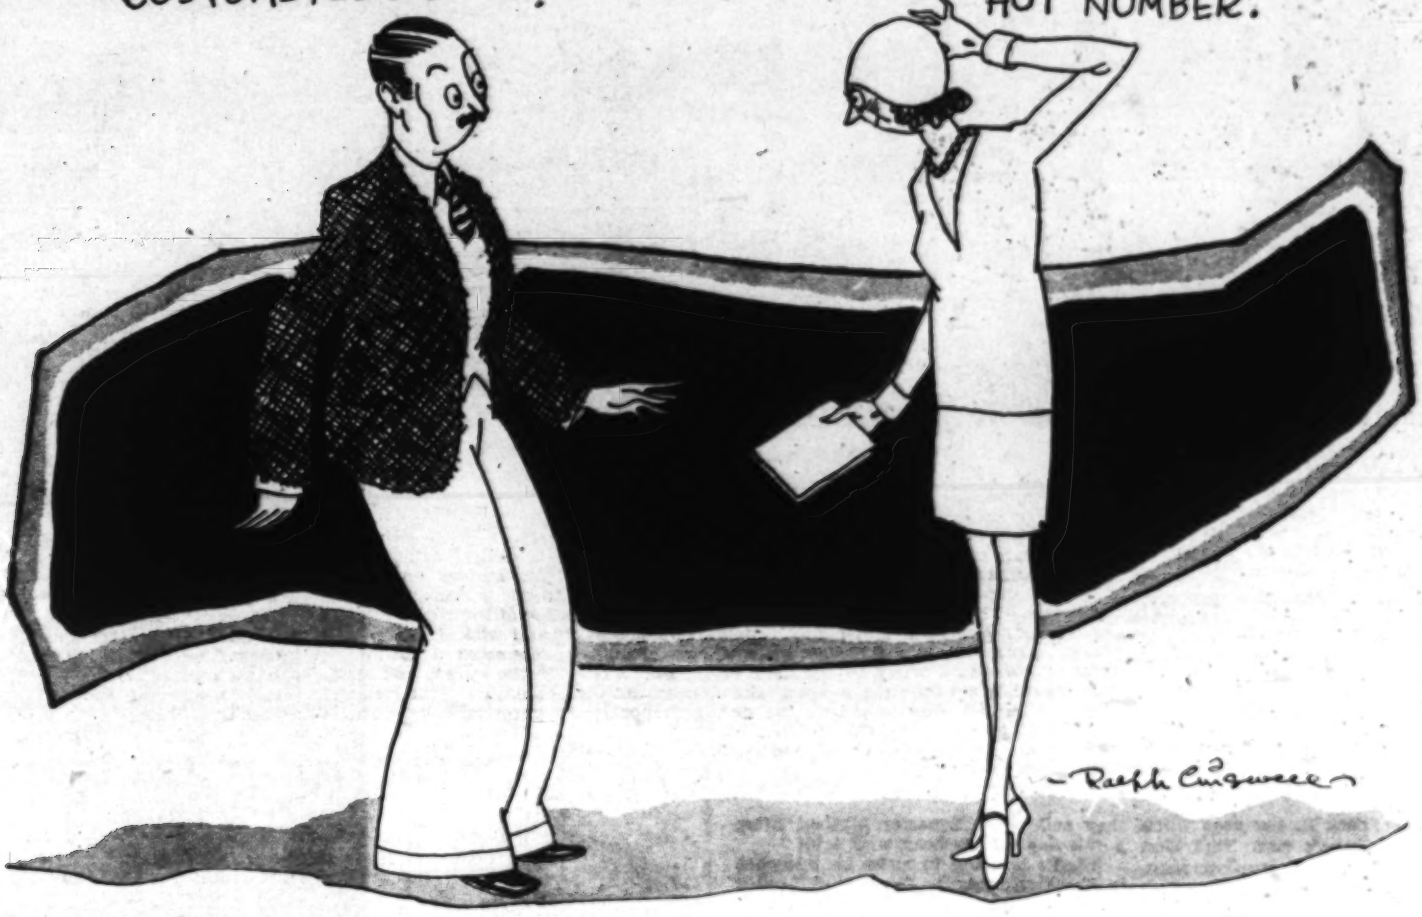
POLYCHROMATIC PULSATIONS



By Alma Whitaker

I ADORE these dashing riotous displays of color that we may now revel in. How quite awful to have departed this life before brilliant hues became respectable and righteously modish.

Like most of my generation I was raised on the "serviceable shades," the "genteel neutrals"—and guiltily believed my natural tastes for bright colors was slightly improper. They were associated with such accusing words as "ostentation," "conspicuous," "vulgar display," "Brazen," "Garish," "flamboyant"—things that all nice girls would avoid at all costs. Oh, but we knew what to think about the hussy with a taste for a dash of scarlet . . .

At the very best, we were only allowed "just a touch" of color, and then had to be most discreet about it. But now, oh, joy . . . well, have you seen the new jazz linen coats . . .? All the colors of the rainbow in the most hilarious designs, and a few colors rainbows never risk springing on us.

But it isn't only clothes—we all know all about those, even unto the gentlemen's saucy flapper undies. Even the men no longer wear dark serviceable bathing suits but expose their sea-going charms in brilliant oranges, greens, red, purples, in violent stripes. Even so genteel a dame as, say, Lark Ellen, can dare turn up at an exclusive luncheon in a public hotel, garbed in startling scarlet from head to toe, with never a blemish on her fair name.

It's so much more than clothes—even the sidewalks are being jazzed up gorgeously in front of the newest million-dollar buildings. Pots and kettles and pans for the kitchen now come in riotous hues, to conform with equally gay-colored kitchen stove. Remember when all kitchen stoves had to be black, grim, "sensible" black? How dashing we felt when they emerged in greys and whites. Now we may have a Chinese red cook stove, with impudent red saucepans and kettles, and red checks in the floor linoleum, red tiles on the sink—or any other loud and naughty color we think will inspire us to nobler domesticity.

As for bathrooms—oh, the gay rollicking impudence of a modern bathroom. Mary and Doug, and Charlie Chaplin, who built before the polychromatic styles set in still favor chaste and eminently virtuous white—but all the newer houses, Dolores del Rio's, Corinne Griffith's, Colleen Moore's, Harold Lloyd's, Adolf Menjou's, and all those in the grand new apartment houses and the swagger homes of the Blue Book nabobs who have built in the last couple of years—radiate with the sauciest combinations of colors. Purples, orchids, oranges, yellows, reds galore, blues of all hues, green in twenty varieties are artfully combined with touches of black, and the colored tile people are waxing vastly prosperous. Nothing so hopelessly demode as a prim, plain white bathroom these days. Every bathroom in a house is carried out in a different combination of colors, to fraternize with the gay colors of the rugs, draperies, bedspreads, chair coverings, light-shades and painted woodwork.

Even the soap, toilet paper, towels, brush backs, talcum, and bath salts are colored to duly harmonize. We are becoming so sensitive to correct color combinations that we would swoon to use a certain American Beauty soap in a Chinese red bathroom.

For that matter, colored linen—or silk—for the beds is quite comme il faut. Corinne Griffith, for instance, goes to bed in pink crepe de chine sheets and snuggles her head into pink silken pillow slips. Towels began to get gay long since, with their bright flowered and striped borders—but all-over colors are coming in now.

Table linen is no longer unsullied white. One dinner party I attended at a stylish new apartment house recently had a soft green linen table cloth, with napkins to match, and the dinner ware all in green and silver. At a private house we had a scheme of yellow, with pink embroidered corners and hemstitching, and pink flowers in a silver urn in the center of the table. The effect is quite radiant but don't forget that a dirty-colored cloth looks thrice as dirty as a soiled white one. It means a more liberal laundry bill . . . and one laundry I know is going to get blown up if it doesn't learn how to wash gay colored table linen without fading out the colors.

Remember when we wouldn't dream of wearing anything but the purest of white nighties? Now we crawl between our canary yellow sheets in our purple and orange stripped pajamas and our rose and green nighties—and it ought to have marvelous effect in curing some of those inhibitive dreams the psychologists tell us about.

Furniture began to jazz up quite a while ago—but gay colors are invading the offices and conference rooms now. One insurance nabob has his office woodwork painted green and black, his green enameled desk has black knobs and outlines, his black chairs are upholstered in green, and little straight green silk curtains shade his windows, his pen holders, pencils, letter paper are all green, and he even insists upon green postage stamps on his letters. His account books are covered in green leather and written in green ink, and his stenographer uses a green and black typewriter. She is required to wear a cutey green smock during office hours—and the artful fellow selected a red-headed girl, because they can wear green best. His own socks and ties and handkerchiefs are green—and there is a green fleck in his tweed suit. A dark green felt hat tops this emerald-minded gentlemen when he walks abroad.

At present I am using the same old black typewriter . . . something will have to be done about it. But it's a nice old dear that has helped me weather many vicissitudes. I might have a repaint job, a la the car but can't find an enterprising firm who does 'em yet. They all want to sell me a silver, gilt, or bright enameled new one—and I hate to part with old friends. However, I am using giddy paper—rose for these stories, blue for more serious ones, yellow for plain gossip, white for "news," which never must be "colored," and green for interviews with actors and actresses, because it is supposed to be soothing.

It's the very dickens to see that my clothes harmonize, however—but the stores are full of colored working smocks . . .

The housekeeper thinks it would be a great aid to efficiency if I could have the washboards painted white enamel, picked out with the correct shade of blue—and she wont be sorry when the aluminum pans wear out, as they don't go well with the kitchen linoleum. She prefers a certain make of washing powder because it comes in such artistic packages, and would I mind getting the new brooms and carpet sweepers with powder blue handles?

Several minutes of silence followed Dr. Baillie's story. At length Cobetty turned toward the doctor.

"That was the crux of the whole affair," Dr. Baillie answered. "When I arrived that last evening about eight, I should say—Trask beckoned me to him. He was sinking pretty fast. It was an agonizing, and he had already entered a he persuaded the capitalists to allow the government to fix the rates, so that the public would be treated fairly.

A man of intense enthusiasm naturally makes enemies, and in spite of his generous contributions in time and money, Mr.. Mather once found himself facing a movement in Congress to oust him.

The plan was frustrated by his friends and a Congressional inquiry revealed that the source of the attack was a man who held mining claims in the Grand Canyon of Arizona and who wished to exploit that natural wonder for private gain. The Supreme Court of the United States eventually vindicated Director Mather by declaring the alleged mining claims void.

Mr. Mather began his national parks work during a Democratic administration. He was one of the few high officials who were retained by the Republicans when they regained power. He served under three Presidents and five Secretaries of the Interior.

But what his enemies could not do, his friends have succeeded in doing. Just a few weeks ago doctors told him that in his enthusiasm for his work he had given too freely of his energy. They persuaded him that it was necessary for him to resign in order to conserve his health, after twelve years on the job.

In accepting his resignation, Roy O. West, Secretary of the Interior, wrote to Mr. Mather in a public letter:

"Under your splendid leadership the people of the nation have been awakened to the beauties and possibilities of the national parks and the necessity of conserving these areas for all time . . . Taken all in all, you have achieved results that I believe no other man could have accomplished in the early days of organization and administration during the trying period of the World War and its aftermath."

Energy and enthusiasm are the dominating characteristics of this slender, ruddy-faced, white-haired patriarch of the parks. For years he was constantly on the move and at home wherever he found himself—on horseback on some mountain trail, in a Pullman car, before a Congressional committee, on a log by a campfire.

Mr. Mather came by all his eagerness for activity quite naturally. One of his forebears was Cotton Mather, the famous New England minister. Another was Elder Brewster, the renowned Puritan leader. One of the joys of his life was his ability to purchase and restore the century-and-a-half-old Mather homestead at Darien, Ct.

Though of Colonial New England stock, Mather himself is a native of the West. He was born in San Francisco. He was graduated from the University of California before he was twenty and made his way immediately to New York to seek a job on the staff of the Sun.

Insignificant incidents often stand out as most revealing of a man's character. There flashes to mind a picture of a meeting of State and Federal authorities at Fresno, Calif., to discuss means of coping with the dread foot-and-mouth disease. In their panicky anxiety, State officials had hired hunters to slaughter deer by the thousands. At this meeting it was proposed to double this activity and to extend it to the national parks, though no deer had been found that actually had the disease.

A man in olive green uniform arose, his face red with anger. He could scarcely speak at first, but when he did say what was on his mind no one there any longer urged the slaughter of deer.

Saving the last of the wild animals from extinction was one of Director Mather's great public achievements. The national parks are now the largest sanctuaries of wild life in the world—in fact, it is said that in the Yellowstone the animals come first and women and children second. There is the authentic story of the ranger at Old Faithful bear pits who was asked by a visitor:

"What's the gun for—to save the people from the bears if they get nasty?"

"No," said the ranger. "It's to save the bears from the people when they get nasty."

An inscrutable, faint smile spread over Trask's wizened face.

"I know," he answered, simply. "I know many things tonight . . . That is why I am here, Dan. And you must heed what I tell you. Ruth loves you—and you are not going to wreck her life and yours, too."

Trask's words rekindled in the boy's heart those embers of emotion which for days he had been endeavoring to smother. But suddenly the memory of all those things which had stricken him and torn his heart asunder swept back into his mind and his momentary pity and love were again overshadowed by resentment and anger.

"No!" he exclaimed, feverishly resuming his packing. "She lied to me, deceived me, and—used me . . . I've made my decision."

"You can't go, Dan!" Trask remonstrated in an agonized voice. "Don't you understand—don't you see? She has done nothing to you—she's as innocent as you are."

Felton swung around, his face white and contorted with suffering.

"You tell me that!" he cried, bitterly. "You, who poisoned my mind against her—you, who only a few days ago handed me the proof of her guilt! . . . You tell me she has done nothing to me!" A great sob shook him. "She has trampled on everything worth while in my life—"

"Stop!" the old man broke in. "I tell you she is innocent. You are condemning her and rejecting her love without a hearing . . . It is you who have wronged her, Dan."

Felton moved a step forward. "What of the money she took from me? And why did she reject my love? What of your accusations and warnings? And what of Seldridge's suit, and the documentary evidence? . . . Condemned without a hearing?" He gave a dry, mirthless laugh.

The old man gazed sadly for a moment at the grief stricken, angry boy. Then he said, gently. "They were all lies, Dan—lies told you deliberately in order to wreck her happiness. They were the lies of hate and vengeance. And—God help me!—they almost succeeded."

"Lies?" the boy repeated in a husky whisper, his mind in a turmoil.

"Has it ever occurred to you, Dan," the old man continued, softly, "why I have always avoided my own kind—why I was bitter and selfish and merciless? . . . Twenty years ago, I was like you—idealistic, believing. I, too, loved some one who meant the entire world to me. She was the symbol of everything beautiful and holy; she took the place of my own soul . . . And then—she deserted me, humiliated me, robbed me. A child had just been born to us, and she even deserted that child.

"I broke down, and was out of my mind for a week. When consciousness returned I was another being. I was poisoned with a deadly hatred. From that day to this I have lived in a world of venomous shadows. I hated the child as I did the mother; all the awful bitterness in my nature was focused on this offspring of the woman who had wronged me. I paid a poor family to adopt it and raise it as their own. I could not bear the sight of it, but I wanted the child to suffer, as I was suffering."

He raised his eyes to the boy, who stood watching him in dazed wonderment.

"Now you know, Dan," he added, brokenly, "Ruth is my daughter . . . And when I saw happiness coming to her through your love, I hated you, too, and planned to turn that happiness into tragedy—to make you both suffer . . ." His voice trailed off and his head fell forward on his breast.

After a tense silence old Trask looked up again. "I planned it all," he went on, humbly. "I knew your nature—it was so like mine in the old days. I knew what the purity of the girl meant to you, and how you would react to my insinuations. I even gave you the money so that the woman whom you thought was

SOLUTION OF LAST WEEK'S PUZZLE

I made my way to a telephone booth and called up my house.

My man answered the call, and I spoke hastily, shutting him off from reply before he could make any bad breaks.

"This is Mr. Muirhead," I said. "Don't answer me, except yes and no, and don't let on who it is speaking to you. Is there anyone there besides yourself?"

"No" he said, even leaving off the "sir" through caution.

"Well, you never can tell. Now, listen carefully to what I tell you and do it immediately. In my desk you'll find a service automatic, with a box of cartridges. Bring it to me at the Penn Station, Long Island side. I'll be waiting outside, where you go down to the trains, in front of the newsstand at the right side, as you come in from the waiting room—do you get me?"

"Yes," he replied laconically.

"Has anyone been there for me—or has anyone called up?" I asked.

"No and yes," he said. I had to smile at his caution.

"I'll ask you who called up," I said, "and you can answer if I hit it. Was it the Chief?"

"No," came the answer.

"Was it a man?" I asked.

"No."

A woman, then. Who could it have been? There were very few women who called up—and my man knew all their names.

"Do you know her name?" I asked.

"Yes," he said.

"Is it one that you have heard before?" I asked.

"No."

That gave me pause for a moment. There was one name that I had in my mind, of course. . . . indeed, it never left my mind . . . but could it be she? I had asked her to call me up in case something occurred that she thought needed my attention. I remembered this, and it was in my mind when I asked my next question.

"Is it Miss Sargent?" I asked.

"Yes," he said.

"Good," I replied. "I'll call her at once. In the meantime you do as I ask—and park the car before you come to the Penn Station, so that you can have a chance to lose yourself in the crowd, and escape being followed. But wait—I want you to do something else. I have a very old suit of clothes in the closet—you know, that brown one that I use when I go out roughing it in the country. Pack a small handbag with that, a few shirts, collars, and enough other things for a stay of a few days. Do you understand me fully?"

"Yes," came the response.

"Very well—do it quickly. I'll be waiting here. Good-by," I said, and rang off.

That done, I called up Betty Sargent's number at once. My procedure with her was similar to the foregoing. Just as soon as I heard her voice on the phone, I spoke quickly.

"This is Stephen Muirhead," I said. "Don't answer except in monosyllables, and don't divulge my identity. Do you understand?"

"Yes," she said.

"Slip out at once," I said, "hail a taxicab, and leave it about Thirty-sixth or Thirty-seventh street, on Broadway—wherever there is a rather large crowd, and then meet me here at the Penn Station, Long Island side—" and I gave her the same instructions for meeting me that I had given my man.

"Do you quite understand me?" I asked.

"Yes," came her soft, tender voice.

"Will you be able to do as I ask?"

"Yes."

"Good. I'll be waiting here for you," I said, and rang off without saying anything else.
